ORDER 37 RULE 7—Note 1.

[1] The Court has power, under O. 6 R. 17 of the Code, to amend a plaint filed under this order, so as to connect it with an ordinary suit. (Vol. 17) 1930 Lah 559 (560).

ORDER XXXVIII.

ARREST AND ATTACHMENT BEFORE JUDGMENT.

ARREST BEFORE JUDGMENT.

Where defendant may be called upon to furnish security for appearance.

1. Where at any stage of a suit, other than a suit of the nature referred to in section 16, clauses (a) to (d), the Court is satisfied, by affidavit or otherwise,—

- (a) that the defendant, with intent to delay the plaintiff, or to avoid any process of the Court or to obstruct or delay the execution of any decree that may be passed against him,—
 - (i) has absconded or left the local limits of the jurisdiction of the Court, or
 - (ii) is about to abscond or leave the local limits of the jurisdiction of the Court, or
 - (iii) has disposed of or removed from the local limits of the jurisdiction of the Court his property or any part thereof, or
- (b) that the defendant is about to leave British India under circumstances affording reasonable probability that the plaintiff will or may thereby be obstructed or delayed in the execution of any decree that may be passed against the defendant in the suit, the Court may issue a warrant to arrest the defendant and bring him before the Court to show cause why he should not furnish security for his appearance :

Provided that the defendant shall not be arrested if he pays to the officer entrusted with the execution of the warrant any sum specified in the warrant as sufficient to satisfy the plaintiff's claim; and such sum shall be held in deposit by the Court until the suit is disposed of or until the further order of the Court.

ORDER 38 RULE 1—Note 1.

[1] The rule will not enable a creditor to take out arrest before judgment merely because it would secure easy execution of the decree. ('70) 13 Suth W R 278 (279) (DB).

[2] In order to apply clause (a), it is necessary to show that the defendant has committed or is about to commit any of the acts specified therein with intent to delay the plaintiff or to avoid the process of the Court or to obstruct or delay the execution of any decree that may be passed against him. ('70) 13 Suth W R 278 (279) (DB).

[3] No intention need be proved in cases coming under clause (b). In such cases it is only necessary to show that the circumstances under which the defendant is about to leave British India afford a reasonable probability that the plaintiff will be obstructed or delayed in realizing his decree. ('66) 1 Ind Jur (N S) (265) * ('66) 1 Ind Jur (N S) 294n. * ('85) 8 Mad 205 (206, 207).

[See ('87) 14 Cal 695 (702).]

[4] Before the Court can act under this rule, it must have reason to believe, on adequate materials that, unless the jurisdiction is exercised, there is a real danger that the defendant will remove himself or his property from the ambit of the powers of the Court. (Vol. 13) 1926 Mad 584 (584): 50 Mad 27 * ('69) 1 N W P H C R 91 (93) (DB) * ('70) 13 Suth W R 278 (279) (DB) * (1864) 2 Hyde 181 (181).

[5] Where there was reason to believe that the defendants were removing goods and selling them at less than cost price, and that they were evading arrest without furnishing any security, it was held that the rule was properly applied to the case. (Vol. 11) 1924 Rang 361 (361, 362): 2 Rang 362 (DB).

[6] Defendant leaving his place of residence for attendance in criminal Court—Held, order under this rule should not be passed. ('22) 4 Lan L Jour 423 (424).

[7] Before exercising the powers conferred by this rule a Court should be satisfied that the plaintiff's suit is bona fide. ('66) Ind Jur (NS) 294n * ('87) 14 Cal 695 (702).

[8] Where the plaintiff is indisputably entitled to a part of his claim the mere circumstance of the rest of the claim being of disputable character does not render the suit mala fide. (Vol. 13) 1926 Mad 584 (584): 50 Mad 27 (DB).

[9] Power can be exercised only when plaintiff's claim is unimpeachable. ('87) 14 Cal 695 (702).

[10] The "cause" must be either that he is not going to leave the jurisdiction of the Court, or not for so long a time as will obstruct or tend to obstruct the plaintiff, should he succeed, or that the suit is not a bona fide one, or that even if it is, the institution of it has been vexatiously delayed till the defendant is about to depart, in order to embarrass or coerce him. ('66) 1 Ind Jur (N S) 294.

2. (1) Where the defendant fails to show such cause the Court shall order him either to Security. deposit in Court money or other property sufficient to answer the claim against him, or to furnish security for his appearance at any time when called upon while the suit is pending and until satisfaction of any decree that may be passed against him in the suit, or make such order as it thinks fit in regard to the sum which may have been paid by the defendant under the proviso to the last preceding rule.

(2) Every surety for the appearance of a defendant shall bind himself, in default of such appearance, to pay any sum of money which the defendant may be ordered to pay in the suit.

[1882—S. 479; 1877—S. 479; 1859—S. 76. See S. 145.]

3. (1) A surety for the appearance of a defendant may at any time apply to the Procedure on application Court in which he became such surety to be discharged from his by surety to be discharged. obligation.

(2) On such application being made, the Court shall summon the defendant to appear or if it thinks fit, may issue a warrant for his arrest in the first instance.

(3) On the appearance of the defendant in pursuance of the summons or warrant, or on his voluntary surrender, the Court shall direct the surety to be discharged from his obligation, and shall call upon the defendant to find fresh security.

ORDER 38 RULE 2—Note 1.

[1] Court should limit the security to be given as per terms of notice in the warrant for arrest and not order securing for amount claimed in suit, where the warrant directs the demand for a smaller sum. (Vol. 16) 1929 Cal 732 (733) 56 Cal 700 (DB).

[2] Money deposited by defendant arrested before judgment is subject to the lien of the plaintiff in the event of his success and where the defendant becomes insolvent the official receiver cannot appropriate it. But security for appearance of defendant is not so exempt. (Vol. 6) 1919 Mad 607 (609); 41 Mad 1053 (DP).

[3] Judgment-debtor released on furnishing security for his appearance—Surety executing bond for due performance of decree—Held, bond was not in accordance with Court's order and that surety was discharged on the appearance of judgment-debtor on the specified day. (Vol. 1) 1914 Low Bur 54 (55).

[4] Plaintiff applying for arrest of defendant—Defendant's pleader standing surety—Defendant not arrested—Held that surety could not contend that security was illegal because defendant was not arrested. ('68) 1868 Pan Re No. 77 p. 196 (201) (DB).

[5] The fact that the surety bond goes beyond the terms of this rule and provides for the payment of the amount claimed in the suit in the event of a decree being passed against the defendant, will not render the bond unenforceable. ('29) 115 Ind Cas 244 (244) (Mad);

[6] A surety for the appearance of the defendant cannot be relieved of his obligation merely because the decree is a compromise decree. (Vol. 7) 1920 Mad 355 (357); 43 Mad 272 (DB).

[7] Surety bond given for appearance of defendant—Plaint returned for want of jurisdiction—Bond does not cover the suit that is started on the representation of the plaintiff. (Vol. 26) 1939 Mad 933 (934).

[8] The enforcement of the bond should only be made on the application of the judgment-creditor and then only to the extent of the sum of money found payable under the decree. (Vol. 1) 1914 Sind 144 (144); 8 Sind L R 270 (DB).

ORDER 38 RULE 3—Note 1.

[1] In order that a surety may be discharged under this rule it is essential that the defendant should appear before the Court either voluntarily or in pursuance of a summons or warrant of arrest issued against him under sub-rule (2). (Vol. 7) 1920 Mad 355 (356); 43 Mad 272 (DB) * (Vol. 1) 1914 Low Bur 54 (55).

[2] If the defendant is present in Court under circumstances which exempt him from arrest, the surety will not be entitled to be discharged from his obligation under this rule. (Vol. 7) 1920 Mad 355 (356, 357); 43 Mad 272 (DB).

[3] Appearance of defendant under protection order from insolvency Court is not sufficient to discharge surety. (Vol. 10) 1923 Rang 98 (99).

[4] Insolvency of defendant does not release surety from his obligation. (Vol. 15) 1928 Rang 184 (185); 6 Rang 241.

[5] Order under O. 38 R. 3 directing detention of defendant without calling upon him to find fresh security is illegal—Defendant leaving Court in defiance of order is not punishable under S. 225-B Penal Code. (Vol. 16) 1929 Lah 163 (164) (DB).

[6] Arrest before judgment—Surety discharged after passing of decree—Procedure under O. 38 still applies and defendant must be ordered to furnish security. (Vol. 30) 1943 Mad 366 (367).

[7] A surety for the due performance of any decree that may be passed against the defendant cannot apply under this rule for being discharged from his obligation. (Vol. 16) 1929 Lah 435 (436).

[8] Surety enabling judgment-debtor to escape processes by executing surety bond—Only way for discharge of surety is by application under this rule. (Vol. 16) 1929 Bom 190 (192) (DB).

4. Where the defendant fails to comply with any order under rule 2 or rule 3, the Court

Procedure where defendant may commit him to the civil prison until the decision of the suit or, fails to furnish security or where a decree is passed against the defendant, until the decree has been satisfied :

Provided that no person shall be detained in prison under this rule in any case for a longer period than six months, nor for a longer period than six weeks when the amount or value of the subject-matter of the suit does not exceed fifty rupees :

Provided also that no person shall be detained in prison under this rule after he has complied with such order.

[1882—S. 481; 1877—S. 481; 1859—S. 78.]

ATTACHMENT BEFORE JUDGMENT.

Where defendant may be called upon to furnish security for production of property.

5. (1) Where, at any stage of a suit, the Court is satisfied, by affidavit or otherwise, that the defendant, with intent to obstruct or delay the execution of any decree that may be passed against him,—

(a) is about to dispose of the whole or any part of his property, or

(b) is about to remove the whole or any part of his property from the local limits of the jurisdiction of the Court, the Court may direct the defendant, within a time to be fixed by it, either to furnish security, in such sum as may be specified in the order, to produce and place at the disposal of the Court, when required, the said property or the value of the same, or such portion thereof as may be sufficient to satisfy the decree, or to appear and show cause why he should not furnish security.

(2) The plaintiff shall, unless the Court otherwise directs, specify the property required to be attached and the estimated value thereof.

(3) The Court may also in the order direct the conditional attachment of the whole or any portion of the property so specified.

[1882—Ss. 483, 484; 1877—Ss. 483, 484; 1859—Ss. 81 to 83. See Ss. 94, 95 and 145. Cf. R. S. C., O. 50 R. 9.]

"The Committee have omitted the words 'property within the jurisdiction of the Court,' as they have caused a conflict of decisions: and they think, as a matter of policy, there should not be the restriction these words suggest."—S. O. R.

ORDER 38 RULE 4—Note 1.

[1] It is only in the event of a failure to comply with any order under R. 2 or R. 3, i. e., in the event of failure to furnish security or to make a sufficient deposit that the defendant can be committed to custody under this rule. ('70) 13 Suth W R 278 (279) (DB). * (Vol. 11) 1924 Rang 361 (362): 2 Rang 362 (DB).

[2] The whole period of detention before and after decree should not exceed six months. ('83) 7 Bom 431 (436, 437) (SB).

ORDER 38 RULE 5—Synopsis.

Scope, object and applicability.

2. Mortgage suits.
3. Divorce proceedings.
4. Application for leave to sue in forma pauperis.
5. Power of Insolvency Court to attach properties.
6. "Where . . . the Court is satisfied."
7. "Is about to dispose of the whole or any part of his property."
8. "With intent to obstruct or delay."

9. Security for producing property in Court.

10. Extent of surety's liability.
11. Power of Court to extend time for furnishing security.
12. Property situated outside jurisdiction.
13. Effect of attachment.
14. Money deposited into Court in pursuance of the attachment, if liable to rateable distribution.
15. Vesting order in insolvency, how affects attachment before judgment.
16. Right of survivorship, if defeated by attachment.
17. Liability for wrongful attachment.
18. Conditional attachment.
19. Appeal.
20. Forms.

1. Scope, object and applicability.—[1] The object of the provisions for arrest and attachment before judgment is to prevent any attempt on the part of the defendant to defeat the realisation of the decree that may be passed against him. (Vol. 28) 1941 Sind 178 (182, 183): 1 L R (1941) Kar 362 * ('70) 13

O. 38 R. 5 (contd.)

Sath W R 9 (11) (FB) * (Vol. 23) 1936 Cal 143 (145).

[2] The rule applies only where the defendant is about to dispose of, or remove from the local limits of the jurisdiction of the Court, his properties, and not to cases where he has already disposed of them. (Vol. 25) 1938 Pat 161 (162) : 17 Pat 89 (DB) * (Vol. 15) 1923 Lah 772 (772).

[3] This rule may be applied to proceedings other than suits by virtue of S. 141 of the Code, and that therefore a Liquidation Court dealing with proceedings under the Companies Act can make an order under this rule for attachment before judgment. (Vol. 15) 1928 Lah 376 (377).

[But see ('10) 37 Cal 613 (616). (Attachment before judgment being a matter of relief and not procedure, S. 141 cannot be invoked).]

[4] An application under this rule should specify the property to be attached and the estimated value thereof; an application generally for security being taken for the satisfaction of any decree that may be passed, without specifying any property, is not one falling within the scope of the rule. (Vol. 15) 1928 Lah 772 (772).

[5] Attachment before judgment of debt without specifying even approximately its value—Execution against garnishee held improper—Fact that garnishee did not object at the time is no reason for sustaining the irregular execution. (Vol. 29) 1942 Sind 87 (88) : I L R (1942) Kar 173 (DB).

[6] Application for injunction to restrain defendant from withdrawing amounts standing to his credit. Issue of injunction really amounts to attachment before judgment. (Vol. 16) 1929 Rang 94 (94).

[7] Court cannot at once order attachment before judgment. Court must first order security to be given for production of the property or require the defendant to show causes why security should not be given—It is only on the failure of the defendant to give such security or show cause that an attachment can be ordered. (Vol. 29) 1942 Pesh 17 (18) * (Vol. 23) 1936 All 408 (408, 409) : 58 All 884 (DB).

[8] Property attached before judgment—Procedure prescribed by rule not followed—Attachment is not void but merely irregular—Irregularity is cured acquiescence of party adversely affected. (Vol. 32) 1945 Nag 97 (100, 101).

2. Mortgage suits.—[1] Rule applies to mortgage suits. Probability of mortgaged property being insufficient to discharge mortgage debt—Mortgagee entitled to personal decree—Attachment before judgment of other properties of defendant can be ordered. (Vol. 29) 1942 Pesh 17 (17) * (Vol. 18) 1931 Bom 329 (329) * ('94) 16 All 186 (188) (DB). (Court should act with extreme caution in such cases) * (Vol. 19) 1932 Cal 790 (790) (DB) * ('12) 15 Ind Cas 604 (604) (DB) (Cal) * (Vol. 16) 1929 Lah 402 (403) * (Vol. 12) 1925 Pat 291 (291) : 3 Pat 966 (DB) * (Vol. 11) 1924 Rang 361 (362) : 2 Rang 362 (DB). (Obiter) * (Vol. 23) 1936 All 408 (408, 409) : 58 All 884 (DB).

[2] Preliminary mortgage decree passed—Plaintiff can apply for attachment under O. 38 R. 5—But a decree in a mortgage suit under S. 15-B of D. Kkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act terminates the suit and hence thereafter an application for attachment before judgment is not maintainable. (Vol. 30) 1943 Bom 24 (25) (DB).

[3] Application for final decree pending—Application under this rule is maintainable. (Vol. 20) 1933 All 191 (192) : 55 All 179 (DB).

3. Divorce proceedings.—[1] Divorce proceeding under Divorce Act 1869—Court cannot order attachment before judgment—Matter is governed by S. 7 and not S. 45 of that Act. ('10) 37 Cal 613 (616).

4. Application for leave to sue in forma pauperis.—

[1] An application to sue in forma pauperis does not become a "suit" until the same has been granted. Court has no jurisdiction to make an order for attachment before judgment under this rule. (Vol. 4) 1917 Cal 852 (853) (DB).

5. Power of Insolvency Court to attach properties.—

[1] Under S. 21, cl. (2) of the Provincial Insolvency Act, 1920, the Insolvency Court can attach the property of the debtor under circumstances similar to those specified in this rule. (Vol. 1) 1914 All 264 (265) : 36 All 65 (DB). (Case under S. 13 (3) of the Insolvency Act, 1907).

6. "Where the Court is satisfied."—[1]

The jurisdiction of Courts in attaching property before judgment is of an extraordinary nature and should be exercised sparingly and strictly in accordance with the procedure prescribed by the Code. (Vol. 15) 1928 Lah 376 (378) * (Vol. 21) 1934 All 165 (166) * (Vol. 23) 1936 All 408 (409) : 58 All 884 (DB) * (Vol. 23) 1936 Lah 33 (34, 35).

[2] Before a Court can act under this rule there must be definite evidence of present intention to dispose of property with a view to or delay execution of decree—Mere vague allegations are not sufficient. (Vol. 21) 1934 Cal 694 (697) : 61 Cal 814 * (Vol. 9) 1922 Bom 276 (276) : 46 Bom 431 (DB) * (Vol. 11) 1924 Pat 312 (314) (DB) * (Vol. 6) 1919 Mad 20 (20) (DB) * (Vol. 23) 1936 Lah 33 (35) * (Vol. 25) 1938 Pat 161 (162) : 17 Pat 89 (DB).

[3] Court is not restricted to examining attempts at alienations made after the commencement of the action; it is open to it to look to the conduct of the parties immediately before the suit and to examine also the surrounding circumstances. (Vol. 28) 1941 Sind 178 (182, 184) : I L R (1941) Kar 362 (DB) * ('10) 11 Cal L Jour 19 * ('92) 2 Upp Bur Rul 274 * (Vol. 25) 1938 Pat 161 (162) : 17 Pat 89 (DB).

7. "Is about to dispose of the whole or any part of his property."—[1] Before exercising jurisdiction under this rule and passing orders for the attachment of properties before judgment, the Court should satisfy itself of the practical certainty of the plaintiff's success and of the existence of a grave danger and of a real fear that a dishonest defendant, undoubtedly liable, is making away with the probable fruits of the judgment. (Vol. 13) 1926 All 406 (408) : 48 All 510. (Note—Overruled in (Vol. 18) 1931 All 567 : 54 All 263 (FB) on another point.) * (Vol. 21) 1934 Cal 694 (697) : 61 Cal 814 (DB).

[2] Mere allegation that defendant is likely to dispose of property is not enough. (Vol. 15) 1928 Lah 376 (378) * (Vol. 20) 1933 All 191 (192) : 55 All 179 (DB).

O. 38 R. 5 (contd.)

[3] Statement that defendant is about to dispose of his property is not sufficient—Sources of such information must be disclosed. (Vol. 13) 1926 Cal 855 (855) (DB).

[4] The fact that a defendant is about to dispose of his property may be established not only by completed transactions of disposal prior to the application but by evidence of intention expressed by the defendant, disposals not completed (but being negotiated), unsuccessful attempts at disposal, etc. (Vol. 28) 1941 Sind 178 (184): 1 L R (1941) Kar 362 (DB).

[5] The word "property" includes property of every description, whether movable or immovable, and whether in the possession of the defendant or some other person on his behalf. ('95) 17 All 82 (85) (DB) * (Vol. 12) 1925 Cal 561 (563) (DB) (Includes debt) * ('01) 3 Bom L R 462 (463) (DB). (Includes Chose in action.)

[6] Attachment of debt—Debt must be one that is accruing or has accrued—it need not be ascertained. (Vol. 12) 1925 Cal 561 (563) (DB).

[7] Word "property" must mean property already in existence, belonging to and at disposal of defendant—Salary not earned or paid cannot be disposed of until at least it becomes payable—It is illegal to attach before judgment moiety of salary of public servant or any employee until it has accrued. (Vol. 24) 1937 Rang 292 (293): 1937 Rang L R 108.

[8] Joint property belonging to a partnership of which the judgment-debtor is a member is not the property of the judgment-debtor and cannot be attached before judgment under this rule. ('07) 9 Bom L R 540 (541) (DB).

8. "With intent to obstruct or delay."—[1] Court must be satisfied not only that the defendant is about to dispose of his property or to remove it from the jurisdiction of the Court, but also that his object in so doing is to obstruct or delay execution. (Vol. 25) 1938 Pat 161 (162): 17 Pat 89 (DB) * (Vol. 11) 1924 Pat 312 (314) (DB) * (Vol. 2) 1915 All 277 (278): 37 All 423 (DB) * ('97) 21 Bom 278 (278) (DB) * (Vol. 13) 1926 Lah 330 (331, 332) * (Vol. 21) 1934 Nag 169 (171) * (Vol. 21) 1934 Cal 694 (697): 61 Cal 814 (DB). [See also (Vol. 21) 1934 Ondh 429 (430) (DB).]

[2] Intention to obstruct or delay execution cannot be inferred merely from:—

[a] Agreement to sell portion of property. (Vol. 8) 1921 Bom 69 (69): 45 Bom 1256.

[b] The fact that defendant has allowed his properties to be sold in execution or for arrears of revenue. (Vol. 19) 1932 Cal 790 (791) (DB).

[c] The fact that he is running into debts or is executing a mortgage in respect of debt already incurred. (Vol. 14) 1927 Cal 354 (356) (DB).

[3] Attachment cannot be ordered merely because defendant has failed to give undertaking not to transfer property before disposal of suit. (Vol. 15) 1928 Pat 172 (173) (DB). (An undertaking not to transfer the property before disposal of suit.)

9. Security for producing property in Court.—

[1] Security contemplated by this rule has reference only to such property as is capable of being produced in Court. ('95) 17 All 82 (84, 85) (DB).

[2] This rule only contemplates an order for security for producing the property in Court. It does not contemplate the deposit in Court of the property itself or its equivalent in money. (Vol. 28) 1941 Sind 178 (180): 1 L R (1941) Kar 362 (DB).

ORDER XXXIX.

TEMPORARY INJUNCTIONS AND INTERLOCUTORY ORDERS.

TEMPORARY INJUNCTIONS.

Cases in which temporary injunction may be granted.

1. Where in any suit it is proved by affidavit or otherwise—

- (a) that any property in dispute in a suit is in danger of being wasted, damaged or alienated by any party to the suit, or wrongfully sold in execution of a decree, or
- (b) that the defendant threatens, or intends, to remove or dispose of his property with a view to defraud his creditors, the Court may by order grant a temporary injunction to restrain such act, or make such other order for the purpose of staying and preventing the wasting, damaging, alienation, sale, removal or disposition of the property as the Court thinks fit, until the disposal of the suit or until further orders.

[7] Attachment before judgment—No execution application within the three years of decree—Decree holder loses his remedy—Case is governed not by Art. 181 but by Art. 182, Limitation Act. (Vol. 31) 1944 Mad 561 (564); I L R (1945) Mad 80 (FB) (Overruling (Vol. 11) 1924 Mad 210; 47 Mad 176).

ORDER 38 RULE 12—Note 1.

[1] The word 'agriculturists' in this rule must be interpreted in the same sense in which it is used in Ss. 60 and 61 of the Code and means a tiller of the soil who is unable to maintain himself otherwise. (Vol. 25) 1938 Mad 922 (923).

ORDER 38 RULE 13—Note 1.

[1] Act I of 1926 operates retrospectively and an order for conditional attachment before judgment made before the Act came into force cannot be confirmed and made absolute after the Act came into force. (Vol. 15) 1928 Mad 1173 (1174).

ORDER 39 RULE 1—Synopsis.

1. Injunctions, temporary and perpetual.
2. Scope and principle of the rule.
3. Applicability of the rule to applications for probate or letters of administration.
4. "Any property in dispute in a suit".
5. "In danger of being wasted, damaged or alienated by any party to the suit".
6. Injunction in respect of judicial proceedings.
7. Injunction in respect of elections.
8. Right to worship.
9. Religious office.
10. "Wrongfully sold in execution of a decree".
11. Execution of a decree of a Revenue Court.

12. Disposal of property in fraud of creditors.

13. Against whom injunction can be granted.

14. Who can apply for injunction.

15. Injunctions will be granted only in suit.

16. Injunction in suit for declaration only.

17. Duration of temporary injunction.

18. Effect of temporary injunction.

19. Breach of injunction.

20. Injunction to restrain marriage.

21. Appeal.

22. Revision.

23. Power of High Court—General.

24. Power to restrain party from proceeding with suit in another Court.

25. Power to stay proceedings pending in Subordinate Court.

26. Damages for obtaining injunction without reasonable and probable cause.

1. Injunctions, temporary and perpetual.—[1] An injunction is a judicial process whereby a party is required to do so, or to refrain from doing, any particular act.

[See (Vol. 10) 1923 Lah 48 (53). (An order to a defendant to prepare an inventory and to keep accounts is an order under this rule)].

[See (1928) 110 Ind Cas 621 (622) (Nag) (DB).]

[3] A perpetual injunction restrains a party for ever from doing the act specified and is regulated by Ss. 56 to 57 of the Specific Relief Act, I of 1877; perpetual

PROVINCIAL AMENDMENTS.

CALCUTTA

Re-number Rule 1 as Rule 1 (1) and add the following as sub-rules (2) and (3) :

"(2) In case of disobedience, or of breach of the terms of such temporary injunction or order, the Court granting the injunction or making such order may order the property of the person guilty of such disobedience or breach to be attached, and may also order such person to be detained in the civil prison for a term not exceeding six months, unless in the meantime the Court directs his release.

(3) The property attached under sub-rule (2) may, when the Court considers it fit so to direct, be sold and, out of the proceeds, the Court may award such compensation to the injured party as it finds proper and shall pay the balance, if any, to the party entitled thereto."

QUDH

Delete the words "or wrongfully sold in execution of a decree" in clause (a), and delete the word "sale" after the words "damaging, alienation," and add the following proviso to the rule :

"Provided that, if it appears to the Court that the property in suit is in danger of being wrongfully sold in execution of a decree, the Court may also by order grant a temporary injunction restraining the Court executing the decree from confirming the sale held in execution of the decree until the disposal of the suit or until further orders."

PATNA

Substitute the word "the" for the word "a" in line 1 of clause (a) and add the following provisos after Rule 1 :

"Provided that no such temporary injunction shall be granted if it would contravene the provisions of Section 56 of the Specific Relief Act (Act I of 1877) :

Provided further that an injunction to restrain a sale, or confirmation of a sale, or to restrain delivery of possession, shall not be granted except in a case where the applicant cannot lawfully prefer, and could not lawfully have preferred, a claim to the property, or objection to the sale, or to the attachment preceding it, before the Court executing the decree."

[8-10-1937.]

SIND

Re-number Rule 1 as Rule 1 (1) and add the following as sub-rules (2) and (3) :

"(2) In case of disobedience, or of breach of the terms of such temporary injunction or order, the Court granting the injunction or making such order may order the property of the person guilty of such disobedience or breach to be attached, and may also order such person to be detained in the civil prison for a term not exceeding six months, unless in the meantime the Court directs his release.

(3) The property attached under sub-rule (2) may, when the Court considers it fit so to direct, be sold, and out of the proceeds, the Court may award such compensation to the injured party as it finds proper and shall pay the balance, if any, to the party entitled thereto."

30. Suits by, or against receiver—Leave of Court.—[1] A receiver can neither sue nor be sued without the leave of the Court. ('84) 10 Cal 1014 (1017).

(DB) * (Vol. 31) 1944 All 220 (221): ILR (1944) All 255 (DB) * ('08) 30 Cal 593 (598) (DB) * ('03) 30 Cal 724 (724) (DB) * (Vol. 15) 1923 Rang 175 (175)) 6 Rang 268 * (Vol. 10) 1923 Rang 208 (209): 1 Rang 138 * (Vol. 12) 1925 Cal 681 (683) * (Vol. 11) 1924 All 40 (43): 46 All 16 * ('08) 26 Mad 492 (493) (DB) * ('10) 14 Cal W N 653 (656, 657) (DB) * (Vol. 23) 1936 Sind 132 (132) * (Vol. 25) 1938 Pat 437 (439) (DB) * (Vol. 33) 1946 Cal 127 (128, 129) (DB).

[2] There is no statutory provision which requires a party to take the leave of the Court to sue a Receiver. The institution of suits designed to disturb the possession of the Court is in the eye of the law a contempt of the authority of the Court and therefore the party contemplating such a suit, is required to take the leave of the Court so as to absolve himself from that charge. The grant of such leave is made in exercise of the inherent power. (Vol. 5) 1918 Pat 100 (103): 4 Pat L Jour 20 (DB) * (Vol. 24) 1937 Pat 523 (524).

[See (Vol. 20) 1933 Mad 340 (341) * (Vol. 8) 1921 Bom 427 (428): 45 Bom 99 (DB) * (Vol. 1) 1914 Cal 587 (588) (DB).]

[3] A Court will, however, readily grant leave to sue the receiver if it is satisfied that there is a case to be tried so that the claim of the third party may be tried in the presence of the receiver. (Vol. 27) 1940 Rang 59 (59, 60) (DB) * (Vol. 11) 1924 Pat 491 (495): 3 Pat 357 (DB) * (Vol. 14) 1927 Pat 397 (398) * (Vol. 5) 1918 Pat 100 (101): 4 Pat L Jour 20 (DB) * (Vol. 24) 1937 Cal 671 (672) (DB).

[5] A suit against a receiver without the leave of the Court is liable to be dismissed. (Vol. 1) 1914 Cal 587 (588) (DB).

[6] Suit against receiver without Court's leave—Decree if passed can be set aside. ('12) 17 Ind Cas 916 (916) (Low Bur).

[7] The absence of an objection by the receiver, that no leave was obtained, will not entitle the Court to pass a decree against a receiver. (Vol. 13) 1926 Cal 1040 (1041) (DB).

[8] Receiver discharged—Objection that suit against receiver was instituted without Court's leave will not stand. (Vol. 18) 1931 Pat 293 (300): 10 Pat 379 (DB).

[9] Receiver replaced by heirs of one of parties—Objection as to want of leave will not be entertained. (Vol. 8) 1921 Mad 624 (626) (DB).

[10] Court appointing receiver and not Court trying suit has to grant leave. (Vol. 11) 1924 Bom 89 (90): 43 Bom 200 * (Vol. 6) 1919 Pat 554 (555, 556) (DB).

[11] Grant of leave is not tantamount to relinquishment of possession by Court granting it to Court trying suit. (Vol. 11) 1924 Pat 491 (495); 3 Pat 357 (DB) * (Vol. 15) 1928 Pat 321 (323); 7 Pat 684 (DB).

[12] The Court trying suit cannot issue an injunction against the receiver restraining him from dealing with the property as it would lead to a conflict of jurisdiction. (Vol. 15) 1928 Pat 321 (323); 7 Pat 684 (DB) * (Vol. 12) 1925 Cal 1174 (1175) (DB).

[See also (Vol. 20) 1933 Bom 51 (52, 53, 57): 57 Bom 346 (DB).]

[13] Nor can a Court other than the appointing Court issue a rukbar to the latter Court requesting it to restrain the receiver from taking possession of a part of the property in respect of which the receiver has been appointed. (Vol. 8) 1921 Pat 92 (93); 6 Pat L Jour 268 (DB).

[14] The proper course for a person who has obtained a decree against the receiver is to apply to the Court, by which he has been appointed, to direct the receiver to act according to the decree. (Vol. 15) 1928 Pat 321 (323); 7 Pat 684 (DB) * (Vol. 12) 1925 Cal 1174 (1175) (DB).

[16] The owner of an estate cannot sue for accounts a tahsildar appointed by the receiver. (Vol. 8) 1921 Cal 516 (516) (DB).

[17] A present receiver cannot sue a former receiver of the estate for breach of duty committed by him as receiver in respect of money alleged to be due to the estate. (Vol. 1) 1914 Cal 744 (745); 41 Cal 92.

[18] A suit for declaration of title to the property in the hands of the receiver is not a suit "against" the receiver within the meaning of S. 80. (Vol. 27) 1940 Cal 1 (5) (DB).

[See also (Vol. 29) 1942 Cal 894 (899) (DB).]

[19] Simply because a receiver is authorised to defend suits, it does not entitle a third party to bring a suit against the receiver alone ignoring the persons who are in law necessary parties to such suit. (Vol. 33) 1946 Cal 127 (128) (DB).

31. Debts incurred by receiver in the course of business.—[1] A receiver is personally liable in respect of debts incurred or contracts entered into by him in the course of his management of the estate, but he is entitled to indemnity from the estate for such debts. (Vol. 12) 1925 Pat 602 (604, 605) (DB) * (Vol. 18) 1931 Cal 491 (492, 493); 58 Cal 174 * ('03) 30 Cal 937 (943, 944) * (Vol. 26) 1939 Rang 12 (13, 14, 16): 1938 Rang LR 611.

[2] The creditors can also proceed against the estate for the recovery of such debts in priority to other creditors of the estate. ('03) 30 Cal 937 (943, 944) (DB).

[See however (Vol. 26) 1939 Rang 12 (16): 1938 Rang LR 611.]

[3] Unless a creditor has obtained a charge on the estate in respect of his advance, his remedy as against the estate will be limited to the amount to which the receiver is entitled to indemnity from the estate. (Vol. 23) 1941 Mad 593 (596): ILR (1941) Mad 875 (DB).

[4] The ordinary rule that the creditors who have advanced money to a receiver for the management of the estate can proceed against him personally does not apply where the advance has been expressly made on the condition that the estate alone should be liable. (Vol. 12) 1925 Pat 602 (604) (DB).

32. Loss caused by receiver's default.—[1] If loss arises from the default of the receiver, such loss, subject to the receiver's liability for his default, must be borne by the estate and not by the party at whose instance he was appointed receiver. ('97) 20 Mad 224 (226, 229) (FB) (Affirming 17 Mad 501 on appeal.)

[See also (Vol. 17) 1930 Mad 4 (8).]

[See however (Vol. 16) 1929 Oudh 231 (233): 5 Luck 80 (FB).]

33. Agreement with receiver—Contempt of Court.—[1] It is a contempt of Court for any one to enter into an agreement with the receiver restricting and controlling his powers. ('95) 22 Cal 648 (656).

[2] A promise by party to pay remuneration to a receiver is against law and not enforceable. ('03) 30 Cal 696 (698) (DB).

[3] A receiver can apply for process for contempt of Court against any one interfering with his possession. (Vol. 27) 1940 Cal 437 (438) (DB) * ('01) 28 Cal 790 (798) (DB).

34. Remuneration of receiver.—[1] The Court has a discretion to allow the receiver remuneration at a fixed rate. (Vol. 10) 1923 Cal 516 (517) (DB) * (Vol. 18) 1931 Mad 500 (501).

[2] The receiver is entitled to all reasonable expenses of management. ('95) 19 Bom 660 (662) (DB) * (Vol. 23) 1926 Mad 321 (322).

[3] The receiver is entitled to fees of counsel whom he may have to engage. ('11) 14 Cal L Jour 445 (459) (DB).

[4] The receiver's remuneration must come out of the estate and the parties are not personally liable for it. (Vol. 10) 1923 Cal 516 (517) (DB) * (Vol. 25) 1938 Rang 357 (358) (DB).

[5] The managing partner of a firm by consenting to act without remuneration as receiver during the dissolution of the partnership, does not forgo his rights to such remuneration as he would be entitled to as managing partner. (Vol. 13) 1926 Cal 380 (380) (DB).

[6] The receiver of mortgaged property is entitled to priority over the mortgagee in respect of his remuneration and the expenses properly incurred by him in the course of his management. (Vol. 12) 1925 Mad 571 (572, 573) (DB).

[7] The priority does not extend to the wages that have become due to a servant of the estate before the appointment of the receiver. ('82) 6 Mad 138 (139) (DB).

35. Liability of receiver.—[1] A receiver disregarding the Court's orders is liable to be removed. (Vol. 28) 1941 Cal 144 (146): ILR (1940) 2 Cal 102 * (Vol. 12) 1925 Lah 309 (312).

[2] Receiver appointed by High Court disregarding orders of Court—He can be committed for contempt. (Vol. 19) 1932 Bom 638 (642).

[3] It is the duty of the receiver to preserve the property by paying public demands, such as land revenue. (Vol. 28) 1941 Cal 305 (306) (DB).

O. 40 R. 1 (contd.)

36. Liability to account.—[1] Money laid out by receiver without previous order of Court—Transaction proved to be beneficial to parties interested—Receiver is entitled to be allowed credit in his accounts for amount thus expended. ('11) 14 Cal L Jour 445 (456) (DB).

[2] A receiver must produce vouchers for all payments. (Vol. 11) 1924 Cal 1063 (1063) (DB) * ('95) 19 Bom 660 (662) (DB).

[3] Vouchers, when produced, they will be evidence of the payment of the sums therein specified. (Vol. 11) 1924 Cal 1063 (1063) (DB).

[4] A receiver can be required to submit his accounts for scrutiny even after the suit has been dismissed and even after his discharge. (Vol. 7) 1920 Pat 501 (502): 5 Pat L Jour 513 (DB) * ('95) 22 Cal 1011 (1015, 1016): 22 Ind App 203 (PC) * (Vol. 8) 1921 Cal 516 (516) (DB) * ('11) 14 Cal L Jour 445 (463) (DB).

[5] A receiver is responsible not only for sums actually received by him but also for all such sums which he might have received but for his default or negligence. ('01) 5 Cal WN 223 (223).

[See also (Vol. 30) 1943 Cal 244 (247) (DB)].

[6] A party appointed receiver is liable to account in the same way as a stranger so appointed. (Vol. 12) 1925 PC 257 (259) (PC).

[7] It is not right to go into the question of the liability to account for periods other than the period covered by the account itself. (Vol. 7) 1920 Pat 703 (704): 5 Pat L Jour 97.

[8] The question of bad management by the receiver does not arise when he submits his accounts for being passed. (Vol. 11) 1924 Cal 1063 (1064) (DB).

[9] The accounts of the receiver can be examined only by the Court appointing him. (Vol. 7) 1920 Pat 220 (222): 4 Pat L Jour 636 (DB).

[10] Where Court has overruled the objections of a party impugning the accounts and passed them, a suit will not lie against the receiver for damages, for negligence etc., based on allegations which have already been considered and overruled by the Court. (Vol. 8) 1921 Bom 427 (429): 45 Bom 99 (DB) * (Vol. 25) 1938 Cal 597 (600) (DB).

37. Debts incurred by receiver and those incurred by executor or trustee—Comparison—

[1] A creditor is entitled to proceed against the representative of an estate for the recovery of a debt incurred by the receiver during his management of the estate. In this respect, a receiver occupies a position towards the estate in his hands different from that of an executor or trustee. An executor or trustee not acting through or under directions of the Court does not and cannot under ordinary circumstances create obligations binding on the estate in favour of creditors. ('08) 30 Cal 937 (943, 944).

38. Liability to criminal prosecution.—[1]

Receiver of property cannot be prosecuted for any offence committed by him in that capacity. (Vol. 6) 1919 Cal 647 (649): 46 Cal 432 (DB) * ('12) 13 Cr L Jour 489 (490) (DB) (Cal).

[2] Offence committed having no connection with office held by receiver—Court's sanction is not necessary for his prosecution. ('12) 13 Cr L Jour 491 (491) (Cal).

39. When appointment takes effect.—[1] Order appointing receiver conditional on security being given—Appointment is not complete till security is given. ('11) 14 Cal L Jour 489 (499) (DB).

[But see (Vol. 11) 1924 Nag 136 (137).]

[2] Where there is no direction as to security, the order appointing the receiver takes effect immediately. ('11) 14 Cal L Jour 489 (499) (DB) * (Vol. 6) 1919 Cal 533 (534): 46 Cal 70 * ('02) 1902 Pun L R No. 61, p.232 (234) (DB).

[3] The transfer of the property to the receiver's possession, actual or constructive and the conferment of special powers on him require specific orders under clauses (b), (c) and (d) of the rule. (Vol. 10) 1923 Nag 6 (6).

40. Receiver's lien.—[1] A receiver has a lien on the estate for all his just claims and allowances. ('76) 2 Cal 53 (70) (DB) * ('95) 22 Cal 960 (973) * ('92) 15 Mad 233 (234) (DB) * (Vol. 25) 1938 Rang 357 (357) (DB).

[See also (Vol. 22) 1935 Mad 594 (596) * (Vol. 23) 1936 Mad 321 (322).]

[2] Where a receiver is sued for acts done by him as receiver for the benefit of the estate, he is entitled to indemnity from the estate for the loss caused to him thereby. ('08) 30 Cal 937 (944).

[3] A Court will not compel a receiver who has been discharged, to make over the property in his possession until his lien has been satisfied or provided for by a sufficient indemnity. ('95) 22 Cal 960 (973).

41. Remedy of third party aggrieved by receiver's action.—[1] Third party aggrieved by receiver's action—He should apply to court in very suit in which receiver has been appointed for summary order against receiver—If no question of title is involved court will decide matter—Otherwise it will refer third party to file separate suit against receiver. (Vol. 28) 1941 Rang 236 (238): 1941 Rang LR 300 * (Vol. 10) 1923 Rang 208 (208, 209): 1 Rang 138 * (Vol. 10) 1923 Mad 804 (805, 806) * ('03) 26 Mad 492 (493) (DB) * (Vol. 12) 1925 Cal 681 (683) * (Vol. 13) 1926 Cal 885 (894): 52 Cal 914 (DB) * (Vol. 10) 1923 Mad 129 (130) (DB) * (Vol. 14) 1927 Pat 297 (298, 299) (DB) * ('90) 17 Cal 285 (287) (DB).

[6] The receiver is a proper party to proceedings for the sale of property in the receiver's hands in execution of a decree for sale on a mortgage. (Vol. 10) 1923 Mad 144 (146, 147) : 47 Mad 47.

[7] The receiver is not the legal representative of a party and so cannot be brought on the record of a proceeding started by such party. (Vol. 25) 1938 Bom 458 (458) (DB).

[8] A receiver cannot be added as a party to proceedings under S. 145 of the Criminal Procedure Code. ('08) 30 Cal 593 (598) (DB).

[9] Failure to make receiver party to execution proceedings does not render such proceedings void. (Vol. 32) 1945 Cal 887 (893) (DB).

43. Notice to opposite party, if necessary, before appointment.—[1] The very object of appointing a receiver may be defeated in many cases if notice were insisted on. (Vol. 10) 1923 Lah 239 (241).

[2] In emergent cases a receiver may be appointed without notice to the opposite side. (Vol. 3) 1916 Cal 427 (427, 428) : 43 Cal 986 (DB).

[3] Except for very special reasons notice should not be excused before an order is made for such appointment. ('03) 2 Low Bur Rul 222 (223) (DB) * ('83) 1888 Bom P J 160 (160) (DB).

44. Appointment of new receiver in place of old receiver.—[1] Where a receiver ceases to hold the office of receiver pending a suit filed by him, the suit does not abate but may be continued by his successor in office. ('05) 28 Mad 157 (159, 160) (DB).

[See ('21) 61 Ind Cas 888 (889) (DB) (All).]

45. Joint receivers.—[1] The retirement or resignation of one of the receivers does not put an end to the order appointing a receiver. (Vol. 3) 1916 Cal 824 (825) (DB).

[2] Partition suit—Plaintiff ordered to remain in charge of portion of property and defendant in charge of remaining property—Order held not ultra vires. (Vol. 1) 1914 All 4 (5) : 36 All 19 (DB).

[3] Ordinarily, it is not open to a Court to appoint a receiver when a receiver has already been appointed in respect of the same property by another Court. (Vol. 11) 1924 Pat 491 (494) : 3 Pat 357 (DB) * (Vol. 20) 1933 Lah 671 (673) : 14 Lah 779.

[4] A receiver can be appointed in a mortgage suit where the decree is for sale although a receiver has already been appointed in respect of the same property in a prior partition suit. ('11) 14 Cal L Jour 526 (528) (DB).

46. Duration of office of receivership.—[1] A Court appointing a receiver may order that the office should continue permanently or for such period as is deemed necessary. ('96) 19 Mad 120 (127) : 29 Ind App 28 (PO).

[See also (Vol. 81) 1944 Nag 82 (88) : ILR (1944) Nag 166 (DB) * (Vol. 32) 1945 All 261 (264) : ILR (1945) All 818 (FB).]

[2] It can also cancel the order of appointment at any time, if it considers it necessary. ('08) 4 Low Bur Rul 356 (358).

[3] Appointment of receiver with consent of parties—Still Court has inherent power to discharge or remove him. (Vol. 8) 1921 Mad 234 (234) (DB) * ('12) 1912 Mad W N 1208 (1209, 1210).

[4] Until otherwise ordered by the Court, the receiver will continue in office though the suit in which he has been appointed has come to an end but the purpose of his appointment has not been achieved. [5] A receiver in a partition suit is not discharged merely by the passing of a preliminary decree in the suit. (Vol. 12) 1925 Lah 445 (446) : 6 Lah 442 (DB).

[6] A receiver in an administration suit cannot ordinarily be discharged before the completion of the administration. ('01) 5 Cal W N 417 (419) * ('01) 5 Cal W N 261 (268).

[7] Where it was ordered that the receiver would be discharged according to the arbitrator's award on his payment of all rents and revenues due in respect of the properties in his possession and all pressing debts and on his submission of proper accounts, it was held that the authority of the receiver continued even after this order till he performed all the acts he was required by it to perform. (Vol. 29) 1942 Cal 894 (399) (DB).

[8] Application for discharge of receiver does not lie to executing Court. (Vol. 32) 1945 Sind 75 (81) : ILR (1944) Kar 896.

[9] A consent order of appointment of a receiver does not prevent a party from impugning the administration thereunder which is of such a character as to amount to a malfeasance or to be, in substance, so protracted and imperfect as to be futile. (Vol. 11) 1924 P C 202 (206) (P O).

[10] A receiver should not be dismissed summarily merely at the instance of one of the parties. ('78) 19 Suth W R 66 (67) (DB).

[11] The burden of proving the circumstances justifying the removal is on the party applying for such removal. (Vol. 3) 1916 Mad 924 (925) (DB).

[12] Where incapacity on the part of the receiver is alleged it should be clearly proved. (Vol. 16) 1929 Pat 114 (115) (DB).

[13] A receiver may be removed for partiality. (Vol. 13) 1926 Cal 598 (596) : 53 Cal 319 (DB).

[14] A Court which appoints a receiver has authority to pass orders necessary to wind up his charge even after the suit has been disposed of. (Vol. 11) 1924 Lah 588 (584).

[15] It can examine the receiver's accounts and pass all necessary orders. ('95) 22 Cal 1011 (1015, 1016) : 32 Ind App 203 (PO) * ('01) 28 Cal 790 (794) (DB).

[16] Where the receivership is put an end to pending a suit filed by the receiver, the party

ORDER 40 RULE 4—SYNOPSIS

1. Scope and applicability of the rule.
2. Loss to property by wilful default or gross neglect.
3. "Court may direct his property to be attached."
4. Removal of a receiver.
5. Appeal.
6. Local amendment (Madras).

1. Scope and applicability of the rule.—[1] The rule provides for coercive steps against the receiver who fails to carry out his duties as laid down in R. 3. The Court has a discretion to take action or not under this rule as against the receiver. (Vol. 21) 1934 All 907 (907) (DB).

[2] When the receiver is guilty of a wilful default or gross negligence the only provision for taking action against him, apart from proceeding against the security, is attachment of his property; arrest and imprisonment are not to be the methods of enforcement. (Vol. 18) 1931 Mad 760 (763) (DB).

[3] The word "Court" in this rule, as in all other rules of this order, means the Court which appointed the receiver. (Vol. 30) 1943 Cal 244 (246) : ILR (1943) 2 Cal 204 (DB).

2. Loss to property by wilful default or gross neglect.—[1] "Property" includes not only the Corpus of the property entrusted to the receiver but also the income derived from it. (Vol. 3) 1916 Mad 521 (522) : 39 Mad 584 (DB).

[2] The rule is residuary provision and covers a case of misappropriation also. (Vol. 3) 1916 Mad 521 (522) : 39 Mad 584 (DB).

[3] Even a partner appointed receiver of partnership assets will be guilty of gross misconduct if he appropriates to his own use any of the partnership assets. (Vol. 12) 1925 P O 257 (259) (PO).

[4] A separate suit is the proper proceeding against a receiver on the basis of a wilful default and neglect. (Vol. 14) 1927 Cal 175 (175) : 53 Cal 881 (DB). (5 Cal W N 223, followed.) * (Vol. 8) 1921 Cal 516 (516) (DB). (Separate suit may be filed against receiver even after receiver's discharge if it transpires that he has in his hands moneys belonging to the estate.)

[5] In the undermentioned cases it was held that the Court can deal with allegations of wilful default and neglect against the receiver in a summary proceeding under this rule. (Vol. 30) 1943 Cal 244 (246, 247) : ILR (1943) 2 Cal 204 (DB). (Such an enquiry need not be confined to the account of those years only which have not yet been passed by the Court but may extend to matters covered by the accounts of the previous years which had already been passed by it.) * (Vol. 14) 1927 Rang 334 (334).

[6] Receiver alleged to be guilty of fraud and misappropriation—Reference to Commissioner if wrong—Parties should be referred to a suit. (Vol. 31) 1944 Mad 392 (392) : ILR (1945) Mad 47 (DB).

[7] If money paid by a receiver does not reach the proper destination, he must make good the loss, unless he can show that he acted with perfect regularity and has used such a degree of prudence as would be expected from an ordinary individual in his own affairs. (Vol. 17) 1930 Pat 232 (234) (DB). (Receiver was held to have exercised requisite degree of care.)

[8] Receiver appointed—Decree in favour of estate about eleven years old—After his appointment receiver applying for arrest of debtor but not for attachment of his properties on ground that it was very much encumbered—Receiver is not guilty of any negligence unless it is shown that attachment of debtor's property would have been profitable to the estate. (Vol. 18) 1931 Mad 760 (764, 765) (DB).

3. "Court may direct his property to be attached."—[1] Where a receiver dies, his property in the hands of his legal representatives may be

(2) The Court may, at the instance of any party to any suit or proceeding in which a receiver has been appointed or of its own motion, at any time make an enquiry as to what amount, if any, is due from the receiver as shown by his accounts or otherwise, or whether any loss to the property has been occasioned by his wilful default or gross negligence, and may order the amount found due or amount of the loss so occasioned to be paid by the receiver into Court or otherwise within a period to be fixed by the Court. All parties to the suit or proceeding and the receiver shall be made parties to any such enquiry. Notice of the enquiry shall be given by registered post to the surety, if any, for the receiver, but the cost of his appearance shall be borne by the surety himself unless the Court otherwise directs:

Provided that the Court may, where the account is disputed by the parties and is of a complicated nature or where it is alleged that loss has been occasioned to the property by the wilful default or gross negligence of the receiver, refer the parties to a suit. In all such cases the Court shall state in writing its reasons for the reference.

(3) If the receiver fails to pay any amount which he has been ordered to pay under sub-rule (2) of this rule, within the period fixed in the order, the Court may direct such amount to be recovered either from the security (if any) furnished by him under Rule 3, or by attachment and sale of his property, or, if his property has been attached under sub-rule (1) of this rule, by sale of the property so attached, and may apply the proceeds of the sale to make good any amount found due from him or any loss occasioned by him and shall pay the balance (if any) of the sale proceeds to the receiver."

5. Where the property is land paying revenue to the Government, or land of which

When Collector may the revenue has been assigned or redeemed, and the Court considers be appointed receiver. that the interests of those concerned will be promoted by the management of the Collector, the Court may, with the consent of the Collector, appoint him to be receiver of such property.

Rule 6—MADRAS

PROVINCIAL AMENDMENT.

Add the following as Rule 6:

"R. 6. Where the property belongs to a co-operative society registered under the Madras Co-operative Societies Act or to a member of such co-operative society, and the Court considers that the interest of those concerned will be promoted by the management of an officer of the co-operative department, the Court may, with the consent of the officer, appoint him to be receiver of such property."

attached. (Vol. 30) 1943 Cal 244 (247): ILR (1943) 2 Cal 204 (DB). (Legal representatives cannot be made personally liable.) * (Vol. 3) 1916 Mad 521 (522): 39 Mad 584 (DB).

[2] Before directing attachment of property under this rule, Court must first determine the exact amount for which receiver is liable after due enquiry under Rule 3, and give him opportunity to pay the same. (Vol. 10) 1923 Mad 85 (86) (DB).

4. Removal of a receiver.—[1] The Court has inherent power in the exercise of its discretion, to remove a receiver appointed by it. ('12) 1912 Mad W N 1208 (1209, 1210). * (Vol. 18) 1981 All 72 (78) (DB). * ('90) 18 Mad 390 (394) (PO).

[See however (Vol. 3) 1916 Mad 924 (925) (DB).]

[2] A receiver who has not complied with the Court's orders to keep proper accounts should be removed from office. (Vol. 28) 1941 Cal 144 (146): ILR (1940) 2 Cal 102 (105, 106). * (Vol. 12) 1925 Lah 309 (312).

[3] A receiver can be removed only by the Court appointing him. (Vol. 12) 1925 Lah 309 (310).

5. Appeal.—[1] An order under this rule is appealable under O. 43, R. 1, cl. (b). No appeal lies from the following orders.

(a) An order which merely declares that the receiver is liable to the estate for a certain sum of money and which is not accompanied by any order for the attachment of his property. (Vol. 18) (1981 Mad 760 (763, 768) (DB). (Order of realization out of receiver's security—Appeal lies.)

(b) An order fixing the period for which an account is to be filed. (Vol. 7) 1920 Pat 703 (704): 5 Pat L Jour 97.

(c) An order removing a receiver from office. (Vol. 20) 1933 Cal 52 (54): 60 Cal 162 (DB). (Receiver cannot appeal from such order—Otherwise the order is appealable).

(d) An order for refund of losses to the estate due to the receiver's neglect. (Vol. 9) 1922 Lah 224 (224) (DB).

(e) An order directing the receiver to pay a certain sum of money into Court without any order for the attachment of his property. (Vol. 9) 1922 Mad 234 (235) (DB).

[See also (Vol. 18) 1981 Mad 760 (764) (DB).]

(f) An order directing the receiver to pay a certain sum of money by way of damages. (Vol. 12) 1925 Rang 266 (266): 3 Rang 818 (DB).

[2] In an appeal from an order for attachment under Rule 4, the propriety of an order under Rule 3 requiring the receiver to pay a certain sum of money to the estate can be attacked. (Vol. 7) 1920 Pat 220 (221): 4 Pat L Jour 636 (DB). * (Vol. 10) 1923 Mad 85 (86) (DB). * (Vol. 11) 1924 Sind 35 (36): 18 Sind L R 385 (DB).

[3] An order passing a receiver's account is appealable inasmuch as it is really an order refusing relief against the receiver under this rule. (Vol. 8) 1921 Bom 427 (428): 45 Bom 99 (DB).

[But see (Vol. 30) 1943 Cal 244 (245): ILR (1943) 2 Cal 204 (DB). (Order refusing to re-open receiver's account for previous years which have already been passed does not come under this rule and is not appealable). * 14 Cal L Jour 445 relied on; (Vol. 8) 1921 Bom 427: 45 Bom 99 not followed].

6. Local amendment (Madras).—[1] Courts in Madras are bound to deal with receiver directly and not direct parties to separate suit—Proceedings under O. 40 R. 4, C.P.C.—Proper occasion for making allegations against receiver is when his accounts are passed. (Vol. 23) 1936 Mad 321 (323).

ORDER 40 RULE 5—Note 1.

[1] When attached property is seized and retained by a Collector acting as a receiver, his acts cannot be disputed by way of motion to discharge the attachment. ('71) 15 Suth W R 347 (348) (DB).

ORDER XLI.

APPEALS FROM ORIGINAL DECREES.

1. (1) Every appeal shall be preferred in the form of a memorandum signed by the appellant or his pleader and presented to the Court or to such officer as it appoints in this behalf. The memorandum shall be accompanied by a copy of the decree appealed from and (unless the Appellate Court dispenses therewith) of the judgment on which it is founded.

(2) The memorandum shall set forth, concisely and under distinct heads, the grounds of objection to the decree appealed from without any argument or narrative; and such grounds shall be numbered consecutively.

[1882—S. 541; 1877—S. 541; 1859—Ss. 333, 335. See S. 96 to 99, 107 and 108.]

LAHORE

Add the following proviso to sub-rule (1):

"Provided that when two or more cases are tried together and decided by the same judgment, and two or more appeals are filed against the decrees, whether by the same or different appellants, the officer appointed in this behalf may, if satisfied that the questions for decisions are analogous in each appeal, dispense with the production of more than one copy of the judgment." [7-12-1932.]

MADRAS

(1) Add the following sentence and proviso to sub-rule (1):

"The copy of the judgment shall be a printed copy in every case in which the High Court has prescribed that the judgment shall be printed when a copy is applied for, for the purpose of appeal." [3-5-1917.]

"Provided that, in appeals from decrees or orders under any special or local Act to which the provisions of Parts II and III of the Limitation Act, IX of 1908, do not apply and in which certified copies of such decrees or orders have not been granted within the time prescribed for preferring an appeal, the Appellate Court may admit the memorandum of appeal subject to the production of the copy of the decree or order appealed from within such time as may be fixed by the Court." [Dis. No. 2135 of 1918.]

(2) Add the following sentence to sub-rule (2):

"The memorandum shall also contain a statement of the valuation of the appeal for the purposes of the Court-fees Act." [Dis. No. 2057 of 1917.]

[11] Certified copy of a registered document admitted in evidence without objection in trial Court—Appellate Court cannot reject the document either on the ground that no foundation has been laid for the admission of secondary evidence or on the ground that there is no evidence to prove the execution of the document. (Vol. 30) 1943 P C 88 (87): I. L. R. (1943) Kar P C 69 (PC).

12. When appellate Court may not interfere with findings of fact.—[1] Generally speaking it is undesirable to interfere with the findings of fact of the Trial Judge who sees and hears the witnesses and has an opportunity of noting their demeanour, especially in cases where the issue is simple and depends on the credit which attached to one or other of conflicting witnesses. (Vol. 2) 1915 P C 1 (2): 39 Bom 386: 42 Ind App 110 (PC).

[2] Two conflicting view-points have to be reconciled, namely, the undoubted duty of the Court of Appeal to review the recorded evidence and to draw its own inferences and conclusions, and the unquestionable weight which must be attached to the opinion of the Judge of the primary Court who had the advantage of seeing the witnesses and noticing their look and manner. (Vol. 9) 1922 Cal 260 (267): 49 Cal 132 (DB).

[2] Several appeals disposed of by one judgment—They cannot be consolidated so as to enable the appellant to pay court-fee on the value of the consolidated appeals and file only one vakalat. (Vol. 17) 1930 Mad 376 (381): 53 Mad 248 (FB).

ORDER 41 RULE 2—SYNOPSIS

1. Point not set forth in the memorandum of appeal.
2. Leave of Court to raise new point.
3. Point of limitation.
4. Point of jurisdiction.
5. "Appellate Court...shall not be confined... by leave of the Court."
6. Party affected must have had an opportunity of contesting the case.

1. Point not set forth in the memorandum of appeal.—[1] The appellant will not be entitled as of right to urge an objection at the hearing of the appeal which he has not taken in the grounds of appeal. (Vol. 30) 1948 Mad 288 (290): ILR (1948) Mad 509 (DB) * ('48) 1948 Oudh W N 180 (181) * (Vol. 28) 1941 Bom 350 (355) (DB) * (Vol. 27) 1940 Mad 722 (728) (DB) * ('96) 18 All 19 (22) (FB) * (Vol. 11) 1924 All 149 (149) (DB) * (Vol. 13) 1926 Lah 11 (12) (DB) * (Vol. 18) 1926 Nag 147 (148) * ('12) 15 Ind Cas 270 (272) (Oudh) * ('15) 80 Ind Cas 874 (875) (UPBR) * (Vol. 7) 1920 Cal 106 (107) (DB) * (Vol. 7) 1920 Sind 11 (11): 14 Sind L R 224 (DB) * ('90) 17 Cal 57 (64) (DB) * (Vol. 19) 1932 Mad 440 (442): 55 Mad 856 (DB) * (Vol. 22) 1935 Rang 58 (54): 12 Rang 625 (DB) * (Vol. 22) 1935 Nag 185 (189) * (Vol. 19) 1932 Lah 444 (446): 13 Lah 820 (DB).

[2] An appellant can with the permission of the Court, raise a point at the hearing though he has not included it in the memorandum of appeal. (Vol. 2) 1915 Lah 449 (450) * (Vol. 8) 1921 All 337 (339): 48 All 198 (SB) * (1900-02) 1 Low Bur Rul 184 (185) * ('94) 8 C P L R 81 (82).

[3] A point which was not raised in the trial Court, but taken in grounds of appeal and subsequently abandoned was not allowed to be raised in argument. (Vol. 22) 1935 Pat 306 (340): 14 Pat 70 (DB).

[4] Defendant in suit not admitting valuation of suit by plaintiff, but not pressing the point—Same valuation put in appeal by defendants—Defendants subsequently seeking to reduce valuation—They are not barred by rules of estoppel or res judicata from raising the point. (Vol. 28) 1936 Oudh. 179 (180): 12 Luck 68 (DB).

2. Leave of Court to raise new point.—[1] The Court has discretion to permit a new point, not raised in the memorandum of appeal, to be raised and argued at the hearing. (Vol. 29) 1942 All 361 (365): ILR (1942) All 498 (DB) * (Vol. 28) 1941 Mad 129 (135) (DB) * (Vol. 28) 1941 Oudh 72 (74). * (Vol. 20) 1933 Lah 788 (739) * (Vol. 28) 1936 Mad 865 (868) (DB) * (Vol. 27) 1940 Pat 33 (35) * (Vol. 21) 1934 Nag 1 (4): 30 Nag L R 62 (DB) * (Vol. 21) 1934 Pesh 3 (4) * (Vol. 22) 1935 Pesh 44 (47) (DB).

[4] That the respondent has had notice of the fact that the appellant intends to raise a new point at the hearing cannot dispense with the Court's permission under this rule. (Vol. 12) 1925 Pat 57 (59): 3 Pat 818 (DB).

[5] Where permitting the new point would amount to setting up a new appeal it will not be allowed where the period of limitation for appeal has expired. (Vol. 3) 1916 Lah 452 (453): 1916 Pun Re No. 7 (DB).

[See also (Vol. 19) 1932 Lah 444 (446): 13 Lah 820 (DB).]

[6] Point not raised in the memorandum of appeal, although the appellant had sufficient time to do so will not be allowed to be raised at the hearing. (Vol. 33) 1946 Nag 135 (137).

[7] In the following cases it was held that the point may be permitted even after the period of limitation for appeal has expired:—

[a] Proper point is involved in the points already raised. (Vol. 10) 1923 Oudh 147 (148): 25 Oudh Cas 388.

PROVINCIAL AMENDMENTS.

ALLAHABAD

Substitute the following for sub-rule (1):

"8. (1) Where the memorandum of appeal is not drawn up in the manner hereinbefore proscribed, or accompanied by the copies mentioned in Rule 1 (1), it may be rejected, or where the memorandum of appeal is not drawn up in the manner proscribed, it may be returned to the appellant for the purpose of being amended within a time to be fixed by the Court or be amended then and there."

ODDH

For sub-rule (1), substitute the following:

"8. (1) Where the memorandum of appeal is not drawn up in the manner hereinbefore proscribed, or accompanied by the copies mentioned in Rule 1, sub-rule (1), it may be rejected, or where the memorandum of appeal is not drawn up in the manner proscribed, it may be returned to the appellant for the purpose of being amended within a time to be fixed by the Court or be amended then and there."

Rule 3A—BOMBAY

After Rule 8, the following rule shall be inserted, namely:

"R. 3A. Where an appellant applies for delay to be excused, notice to show cause shall at once be issued to the respondent and the matter shall be finally decided before notice is issued to the Court from whose decree the appeal is preferred under Rule 18." [8-7-1921.]

O. 41 R. 3 (contd.)

2. "Or be returned to the appellant for the purpose of being amended."
3. Defect of parties.
4. Scandalous matters.
5. Reasons for rejection.
6. Appeal.
7. Second appeal.

1. "May be rejected."—[1] The Court cannot reject a memorandum of appeal under this rule on the ground that it is insufficiently stamped. (Vol. 1) 1914 Bom 249 (250): 38 Bom 41 * (Vol. 10) 1923 All 349 (349) (DB).

[2] A memorandum of appeal cannot be rejected under this rule on the ground that it is barred by limitation. (Vol. 7) 1920 Pat 818 (820) * (Vol. 24) 1937 Cal 732 (735).

[3] No duty is cast on the Appellate Court to examine the memorandum of appeal on presentation, and add proper parties if the appellant neglects to do so. ('13) 18 Ind Cas 37 (39): 1913 Pun Re No. 59 (DB).

[4] The Court can reject a memorandum of appeal under this rule at any stage. ('85) 7 All 79 (85) (FB) * ('69) 18 Suth W R 351 (352) (DB).

ORDER 41 RULE 4—SYNOPSIS

1. Scope and object of the rule.
2. "Decree."
3. "Common ground".
4. Ground common to all the plaintiffs.
5. Ground common to all the defendants.
6. May reverse the decree in favour of all the plaintiffs or defendants.
7. Death of one of several appellants in a case where the decree appealed from proceeds on a ground common to all of them.
8. Review.
9. Revision.

1. Scope and object of the rule.—[1] Rr. 1 and 33 provide exceptions to the general rule that on an appeal by one of several plaintiffs or defendants, the Appellate Court can reverse or vary the decree of the trial Court only in favour of the party appealing. (Vol. 14) 1927 All 311 (313).

[2] Rr. 4 and 38 give the Court power to make the appropriate order needed in the interests of justice. (Vol. 7) 1920 Cal 428 (434) (DB).

[3] Separable part of decree affecting some of defendants and proceeding on ground common to them all—Appeal by one of them against such part of the decree—Rule 4 may apply. (Vol. 7) 1920 Cal 428 (434) (DB).

[4] One of necessary respondents not before Court—Rule 4 has no application. (Vol. 22) 1935 Oudh 329 (331): 11 Luck 5 (DB).

[5] There is no rule that all joint owners must be parties to appeal though they must be made parties to suits. (Vol. 30) 1943 Bom 301 (304): 1 L R (1943) Bom 143 (DB).]

[6] In this case apparently the decree (which was one for injunction) proceeded on a ground common to all the defendants—It was held nevertheless that the Appellate Court had no jurisdiction to set aside the decree against all the defendants on the appeal by some of them alone—There is no reference to this rule in the judgment. (Vol. 21) 1934 Lah 684 (685): 7 Lah 613.

[7] Where a decree proceeds upon a ground common to all the plaintiffs or defendants and any one of the plaintiffs or the defendants appeals from the whole decree the appeal by one is virtually treated as an appeal on behalf of all. ('96) 22 Bom 500 (508) (DB) * (Vol. 23) 1936 Cal 424 (425) (DB).

[See also (Vol. 27) 1940 All 365 (368): 1 L R (1940) All 425 (DB).]

[8] The rule will not apply where the appeal is directed only against that portion of the decree which affects the appellant. ('10) 5 Ind Cas 102 (104, 105) (SB) * (Mad) * (Vol. 13) 1926 Lah 303 (303) * (Vol. 15) 1928 Mad 1144 (1146) (DB) * (Vol. 8) 1921 All 56 (57, 58): 48 All 320 (DB) * (Vol. 3) 1916 Cal 654 (655) (DB) * ('21) 63 Ind Cas 95 (97) (DB) (Cal) * (Vol. 5) 1918 Lah 335 (337) (DB) * ('89) 11 All 35 (39, 40) (DB).

[9] Where the appealing plaintiff or defendant cannot, under the circumstances of the particular case, be considered as appealing on behalf of the non-appealing plaintiffs or defendants R. 4 does not apply. (Vol. 3) 1916 Lah 113 (114, 115, 117): 1917 Punj Re No. 71 (FB) * (Vol. 32) 1945 Pat 453 (458): 24 Pat 379 (DB).

[10] The rule will apply only where the Court consciously decides to apply it. (Vol. 13) 1926 Mad 991 (994).

[11] The policy of the rule is to give the Appellate Court full power to do justice to all parties, whether before it or not, provided the whole case is gone into at the instance of the parties representing all the necessary contentions in the case. ('13) 25 Mad L Jour 248 (251) (DB) * (Vol. 24) 1937 All 796 (797).

[But see (Vol. 22) 1935 Pesh 106 (107) (DB). (This rule will not apply unless the co-plaintiff is at least made a respondent to the appeal).]

[12] Object of the rule is to prevent contradictory decisions on the matter in the same suit. (Vol. 3) 1916 Pat 400 (401): 1 Pat L Jour 143 * (Vol. 24) 1937 All 796 (797).

[13] The rule does not become inapplicable merely because the non-appealing defendant has, in the meanwhile, obeyed the lower Court's decree. ('08) 18 Mad L Jour 39 (41) (DB).

[14] Merely because the non-appealing defendant has separately appealed from the same decree and has failed in his appeal the rule is not inapplicable. (Vol. 2) 1915 All 367 (368).

O. 41 R. 4 (contd.)

[15] The rule has no application where there are several suits, the decree in each of which proceeds on a ground common to the defendants in all the suits, unless such suits are consolidated. ('90) 13 Mad 249 (252) (DB) * (Vol. 6) 1919 Lah 201 (202): 1919 Pun Re No. 116 * (Vol. 8) 1921 All 56 (57, 58): 43 All 320 (DB) * (Vol. 12) 1925 Bom 290 (291) (DB) (Several appeals—Rule does not apply unless the appeals are consolidated). * (Vol. 12) 1925 Oudh 732 (735) (DB) (Do) * ('90) 13 Mad 249 (252) (DB) (Do).

[16] The rule does not apply where the plaintiff who appeals has no locus standi to appeal. (1910) 1910 Pun L R No. 21 P 51 (53).

[17] Where, for a suit under S. 92 of the Code, the consent of the Advocate-General has been given to three persons, they all constitute, in the eye of the law, one plaintiff and therefore one of them alone cannot appeal so as to make this rule applicable. (Vol. 14) 1927 Lah 382 (383) (DB) * (Vol. 22) 1935 Lah 251 (254): 16 Lah 782 (DB).

[18] Where a decree is passed against two defendants on a ground common to both and one of them appeals against the decree while the other files cross-objections to the decree, the Appellate Court can transpose the latter defendant as an appellant and decide the appeal in his favour. (Vol. 11) 1924 All 605 (608, 609) (DB).

[19] Where there are several respondents before the lower Appellate Court, any one of them may maintain a second appeal on behalf of all under this rule but he cannot represent a person who was not a respondent in the lower Appellate Court. ('87) 12 Bom 371 (375) (DB).

[20] A person not a party to the first appeal cannot prefer a second appeal under this rule. (Vol. 18) 1931 All 766 (767) (DB) * ('66) 6 Suth W R 36 (36, 37) (DB).

[21] Official Receiver suing to set aside sale of insolvent's property—Suit dismissed—Creditor of insolvent cannot appeal—Rule 4 shows that it is only parties to the suit that can appeal from a decree therein. (Vol. 28) 1941 Mad 577 (578).

[22] The rule applies also to a cross-appeal by respondents. (Vol. 7) 1920 Cal 428 (434) (DB).

2. "Decree."—[1] A decree may be reversed under this rule in favour of all the defendants even if some of them allowed the decree to be passed ex parte against them, provided the other conditions laid down in the rule are satisfied. (Vol. 3) 1916 Pat 400 (401): 1 Pat L Jour 143 * ('70) 18 Suth W R 114 (116) (DB).

[But see (Vol. 2) 1915 Mad 227 (229) (DB).]

[2] Where a decree is passed against some of the defendants on confession of judgment, the decree cannot be reversed in their favour under this rule. ('13) (1913) Pun L R No. 80 p. 801 (304) (DB).

[But see (Vol. 12) 1925 Cal 23 (26) (DB).]

3. "Common ground."—[1] Where the decree appealed from does not proceed on a ground common to all the plaintiffs or defendants, the Appellate Court has no jurisdiction to reverse or vary the entire decree except on the appeal of all the plaintiffs or defendants. (Vol. 29) 1942 Cal 257 (260): ILR (1941) 2 Cal 556 (DB) * (Vol. 14) 1927 All 177 (178) * ('96) 25 Bom 699 (702) (DB) * (1865) 2 Suth W R 227 (230) (SB) * (Vol. 4) 1917 Lah 68 (69) (DB) * (Vol. 6) 1919 Cal 127 (127) (DB) * ('02) 15 C P L R

[2] The rule applies only where the lower Court's decree proceeds on a common ground and not where the Appellate Court wishes to proceed on a common ground and reverse or vary the lower Court's decree in favour of all the parties. ('70) 14 Suth W R 130 (131, 132) (DB) * ('98) 20 All 8 (9) (DB).

[3] It is enough if the decree proceeds on any ground common to all the plaintiffs or defendants. ('03) 30 Cal 429 (432) (DB) * (Vol. 2) 1915 Cal 618 (619): 42 Cal 451 (DB) * ('07) 30 Mad 470 (472) (DB).

[But see ('95) 1895 Pun Re No. 8, p. 33 (36) (DB).]

[4] It is not necessary that all the defendants should claim an interest in the property affected by the decree. ('07) 30 Mad 470 (472) (FB) (Disapproving 17 Mad 265).

[5] The rule will apply when the defendants put forward a common defence as against the plaintiff, although they dispute each other's rights. (Vol. 14) 1927 Pat 103 (104).

[6] Where a common defence is put forward by the several defendants to a suit, this rule will apply although their interests in the subject-matter of the suit are not inseparable. (Vol. 23) 1936 Lah 612 (616, 617).

[See however (Vol. 26) 1939 All 626 (635) (DB).]

[7] In applying this rule, the Court is entitled to consider the ground on finding upon which the judgment or decision is based, and not merely the operative portion of the decree. ('09) 9 Cal L Jour 461 (461) (DB).

4. Ground common to all the plaintiffs.—[1] Where there are several plaintiffs and the suit is dismissed on a ground common to all of them, the Appellate Court may reverse the decree in favour of all the plaintiffs although only some of them have appealed. (Vol. 1) 1914 Lah 298 (298): 1914 Pun Re No. 68 (DB) * ('12) 15 Ind Cas 409 (412) (DB) (Mad) * (Vol. 14) 1927 Nag 406 (407) * (Vol. 11) 1924 Oudh 385 (389) (DB) * (Vol. 16) 1929 All 393 (394) * (Vol. 11) 1924 Rang 376 (376): 2 Rang 486 (DB) * (Vol. 9) 1922 Lah 57 (58).

[2] Though an application for commutation of rent under the Bengal Tenancy Act must be made by all the landlords, an appeal by some only of the landlords in such proceedings is maintainable. ('17) 41 Ind Cas 787 (788) (Pat).

5. Ground common to all the defendants.—[1] Where a decree is passed against several defendants and the decree proceeds on any ground common to all the defendants, it is open to any of them to appeal from the whole decree and on such appeal the Appellate Court can reverse or vary the decree in favour of all the defendants. (Vol. 29) 1942 Oudh 313 (314): 17 Luck 636 (DB) * (Vol. 17) 1930 Mad 65 (67) (DB) * (Vol. 3) 1916 Cal 890 (890, 891) (DB) (Sale set aside against all purchasers—Reversal of order in appeal by one entres for benefit of all). * ('78) 3 Cal 788 (741) (FB) * ('90) 3 C P L R 130 (130) * (Vol. 7) 1920 Cal 646 (647) (DB) * (Vol. 7) 1920 Cal 388 (390) (DB) * ('01) 23 All 478 (481) (DB) * (Vol. 12) 1925 Mad 237 (238) (DB) * (Vol. 19) 1932 All 710 (711) (DB).

[2] A mortgaged certain properties to X and sold same to B on 5—3—1925. On 10—3—1925, A paid X the whole of the interest due up to that date and it was arranged that the principal should be paid by

16—10—1925, failing which further interest would accrue from 10-3-1925 till payment. On 16—3—1925, B tendered to X a certain sum as the principal amount due on the mortgage. On X refusing to receive the same, B deposited the amount in Court under S. 84 of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882, on 22—10—1925. X thereafter filed a suit against A and B for the interest accrued due from 10—3—1925 to 22—10—1925 on the ground that no valid tender was made on 16—3—1925. A and B contested the suit on the ground that the tender was a valid one. The trial Court passed a decree against both A and B overruling their plea. B alone appealed against the decree. It was held that the ground on which the decree of the lower Court proceeded, viz., that there was not valid tender, being common to both A and B, the Appellate Court could under this rule reverse the decree against A also though he had not joined in the appeal. (Vol. 16) 1929 Mad 230 (233): 52 Mad 322 (DB).

6. May reverse the decree in favour of all the plaintiffs or defendants.—[1] The exercise of the power under this rule is discretionary. [3] The rule does not enable a decree to be passed against a person. (Vol. 21) 1934 Oudh 496 (497) (DB). * (Vol. 21) 1934 Mad 730 (732): 58 Mad 407.

[4] Where A and B obtained a decree against C for a part of the claim made in the suit, and in an appeal by B for the portion of the claim disallowed, C filed cross-objections against the portion decreed, and the Appellate Court dismissed the claim in toto. Held that A was bound by the decision, notwithstanding he was not a party to the appeal. ('87) 11 Bom 596 (598) (DB).

[5] Suit for share in property of deceased—Plaintiff conceding that defendant 1 was entitled to certain share and claiming that he and defendants 2 and 3 were each entitled to sixth share in surplus—Suit decreed—In appeal by defendant 2 alone, Defendant 2 held entitled to sixth share in whole property—No appeal or memo of objection by plaintiff or defendant 3—Variation of decree by appellate Court in favour of plaintiff and defendant 3 held erroneous. (Vol. 32) 1945 Mad 47 (49).

[6] Where a suit is partly decreed and partly dismissed and in an appeal by the plaintiff against the part dismissed, no cross-objections are filed against the part decreed, this rule has no application. ('89) 11 All 35 (39, 40) (DB).

[7] Where a decree is passed against A and B, and B alone appeals from the decree, the Appellate Court cannot, while setting aside the decree against B, pass a new decree against A. (Vol. 5) 1918 Cal 173 (175) (DB).

[8] Where the trial Court has decreed the suit against A and B and B alone appeals from the decree, the Appellate Court while reversing the decree and dismissing the suit against both A and B can also decree in favour of A, the costs of the suit. (Vol. 29) 1942 Cal 257 (260): I L R (1941) 2 Cal 556 (DB).

[9] Where the Appellate Court exonerates a particular defendant from the lower Court's decree and that defendant's interest is separable from that of the others, the appellate decree does not enure to the benefit of the latter. (Vol. 4) 1917 Pat 152 (153): 3 Pat L Jour 166 (DB).

[10] A decree was passed against A, B and C. The decree was executed against A and on appeal by B and C, to which A was not a party, the decree was reversed. It was held that A was entitled to restitution, though he was not a party to the appeal. (Vol. 24) 1937 Bom 101 (103): I L R (1937) Bom 150.

7. Death of one of several appellants in a case where the decree appealed from proceeds on a ground common to all of them.—[1] On the death of one of several appellants, if the right of appeal survives to the surviving appellants alone, the appeal may be proceeded with by latter. (Vol. 30) 1943 Bom 301 (304): I L R (1943) Bom 143 (DB) * (Vol. 15) 1928 Lah 737 (737, 738).

[2] If the lower Court's decree proceeds on a ground common to the deceased as well as to the survivors, then, the latter can, under this rule, appeal from the whole decree and the absence of the legal representatives of the deceased is no bar to the disposal of the appeal. (Vol. 32) 1945 Bom 126 (131) (DB) * (Vol. 28) 1941 Oudh 155 (160): 16 Luck 382.

[3] Where the decree proceeds on a ground common to the deceased as well as to the survivors, if the legal representatives are not substituted within the period of limitation, the appeal abates only so far as the deceased is concerned and not as a whole. (Vol. 32) 1945 Bom 126 (131) (DB) * (Vol. 28) 1941 Pesh 36 (37) (DB) * ('13) 25 Mad L Jour 248 (250) (DB) * (Vol. 20) 1933 All 733 (734) (DB) * (Vol. 13) 1926 Cal 462 (462, 463) * ('30) 125 Ind Cas 180 (180) (DB) (Lah).

[But see (Vol. 21) 1934 Lah 206 (208): 15 Lah 667 (DB).]

[4] If the appeal succeeds, the appellate decree or order enures to the benefit of all the appellants including the deceased. (Vol. 32) 1945 Bom 126 (131) (DB) * (Vol. 28) 1941 Pesh 36 (37) (DB) * (Vol. 12) 1925 Mad 910 (910, 911) (DB) * (Vol. 21) 1934 Cal 703 (704): 61 Cal 879 (DB) * (Vol. 20) 1933 Mad 655 (656) (DB) * (Vol. 5) 1918 Mad 794 (801): 40 Mad 846 (DB) * (Vol. 3) 1916 Lah 401 (402) (DB) * (Vol. 25) 1938 Pat 147 (149) * (Vol. 26) 1939 All 626 (635) (DB) * (Vol. 25) 1938 All 235 (239): I L R (1938) All 350 (DB).

STAY OF PROCEEDINGS AND OF EXECUTION.

5. (1) An appeal shall not operate as a stay of proceedings under a decree or order appealed from except so far as the Appellate Court may order, nor shall execution of a decree be stayed by reason only of an appeal having been preferred from the decree; but the Appellate Court may for sufficient cause order stay of execution of such decree.

(2) Where an application is made for stay of execution of an appealable decree before the expiration of the time allowed for appealing therefrom, the Court which passed the decree may on sufficient cause being shown order the execution to be stayed.

(3) No order for stay of execution shall be made under sub-rule (1) or sub-rule (2) unless the Court making it is satisfied—

(a) that substantial loss may result to the party applying for stay of execution unless the order is made;

[But see (Vol. 27) 1940 Pat 346 (347): 19 Pat 870 (FB).]

[5] Where a decree dismissing a suit by several plaintiffs has proceeded on a ground common to all of them and some of the plaintiffs alone have appealed against the decree making the other plaintiffs respondents to the appeal, the death of one of the latter and the failure to bring on record his legal representatives within limitation do not affect the maintainability of the appeal. ORDER 41 RULE 5—SYNOPSIS.

1. Scope and object of the rule.
2. Rule does not apply where decree has been executed.
3. Rule applies only when decree under appeal is capable of execution.
4. Stay of proceedings.
5. Stay of execution, when may be granted.
6. "Sufficient cause."

7. "Substantial loss."

8. Application must have been made without unreasonable delay.

9. Affidavit in support of the application.

10. Notice to decree-holder.

11. Security for performance of decree.

12. When respondent is insolvent.

13. Insolvency of appellant and deposit.

14. Effect of stay order.

15. Effect of uncommunicated order staying execution.

16. Costs of application.

17. Appeal.

18. Letters Patent appeal.

19. Revision.

20. Review.

1. Scope and object of the rule.—[1] Appeal filed—Appellate Court may order stay of proceedings under the decree or of execution of such decree. (09) 9 Cal L Jour 561 (562) (DB) * (Vol. 24) 1917 All 528 (528) (DB).

[2] Application for stay made to appellate Court—Conditions of sub-rule (3) satisfied—The Court can grant stay of execution whether an application to execute decree has in fact been made or not. (Vol. 20) 1933 Bom 118 (119, 120): 57 Bom 202 (DB).

[3] Before an appeal is filed from an appealable decree, the Court passing it may order the execution to be stayed but not of other proceedings under the decree. Appellate Court has no jurisdiction to order stay of execution of the decree in such a case. (Vol. 8) 1921 All 214 (214): 43 All 513 (DB) * (Vol. 8) 1921 All 342 (343, 344): 43 All 198 (198) (DB) * (72) 17 Suth W R 341 (342) (DB) * (66) 6 Suth W R Misc 15 (15) (DB) * (09) 5 Low Bur Rul 124 (125) (DB).

[4] The object of the rule is to see that the ultimately successful party gets not merely a barren success but is able to reap the fruits of his success. (01) 5 Cal W N 781 (797, 798) (SB).

[6] The rule applies to all decrees. (66) 9 Suth W R 448 (448) (FB) * (94) 1894 Pun Re No. 2, p. 2 (4) (DB).

- (b) that the application has been made without unreasonable delay; and
- (c) that security has been given by the applicant for the due performance of such decree or order as may ultimately be binding upon him.
- (4) Notwithstanding anything contained in sub-rule (3), the Court may make an ex parte order for stay of execution pending the hearing of the application.

Objects and Reasons

"The Committee have added words to section 545 in order to make it clear that proceedings under a decree as well as execution can be stayed by an appellate Court; the recognition of preliminary decrees makes it the more necessary to have an express power to this effect instead of resting on an inherent power (Balkishan Sahu v. Khugnu, I. L. R. 31 Calcutta 772). The Committee have introduced express words authorising an ex parte stay, as the need for such an order constantly arises in practice."—S. O. R.

PROVINCIAL AMENDMENT

MADRAS

Substitute the following for the existing sub-rule (1):

"5. (1) An appeal shall not operate as a stay of proceedings under a decree or order appealed from except so far as the Appellate Court may order, nor shall execution of a decree be stayed by reason only of an appeal having been preferred from the decree; but the Appellate Court may for sufficient cause order stay of execution of such decree and may, when the appeal is against a preliminary decree, stay the making of a final decree in pursuance of the preliminary decree or the execution of any such final decree, if already made."

O. 41 R. 5 (contd.)

[7] The rule does not enable the Appellate Court to stay proceedings in a Court not subordinate to it. (Vol 18) 1931 All 57 (58); 53 All 180.

[8] Execution of a decree under which immovable property has been ordered to be sold transferred to the Collector under S. 68—Appeal preferred against the order of the Civil Court directing the execution of the decree by sale—Appellate Court can order stay of sale by the Collector. (Vol 30) 1943 Oudh 265 (266, 267) (DB).

[9] Under O. 20 R. 11 the Court which passed the decree can postpone the payment of the amount decreed. (Vol 14) 1927 Mad 416 (419, 420) (DB).

[10] In cases not covered by any of the provisions dealing with stay of execution a sale or execution can be stayed under the Court's inherent powers. (Vol 15) 1928 Pat 49 (50) (DB).

3. Rule applies only when decree under appeal is capable of execution.—[1] Appeal filed against order overruling objections of the judgment-debtor to the execution of the decree—Appellant applying for stay of sale—This rule has no application. (Vol 20) 1933 All 664 (665).

4. Stay of proceedings.—[1] The mere filing of an appeal does not suspend the operation of a decree and is no bar to proceedings being taken under the decree, except so far as the Appellate Court orders otherwise. [b] According to the Madras High Court an order for stay of execution operates only from the time it is communicated to the executing Court. (Vol 5) 1918 Mad 891 (892, 893); 41 Mad 151 (FB) (Overruling (Vol 1) 1914 Mad 261; 38 Mad 766) * (Vol 32) 1945 Mad 891 (891 892) * ('09) 83 Mad 74 (75) (DB).

[c] A similar view has been taken in the following cases. But an opinion is expressed that if the decree-holder himself is the purchaser, the sale held before the order of stay is communicated to the executing Court would not be valid. (Vol 14) 1927 All 401 (404, 405); 51 All 41 (FB). (Distinguishing (Vol 13) 1926 All 457) * (Vol 30) 1948 Cal 319 (324); ILR (1948) 1 Cal 274 (DB).

[But see ('79) 2 All 686 (687) (DB).]

[d] The Bombay High Court has held that a great deal depends on the nature of the order, the question of good faith and other facts. (Vol 15) 1928 Bom 189 (190, 191); 52 Bom 290 (DB).

[2] It has been held that a sale held by the auctioneer or officer charged with the conduct of the sale, after the Court has ordered the postponement or stay of the sale is illegal and ultra vires though at the time of the sale the order of the Court had not reached the auctioneer or officer. 16. Costs of application.—[1] In the absence of special circumstances costs of application for stay should be costs in the appeal. (Vol 19) 1932 Bom 127 (128); 56 Bom 276 (FB).

[See however ('98) 25 Cal 893 (894) (SB) (Appellant should be made to pay costs even if successful in his application).]

17. Appeal.—[1] The question whether an order granting or refusing stay of execution is appealable or not depends upon the question whether such an order falls within S. 47. As to this (See Sec. 47.)

18. Letters Patent appeal.—[1] An order granting or refusing stay of execution is a "judgment" within the meaning of the Letters Patent. 3. Security.
4. "Property which may be or has been taken in execution."
5. Registration and attestation of security bond—See Order 41 Rule 5.
6. Mode of enforcement of security bond—See Notes on Section 145.
7. Stay of sale of immovable property.
8. Petition to stay sale, where to be made.
9. Appeal.
10. Form.
11. Revision.

1. Scope and applicability.—[1] There can be no order for security for restitution under this rule where—

[a] No appeal has been filed against the decree. ('86) 8 All 639 (640) (DB) * ('87) 9 All 36 (41) * ('66) 6 Suth W R Misc Rul 15 (15).

[b] Where no order for execution has been made. ('01) 25 Bom 538 (538) (DB).

[2] Appeal against a part of the decree—Order for security for restitution cannot be passed with reference to the portion not appealed against. ('90) 1890 Pun Re. No. 120, p. 392 (394). (In such a case, stay of execution cannot be granted.)

[3-4] It is competent for the trial Court as well as the Appellate Court to pass an order for security under this rule. The rule applies only to parties to the suit. (Vol 19) 1932 Bom 326 (326) (DB).

[5] An Appellate Court which directs a subordinate Court to take security under this rule can direct the subordinate Court to apply, in determining the sufficiency of the security, the principles which the Appellate Court would have itself applied. (Vol 24) 1937 of the judgment-debtor to the Court which made the order, be stayed on such terms as to giving security or otherwise as the Court thinks fit until the appeal is disposed of.

[1882—S. 546; 1877—S. 546; 1861—S. 36.]

Objects and Reasons

"The Committee have modified this rule in order to make it clear that security may be required though the property has previously been taken in execution (see Hukam Chand Boid v. Kamalanand Singh, I. L. R. 33 Calcutta 927."—S. O. R.

O. 41 R. 6 (contd.)

Pat 380 (382) (DB). (Appellate Court directing Subordinate Court to take security is directly interested in seeing whether its orders have been properly complied with or not—Appellate Court has, in spite of such delegation of duty, power to intervene when Subordinate Court misdirects itself while inquiring about sufficiency of security).

[6] Pending an appeal to the Privy Council, the trial Court has no jurisdiction to pass an order for security under this rule. The matter is governed by the provisions of O. 45 and not by the provisions of this order. (Vol 12) 1925 Rang 254 (255); 3 Rang 158 (DB). (The proper Court to deal with the matter is not the original Court, but the High Court).

2. Restitution.—See Section 144.

3. Security.—[1] A surety is not discharged merely by reason of the death of the decree-holder. (Vol. 4) 1917 Cal 594 (595) (DB).

[2] Where under a decree for redemption, the mortgagor decree-holder deposits the mortgage-money in Court and applies for execution of the decree, the money so deposited can be accepted as security for restitution under this rule. ('12) 1912 Mad W N 397 (397) (DB) (Per Abdur Rahim, J. Contra. Sundara Ayyar, J.)

[3] Where the holder of a decree for money is willing to give security for restitution the Court should not ordinarily grant a stay of execution of the decree. ('89) 18 Bom 241 (241) (DB).

[4] A security of joint family property offered by a member of the family consisting of himself and others should not be accepted as the security bond will not be binding on the joint family. (Vol 24) 1987 Pat 380 (381) (DB).

[5] Surety bond referring to appeal in High Court—Liability is not extended to decision of Privy Council reversing High Court's decision. (Vol 30) 1943 Bom 243 (244, 245) (DB).

[6] Surety for fulfilling such orders or decrees as may be given in appeal—Held, surety liable for costs awarded in appeal. ('93) 1893 Bom P J 264 (265) (DB).

[7] Surety bond for allowing execution of a decree pending appeal—Appeal compromised giving time to principal debtor—Surety not party to compromise—Surety not discharged, as the consent order is not excluded by the surety bond. (Vol 20) 1938 Mad 309 (310); 56 Mad 625 (DB).

4. "Property which may be or has been taken in execution."—[1] Security for restitution may be ordered even after property has passed into the hands of the decree-holder in execution of his decree. (Vol 15) 1928 Pat 187 (188) (DB). (In this case, it was held that the Court has inherent power to order security in such a case—The learned Judges seem to have overlooked the fact that under the present rule, it is not necessary to resort to inherent power to order security in such a case.)

[2] The view seems to have been the same even under the previous Codes. ('06) 33 Cal 927 (934) (DB) * (1863) 10 Moo Ind App 196 (202) (PC) * ('67) 8 Suth V R 144 (146) (FB). (But in this case, appeal was preferred after the execution of the decree had taken place—Therefore security for restitution could not be demanded).

5. Registration and attestation of security bond.—See Order 41 Rule 5.

6. Mode of enforcement of security bond.—See Notes on Section 145.

7. Stay of sale of immovable property.—[1] In cases coming under sub-rule (2) the Court is bound to stay the sale of immovable property, on such terms as to giving security or otherwise as it thinks fit. (Vol 28) 1941 Pat 483 (483) (DB) * (Vol 27) 1940 Cal 582 (583) (DB) * (Vol 16) 1929 Lah 68 (69) * ('11) 15 Cal W N 482 (483) (DB). (Court is bound to stay the sale of immovable property in execution of its decree, though the judgment-debtor is entitled to have the sale set aside on deposit of the purchase-money). * ('28) 108 Ind Cas 272 (272) (Lah) * (Vol 23) 1936 Pat 443 (444). (Execution Court cannot dismiss the application summarily). * (Vol 27) 1940 Mad 82 (83); I.L.R. (1940) Mad 420 (DB).

[See (Vol 27) 1940 Cal 543 (544) (DB). (The sub-rule does not apply where sale has not been ordered—But where stay can be ordered Court ought not to grant limited stay order and ask judgment-debtor to obtain further stay from Appellate Court—Court has full power of stay).]

[But see (Vol 19) 1932 All 551 (552); 54 All 874. (Sub-rule (2) is only complementary to R. 5—There is no obligation to stay the sale).]

[2] An order for stay of sale can be passed where the sale has taken place but not confirmed. (Vol 16) 1929 Lah 68 (69).

[See also (Vol 4) 1917 All 40 (40). (Case under O. 41 R. 5).]

[3] The sub-rule applies also to the sale of immovable property in execution of a mortgage decree. (Vol 28) 1941 Pat 483 (484) (DB). (Mortgage decree—Sale Ordered—Appeal directed only against interest awarded by decree—Decree being indivisible sale of entire property must be stayed) * (Vol 16) 1929 Lah 552 (552) * (Vol 20) 1933 All 782 (783); 55 All 983 (DB).

[4] Where a person has become liable as a surety for the performance of a decree and an order for the execution of such a decree by the sale of immovable properties is made against him under S. 145, he is a judgment-debtor within the meaning of this rule and is, therefore, entitled to apply for stay of execution. (Vol 21) 1934 Bom 252 (254); 50 Bom 485 (DB).

[5] The expression "on such terms as to giving security or otherwise" in sub-rule (2) means that the terms may be either as to giving security or any other term, such as the deposit of the decree-amount in the Court ordering the stay. (Vol 27) 1940 Mad

a7. [No security to be required from the Government or a public officer in certain cases] Repealed by the Government of India (Adaptation of Indian Laws) Order, 1937.

[a] See now Order 27 Rule 8A, supra.

Exercise of powers in appeal from order made in execution of decree.

8. The powers conferred by rules 5 and 6 shall be exercisable where an appeal may be or has been preferred not from the decree but from an order made in execution of such decree.

PROCEDURE ON ADMISSION OF APPEAL

9. (1) Where a memorandum of appeal is admitted, the Appellate Court or the Registry of memorandum of appeal. proper officer of that Court shall endorse thereon the date of presentation, and shall register the appeal in a book to be kept for the purpose.

Register of appeals. (2) Such book shall be called the register of Appeals.

82 (83): ILR (1940) Mad 420 (DB). (There is no limit to the discretion of the Court in imposing terms, but it has no discretion to refuse to stay the sale) * (Vol 21) 1984 Mad 709 (710): 58 Mad 280 (DB) * (Vol 23) 1986 Pat 448 (444). (Court has jurisdiction to grant stay conditional on depositing decretal amount in Court.)

[6] An order for the stay of sale of immovable property under this rule does not preclude the execution of the decree by proceedings against the movables of the judgment-debtor. (Vol 18) 1926 Lah 463 (463).

[7] Whores, on the rejection of a claim petition in execution proceedings, the claimant filed a suit for a declaration of his title, and on its being dismissed, appealed from the decree, and, pending the appeal, applied for a stay of sale, it was held that the sale could not be stayed. (Vol 9) 1922 Lah 58 (59). (Proper remedy is to ask for temporary injunction under O. 39).

[See however (Vol 21) 1984 Pat 637 (637). (This rule does not apply but the Court can order stay under its inherent powers—Even in such a case Court would be acting without jurisdiction if it did not put the applicant on terms).]

8. Petition to stay sale, where to be made.—

[1] An application for stay of sale under sub-rule (2) should be made to the executing Court and not to the Appellate Court. ('12) 23 Mad L Jour 677 (678) (DB) * ('11) 11 Ind Cas 22 (22) (DB) (All) * (Vol 19) 1982 Lah 80 (80) * ('98-1900) 1898-1900 Low Bur Rul 546 * (Vol 24) 1987 Lah 841 (841).

[See also the following cases to the same effect under the Old Code. ('98) 15 All 196 (197) (DB) * ('07) 31 Cal 1037 (1044) (FB) * ('08-04) 8 Cal WN 381 (382) (DB).

[2] The Court cannot, under this rule, stay the sale in execution of a decree passed by another Court in another suit. Appellate Court can direct a stay of sale of immovable property by virtue of its general powers under Order 41 Rule 5. ('84) 11 Cal 146 (149) (DB).

9. Appeal.—[1] An order requiring security to be given for restitution is one falling within S. 47 and is appealable.

[See Notes on S. 47]

[2] An order accepting or refusing to accept security is not appealable either as a decree or as an order under S. 47 of the Code. (Vol 19) 1982 Lah 120 (121).

[See however (Vol 6) 1919 Cal 471 (472) (DB). (But an order accepting security and directing delivery of possession is a final order and is appealable).]

[3] A surety against whom a decree is sought to be executed under S. 145 can, by virtue of that section, appeal from an order made against him in execution proceedings. ('88) 12 Bom 71 (76) (DB).

[4] When an Appellate Court directs a subordinate Court under this rule to take security, no appeal lies from the order of the subordinate Court accepting a certain security. But the Appellate Court can interfere where the subordinate Court has erred on a matter of principle. (Vol 24) 1937 Pat 380 (381) (DB).

[See also ('87) 66 Cal L Jour 169 (173, 174) (DB). (Order by High Court directing execution to proceed on furnishing of security—Security to the "satisfaction of the Registrar"—Report by Registrar—Objection thereto—Appeal to Court does not lie—High Court can, however, review order of Registrar on proper grounds).]

[5] A judgment-debtor at whose instance a sale was stayed cannot subsequently appeal from the stay order even assuming such an order is otherwise appealable. (Vol 17) 1980 Lah 190 (191).

10. Form.—For form of security bond, see Appendix G, Form No. 3.

11. Revision.—[1] Where the Court refuses an application under sub-rule (2) and declines to stay execution pending appeal, the High Court can, under S. 115, revise the order. ('11) 15 Cal WN 432 (433) (DB) * (Vol 12) 1925 Lah 256 (257). (Security ordered without making any enquiry as to the value of the property attached—Held, order liable to be revised).

ORDER 41 RULE 8—Note 1.

[1] It makes the provisions of Rules 5 and 6 applicable mutatis mutandis to cases in which the appeal is not from the decree (as contemplated by those rules) but from an order made in execution of the decree. (Vol 27) 1940 Cal 582 (582) * (Vol 4) 1917 All 40 (40).

[2] Under the rules framed by the High Court of Patna, the Registrar has no power to hear an application under this rule. (Vol 19) 1982 Pat 217 (218) (DB).

ORDER 41 RULE 9—Note 1.

[1] The registration of an appeal is a purely ministerial act. The Court can reject an appeal

10. (1) The Appellate Court may, in its discretion, either before the respondent is called upon to appear and answer or afterwards on the application of the respondent, demand from the appellant security for the costs of the appeal, or of the original suit, or of both:

Appellate Court may require appellant to furnish security for costs.

Provided that the Court shall demand such security in all cases in which the appellant is residing out of British India, and is not possessed of any sufficient immoveable property within British India other than the property (if any) to which the appeal relates.

Where appellant resides out of British India.

(2) Where such security is not furnished within such time as the Court orders, the Court shall reject the appeal.

after it has been registered. ('70) 13 Suth W R 351 (352).

[2] The provisions of law as to how an appeal can be dealt with after admission do not apply at the stage before registration of the appeal. (Vol 20) 1933 Mad 358 (359).

[3] An order refusing to admit an appeal under this rule and rejecting it is a decree and is open to appeal. ('08) 8 Cal W N 64 (65, 66). (Provided second appeal is otherwise entertainable having regard to the nature of the original suit).

[4] Where an appellant applies for leave to withdraw the appeal after notice of hearing has been served on the respondent, the respondent should be given notice of the application. The respondent is always entitled to his costs when leave is granted for withdrawal of the appeal. ('68) 3 Mad H C R 363 (369).

ORDER 41 RULE 10—SYNOPSIS.

1. Scope and object of the rule.
2. To what appeals the rule applies.
3. Appeals in forma pauperis.
4. Insolvency appeals.
5. Letters Patent appeals.
- 5a. Costs of "original suit."
6. Grounds for demanding security.
- 6a. When order for security is obligatory—Proviso.
7. Delay in applying for security.
8. Notice to show cause.
9. Amount of security.
10. Extension of time for furnishing security.
11. Dismissal of appeal for failure to give security.
12. Restoration of appeal so rejected.
13. Appeal.
14. Stamp and registration.
15. Practice.
16. Enforcement of security.

[1] Scope and object of the rule.—[1] The object of S. 549 of the old code was to secure the respondent in an appeal from the risk of having to incur further costs which he might never succeed in getting out of the appellant. ('96) 18 All 101 (103, 104) (FB).

[2] An order for security for costs can be passed under the rule only against the appellant but not against the respondent. ('70) 4 Beng L R (OC) 92 (93) (DB).

[3] Court cannot demand from the appellant, security for the entire decree amount. (Vol 19) 1932 All 511 (511, 512): 54 All 968 (FB).

[4] When a pauper appeal has been admitted, Government cannot apply under this rule for security for the court-fee payable to it. (Vol 24) 1937 Mad 267 (268).

[5] Legislature never intended in enacting this rule to derogate from the right of appeal given by law to every person who is defeated in the Court of first instance. ('85) 7 All 542 (546).

2. To what appeals the rule applies.—[1] This rule applies to appeals from decrees and therefore to appeals from orders under S. 47. (1900) 24 Bom 314 (316) (DB).

[2] This rule will apply to appeals from orders other than those falling under S. 47. and to appeals from decrees or orders made on the original side of a High Court. (Vol 25) 1933 Bom 351 (352): ILR (1938) Bom 399 (DB).

3. Appeals in forma pauperis.—[1] The following different views are held as to the applicability of the rule to appeals in forma pauperis:—

[a] The rule applies to pauper appeals but the Court should not make an order for security except for very special reasons. ('86) 8 All 203 (204) (FB) * ('85) 7 All 542 (546) * (Vol 7) 1920 Mad 818 (818): 48 Mad 902 (DB) * ('07) 17 Mad L Jour 588 (588) (DB) * (Vol 20) 1933 Mad 519 (521): 56 Mad 323 * (Vol 10) 1923 Rang 244 (245) * (Vol 17) 1930 Nag 28 (32).

[b] The rule does not apply to appeals by paupers. (Vol 5) 1918 Cal 618 (618) (DB) * ('08) 7 Cal L Jour 312 (314) (DB) * (Vol 4, 1917 Bom 137 (138): 42 Bom 5 (DB) * (Vol 9) 1922 Lah 87 (87): 3 Lah 30 (DB) * (Vol 23) 1936 Rang 178 (179): 13 Rang 511 (DB). (Security for costs cannot be demanded from a pauper appellant).

4. Insolvency appeals.—[1] Appeal from order passed by judge of High Court under Presidency Towns Insolvency Act, 1909—The rule applies. (Vol 4) 1917 Cal 626 (626): 43 Cal 243.

5. Letters Patent appeals.—[1] The rule applies to appeals under Cl. 15 of the Letters Patent, unless the rules framed by the particular High Court are inconsistent therewith, in which case the former will override the latter. (Vol 8) 1921 PC 80 (82): 48 Cal 481: 48 Ind App 76 (PC). (Overruling 27 Mad 121).

[2] Rule 736 of the Bombay High Court Rules is not inconsistent with this rule and an appellant may be called upon to furnish any additional security for costs. (Vol 10) 1923 Bom 399 (399) (DB) * (Vol 13) 1926 Bom 42 (43) (DB).

[But see ('12) 37 Bom 572 (574).]

O. 41 R. 10 (contd.)

[8] Rule 354 framed by Madras High Court is not inconsistent with this rule. (Vol 12) 1925 Mad 1192 (1193) (DB).

5a. Costs of "original suit."—[1] The expression "original suit" in this rule covers also an original application on which the judgment appealed from was given, whatever its nature may be. (Vol 25) 1938 Bom 351 (352) : ILR (1938) Bom 399 (DB).

6. Grounds for demanding security.—[1] The Court has, a discretion in the matter of 'demanding security for costs. (Vol 23) 1936 Rang 294 (294) : 14 Rang 289 (DB) * (Vol 23) 1936 Rang 109 (110).

[2] As the rule tends to restrict a party's right to appeal, it should be applied with great caution. ('92-96) 2 Upp Bur Rul 279 * ('85) 7 All 542 (546).

[3] Very satisfactory grounds should be shown before making an order for security under this rule. ('84) 1884 All WN 103 (103).

[4] The discretion must be exercised in accordance with sound judicial principles. ('89) 13 Bom 458 (461) (DB) * (Vol 10) 1923 Bom 399 (899) (DB).

[See however (Vol 10) 1923 Bom 264 (264) (DB).]

[5] The Appellate Court may well be guided in the exercise of judicial discretion by the provisions of O. 25 R. 1. ('08) 5 Bom LR 661 (662) (DB).

[6] The following are not sufficient grounds to make an order for security under this rule.

[a] That the appellant may lose and may not pay the costs of the appeal. (Vol 10) 1923 Bom 399 (399) (DB).

[b] That the appellant is an undischarged insolvent. (Vol 6) 1919 Cal 719 (720) : 46 Cal 156 (DB).

[c] That the appellant is a poor man from whom it would be difficult to recover costs of the appeal. (Vol 8) 1921 Pat 233 (233) (DB) * (Vol 10) 1923 Mad 204 (205) * (Vol 17) 1930 Lah 382 (383) (DB) * (Vol 17) 1930 Lah 384 (384) (DB) * ('94) 21 Cal 526 (527) (DB) * ('87) 14 Cal 533 (536) * ('79) 3 Bom 241 (242) (DB) * ('86) 8 All 208 (204) (FB) * (Vol 23) 1936 Rang 294 (294) : 14 Rang 289 (DB) * ('39) 1939 Oudh WN 152 (154) (DB) * (Vol 25) 1938 Mad 380 (380) (DB).

[But see (Vol 18) 1931 Cal 40 (41) : 58 Cal 117 (DB).]

[d] That a third person has incited the appeal. ('86) 1886 All WN 286 (286).

[e] That the appellant has parted with a portion of his interest in the subject-matter of suit for funds to carry on litigation. ('87) 14 Cal 533 (536).

[f] That a relative of the appellant is assisting him financially in litigation. (Vol 10) 1923 Rang 244 (245).

13. Insolvency appeals.

1. Scope and object of the rule.—[1] This rule refers to a stage after the appeal has been registered under R. 9. ('98) 15 All 867 (869) (DB) * ('08) 30 All 290 (298).

[2] Rule applies to Letters Patent appeals where the rules of the High Court do not prohibit its application to them. (Vol 7) 1920 Pat 509 (509): 4 Pat L Jour 695 (DB) (Patna High Court Rules permit of summary dismissal of Letters Patent appeals).

[3] The rule does not apply to the summary dismissal of an appeal under S. 476, Criminal Procedure Code. (Vol 17) 1930 Cal 282 (288) (DB).

[4] An order of dismissal for the appellant's failure to make the necessary deposit for printing may be covered by this rule or R. 16. (Vol 8) 1916 Mad 478 (474) (DB).

PROVINCIAL AMENDMENTS

ALLAHABAD

Add the following as rub-rule (3) :

"(3) Notwithstanding anything in sub-rule (1) it shall not be necessary to serve notice of any proceeding incidental to an appeal on any respondent, other than a person impleaded for the first time in the Appellate Court, unless he has appeared and filed an address for service either in the trial Court or in the case of a second appeal, in the lower Appellate Court, or has appeared in the appeal."

CALCUTTA

Insert the following as sub-rule (8) :

"(8) It shall be in the discretion of the Appellate Court to make an order, at any stage of the appeal whether on its own motion, or ex parte, dispensing with service of such notice on any respondent who did not appear, either at the hearing in the Court whose decree is complained of or at any proceeding subsequent to the decree of that Court or on the legal representatives of any such respondent :

Provided that—

- (a) The Court may require notice of the appeal to be published in any newspaper or newspapers as it may direct.
- (b) No such order shall preclude any such respondent or legal representative from appearing to contest the appeal."

LAHORE

Add the following as sub-rule (3) :

"(3) It shall be in the discretion of the Appellate Court to make an order, at any stage of the appeal whether on the application of any party or on its motion, dispensing with service of such notice on any respondent who did not appear, either at the hearing in the Court whose decree is complained of, or at any proceeding subsequent to the decree of that Court, or on the legal representative of any such respondent :

Provided that—

- (a) the Court may require notice of the appeal to be published in any newspapers or in such other manner as it may direct;
- (b) no such order shall preclude any such respondent or legal representative from appearing to contest the appeal."

[13-11-1948.]

MADRAS

Insert the following as a proviso to sub-rule (1) :

"Provided that the Appellate Court may dispense with service of notice on respondents against whom the suit has proceeded ex parte in the Court from whose decree the appeal is preferred."

[P. Dis. No. 4 of 1927.]

NAGPUR

Add the following sub-rule (3) :

"(3) The Appellate Court may in its discretion dispense with notice to any respondent against whom the suit was heard ex parte."

[29-6-1943.]

N.-W.F.P.

Add the following proviso to sub-rule (1) :

"Provided that with the permission of the Court no notice need be served upon a respondent who was a pro forma defendant in a suit which was decided ex parte against him."

ODDH

Add the following as sub-rule (3) :

"(3) Provided that in a case where a respondent has not appeared either during the hearing of the case in the Court from whose decree or order the appeal is preferred or at any proceeding subsequent to that decree, it shall only be necessary for the Court to make one attempt to effect personal service on such respondent or, if such respondent is dead, on his legal representative; and, thereafter service may be effected by affixing a notice in some conspicuous place in the Court-house of the District Judge within whose jurisdiction the suit or proceeding was instituted along with one or other of the following methods, namely, publishing the notice in a newspaper or affixing it to the walls or door of the chaupal of the village where the respondent last resided or any other method as the Court may direct."

SIND

Add the following as sub-rule (3) :

"(3) The Appellate Court may, however, in its discretion, dispense with the service of notice of the appeal or interlocutory application therein, on a respondent or opponent who has made no appearance at the trial Court."

Rule 14A—PATNA

Add the following as Rule 14A :

"R. 14A. The Appellate Court may, in its discretion, dispense with the service of notice hereinbefore required on a respondent, or on the legal representative of a deceased respondent, in a case where such respondent did not appear, either at any stage of the proceedings in the Court whose decree is appealed from or in any proceedings subsequent to the decree of that Court and no relief is claimed against such opposite party or respondent or his legal representative either in the original case or appeal."

SIND

Add the following as Rule 14A :

"R. 14A. Subject to the leave of the Appellate Court nothing in these rules requiring any notice to be served on or given to an opposite party or respondent shall be deemed to require any notice to be served on or given to the legal representative of any deceased opposite party or deceased respondent, where such opposite party or respondent did not appear, either at the hearing in the Court whose decree is complained of or at any proceedings subsequent to the decree of that Court."

15. The notice to the respondent shall declare that, if he does not appear in the Contents of notice. Appellate Court on the day so fixed, the appeal will be heard ex parte.

ORDER 41 RULE 17—SYNOPSIS.

1. When the appeal is called on for hearing.
2. Dismissal for default of appearance.
3. "Appearance," Meaning of.
4. Dismissal on merits illegal.
5. Compromise after dismissal for default.
6. Dismissal for default of prosecution.
7. Effect of dismissal for default, on cross-objections.
8. Effect of dismissal for default.
9. Notice of date for hearing appeal.
10. Appeal.
11. Letters Patent appeal.
12. Revision.

1. When the appeal is called on for hearing.—

[1] Rule only applies where appeal is called on for hearing. Appeal called on not for hearing but for being postponed—Rule does not apply. ('10) 42 Pun L R 271 (272).

2. Dismissal for default of appearance.—[1]

Rule confers a discretion on Court to dismiss an appeal for default. [2] Hearing completed and case merely adjourned for pronouncing judgment—Rule does not apply. ('94) 7 C P L R 1 (2) * ('05) 8 Oudh Cas 261 (262, 263).

[3] An appeal cannot be dismissed for default, if the appellant is dead at the time—Applicability of rule to remanded appeal. ('13) 35 All 331 (335, 336) : 16 Oudh Cas 194 : 40 Ind App 150 (PC).

[4] Appeal resubmitted to appellate Court after remand—Non-appearance of appellant on date fixed—Appeal can be dismissed for default. ('09) 4 Ind Cas 816 (817) : 1907-09 Upp Bur Rul (C P C) 27.

[5] Where the Appellate Court remands a case for further enquiry and fixes a date for the return of the report, it cannot dismiss the appeal in default before that date for non-appearance of the appellant in the lower Court on the date fixed for the enquiry. (Vol 13) 1926 Lah 574 (574) * ('95) 8 C P L R 69 (70).

[6] Case remanded for disposal to lower appellate Court—Non appearance of appellant on date fixed for hearing—Appeal can be dismissed for default. ('74) 21 Suth W R 65 (65) (DB) * ('89) 2 C P L R 82 (38).

3. "Appearance," Meaning of.—[1] Appellant present but his pleader not prepared to address Court—Appeal dismissed for default—Court need not give decision on any point—In such case "dismissed for default" means dismissed for default of proof and not of appearance—Case does not fall under O. 41 Rule 17 (Vol 27) 1940 All 248 (249) : I L R (1940) All 220 (DB) ((Vol 24) 1937 All 284 dissented from.)

[2] Appellant's pleader applying for time being unable to go on with appeal—Refusal of adjournment and dismissal for want of prosecution is not dismissal for default. (Vol 24) 1937 All 284 (285).

[3] Appeal adjourned for a short while to enable party to engage a fresh counsel to argue his appeal but the new counsel filing his appearance and asking for adjournment—Court thereupon ordering: 'Nobody appears to argue this appeal; I therefore dismiss it with costs'—Held, it was an order dismissing an appeal for default—Appearance in the legal sense means that a party or somebody on his behalf either expressly in words or by his conduct demands an adjudication from the Court. (Vol 26) 1939 All 451 (451).

[4] Where the appellant was present at the hearing of the appeal but not his counsel, it is the duty of the Appellate Court to decide the appeal on the merits—Presumably decision is based on ground that there is no failure to appear in such a case. (Vol 24) 1937 Lah 691 (692).

[5] Appellant's vakil absent—Appellant though present in Court having no intention to conduct appeal—Held there was no appearance and the appeal could be summarily dismissed. (Vol 32) 1945 Mad 300 (301).

[6] See also under O. 8 Rule 1.

4. Dismissal on merits illegal.—[1] Non-appearance of appellant on date of hearing—Appellate Court can either dismiss appeal for default or adjourn it to another date—It cannot dismiss it on merits. (Vol 11) 1924 All 144 (144, 145) : 44 All 669 (DB) * (Vol 16) 1929 Cal 475 (476) : 56 Cal 412 (DB) * (Vol 10) 1923 Mad 13 (14) : 45 Mad 892 (DB) * (Vol 16) 1929 Rang 11 (12) : 6 Rang 612 * (Vol 12) 1925 Rang 96 (97) : 4 Upp Bur Rul 164. (Order treated as one for dismissal for default though purporting to be one of dismissal on merits).

[But see (Vol 8) 1921 Pat 325 (325).]

5. Compromise after dismissal for default.—[1] Appeal dismissed for default of both parties—Application for restoration pending—Compromise petition filed by both parties—Appeal, held, should be restored and compromise given effect to. (Vol 10) 1923 Cal 319 (319, 320) (DB).

6. Dismissal for default of prosecution.—[1] Where the materials essential for the progress of an appeal such as supplying translations of vernacular documents, preparation of Bench copies, etc., are wanting owing to the applicant's default, the Court can dismiss the appeal for default of prosecution. (Vol 6) 1919 Low Bur 139 (140) : 9 Low Bur Rul 266 (DB) * ('90) 17 Cal 289 (289) (DB).

[2] Madras Appellate Side Rules, R. 105—High Court can dismiss second appeal for failure to translate and print necessary records. (Vol 3) 1916 Mad 473 (474) (DB).

7. Effect of dismissal for default, on cross-objection.—See Notes on Order 41 Rule 22.

8. Effect of dismissal for default.—[1] An order dismissing an appeal for default is not a decree and hence the decree of the lower Court is not superseded by or merged in it. (Vol 4) 1917 All 392 (398) : 39 All 393 * (Vol 1) 1914 P C 66 (67) : 36 All 350 (PC).

[2] Appeal dismissed for default—Decree to be executed is that of lower Court. (Vol 4) 1917 Cal 738 (739) : 44 Cal 954 (DB).

[3] Appeal dismissed for default—Application for amendment of decree must be made to lower Court and not to Appellate Court. (Vol 4) 1917 Nag 24 (24).

[But see ('11) 10 Ind Cas 96 (97) (Mad) (DB).]

[5] Appeal dismissed for default—Decision of lower Court operates as res judicata. (Vol 10) 1923 Nag 1 (2).

[6] An order dismissing an appeal for default is a judicial order although it does not deal with the appeal on the merits. (Vol 22) 1935 Lah 771 (773) : 16 Lah 564 (DB).

9. Notice of date for hearing appeal.—[1] The appellant must have due notice of the date of hearing. (Vol 6) 1919 Cal 1058 (1059) (DB) * ('15) 30 Ind Cas 199 (200) (UPBR) (DB) * (Vol 3) 1916 All 326 (327) (DB).

[2] Where no date has been fixed for the hearing of an appeal, the Appellate Court has no power to dismiss the appeal for default. (Vol 11) 1924 Lah 279 (280) * (1865) 2 Suth W R 254 (254) (DB).

[See also (Vol 21) 1934 Lah 984 (984).]

[3] Where an appeal has been remanded for hearing, it is the duty of the parties to apply to the Court to fix a date for the hearing of the appeal or to ascertain from the Court what date has been fixed therefor. ('89) 2 C P L R 32 (33) * ('08) 4 Nag L R 166 (167).

[4] An appeal may be taken up and disposed of before the appointed day if the pleaders of the parties are present and argue the case without objection. (1864) 1 Suth W R 246 (246) (DB).

[5] Notice of adjourned hearing given both to appellant and his counsel—Court ought to wait until notice is duly served upon the appellant especially where his counsel has noted on the notice issued to him that he will be unable to appear. (Vol 23) 1936 Lah 209 (210).

[See also (Vol 27) 1940 Lah 49 (50).]

10. Appeal.—[1] An order dismissing an appeal for default is neither a decree nor an appealable order and hence it is not appealable. ('12) 39 Cal 341 (343) (DB) * (Vol 3) 1916 All 326 (327) (DB) * (Vol 12) 1925 Nag 236 (238).

18. Where on the day fixed, or on any other day to which the hearing may be adjourned, it is found that the notice to the respondent has not been served in consequence of the failure of the appellant to deposit, within the period fixed, the sum required to defray the cost of serving the notice, the Court may make an order that the appeal be dismissed:

Dismissal of appeal where notice not served in consequence of appellant's failure to deposit costs.

Provided that no such order shall be made although the notice has not been served upon the respondent, if on any such day the respondent appears when the appeal is called on for hearing.

2. "Shall re-admit the appeal."—[1] The Court is bound to restore the appeal on sufficient cause being established for the default. ('12) 15 Ind Cas 358 (358, 359) (Low Bur).

3. Sufficient cause.—[1] A summary rejection of an application to restore an application dismissed for default without enquiry into the allegations contained therein in respect of "sufficient cause" is improper. (Vol 22) 1935 Pesh 110 (110) * (Vol 15) 1928 Cal 102 (102) (DB) * (Vol 12) 1925 Cal 269 (269) (DB) * ('81) 1881 All W N 22 (22) (DB) * ('80) 81 Pun L R 969 (969) * (Vol 6) 1919 Lah 276 (277) * (Vol 20) 1938 Pat 128 (128) (DB) * (Vol 24) 1937 Pat 624 (624) (DB).

[2] The following have been held to amount to "sufficient cause for default":

[g] Dismissal without waiting for service of notice upon party where the pleader has noted on the notice his inability to be present. (Vol 23) 1936 Lah 203 (210).

[8] The following were held not to be "sufficient cause" for default:

20. Where it appears to the Court at the hearing that any person who was a party to the suit in the Court from whose decree the appeal is preferred, but who has not been made a party to the appeal, is interested in the result of the appeal, the Court may adjourn the hearing to a future day to be fixed by the Court and direct that such person be made a respondent.

Power to adjourn hearing and direct persons appearing interested to be made respondents.

ORDER 41 RULE 20—SYNOPSIS.

1. Scope and applicability.
2. Appeals under the U.P. Encumbered Estates Act.
3. "At the hearing."
4. "Any person who was a party to the suit."
5. "Interested in the result of the appeal."
6. "The Court may.....direct that such person be made a respondent."
7. Adding respondent.

O. 41 R. 20 (contd.)8. Inherent power to add or transpose parties.*9. Effect of non-joinder.*10. Limitation.*11. Addition of parties in second appeal.

1. Scope and applicability.—[1] Rule does not apply to the addition of fresh parties by the Court of first instance after the case is remanded to it by the Appellate Court for re-trial. (Vol 18) 1981 Bom 408 (409).

2. Appeals under the U.P. Encumbered Estates Act.—[1] Creditors against whom right of appeal has become barred cannot be added as parties to appeal. (Vol 30) 1943 Oudh 57 (58) * (Vol 30) 1943 Oudh 78 (80, 81) (DB) * (Vol 31) 1944 Oudh 9 (10, 11): 19 Luck 488 (DB) * (Vol 29) 1942 Oudh 199 (200) (DB) * (Vol 29) 1942 Oudh 339 (340) (DB) * (Vol 28) 1941 Oudh 580 (582): 17 Luck 175 (DB).

[2] Where other creditors are not likely to be prejudiced by the result of the appeal, they need not be impleaded. (Vol 29) 1942 Oudh 332 (333, 334): 17 Luck 677 (DB).

[3] All creditors made parties to application for review by one of creditors—Order regarding court-fee on such application—Appeal therefrom by such creditor—All creditors are necessary parties and if not impleaded appeal should be dismissed. (Vol 29) 1942 Oudh 353 (354).

[4] Order rejecting objections under S. 11—All creditors originally impleaded as parties to application under Act are necessary parties to appeal. Some creditors not opposing objection is no ground for not impleading them as parties to appeal. (Vol 28) 1941 Oudh 580 (582): 17 Luck 175 (DB).

[5] Appeal by unsuccessful claimant under S. 11—All creditors must be impleaded as respondents. (Vol 29) 1942 Oudh 339 (340) (DB).

3. "At the hearing."—[1] The power to add parties is to be exercised at the hearing. ('93) 1898 All W N 35 (86) (DB) * (Vol 13) 1926 Cal 533 (535): 53 Cal 270 (DB) * ('13) 40 Cal 323 (329) (DB).

[2] The rule does not contemplate the addition of a party after the judgment has been pronounced. (Vol 8) 1921 Cal 534 (535) (DB).

4. "Any person who was a party to the suit."

[1] The rule applied only when the proposed party respondent was a party to the suit in the trial Court. (Vol 28) 1941 F C 16 (28): I L R (1941) Kar (FC) 72: 1940 F C R 110 (FC).

[2] Appellate Court has inherent power to implead new parties in an appeal even in cases not coming under R. 20. (Vol 28) 1941 F C 16 (28): I L R (1941) Kar (FC) 72: 1940 F C R 110 (FC).

[3] Appellate Court, in a proper case can remand the case to the lower Court with a direction to add the omitted parties. (Vol 27) 1940 All 399 (401) * ('10) 37 Cal 171 (172) (DB) * ('96) 18 All 392 (393) (DB).

[See also (Vol 19) 1982 P C 146 (151) (PO).]

[4] Where a person can be added as a respondent under O. 22 R. 10 he can also be added even if he was not a party to the suit in the lower Court. ('01) 23 All 331 (335) (DB).

[5] Persons as parties to suit but struck off before decree passed—Held they are still parties to suit within meaning of the rule. (Vol 3) 1916 Mad 499 (499) (DB).

[Compare (Vol 13) 1926 Lah 499 (500): 8 Lah 161 (DB).]

[6] The words "any person who was a party to the suit" include the representative of such a party. (Vol 3) 1916 Cal 690 (690) (DB).

[Contra (Vol 10) 1923 Rang 114 (115).]

5. "Interested in the result of the appeal."

[1] The test for the addition of a party respondent is whether the proposed party is one whose interests are likely to be prejudiced by the determination of the appeal as constituted, and not whether his presence before the Court was necessary for the adequate disposal of the appeal on its merits. (Vol 14) 1927 PC 252 (255, 256): 55 Ind App 7: 6 Rang 29 (PC) (Confirming (Vol 12) 1925 Rang 108 (109, 110): 2 Rang 541 (DB)).

[But see (Vol 16) 1929 Cal 815 (817) (DB) * (Vol 17) 1930 Lah 295 (296) * (Vol 15) 1928 Lah 202 (206) * ('08) 31 Mad 442 (444, 445) (DB) * (Vol 13) 1926 Cal 533 (535): 53 Cal 270 (DB).]

[2] Where a defendant had been exonerated in the lower Court and no appeal had been filed against him within the period of limitation, held he was not interested in the result of the appeal filed by the plaintiff against other defendants. (Vol 14) 1927 P C 252 (255, 256): 55 Ind App 7: 6 Rang 29 (PC).

[3] Where a decree has been passed in favour of a person or a suit has been dismissed against a person and the period of limitation for appealing has expired, held that he cannot be deemed as interested in the result of the appeal pending between other persons who were parties to the suit. (Vol 30) 1943 Oudh 78 (80, 81) (DB) * (Vol 28) 1941 Oudh 580 (582): 17 Luck 175 (DB) * (Vol 30) 1943 Mad 609 (610) * ('41) 1941 I Mad L Jour 471 (474) * (Vol 24) 1937 Mad 228 (229) (DB) (Reversed in (Vol 25) 1938 Mad 501 on another point) * (Vol 27) 1940 Lah 314 (314) * (Vol 27) 1940 Rang 97 (100) * (Vol 24) 1937 Sind 236 (237): 31 Sind L R 486.

[4] It cannot be laid down as an inflexible rule that a person referred to in point (3), must be held in every case as not being interested in the result of the appeal. (Vol 30) 1943 Lah 252 (254, 255) * (Vol 24) 1937 Bom 401 (407, 408): I L R (1937) Bom 602 (DB) * (Vol 24) 1937 Mad 741 (743): I L R (1938) Mad 52 (DB).

[5] Person though not impleaded interested in the result of appeal—Appellate Court can make him a respondent in its discretion. (Vol 24) 1937 Mad 741 (744): I L R (1938) Mad 52 (DB).

O. 41 R. 20 (contd.)

[6] Person "interested in the result of appeal" otherwise than merely being a necessary party—He can be joined as a respondent. (Vol 24) 1937 Mad 741 (743, 744): 1 L R (1938) Mad 52 (DB).

[7] The fact that a person is "interested in the result of the appeal" does not in itself make him a necessary party to the appeal and the failure to implead him within limitation is not fatal. (Vol 30) 1943 Lah 252 (254).

[8] Where a person can be added as a respondent under any other provision of law, his not being interested in the result of the appeal is no objection to his being so added. (Vol 8) 1921 Mad 172 (174): 44 Mad 605 (FB) * (Vol 7) 1920 Mad 120 (120, 121) (DB) * (Vol 15) 1928 Pat 343 (345): 7 Pat 510 (DB) * (Vol 8) 1921 Cal 722 (724) (DB) * ('82) 1882 Pun Re No. 20, page 75 (76) (DB).

[9] "Appeal" in this rule includes also cross-objection. (Vol 17) 1920 Mad 120 (120) (DB) * (Vol 18) 1931 Cal 738 (740): 58 Cal 923 (DB).

6. "The Court may.....direct that such person be made a respondent."—[1] The power given to the Court is a discretionary one to be exercised in view of all the circumstances of a case. (Vol 1) 1914 PC 150 (151): 42 Cal 776: 42 Ind App 88 (PC).

[2] Strong grounds will be necessary to induce the Court to exercise its discretion in favour of an appellant who has failed to implead any party within the period of limitation. (Vol 14) 1927 PC 252 (255, 256): 6 Rang 29: 55 Ind App 7 (PC).

[3] Court will not exercise its discretion in favour of an appellant who fails to implead any party:

[a] Deliberately. (Vol 16) 1929 Sind 120 (120) (DB) * ('41) 1941 1 Mad L Jour 471 (474) * (Vol 12) 1925 Oudh 606 (607).

[4] Appellant not guilty of neglect—Appellate Court may exercise its power in his favour. (Vol 17) 1930 Lah 295 (296) * (Vol 15) 1928 Lah 202 (206) * (Vol 8) 1921 Nag 12 (13) (Certain parties omitted due to mistake of pleader).

[5] Where a respondent has died and the appeal has abated as against him owing to his legal representatives not being brought on the record within the period of limitation, the legal representatives cannot be added under this rule. (Vol 13) 1926 Cal 335 (336) (DB) * (Vol 22) 1935 Oudh 329 (331): 11 Luck 5 (DB) * (Vol 13) 1926 Cal 893 (894, 895): 58 Cal 752 (DB) * (Vol 18) 1931 Nag 184 (186): 27 Nag L R 220.

[But compare (Vol 8) 1921 Cal 722 (724) (DB) (Joint appeal by several appellants—One of them dying—His legal representatives not bringing themselves on record within the period of limitation—Court has inherent power to add them as respondents, on the application of the surviving appellants so that they may not suffer for the remissness of others).]

[6] Legal representatives brought on record in suit, but not impleaded in appeal—They may be added. (Vol 18) 1926 Lah 689 (690).

[7] Necessary party in appeal not impleaded—Court has no power to add the party after expiry of the period of limitation for the appeal. (Vol 14) 1927 Pat 23 (24): 5 Pat 755 (DB) * (Vol 22) 1935 Pat 106 (107) (DB) * (Vol 27) 1940 Lah 314 (315).

[8] Where the only person who could be impleaded in the appeal is not impleaded, and there is consequently no valid appeal at all, this rule will not apply. ('13) 18 Ind Cas 37 (39): 1913 Pun Re No. 59 (DB).

[9] The power under the rule may be exercised by the Court on its own motion or on the application of any party. ('91) 13 All 78 (84) * (Vol 22) 1935 Nag 182 (183): 31 Nag L R 223 (DB) * (Vol 18) 1926 Lah 689 (690).

[10] Where the Court finds the presence of party not already joined necessary, it may direct the appellant to apply for bringing him on record and if he fails to do so, may dismiss the appeal. (Vol 12) 1925 Mad 235 (236).

7. Adding respondent.—[1] An Appellate Court can add a person as respondent who, in the trial Court, was arrayed on the same side as the appellant. ('91) 13 All 78 (87) * ('92) 15 Mad 362 (364) (DB).

[2] Person impleaded as defendant in suit—Suit dismissed—Appeal—Such person may be added as respondent on his application although his object in getting added as respondent is to support the appellant and to show that the decree is wrong. (Vol 23) 1936 Cal 593 (626) (DB).

[See however (1941) 1 Mad L Jour 471 (473).]

[3] After an appeal to the Privy Council has been admitted, the High Court has no power to add respondents to the appeal ('10) 12 Ind Cas 69 (69) (DB) (Mad).

8. Inherent power to add or transpose parties.—[1] In cases to which this rule does not apply the Appellate Court can by virtue of its inherent power, add parties respondents to the appeal. (Vol 30) 1943 Lah 252 (255) * (Vol 28) 1941 FC 16 (28): ILR (1941) Kar FC 72: 1940 F C R 110 (FC) * (Vol 28) 1941 Lah 402 (403): 1 L R (1942) Lah 603 (DB) (Overruled in (Vol 31) 1944 Lah 76: 1 L R (1945) Lah 18 (FB) on another point) * (Vol 31) 1944 Lah 76 (86): 1 L R (1945) Lah 18 (FB) * (Vol 8) 1921 Mad 172 (174): 44 Mad 605 (FB).

21. Where an appeal is heard ex parte and judgment is pronounced against the respondent,

Re-hearing on application of respondent against whom ex parte decree made. he may apply to the Appellate Court to re-hear the appeal; and, if he satisfies the Court that the notice was not duly served or that he was prevented by sufficient cause from appearing when the appeal was called on for hearing, the Court shall re-hear the appeal on such terms as to costs or otherwise as it thinks fit to impose upon him.

PROVINCIAL AMENDMENT.

NAGPUR

Re-number the existing rule as sub-rule (1) and add the following as sub-rule (2):

"(2) The provisions of Section 5 of the Indian Limitation Act, IX of 1908, shall apply to applications under sub-rule (1)."

[29-6-1943.]

22. (1) Any respondent, though he may not have appealed from any part of the decree,

Upon hearing, respondent may object to decree as if he had preferred separate appeal.

may not only support the decree on any of the grounds decided against him in the Court below, but take any cross-objection to the decree which he could have taken by way of appeal, provided he has filed such objection in the Appellate Court within one month from the date of service on him or his pleader of notice of the day fixed for hearing the appeal, or within such further time as the Appellate Court may see fit to allow.

O. 41 R. 21 (contd.)

6. "On such terms as to costs or otherwise."

7. Limitation.

8. Appeal.

1. Scope and applicability.—[1] Appellate Court has jurisdiction under this rule to entertain an application for re-hearing by a respondent notwithstanding the fact that another respondent had preferred a second appeal to the High Court which was dismissed under O. 41 R. 11 ('11) 14 Cal L Jour 42 (45, 46) (DB).

[2] Where the appeal is wholly dismissed, the respondent cannot apply for a re-hearing under this rule merely because the judgment contains some remarks which are unfavourable to him. (Vol. 28) 1941 Pat 141 (142).

[3] [See also Notes on O. 9 R. 13.]

2. "He may apply to the Appellate Court."—[1] An application for re-hearing of an appeal under this rule should be made to the same Bench which heard the appeal. (Vol. 3) 1916 Cal 347 (347) (DB).

[2] The pendency of an appeal from the ex parte decree is no bar to an application to the lower Appellate Court to set aside the decree under this rule. (Vol. 4) 1917 Nag 26 (28): 14 Nag LR 30.

[3] [See also Notes on Order 9 Rule 13.]

3. Notice.—See Order 5 Rule 12.

4. "Sufficient Cause".—[1] A respondent is entitled to a re-hearing of the appeal provided he proves either that he had not been duly served, or that he was prevented by sufficient cause from appearing when the appeal was called on for hearing. (Vol. 27) 1940 Lah 49 (50). (Notice served on a pleader who was not engaged to appear at the place where the appeal was to be heard—Pleader intimating the Court to send notice to the party—Court failing to do so—No proper service of notice) * ('40) 42 Pun LR 271 (272). (Appeal adjourned for 2nd but heard on 1st with notice to the appellant and without notice to the respondent—Appeal must be re-heard.) * ('81) 6 Cal 548 (548) (DB). [2] The following have been held to amount to sufficient cause: (Vol. 8) 1931 All 364 (365) (DB). (Inability of respondent's agent to attend and instruct her pleader) * ('98) 2 Cal WN 414 (414) (Pleader's clerk failing to inform party of date of hearing owing to illness.) * ('99) 4 Cal WN 85 (85) (SB). (Mistake of pleader's clerk was held to be sufficient cause for restoring an appeal dismissed for default.)

[3] The following have been held not to amount to sufficient cause: (Vol. 4) 1917 All 216 (216): 39 All 388 (DB). (Counsel unable to appear as the agent of the respondent had withdrawn the instructions) * ('05) 1905 All WN 44 (44) (DB). (Laches of pleader—Pleader refusing notice.) * (Vol. 23) 1936 Pat 128 (128). (Appellant entrusting money and papers to a friend—Friend not taking steps in matter—No ground for rehearing of appeal dismissed for default.) * (Vol. 27) 1940 Mad 53 (53). (Omission of the Judge to give appellant notice of transfer of appeal is not a sufficient cause for him to absent himself when appeal is heard) * (Vol. 32) 1945 Oudh 303 (304) (DB). (Non-appearance of advocate held no ground for restoring appeal.)

5. "Appearance".—[1] See Order 3 Rule 1.

[2] Pleader filing vakalat but absent on date of hearing—Held, there was no appearance and decision was ex parte. ('82) 11 Cal L Rep. 537 (539) (DB).

6. "On such terms as to costs or otherwise"—Under this rule Court can impose terms other than those relating to costs. Hence, an Appellate Court may require the respondent to furnish security for the due performance of the decree that may be passed on re-hearing. ('85) 1885 Pun Re. No. 70 page 142 (143) (DB).

7. Limitation.—[1] The period of limitation for the re-hearing of an appeal is prescribed by Art. 189 of the Limitation Act; thirty days from the date of the appellate decree or where notice of the appeal was not duly served, when the appellant has knowledge of the decree. See notes on Art. 169 Limitation Act.

[2] There is no law extending provisions of S. 5 Limitation Act to an application setting aside ex parte decree passed in appeal. (Vol. 31) 1944 Mad 571 (572) (DB).

8. Appeal.—[1] An appeal lies under O. 47 R. 1 (i) from an order refusing an application for re-hearing under this rule. (Vol. 23) 1936 Mad 680 (681): 39 Mad 1049.

[2] Order dismissing the application "for re-hearing the cross-objections heard ex parte" is not appealable but can be revised. (Vol. 6) 1919 Lah 32 (33).

[3] Order refusing to restore revenue appeal—Such order is order "passed in appeal" within the meaning of the Agra Tenancy Act, S. 249 and is not open to appeal. (Vol. 18) 1931 All 533 (533, 534): 53 All 518 (DB).

ORDER 41 RULE 22—SYNOPSIS.

1. Respondent may support decree without filing cross-objections.
2. What objections can be raised by way of cross-objections and when.
3. Cross-objections in second appeal.
4. Cross-objections in appeals from orders.
5. Cross-objections in Letters Patent appeals.

Form of objection and provisions applicable thereto.

(2) Such cross-objection shall be in the form of a memorandum, and the provisions of rule 1, so far as they relate to the form and contents of the memorandum of appeal, shall apply thereto.

(3) Unless the respondent files with the objection a written acknowledgment from the party who may be affected by such objection or his pleader of having received a copy thereof, the Appellate Court shall cause a copy to be served, as soon as may be after the filing of the objection, on such party or his pleader at the expense of the respondent.

(4) Where, in any case in which any respondent has under this rule filed a memorandum of objection, the original appeal is withdrawn or is dismissed for default, the objection so filed may nevertheless be heard and determined after such notice to the other parties as the Court thinks fit.

(5) The provisions relating to pauper appeal shall, so far as they can be made applicable apply to an objection under this rule.

O. 41 R. 22 (contd.)

6. Cross-objections in revision.
7. Who may file cross-objections.
8. Cross-objections by pauper respondent.
9. Against whom cross-objections may be filed.
10. Cross-objections against co-respondent.
11. Omission to file cross-objections.
12. Grounds not raised in cross-objections not to be raised at the hearing.
13. Effect on cross-objections of withdrawal of appeal or its dismissal for default.
14. Effect on cross-objections, of abatement of appeal.
15. Limitation for cross-objections.
16. Appeal filed out of time may be treated as cross-objections.
17. Adding party for purposes of cross-objections.
18. Second appeal.

1. Respondent may support decree without filing cross-objections.—[1] It was held in this case that a person impleaded as defendant to suit and party to decree dismissing suit has a right to show, even as respondent in appeal, that decree was wrongly passed. (Vol. 23) 1936 Cal 593 (826) (DB).

[2] A respondent may support the decree appealed from on grounds decided against him, without filing any cross-objections. ('90) 17 Cal 809 (813, 814) : 17 Ind App 57 (PC) * ('89) 13 Bom 75 (77, 78) (DB) * (Vol. 8) 1921 Mad 172 (174) : 44 Mad 605 (FB) * (Vol. 6) 1919 Pat 196 (199) (DB) * (Vol. 26) 1939 Rang 59 (64) (DB) * ('37) 166 Ind Cas 1007 (1007) (Cal).

[But see (Vol. 15) 1928 All 624 (624).]

[3] On the question whether this rule will enable a respondent to attack any portion of the decree passed against him so long as he does not ask for a variation of the decree, the decisions are conflicting.

(a) The respondent cannot do so. (Vol. 20) 1933 Cal 165 (169) (DB) * (Vol. 25) 1938 Cal 563 (569) (DB) * (Vol. 29) 1942 Lah 87 (88) (DB) * (Vol. 16) 1929 Lah 684 (685) (DB) * (Vol. 8) 1921 Lah 318 (319) * (Vol. 20) 1933 Rang 120 (121) (DB) * (Vol. 20) 1933 Nag 310 (311) * (Vol. 29) 1942 Bom 161 (172) : I L R (1942) Bom 557 (DB).

[But see (Vol. 5) 1918 Lah 129 (130) (DB).]

(b) The expression "support the decree" does not mean support the decision but permits the respondent to show by reference to a ground decided against him, that the appellant has at least secured by the decree as much as, if not more than, he is entitled to. (Vol. 19) 1933 Pat 134 (138) (DB) * (Vol. 10) 1923 Oudh 123 (126, 135) : 25 Oudh Cas 349 (DB).

(c) Where a suit is partly decreed and partly dismissed and the plaintiff appeals, the defendant - respondent can contest the appeal on a ground which if accepted by the trial Court would have necessitated the total dismissal of the suit. (Vol. 30) 1943 Mad 698 (700) : I L R (1944) Mad 147 (FB) (Overruling (Vol. 14) 1927 Mad 801 : 50 Mad 866 and (Vol. 18) 1931 Mad 513).

(d) When an item in an account appearing in the decree of the lower Court is reduced in appeal, the respondent without filing any cross-objections can support the said decree by showing that the lower Court had wrongly decided against him on other items. (Vol. 25) 1938 Cal 563 (569) (DB) ((Vol. 14) 1927 Mad 801 : 50 Mad 866 followed).

[4] A point taken in the lower Court but not decided by it may be urged in support of the decree under appeal. ('05) 9 Cal W N 14 (13) (DB) * (Vol. 9) 1922 All 280 (280) : 44 All 577 (DB) * (Vol. 15) 1928 Lah 964 (965).

[5] As a general rule, the respondent cannot take a point not taken by him in the lower Court. (Vol. 5) 1913 Cal 227 (228) (DB).

[See however (Vol. 1) 1914 Oudh 149 (152) : 17 Oudh Cas 108.]

[6] The rule does not apply to a finding which does not affect the point at issue as the respondent cannot support the decree with reference to such a finding. (Vol. 12) 1925 Cal 518 (520) (DB).

[See also (Vol. 27) 1940 Mad 617 (618).]

[7] An Appellate Court will not itself raise a point which the respondent does not raise. (Vol. 1) 1914 Cal 839 (840) (DB).

[8] A respondent to a second appeal is not precluded from attacking even the findings of fact of the lower Appellate Court, in supporting the decree of that Court. (Vol. 26) 1939 Rang 59 (63, 64) (DB).

2. What objections can be raised by way of cross-objections and when.—[1] The objections which the respondent could have raised in his memorandum of appeal if he had appealed against that portion of the decree which is against him, can also be raised by way of cross-objections. (Vol. 21) 1934 All 543 (546) : 56 All 912 (DB) * (Vol. 26) 1933 Rang 377 (378) (DB) * (Vol. 31) 1944 Oudh 57 (59) * (Vol. 32) 1945 Pesh 34 (34, 35).

O. 41 R. 22 (contd.)

[2] Where an ex parte decree is passed against a defendant for a portion only of the claim made by the plaintiff and the plaintiff appeals against the portion disallowed, the defendant-respondent can file cross-objections in respect of the portion decreed and may therein contend that the order making him ex parte in the suit was wrong. (Vol. 11) 1924 Mad 107 (108) (DB).

[3] In an appeal against a decree, the respondent cannot raise, by way of cross-objections, the plea that an order granting a review of the judgment originally passed was wrong. (Vol. 15) 1928 Oudh 405 (405).

[4] A respondent cannot, by way of cross-objections, attack a non-appealable order. (Vol. 14) 1927 Oudh 218 (219).

[5] Where a party could not have appealed from a decree he cannot file any cross-objections in respect of it. (Vol. 31) 1944 Oudh 57 (58) (DB) * (Vol. 16) 1929 Nag 361 (362).

[6] Where a decree is wholly in favour of a party, he cannot file any cross-objections against it by way of criticism of the judgment, though he can support the decree on any of the grounds decided against him. [8] A files a suit against B and C, C is a pro forma defendant. The suit is dismissed. A appeals. C who has not taken any part in the proceedings in the trial Court seeks to file cross-objections in A's appeal, questioning the dismissal of the suit against B and wishing to continue the cross-objections though A does not want to pursue the appeal. C cannot be allowed to do so as there is no decision against him. (Vol. 27) 1940 Cal 377 (378) (DB).

[9] The cross-objections must be directed against the particular decree under appeal. (Vol. 9) 1922 Mad 413 (415) (DB) * (Vol. 10) 1923 Lah 514 (515) * (Vol. 18) 1931 Mad 133 (134, 135).

3. Cross-objections in second appeal.—[1] Cross-objections may be filed in second appeals as well as in first appeals. ('99) 21 All 297 (300) (DB) (Cross-objections cannot be filed in Letters Patent appeals.) * (Vol. 22) 1935 All 404 (405) (DB).

[2] In Oudh where an appellant is entitled to file a second appeal only after obtaining a declaration that it is a fit case for appeal the cross-objector also should obtain such a declaration before filing objections. (Vol. 22) 1935 Oudh 88 (89) : 10 Luck 518 (DB).

[3] The grounds taken in cross-objections filed in second appeals must comply with the provisions of S. 100. ('04) 7 Oudh Cas 49 (50) * (Vol. 26) 1939 Rang 59 (63, 64) (DB).

[4] A files a suit against B. It is partly decreed in favour of A and partly dismissed. A and B file separate appeals. A's appeal is allowed partially and B's appeal is dismissed in toto. A thereupon files a second appeal. B does not file any appeal, but only files cross-objections, in A's second appeal. It is not open to B to attack the decree passed in his appeal to the lower Court by means of cross-objections in the appeal preferred against another decree of that Court. [3] There is no objection to the respondent filing a cross-objection against a person who was a party to the suit in the Court but who has not been joined as a party to the appeal by the opposite party. (Vol. 25) 1933 Mad 329 (330).

10. Cross-objections against co-respondent.—[1] As a general rule the right of a respondent to urge cross-objections should be limited to his urging them against the appellant, and it is only by way of exception to this general rule that one respondent may urge cross-objections as against the other respondents, the exception holding good among other cases, in those in which the appeal by some of the parties opens out questions which cannot be disposed of completely without matters being allowed to be opened up as between co-respondents. OBJECTS AND REASONS.

"After due consideration the Committee have thought it safer not to give legislative sanction to the views enunciated in Habib Buksh v. Baldeo Prasad, (I L R 23 Allahabad 167). The power of reversal and remand is liable to be abused, while the procedure under section 566 is free from this liability and at the same time furnishes an effectual remedy. The words at the end of the rule have been added to clear up a doubt which is stated by the Select Committee to exist as to whether evidence recorded at the original trial can be used in the trial after remand."—S. O. R.

MADRAS

Substitute the following for Rule 23 :

"23. Where the Court from whose decree an appeal is preferred has disposed of the suit upon a preliminary point and the decree is reversed in appeal, or where the Appellate Court, in reversing or setting aside the decree under appeal considers it necessary in the interests of justice to remand the case, the Appellate Court may by order remand the case, and may further direct what issue or issues shall be tried in the case so remanded, and shall send a copy of its judgment and order to the Court from whose decree the appeal is preferred, with directions to re-admit the suit under its original number in the register of civil suits, and proceed to determine the suit; and the evidence (if any) recorded during the original trial shall, subject to all just exceptions, be evidence during the trial after remand."

Rule 23A—LAHORE

Add the following as Rule 23A :

"R. 23A. Where the Court, from whose decree an appeal is preferred has disposed of the case otherwise than on a preliminary point and the decree is reversed in appeal, and a re-trial is considered necessary, the Appellate Court shall have the same powers as it has under Rule 23."

O. 41 R. 23 (contd.)

9. Inherent power of remand.
10. Wrong onus of proof.
11. Exclusion of evidence.
12. Basing decision on inadmissible evidence.
13. New plea is not a ground of remand.
14. Remand in appeal from order refusing to set aside ex parte decree.
15. Remand by consent.
16. Remand in second appeal.
17. Appeal against an order of remand under this rule.
18. Appeal from order of remand under inherent power.
19. Order of remand—When will amount to a decree.
20. Letters Patent appeal.
21. Powers of High Court in appeal from order of remand.
22. To what Court remand can be made.
23. Effect of order of remand.
24. Effect of improper order of remand.
25. Matters decided by order of remand, finality of.
26. Jurisdiction after remand depends upon the order of remand.
27. Procedure after remand.
28. Refund of court-fee on remand.
29. Costs.
30. Revision.
31. Local amendments.

1. Distinction between Rules 23 and 25.—[1] This rule applies only when the lower Court has disposed of the suit upon a preliminary point. (Vol. 30) 1943 Oudh 35 (35) * (Vol. 29) 1942 Pat 195 (196) (DB) * (Vol. 25) 1938 Nag 144 (144) : I L R (1940) Nag 517.

[2] If the trial Court decides the suit on the merits, it is not open to the Appellate Court to order a remand under this rule. (Vol. 10) 1923 Cal 323 (324) (DB) * (Vol. 21) 1934 Lah 576 (579) (DB) * (92) 19 Cal 555 (558) (DB).

[3] The following are the points of distinction between Rules 23 and 25.

[a] The whole case goes back under this rule, for decision to the lower Court (except on the point on which the Appellate Court has reversed the finding of the lower Court); under rule 25, the case is retained on the file of the Appellate Court and only issues are remitted. (Vol. 14) 1927 Cal 401 (402) (DB) * (Vol. 20) 1933 Lah 659 (659) * (Vol. 22) 1935 Oudh 533 (534) (DB) * (Vol. 23) 1936 Nag 140 (141) : I L R (1936) Nag 188.

[b] An order of remand under this rule is appealable but not an order under Rule 25. (Vol. 9) 1922 Oudh 236 (248) : 25 Oudh Cas 199 (DB).

2. "Preliminary point," Meaning of.—[1] A preliminary point is such that the decision thereon in a particular way is sufficient to dispose of the whole suit, without a decision on the other points in the case. [5] In the following cases it was held that it was not decided on a preliminary point as the point on which the whole suit was dismissed related to the merits of the case:

(a) Suit for ejectment and damages, plaintiff's failure to establish the title alleged by him. ('05) 1905 All W N 157 (157) (DB).

(b) In a suit for mesne profits finding that the defendant was not in possession during the period in question. (1897) 1 Cal W N 340 (340) (DB).

(c) Question of factum of death of defendants. (Vol. 10) 1933 Lah 224 (224).

(d) Appellate Court deciding that the plaintiff was entitled to the right claimed by him and remanding for decision on other issues—Remand not under Rule 23. (Vol. 7) 1920 Mad 759 (760) (DB).

(e) Suit by daughter for her share under Mahomedan Law—Trial Court holding that by custom she was excluded from inheritance and dismissing suit ('01) 4 Oudh Cas 23 (24).

[6] The following questions in the suit were held to be preliminary points even though they related to merits of the case:

(a) Suit for damages for breach of contract—Question as to the factum of contract. (Vol. 8) 1921 Mad 118 (118, 119) (DB).

(b) Suit based on an award—Question of the validity of the award. ('05) 27 All 691 (694) (DB).

(d) Suit for maintenance—Suit dismissed on the ground that plaintiff was not entitled to maintenance. (Vol. 14) 1927 Mad 1159 (1160) (DB).

(e) Suit by co-sharers for share of profits—Plea of adverse possession regarding part of area upheld—Appeal No finding as to amount of profits—Appellate Court differing and remanding case for disposal according to law—Order of remand held to be one under O. 41, R. 23. (Vol. 20) 1933 Oudh 560 (561).

(f) Redemption suit—Defendant's plea that there was a sale in his favour is a preliminary point. (Vol. 2) 1915 Lah 449 (449, 450).

(g) Suit for compensation for non-delivery against railway—Trial Court dismissing suit for want of proof of 'wilful neglect,' leaving undecided question of damages—Lower Appellate Court holding that wilful neglect was proved and remanding on question of damages—Remand is under O 41, R 23. [7] The degree of importance which a point assumes during the hearing of the case does not decide whether a point is preliminary or not. (Vol. 14) 1927 Mad 1159 (1159) (DB).

[8] A case is said to have been disposed of on a preliminary point where there is a decree on the basis of that point as in the following cases:

(a) Decree passed on the basis of an award without trial of other issues. ('05) 2 All L Jour 477 (479) (DB) * ('91) 13 All 386 (388, 389) (DB). (Case decided according to deposition of referee appointed by agreement of both parties).

(b) Decree passed on consent of parties without trying the other issues. (Vol. 18) 1931 P C 107 (109): 27 Nag L R 139 (PC).

(c) Decree passed on the basis of commissioner's report. (Vol. 4) 1917 All 148 (149) (DB).

ORDER 41 RULE 25—SYNOPSIS.

1. Scope of the rule.
2. "Has omitted to frame or try any issue."
3. "May, if necessary, frame issues."
4. "Shall direct such Court to take the additional evidence required."
5. What Court may try the issues remitted.
6. Powers and duties of Court to which issues are remitted.
7. New issues raised before the Appellate Court.
8. Remand in second appeal.
9. Appeal.
10. Letters Patent appeal.
11. Revision.

1. Scope.—Where the lower Court has failed to try any issue or determine any question of fact essential to the right decision of the suit on the merits the Appellate Court can remit the case for findings. [2] In the case of second appeals remand of issues should be made to the lower Appellate Court. (Vol. 26) 1939 Nag 173 (174) : 1 L R (1940) Nag 643 (DB). (In this case issues were remitted by the High Court in second appeal to the trial Court and it was held that the general rule that the High Court should not interfere with the findings of the fact of the lower Appellate Court did not apply to the findings of the trial Court on such issues and that such finding could not be treated as on the same footing as the findings returned by a lower Appellate Court on remand of issues under this rule).

ORDER 41 RULE 26—SYNOPSIS.

1. Appellate Court to fix time for presenting memorandum of objections.
2. Effect of not filing objections.
3. " Shall proceed to determine the appeal."
4. Unnecessary remission.
5. Second appeal.

Production of additional evidence in Appellate Court.

27. (1) The parties to an appeal shall not be entitled to produce additional evidence, whether oral or documentary, in the Appellate Court. But if—

(a) the Court from whose decree the appeal is preferred has refused to admit evidence which ought to have been admitted, or

O. 41 R. 26 (contd.)

1. Appellate Court to fix time for presenting memorandum of objections.—[1] The Appellate Court must fix a time within which objections to the findings returned by the lower Court should be filed. ('68) 3 Agra 96 (96) (DB).

[2] Failure to fix time is mere technical irregularity and may be ignored if it does not in any way prejudice the party complaining of the same. ('15) 26 Ind Cas 736 (737) (DB) (Oudh).

[3] If no time is fixed for filing objections, they may be filed at any time before the hearing. ('84) 1884 All W N 158 (158) (DB).

[4] The period for filing objections may be fixed at the time of remitting the issues and not necessarily after the return of the findings. ('10) 6 Nag L R 109 (110).

2. Effect of not filing objections.—[1] Where no objections to the findings are filed within the time fixed the Court may, in its discretion, allow or decline to allow the objections to be taken afterwards. ('85) 7 All 79 (91, 92) (FB).

[2] The Appellate Court cannot treat the findings received from the lower Court as final and binding merely because objections are not filed in time. The Appellate Court must examine the findings on their merits and "proceed to determine the appeal." ('84) 6 All 391 (392, 393) (DB) * ('10) 6 Nag L R 109 (110). * ('93-1900) 1893-1900 Low Bar Rul 503 * (Vol. 4) 1917 Sind 71 (71) : 10 Sind L R 203 (DB).

[But see ('66) 1 Agra 50 (51) (DB). (Appellate Court is not competent to alter the finding in respect of which no objection is preferred within the time fixed.)]

[3] Where objections to findings were not taken in the lower Appellate Court which remitted the issues, they cannot be raised for the first time as grounds of second appeal. ('88) 10 All 28 (29).

3. "Shall proceed to determine the appeal."—[1] At the hearing after the remand, the Appellate Court is to determine the appeal on the whole of the material on record, including the evidence and findings returned by the lower Court under the remand order. (Vol. 7) 1920 Cal 93 (94) (DB).

[2] It is not open to the Appellate Court to consider only the findings returned by the Lower Court under the remand, and simply confirm the other findings without examining them on the merits. ('67) 8 Sath W R 303 (303) (DB).

[3] The Appellate Court must take into consideration any objections to the findings returned by the lower Court, that may be duly filed. ('12) 16 Ind Case 354 (355) (DB) (Mad).

[4] Where the lower Court makes its return without giving its findings on any of the issues, the Appellate Court can remit the issues again for a proper finding being given. (Vol. 9) 1922 P C 292 (297, 298) : 45 Mad 586 : 49 Ind App 286 (P C) * ('68) 10 Sath W R 236 (237) (DB).

[5] It has been held by the Panjab Chief Court that before the return of findings by the lower Court the Appellate Court has no jurisdiction to dismiss the appeal for default. ('06) 1906 Pan L R No. 90, page 275 (278).

[6] See also Note 4.

4. Unnecessary remission.—[1] On the question whether on receipt of fresh finding from the lower Court, the Appellate Court can reconsider the views expressed by it before the remand and hold that the remand was improper and unnecessary, the following views are expressed.

(a) The Appellate Court can hold that the order of remand was unnecessary and improper. (Vol. 10) 1923 All 384 (385, 386) * (Vol. 15) 1923 Cal 186 (188) (DB). * ('13) 18 Cal L Jour 181 (185) (DB) * (Vol. 10) 1923 Oudh 50 (51) : 25 Oudh Cas 245 (DB).

(b) When a single Judge of the High Court makes an order of remand under R. 25 and the case subsequently comes on for final disposal before a Bench of two Judges, the latter can go back upon the order of remand and the views expressed therein. (Vol. 18) 1931 Cal 353 (354) (DB) * ('13) 18 Cal L Jour 354 (357) (DB) * (Vol. 3) 1916 Cal 554 (556) : 42 Cal 888 (DB) * (Vol. 32) 1945 All 268 (269, 271) : 1 L R (1945) All 798 (FB).

(c) The order of remand under R. 25 is an interlocutory order which, will operate as res judicata and is binding on the Court which passed it until it is set aside in appropriate proceedings. (Vol. 10) 1923 Cal 521 (522, 523) (DB).

(d) If a point has not been explicitly or impliedly decided at the time of the remand order, there is nothing to preclude its determination when the case comes back after remand. (Vol. 26) 1939 Pat 580 (583) (DB) * (Vol. 23) 1936 Lah 584 (565, 566) (DB).

[2] An Appellate Court is not bound to reconsider the views expressed in the remand order. ('13) 17 Cal W N 462 (465, 466) (DB) * (Vol. 13) 1926 Mad 830 (832) (DB) * (Vol. 6) 1918 Nag 193 (195) (DB).

[3] The Appellate Court is not bound on the return of the findings, to hear the case de novo but may confine counsel to arguments on the findings returned. ('88) 10 All 162 (165, 166) (DB).

[4] A party is not entitled to raise new issues for the first time at the hearing after the remand. ('83) 1883 Pan Re No. 54, page 167 (169) (DB) * (1865) 3 Sath W R Misc 5 (5) (DB).

5. Second Appeal.—[1] The findings of the lower Appellate Court upon issues remanded by the High Court in second appeal cannot be challenged upon the evidence as in the case of first appeal but objections to such findings must be restricted to the limits within which the original pleas in second appeal are confined. ('85) 7 All 765 (768, 769) (FB) * (Vol. 15) 1928 P C 219 (221) (PC).

19. Revision.

1. Scope and object of the rule.—[1] This rule elucidates the provisions of S. 107 clause (d) of the Code. (Vol. 18) 1931 P C 143 (148) : 58 Ind App 254 : 10 Pat 654 (P C).

[2] The rule is an exception to the general rule. (Vol. 22) 1935 Rang 39 (41).

[See (Vol. 21) 1934 All 217 (226) : 56 All 504 (DB)].

[4] Court is not bound to allow additional evidence; the matter is entirely in the discretion of the Court. 9. Non-compliance with rule—Effect—General.

10. Second appeal—Maintainability of, on ground of non-compliance.

11. Non-compliance with the rule by lower Appellate Court Procedure of High Court.

12. Appeal in proceedings under Section 476 of the Criminal Procedure Code.

13. Applicability of rule to High Court.

1. Object of the rule.—[1] Object of rule is to afford parties opportunity of knowing and understanding grounds of decision to enable them to exercise right of second appeal and to enable High Court in second appeal to judge whether lower Court has properly appreciated and decided the case. 1. Scope of rule.—[1] The object of the rule is to enable the appellate Court to do complete justice between the parties and to avoid contradictory and inconsistent decisions on the same questions in the same suit (Vol. 29) 1942 Pat 204 (209); 20 Pat 811 (DB) * (11) 34 All 32 (34, 35) (FB). [See (Vol. 5) 1918 Mad 794 (799); 40 Mad 846 (DB).]

[See also report of the Special Committee.]

[2] For this purpose a discretionary power is conferred on the Appellate Court to pass such decree or order as ought to have been passed or as the nature of the case may require. [4] But as the power is in derogation of the general principle that a party cannot avoid a decree against him without filing any appeal or cross-objection, it must be exercised with care and caution. (Vol. 5) 1918 Cal 13

(14, 15) (SB) * (13) (1913) Mad W N 1024 (1024) * (Vol. 20) 1933 Lah 682 (685) (DB) * (11) 34 All 32 (34) (FB). [8] The rule applies to second appeals. (See O. 42 R. 1). (Vol. 50) 1943 All 342 (343) (DB) * (Vol. 13) 1926 P C 34; 49 Mad 455; 53 Ind App 84 (P C) explained * (Vol. 27) 1940 Pat 300 (302) (DB).

[9] Applications for revision—Principle of the rule applies. (Vol. 11) 1924 Nag 154 (155). Court of Small Causes decreed plaintiff's claim against defendant 2 and dismissed it as against defendant 1—Revision by defendant 2—Revising Court while dismissing claim against defendant 2 can decree the same against defendant 1.

2. Any decree or order which ought to have been passed.—[1] Three out of four trustees bring a suit for rent against lessee of trust properties, adding other trustee as second defendant—Trial Court passes decree for three-fourths of rent in favour of plaintiff's, and for one-fourth, in favour of second defendant. First defendant appeals. Appellate Court dismissing appeal passes a decree for entire sum in favour of plaintiff's declaring at the same time, that one-fourth of it is for the second defendant's share. Held that the Appellate Court has power to do so. (Vol. 3) 1916 P C 182 (184, 185); 44 Cal 759; 44 Ind App 65 (PC).

[2] Plaintiffs sue for a declaration that the proceedings taken against them by the defendants are ultra vires and null and void. The trial Court passes an order of mandamus against them instead of giving a declaratory decree. The defendants appeal. The Appellate Court considers that an order of mandamus should not have been passed but that a decree for a declaration should have been passed. It has power to pass such a decree. (Vol. 19) 1932 Rang 123 (128); 10 Rang 412 (FB).

[3] Suit against A and B—Decree against A but suit dismissed against B without costs—Appeal by A—Appellate Court can while accepting appeal and dismissing suit against A as well award costs of suit to B also though he has not appealed. (Vol. 29) 1942 Cal 257 (260); 11R (1941) 2 Cal 556 (DB).

[6] Plaintiff claiming reliefs in alternative—Trial Court granting one relief—Appellate Court can grant the other one instead. (Vol. 2) 1915 Cal 579 (582) (DB).

[7] Suit for specific performance of contract to sell immovable property—Subsequent vendee also defendant—Appellate Court has, while dismissing defendant's appeal power to pass a decree in the proper form. (1912) 22 Mad L Jour 124 (125) (DB) - (Vol. 2) 1915 Mad 37 (37).

[8] Appeal by defendant—Appellant's contention was that suit had abated—Appellate Court can hold so—This case however makes no reference to this rule. (Vol. 16) 1929 Lah 256 (256).

[9] Trial Court rejecting plaint for want of court-fee—Appellate Court reversing order may reject plaint on another ground, viz., on the ground of suit being barred by limitation. (Vol. 10) 1923 Nag 30 (31).

[10] Trial Court decreeing suit on a particular ground—Appellate Court can reverse decision on that point but may maintain the decree on another ground. (13) 6 Low Bar Rul 144 (145).

3. "Such further or other decree or order."—[1] Appellate Court has power to deal with the case in any way that may seem equitable to all the parties concerned. [2] Powers of Appellate Court to pass orders which ought to have been passed are very wide. (Vol. 4) 1917 P C 111 (115) (P C).

[3] A property, the subject of two mortgages, one in favour of A and the other in favour of B, is sold for arrears of revenue and purchased by C. A sues for the enforcement of his mortgage against the surplus sale proceeds and makes B, a defendant to the suit claiming priority over him. The suit is decreed. B appeals against the decree. In the meanwhile there is a suit by B for setting aside the revenue sale and this suit is also decreed. C, appeals against this decree. Both appeals are heard together and one dismissed. The appellate Court can in dismissing the appeals direct that A's rights should be enforced against the property instead of against the sale proceeds. (Vol. 4) 1917 P C 111 (113, 115) (P C).

[4] A suit is erroneously dismissed on the merits instead of for default. In appeal filed by the plaintiff the Appellate Court can, not only pass an order of dismissal for default, but also a further order that the suit do stand restored and that the lower Court do proceed to try the suit according to law. (10) 33 Mad 241 (245) (DB).

[5] Where on an application to set aside an execution sale on the ground of the price being less than that payable under certain rules, the lower Court refuses to set aside the sale, and, on appeal, the Appellate Court considers that the sale should be set aside, it has power to accept the purchaser's offer of a higher price, and to leave the sale undisturbed. (Vol. 17) 1930 Bom 290 (292): 54 Bom 348 (DB).

[6] Appellate Court not to grant relief not asked for in plaint. (Vol. 5) 1918 Nag 228 (231): 14 Nag L R 56 - (Vol. 4) 1917 Pat 42 (43): 2 Pat L Jour 698 (DB). * (Vol. 10) 1923 All 235 (241, 242) (DB).

[7] Appeal from ex parte decree—Power of the Appellate Court in appeal from ex parte decree is not confined only to the investigation of the cause of non-appearance. (Vol. 16) 1929 Cal 322 (325): 56 Cal 21 (DB).

[8] Appellate Court may issue a fresh commission for the purpose of examining accounts and remedying certain mistakes and omissions made by another commissioner. (Vol. 10) 1923 Lah 115 (116): 3 Lah 382 (DB).

[9] If the record of a case under appeal is lost, the Appellate Court has power to remand the case for reconstruction of the record. (Vol. 10) 1923 Mad 647 (648, 649): 46 Mad 679 (SB).

[10] Suit for removal of mutawalli and appointment of new mutawalli dismissed—Appellate Court agreeing with conclusion of trial Court but in interest of trust, settling scheme—Held that notwithstanding the absence of sanction under S. 92, Appellate Court had power under this rule to do so as it did. (Vol. 23) 1936 Lah 361 (362) (DB). (Note: It is doubtful whether the above decision is correct).

4. Power to take cognizance of subsequent events.—

[2] As a general rule, a Court of Appeal, in considering the correctness of the judgment of the Court below, will confine itself to the state of the case at the time such judgment was rendered, and will not take notice of any facts which may have arisen subsequently. (61—63) 9 Moo Ind App 287 (330) (PC) * (Vol. 14) 1927 Lah 198 (199): 8 Lah 215 (DB).

[3] But the Court will, in exceptional cases, depart from this rule, especially where, by so doing it can shorten litigation and best attain the ends of justice. In such cases it is not only competent to a Court of Appeal, but it may be its duty to take notice of events which have happened subsequently to the passing of the decree or order appealed against. (Vol. 30) 1943 Oudh 271 (272): 19 Luck 29 (DB). (Appellate Court can take cognizance of a change of circumstances or a law having retrospective effect made during the pendency of the appeal.) * (Vol. 29) 1942 Mad 291 (293) (New Act passed pending appeal.)

O. 41 R. 33 (contd.)

[4] No doubts, powers conferred by O. 41 R. 33 on Appellate Courts are very wide but they cannot be exercised so as to affect a vested right, for instance by virtue of law of limitation or right declared to be vested by a decree of the trial Court in a pre-emptor. (Vol. 31) 1944 Lah 319 (321): I L R (1944) Lah 443 (FB).

[5] Plaintiff's claim to property as her father's heir negated by trial Court—Pending plaintiff's appeal, one of the defendants dying and plaintiff becoming entitled to suit property as her heir—Plaintiff's fresh rights could not be declared in the suit as brought. (Vol. 32) 1945 Pat 87 (92): 23 Pat 508.

[6] Appeal before Privy Council—Alteration in case law during pendency of appeal before High Court—Plaintiff placed in most embarrassing position—Dismissal of suit entailing risk of injustice—Plaintiff held should be allowed to amend pleadings by raising new issues and new lines of argument—Case remanded to High Court. (Vol. 28) 1941 P C 85 (88): I L R (1942) Pom 75: I L R (1941) Kar P C 134: 69 Ind App 64 (PC).

[12] Appellate Court can consider a subsequent change in the case affecting rights of parties. (Vol. 17) 1930 Rang 190 (191) (DB).

[13] Statute affecting vested rights of parties passed after passing of decree but before hearing of appeal therefrom—Appellate Court should consider new statute affecting rights in new appeal before it. (Vol. 23) 1936 Bom 57 (40): 60 Bom 125 (LB).

[14] Decree against sale proceeds of mortgaged property—Subsequently sale set aside—Appellate Court passed a decree against the mortgaged property. (Vol. 4) 1917 P C 111 (113, 115) (PC).

[15] Lower Court ordering execution in conformity with procedure then in force—Change in processual law, affecting initiation of execution proceedings—Execution legally started does not become illegal and Appellate Court should not interfere with lower Court's order. (Vol. 15) 1928 Mad 1194 (1194) (DB), (Quarter V. Mapleson (1883) 9 Q B D 672 distinguished).

5. Appeal only as to part of the decree.—[1] This rule expressly empowers the Appellate Court on an appeal from one part of the decree, to reverse or modify the other part. (Vol. 7) 1920 Cal 428 (434) (DB) * (Vol. 13) 1926 Cal 1042 (1043, 1045) (DB). (Thus Appellate Court can dismiss the suit though the appeal is not directed against the whole decree) * (Vol. 12) 1925 Mad 266 (267, 268).

[2] But this power should be exercised only where the portion of the decree appealed against is so inseparably connected with the portion not appealed against that justice cannot be done unless the latter portion is also interfered with. (Vol. 24) 1937 Pat 40 (43): 16 Pat 45 (DB). (Appellate Court would not interfere where there are two independent transactions, though the questions of law and fact involved in both of them to some extent are the same).

[3] Plaintiff's claim to certain lands in defendant's village based on custom of dhar dhura decreed—Defendants owning separate and independent shares in village—Appeal by some of co-sharers defendants belonging to one family and independent of other co-sharers claiming that the plaintiff's suit be dismissed as against them—Dismissal of plaintiff's suit as against appellants cannot result in conflicting decrees, and Appellate Court held had power to do so. (Vol. 30) 1943 All 68 (74) (DB).

[4] Where there are several suits and a separate decree is passed in each of them, the appellate Court has no jurisdiction in an appeal against one of them to set aside the other decrees. (Vol. 12) 1925 Bom 290 (291) (DB) * (Vol. 6) 1919 Lah 201 (202): 1919 Pun Re No. 116.

6. Power may be exercised in favour of respondents or parties who have not filed appeal or cross-objections.—[1] As an ordinary rule, an appellate Court must not reverse or vary a decree in favour of a party who has not preferred any appeal or cross-objection against it, and this general rule holds good notwithstanding the enactment of Rule 33. (11) 34 All 32 (36) (FB) * (Vol. 26) 1939 P C 86 (91): I L R (1939) Kar (P C) 149 (P C) * (Vol. 26) 1939 Cal 582 (585) (DB) * (Vol. 26) 1939 Cal 593 (594) (DB). (Suit dismissed against A, one of the defendants—No appeal or cross-objection filed against this decision—Decree against other defendants reversed in first appeal—Second appeal by plaintiff—Relief against A cannot be granted in second appeal) * (Vol. 22) 1935 Nag 243 (244) (Claim decreed in part—Appeal by defendant—Respondent not filing cross-objection in respect of claims disallowed—He cannot be allowed to argue in favour of that claim under O. 41 R. 33).

[2] But in exceptional cases, the rule enables an appellate Court to pass such decree as ought to have been passed; or as the nature of the case may require, even if such decree would be in favour of parties who have not filed any appeal or cross-objections against the lower Court's decree. (Vol. 29) 1942 Pat 493 (505, 506): 21 Pat 397 (DB). (Claim to compound interest based on agreement partly allowed by trial Court—Appeal by plaintiff—Cross-objection by some of defendants-respondents that suit was not maintainable—Agreement found void—Suit held should be dismissed against all defendants as otherwise it would result in two contradictory decrees) * (Vol. 16) 1929 Cal 123 (126): 56 Cal 598 (DB). (Such power can be exercised, e.g., where Court is put in a position of having to make impossible contradictory or unworkable orders) * (Vol. 3) 1916 P C 192 (184, 185): 44 Cal 759: 44 Ind App 65 (P C) * (Vol. 18) 1931 P C 234 (239): 58 Ind App

[3] Ordinarily, the power conferred by this rule will be confined to those cases where, as a result of interference in favour of the appellant, further interference with the decree of the lower Court is rendered necessary, in order to adjust the rights of the parties according to justice, equity and good conscience. (Vol. 1) 1914 Cal 722 (723) (DB) * ('11) 84 All 32 (35) (FB) * (Vol. 22) 1935 Cal 453 (459). [4] A claims Rs. 500 as due to him either from B or C and, in a suit against both of them claiming relief in the alternative, obtains a decree against B. B appeals making A and C respondents. The appellate Court comes to the conclusion that C and not B is liable to A. It has jurisdiction while allowing B's appeal to pass a decree in favour of A against C. (Vol. 30) 1943 All 842 (844) (DB) * (Vol. 25) 1938 Pat 275 (276): 17 Pat 338 (DB).

[5] A sues B and C for a certain sum of money. The suit is decreed against B and dismissed against C. B appeals making A and C respondents to the appeal. The appellate Court can, while reversing the decree against B, pass a decree against C or if it considers necessary against both B and C. [6] A suit is brought on behalf of the public for a declaration (a) and that the public are entitled to use the locks on a certain river without paying tolls to the defendant, and (b) that the defendant is under an obligation to keep the locks in repair. The trial Court holds that the plaintiff is entitled to use the locks without paying tolls but the defendant is under no obligation to keep the locks in repair and a decree is accordingly passed. The defendant appeals, but the plaintiff neither appeals or files cross-objections against the decree. The appellate Court has jurisdiction to pass a decree declaring that the public are liable to pay tolls and also declaring that the defendant is under an obligation to keep the locks in repair. [7] A is the vendee of certain lands from B. B fails to deliver possession of the lands to A. A sues B for possession, or in the alternative for the return of the purchase-money. The trial Court awards A a decree for possession. B appeals. The appellate Court considers that A is not entitled to sue for possession, but entitled to the return of the purchase-money. The appellate Court can vary the decree accordingly. ('09) 18 Mad L Jour 586 (587, 588) (DB). (But case would have been different had the trial Court refused prayer for possession—In such a case appellate Court could have no power to alter the decree to one of possession in the absence of cross-objection) * (Vol. 12) 1925 Lah 155 (156). [8] A, an auction-purchaser, sues B, the judgment-debtor, for possession or in the alternative C the decree-holder, for refund of the purchase-money. The trial Court decrees possession. B appeals making A and C respondents. The Appellate Court comes to the conclusion that A is not entitled to recover possession from B but is entitled to the refund of the purchase-money from C. A decree may be passed to this effect. ('13) 15 Bom L R 41 (44) (DB) * (Vol. 14) 1927 Cal 831 (832) (DB). (Trial Court decreed refund of purchase-money—Appellate Court decreed possession).

[11] Suit by plaintiff for share in deceased's property—Plaintiff conceding that defendant 1 was entitled to Rs. 5,000 and claiming that he and defendants 2 and 3 were each entitled to sixth share in surplus and paying court-fee on share claimed—Suit decreed as aforesaid—Appeal by defendant 2 alone allowed and defendant 2 held entitled to sixth share in whole property—No appeal or memo. of objections by plaintiff and defendant 3—Variation of decree by Appellate Court in favour of plaintiff and defendant 3 by allowing them sixth share in whole property, held erroneous. [13] A and B sue C for recovery of certain property. The trial Court passes a decree in A's favour but dismisses B's suit. C appeals. B neither appeals nor prefers cross-objections. The Appellate Court holds that B and not A is the person entitled. It can pass a decree in B's favour. (Vol. 2) 1915 P C 57 (58, 59): 43 Cal 417 (P C). (Confirming (1911) 38 Cal 721).

[14] The Appellate Court has jurisdiction to pass a decree in the respondent's favour even in cases where he has not filed any cross-objection or appeal though the question whether the power should be exercised in a given case depends on its own circumstances. [15] On the above principles a Court has jurisdiction, in dismissing an appeal to rectify an error in the judgment and decree of the lower Court although the respondent has not filed any appeal or cross-objection against the decree. (Vol. 24) 1937 All 401 (406): I L R (1937) All 489 (DB) * (Vol. 25) 1938 Lah 188 (189): I L R (1938) Lah 148 (DB). B prefers an appeal and if his only ground of appeal is that the liability to A is on C and not on himself, i.e., B, he must join C as a party to the appeal otherwise he cannot obtain a reversal of the decree against him. (Vol. 28) 1941 Rang 63 (64, 65): 1940 Rang L R 693 (DB) ((Vol. 19) 1932 Rang 16: 9 Rang 614 followed.)

[4] Suit by A against B and C decreed fully against B and partially against C, C only appealing—B not party to appeal—C's appeal allowed and suit dismissed against C—Second appeal by A, not joining B—Held, B can apply to be impleaded in A's appeal and ask for reduction of decretal debt in view of Debt Relief Acts passed pending A's appeal. (Vol. 30) 1943 Mad 180 (161).

[5] Suit for contribution against other co-sharers on certain basis. Only one defendant contesting suit—Suit decreed as prayed—Appeal by such defendant challenging basis of calculation—Other co-sharer defendants are necessary parties. (Vol. 31) 1944 Cal 383 (384).

11. Illustration to the rule.—[1] The illustration to the rule indicates a type of cases for which provision is intended to be made. O. 41 R. 33 (contd.)

[2] The illustration is not exhaustive of the classes of cases to which the rules apply and does not restrict the scope of the rule. (Vol. 2) 1915 Mad 227 (229) (DB). (The rule covers cases where a party puts forward an untrue claim) * (Vol. 6) 1919 Mad 196 (197) (DB) * (Vol. 13) 1926 Cal 1042 (1044) (DB) * (Vol. 17) 1930 Mad 801 (804): 53 Mad 881 (FB). (In proper cases the rule should be applied.)

12 Proviso.—[1] The effect of the proviso is that the Appellate Court cannot make an order for compensatory costs under S. 35 A where the trial Court has refused to do so.

[See also Notes on S. 35 A.]

13. Limitation.—See Limitation Act, Section 3 and Article 132.

14. Res judicata.—[1] A sues B and C in the alternative for a certain sum of money. The suit is decreed against B and dismissed against C. B appeals making A and C respondents. The Appellate Court sets aside the decree against B. It can at the same time pass a decree against C. But its failure to do so does not operate res judicata because it was not obligatory but only discretionary on the part of the Appellate Court to grant relief to A. (Vol. 5) 1918 Cal 223 (224, 225) (DB) (Similarly failure of A to ask for relief under R. 33 does not operate as res judicata.)

[2] Where a defendant appeals as to a part of the decree against him, it has been held that he is precluded by res judicata from urging in support of his appeal a point which goes to the root of the whole decree including the portion of it from which he has not appealed. (Vol. 17) 1930 Mad 471 (472, 473) (Decision inconsistent with rule and to the Full Bench decision in 29 Mad 333 (335) (FB).)

[3] A filed a suit against B and C claiming a certain plot of land. (C claimed the land as a purchaser from B.) The trial Court held that A and not B was the owner of the land and decreed the suit. C filed an appeal against the decree; but B did not file any appeal. It was held that C's appeal was not barred by the fact that B had not filed an appeal against the decree. If C succeeded in the appeal and the decree was reversed, such reversal would operate for the benefit of B also. (Vol. 25) 1938 Mad 501 (502) (DB). (Distinguishing and explaining (Vol. 14) 1927 P C 252: 55 Ind App 7: 6 Rang 29 (PC).)

15. Remand.—[1] Suit for maintenance by concubine of deceased Hindu—Another claim by widow of deceased for maintenance against estate of deceased, remanded for taking further evidence as to quantum of assets and liabilities of estate—Appellate Court, while holding concubine plaintiff entitled to maintenance, held justified in remanding case for further evidence as it was desirable, in order to arrive at the correct rate of maintenance to the widow and to the concubine, to consider both claims with reference to the available assets and the demands legitimately made upon such estate. (Vol. 27) 1940 Mad 511 (512).

[2] Suit partly decreed and partly dismissed—Appeal by plaintiff—No appeal or cross-objection by defendant —Whole case may be remanded. (Vol. 6) 1919 Cal 65 (65): 46 Cal 738 (DB).

16. Second appeal.—[1] A sues B and C. The suit is decreed against B but dismissed against C. B. appeals from the decree but A does not file any appeal or cross-objections. B's appeal is allowed and A's entire suit is, therefore, dismissed. A files a second appeal impleading B and C as respondents. He is not entitled to file a second appeal against C because to allow him to do so would be to allow him to prefer an appeal directly to the High Court from the decision of the trial Court (Vol. 15) 1928 Lah 599 (601): 9 Lah 291 (DB) * ('10) 34 Mad 249 (250) (DB) * ('09) 31 All 521 (522) (DB) (C was not a party to B's appeal) * (Vol. 26) 1939 Cal 593 (594) (DB).

[See also (Vol. 13) 1926 P C 34 (35): 49 Mad 435: 53 Ind App 84 (P C) (Privy Council appeal)].

[But see (Vol. 12) 1925 All 555 (555): 47 All 597 (DB) * ('10) 1910 Mad W N 640 (641) (DB) (No longer good law in view of (Vol. 13) 1926 P C 34 (35): 49 Mad 435: 53 Ind App 84 (P C).)]

[2] A sues B and C making the claim against them in the alternative. If a decree is made against B alone and on B's appeal the decree against him is reversed the Appellate Court has power under this rule to pass a decree against C. If the Appellate Court fails to pass such a decree, the High Court can on second appeal by A pass a decree against C. (Vol. 30) 1943 All 342 (344) (DB) ((Vol. 13) 1926 P C 34: 49 Mad 435: 53 Ind App 84 (P C) dist.)

[3] A sues for Rs. 1,000. The trial Court passes a decree for Rs. 600. The defendant appeals but A does not file any appeal or cross-objection. The defendant's appeal is allowed and A's suit is dismissed in its entirety. A files a second appeal. He cannot contend in the second appeal that his whole suit should be decreed. The utmost he can claim is the restoration of the trial Court's decree. (Vol. 3) 1916 P C 148 (149): 44 Cal 1 (P C).

[See also (Vol. 5) 1918 Lah 374 (375).]

[But see (Vol. 4) 1917 Oudh 399 (400) * (Vol. 13) 1926 Rang 172 (175): 4 Rang 110 * ('09) (1909) Pun L R No. 83 p. 308 (310, 311). (Note—these cases are not good law.)]

[4] Where the omission to grant a relief is due to a mere slip of the pen, it can be decreed on further appeal, though no appeal was preferred against the decree of the first Court. ('09) 1909 Pun L R No. 83 p. 308 (311).

[5] The mere fact that a decree might have been passed in favour of a party to the suit who was not impleaded as a party to the appeal does not make him constructively a party to the appeal so as to enable him to file a second appeal against the decree in the appeal. ('12 16 Ind Cas 693 (694) (DB) (Mad) (A's suit decreed against B and C—B alone appeals and A's suit is dismissed—A appeals without impleading C—Case remanded and decree passed by lower Appellate Court in favour of A—Appeal by C is incompetent.)

[6] No appeal lies against an order of remand passed not under O. 41 R. 23, but under the present rule. (Vol. 16) 1929 Nag 63 (63): 26 Nag L R 44.

34. Where the appeal is heard by more Judges than one, any Judge dissenting from the Dissent to be judgment of the Court shall state in writing the decision or order which he thinks should be passed on the appeal, and he may state his reasons for the same.

DECREE IN APPEAL.

Date and contents of decree. a 35. (1) The decree of the Appellate Court shall bear date the day on which the judgment was pronounced.

O. 41 R. 33 (contd.)

[7] The refusal to take action under R. 33 in the exercise of its discretion by a lower Appellate Court is not an error of law within S. 100 so as to sustain a second appeal. (Vol. 17) 1930 Mad 707 (707).

[See also (Vol. 23) 1941 Oudh 56 (53): 16 Luck 113. (It was doubted whether in second appeal, this rule could be applied, when the point as to its applicability, was not raised in the lower Appellate Court) * (Vol. 20) 1933 All 113 (114) (DB).]

[8] Though S. 100 only allows a second appeal on the ground that the decree of lower Court is vitiated in one of the ways specified therein and though S. 101 provides that a second appeal will not lie on any other ground, these two provisions must be read with this rule so that the High Court in second appeal must be held to be competent to pass such decree or order as the circumstances of the case may require although as at the date of the decree of the lower Court, its decree was not open to any objection and the necessity of passing a decree or order to a different effect has arisen owing to subsequent happenings. (Vol. 27) 1940 Pat 300 (302) (DB).

17. Privy Council appeal.—[1] A sues B and C. The claim is decreed against B but dismissed against C. B appeals to the High Court and appeal is allowed. A appeals to the Privy Council impleading both B and C. His appeal against C is not maintainable because it amounts to a direct appeal to the Privy Council from the decree of the trial Court. (Vol. 13) 1926 P C 34 (35): 49 Mad 435: 53 Ind App 84 (P C).

18. Revision.—[1] Where an Appellate Court refuses to interfere in favour of a respondent on the ground that it has no jurisdiction to do so in the absence of cross-objections, it fails to exercise a jurisdiction vested in it by law within S. 115. ('13) 1913 Mad WN 1024 (1024).

[2] No revision lies against an interlocutory order refusing to add certain persons as parties to the appeal. (Vol. 3) 1916 Mad 1219 (1220).

19. Letters Patent appeal.—[1] Suit on a pronote against R or L in the alternative, decreed against R and dismissed against L.—In appeal by R, suit dismissed against R but decreed against L, although L was not impleaded in appeal as respondent, within limitation.—In second appeal decree in R's favour maintained but decree against L reversed but certificate for Letter Patent Appeal given.—Letters Patent Bench holding that reversal of decree against L was correct but that decree should have been passed against R.—Contention that certificate for Letters Patent Appeal was only given with reference to question whether the reversal of decree against L in second appeal was correct and that therefore if the Letters Patent Bench held it was correct it could not pass decree against R.—Contention overruled and final Court's decree against R restored. (Vol. 28) 1941 Rang 63 (65): 1940 Rang L R 693 (DB).

ORDER 41 RULE 35—Note 1.

[1] The date of the decree for purposes of limitation for filing a second appeal is the date on which the judgment is delivered. ('90) 12 All 79 (81) (SB).

[2] Except when the Appellate Court confirms without variation the decree of the original Court, the decree of the Appellate Court must be drawn up in such a form that it can be executed without reference to the decree of the original Court. (Vol. 22) 1935 Rang 139 (140).

[3] Appellate decree should embody so much of lower Court's decree as it is intended to affirm, so as to avoid necessity of reference to superseded decree. (Vol. 7) 1920 Low Bur 118 (121): 10 Low Bur Rul 280 * ('91) 13 All 343 (344, 345) (DB).

[4] Decree not specifying sum due to appellant.—But reference to judgment and decree of lower Court made.—Decree held was capable of execution, defect in decree being due to mistake of officers of Court. [5] As to construction of appellate decrees, see the following cases. ('70) 13 Suth W R 23 (23, 24) (DB) * ('12) 5 Sind L R 254 (256) (DB).]

[But compare ('71) 15 Suth W R 530 (530) (DB).]

[6] A party cannot recover any sum as costs of the appeal if it is not entered in the decree. The amount or particulars of costs incurred in the lower Court need not be specified in the appellate decree and the same may be ascertained from the lower Court's decree. ('74) 21 Suth W R 74 (74, 75) (DB) * ('72) 18 Suth W R 286 (286) (DB) * ('10) 11 Cal L Jour 207 (208, 209) (DB).

[7] The Appellate Court must finally determine by which of the parties the costs are to be paid; it cannot declare that the costs shall be borne by the party who will be unsuccessful in a suit to be hereafter brought. ('75) 23 Suth W R 89 (90) (DB).

[8] The Appellate Court can deprive a successful party of his costs for sufficient reasons. (1880) 8 Moo Ind App 170 (192) (P C).

(2) The decree shall contain the number of the appeal, the names and descriptions of the appellant and respondent, and a clear specification of the relief granted or other adjudication made.

(3) The decree shall also state the amount of costs incurred in the appeal, and by whom, or out of what property, and in what proportions such costs and the costs in the suit are to be paid.

(4) The decree shall be signed and dated by the Judge or Judges who passed it :

Judge dissenting from judgment need not sign decree. Provided that where there are more Judges than one and there is a difference of opinion among them, it shall not be necessary for any Judge dissenting from the judgment of the Court to sign the decree.

[1882—S. 579; 1877—S. 579; 1859—S. 360.]

[a] This rule does not apply to the Chief Court of Oudh in the exercise of its appellate jurisdiction: See the Oudh Courts Act, 1925 (U. P. Act 4 [IV] of 1925); Section 16 (3).

ORDERS 41A and 41B—MADRAS

After Order 41 insert the following as Orders 41A and 41B :

"ORDER XLIA.

Appeals to the High Court from Original Decrees of Subordinate Courts.

R. 1. The rules contained in order 41 shall apply to appeals in the High Court of Judicature at Madras with the modifications contained in this order.

R. 2. (1) The memorandum of appeal shall be accompanied by twelve printed copies of the judgment, one of such copies being a certified copy, the prescribed fees for service of notice of appeal and the receipt of the accountant of the Court for the sum prescribed by the rules of Court.

(2) Notwithstanding anything contained in R. 22 of O. 41 the period prescribed for entry of appearance by the respondent and filing by him of memorandum of cross-objections, if any, shall unless otherwise ordered, be thirty days from the service on notice upon him.

[R. 2 is Mandatory—Appellant must produce requisite number of printed copies of judgment or order appealed against—Typed copy of lower Court's order is insufficient.]

R. 3. (1) If the respondent intends to appear and defend the appeal he shall, within the period specified in the notice of appeal, enter an appearance by filing in Court a memorandum of appearance.

(2) If a respondent fails to enter an appearance within the time and in the manner provided by the sub-rule above, he shall not be allowed to translate or print any part of the record ;

Provided that a respondent may apply by petition for further time, and the Court may thereupon make such order as it thinks fit; the application shall be supported by evidence to be given on affidavit as to the reason for the applicant's default, and notice thereof shall be given to the appellant and all parties who have entered an appearance. Unless otherwise ordered the applicant shall pay the costs of all parties appearing upon the application.

R. 4. (1) The memorandum of appeal and the memorandum of appearance shall state an address for service within the City of Madras at which service of any notice, order or process may be made on the party filing such memorandum.

(2) If a party appears in person, the address for service may be within the local limits of the jurisdiction of the Court from whose decree the appeal is preferred.

Provided that if such party subsequently appears by a pleader he shall state in the vakalat an address for service within the City of Madras, and shall give notice thereof to each party who has appeared.

(3) If a party appears by a pleader, his address for service shall be that of his pleader, and all notices to the party shall be served on his pleader at that address.

R. 5. The Court may direct that service of a notice of appeal or other notice or process shall be made by sending the same in a registered cover prepaid for acknowledgment and addressed to the address for service of the party to be served which has been filed by him in the lower Court: Provided that, after a party has given notice of an address for service in accordance with Rule 4, service of any notice or process shall be made at such address.

O. 41A R. 2 (MADRAS)—Note 1.

[1] Production of printed copies of judgment can be dispensed with. (Vol. 33) 1946 Mad 163 (164),

[But see (Vol. 32) 1945 Mad 353 (354).]

R. 6. All notices and processes, other than a notice of appeal, shall be sufficiently served if left by a party or his pleader, or by a person employed by the pleader, or by an officer of the Court between the hours of 11 A.M. and 5 P. M. at the address for service of the party to be served.

R. 7. Notices which may be served by a party or his pleader under Rule 6, or which are sent from the office of the Registrar may, unless the Court otherwise directs, be sent by registered post; and the time at which the notice so posted would be delivered in the ordinary course of post shall be considered as the time of service thereof and the posting thereof shall be a sufficient service.

R. 8. If there are several respondents, and all do not appear by the same pleader, they shall give notice of appearance to such of the other respondents as appear separately.

R. 9. A list of all cases in which notice is to be issued to the respondent shall be affixed to the Court notice board after the case has been registered.

R. 10. (1) If upon a case being called on for hearing by the Court, it appears that the record has not been translated and printed in accordance with the rules of the Court, the Court may hear the appeal or dismiss it, or may adjourn the hearing and direct the party in default to pay costs, or may make such order as it thinks fit:

(2) If the Court proceeds to hear the appeal, it may refuse to read or refer to any part of the record which is not included in the printed papers.

R. 11. When costs are awarded, unless the Court otherwise orders, the costs of a party appearing upon any application before the Registrar or the Court shall be Rs. 15, and the cost of appearing when the appeal is in the daily cause list for final hearing and is adjourned shall be Rs. 30. At the request of any party the Registrar shall cause the order to be drawn up and the said costs to be inserted therein.

Memorandum of Objections.

R. 12. (1) If the acknowledgment mentioned in R. 22 (3) of O. 41 is not filed, the respondent shall together with the memorandum of objections file so many copies thereof as there are parties affected thereby.

(2) The prescribed fees for service shall be presented together with the memorandum to the Registrar.

R. 13. If any party or the pleader of any party to whom a memorandum of objections has been tendered has refused or neglected for three days from the date of tender to give the acknowledgment mentioned in R. 22 (3) of O. 41, the respondent may file an affidavit stating the facts and the Registrar may dispense with service of the copies mentioned in Rule 12(1).

R. 14. Rule 31 of Order 41 shall not apply to the High Court. If judgment is given orally a shorthand note thereof shall be taken by an officer of the Court and a transcript made by him shall be signed or initialled by the Judge or by the Judges concurring therein after making such corrections as may be considered necessary.

ORDER XLI B.

Letters Patent Appeals.

R. 1. The Rules of Order 41A shall apply, so far as may be, to appeals to the High Court of Madras under Clause 15 of the Letters Patent of the said Court:

Provided that it shall not be necessary to file copies of the judgment and decree appealed from.

R. 2. Notice of the appeal shall be given in manner prescribed by O. 41A, R. 6, or if the party to be served has appeared in person, in manner prescribed by Rule 5 of the said Order."

ORDER 43 RULE 1—SYNOPSIS.

- 1. Appeals from orders.
- 2. Clause (a) : Order returning plaint for presentation to the proper Court.
- 3. Clause (c) : Order rejecting application under Order 9 Rule 9 to set aside dismissal of suit.
- 4. Clause (d) : Order rejecting application for setting aside ex parte decree.
- 5. Clause (m) : Order recording or refusing to record compromise.
- 6. Clause (u) : Order of remand under Order 41 Rule 23.
- 7. Clause (v) : Order refusing grant of certificate under Order 45 Rule 6.

- (q) an order under rule 2, rule 3 or rule 6 of Order XXXVIII ;
- (r) an order under rule 1, rule 2, rule 4 or rule 10 of Order XXXIX ;
- (s) an order under rule 1 or rule 4 of Order XL ;
- (t) an order of refusal under rule 19 of Order XLI to re-admit, or under rule 21 of Order XLI to re-hear, an appeal ;
- (u) an order under rule 23 of Order XLI remanding a case, where an appeal would lie from the decree of the Appellate Court ;

[1882—S. 588 ; 1877—S. 588 ; 1859—Ss. 36, 94, 363, 365. See sections 104 to 106.]

[a] Substituted by the Transfer of Property (Amendment) Supplementary Act, 1930, 16 [XVI] of 1930), Section 2 for "under Rule 3 or or Rule 8."

OBJECTS AND REASONS.

"Rule 1 (o).—The extension of time for the payment of mortgage-money is obviously of much greater moment to the mortgagor than to the mortgagee. Therefore the Committee have provided for an appeal from an order refusing, but not from an order granting, an extension of time."—S.O.R.

"Rule 1.—We suggest that there should be appeals from orders pronouncing judgment against a party under Or. VIII R 10. Or. X, R. 4 and Or. XVI R. 20. These orders are under the present law appealable as decrees, but having regard to the definition of a decree in the Code they would no longer be appealable in that way, and we think it necessary to make them appealable as orders. We have also given an appeal against an order made under rule 21 of Order XI,"—S.C.R.

PROVINCIAL AMENDMENTS.

Rules 2 and 3—MADRAS.

(1) Substitute the following for Rule 2:

"R. 2. The Rules of Order 41 and of Order 41A shall apply, so far as may be, to appeals from the orders specified in Rule 1 and other orders of any Civil Court from which an appeal to the High Court is allowed under any provision of law:

Provided that in the case of appeals against interlocutory orders made prior to decree, the Court which passed the order appealed from shall not send the records of the case unless an order has been made for stay of further proceedings in that Court."

(2) Add the following as rule 3:

Appeals from "R. 3. (1) The provisions of Order 42 shall apply, so far as may be, to appeals from Appellate orders. appellate orders.

(2) A memorandum of appeal from an appellate order shall be accompanied by a certified copy of the judgment and of the order of the Court of first instance, and by a certified copy of the judgment and of the order of the Appellate Court.

(3) If any ground of appeal is based upon the construction of a document, a printed or typewritten copy of such document shall be presented with the memorandum of appeal:

Provided that, if such document is not in the English language and the appellant appears by a pleader, an English translation of the document certified by the pleader to be a correct translation shall be presented."

[P. Dis. No. 788 of 1932.]

Rule 3—OUDH.

Add the following as Rule 3:

"R. 3. In every appeal under Rule 1, in every miscellaneous case, and in every suit dismissed for default, a formal order shall be drawn up stating clearly the determination of the appeal or case, the costs incurred and the parties, if any, by whom such costs are to be paid."

ORDER XLIV.

PAUPER APPEALS.

1. Any person entitled to prefer an appeal, who is unable to pay the fee required for the Who may appeal memorandum of appeal, may present an application accompanied by a memorandum of appeal, and may be allowed to appeal as a pauper, subject, in all matters, including the presentation of such application, to the provisions relating to suits by paupers, in so far as those provisions are applicable:

ORDER 44 RULE 1—Synopsis.

1. "Person." Meaning of. See Notes on Order 38 Rule 1.

2. "Entitled to prefer an appeal."

Procedure on application for admission of appeal.— Provided that the Court shall reject the application unless, upon a perusal thereof and of the judgment and decree appealed from, it sees reason to think that the decree is contrary to law or to some usage having the force of law, or is otherwise erroneous or unjust.

[1882—S. 592; 1877—S. 592; 1859—Ss. 369, 370.]

OBJECTS AND REASONS.

"Words [namely, 'including the presentation of such application'] have been added to avoid the conclusion at which the Madras High Court has recently arrived (ILR 26 Madras 369)."—S.O.R.

PROVINCIAL AMENDMENT.

OUDH

Add another proviso as follows :

"Provided further that no application under this rule shall be allowed unless a notice of the application has been given to the proposed respondents."

O. 44 R. 1 (contd.)

3. "Who is unable to pay the fee required."
4. Application accompanied by memorandum of appeal.
5. Subject to provisions relating to suits by paupers
3. In all matters including the presentation of such application.
7. Proviso to the rule.
8. Power to grant time for payment of court-fee.
9. Effect of allowing application for leave to appeal as pauper.
10. Power to order security for costs. See Order 41 Rule 10.
11. Cross-objection or cross-appeal by a pauper respondent. See Notes on Order 41 Rule 22.
12. Appeal.
13. Letters Patent appeal.
14. Privy Council appeal.

1. "Person," Meaning of.—See Notes on Order 33 Rule 1.

2 "Entitled to prefer an appeal."—[1] Order deciding certain preliminary issues and not amounting to decree—Application for leave to appeal in forma pauperis not maintainable as the order is not open to appeal. (Vol. 23) 1936 Lah 406 (406) (DB).

[2] The Court will not approve of a practice whereby one of the defendants who is clearly possessed of assets abstains from joining in an appeal in order that the other defendants may prosecute the appeal as paupers. Such conduct will be sufficient to deprive the non-appealing defendant of his costs if the decree is reversed or varied in his favour also. (Vol. 30) 1943 Mad 263 (265).

3. "Who is unable to pay the fee required."—[1] See Notes on Order 33 Rule 1.

4. Application accompanied by a memorandum of appeal.—[1] Unlike the plaint in a pauper suit which forms an integral portion of the pauper application itself, the application for leave to appeal as a pauper is a distinct document from the memorandum of appeal accompanying the application. The memorandum of appeal itself cannot be treated as an application for leave to appeal as a pauper. (Vol. 2) 1915 All 310 (311) (DB).

[2] Effect of proviso to rule is to make it subject to provisions of O. 41 R. 1—Application for leave to appeal not accompanied by copy of decree and judgment is not valid. (Vol. 23) 1936 Mad 600 (602).

5. Subject to provisions relating to suits by paupers.—[1] Granting of leave to appeal as a pauper is subject to provisions of O. 33. Thus an appellant is not entitled to leave.

(a) If he has entered into an agreement with reference to subject matter of appeal ('30) 122 Ind Cas 831 (831) (DB) (Pat) * ('07) 30 Mad 547 (548) (DB).

(b) If he has not stated all his assets with utmost good faith. (Vol. 17) 1930 Pat 368 (369) (DB).

(c) If he has transferred all his interest in subject-matter of suit before filing of his application. (Vol. 23) 1936 Mad 665 (665).

[2] The application for leave to appeal as a pauper should be verified at its foot, as required by O. 33 R. 2. ('68) 11 Oudh Cas 19 (20); (1895) All W N 34 followed).

[3] Application for leave not verified but accompanied by affidavit by which the statements in application are stated to be true—No concealment in application—Rule is sufficiently complied with. (Vol. 10) 1923 Lah 684 (684).

[See also (Vol. 24) (1937) Nag 108 (110); I L R (1938) Nag 245 (Court should allow applicant a chance to correct defect in verification before rejecting application).

[4] Application for leave without list of properties is not invalid—If can be supplied even after limitation period. ('99) 1899 Pun Re No 19, page 114 (116) (DB).

6. In all matters including the presentation of such application.—[1] A pardanashin lady being exempted from personal appearance under S. 132 of the Code need not present the application to appeal in forma pauperis in person. [6] A mere issue of a notice to the respondent under Appendix G, Form No. 11 is no ground for holding that the Court is satisfied as to the conditions laid down in the proviso, and the respondent appearing in answer to the notice may be allowed to urge that the application should be rejected on the ground that the conditions of the proviso have not been satisfied. [7] The mere fact that notice has been issued to the opposite party and the Government Advocate upon an application for leave to appeal as a pauper does not preclude the Court from afterwards rejecting the application on the ground of the decree of the lower Court not being contrary to law or unjust as required by the proviso. ORDER XLV.

APPEALS TO THE KING IN COUNCIL.

"Decree" defined.

1. In this Order, unless there is something repugnant in the subject or context, the expression "decree" shall include a final order.

[1882—S. 594; 1877—S. 584; See Ss. 109 to 112.]

Application to Court whose decree complained of.

2. Whoever desires to appeal to His Majesty in Council shall apply by petition to the Court whose decree is complained of.

[1882—S. 598; 1877—S. 598.]

3. (1) Every petition shall state the grounds of appeal and pray for a certificate either as to that, as regards amount or value and nature, the case fulfils the requirements of S. 110, or that it is otherwise a fit one for appeal to His Majesty in Council.

(2) Upon receipt of such petition, the Court shall direct notice to be served on the opposite party to show cause why the said certificate should not be granted.

[1882—S. 600; 1877—S. 600; See S. 110.]

PROVINCIAL AMENDMENT.

(1) Substitute the following for the existing sub-rule (2):

"(2) Upon receipt of such petition, the Court, after sending for the record, and after fixing a day for hearing the applicant or his pleader and hearing him accordingly if he appears on that day, may dismiss the petition."

(2) Add the following as sub-rule (3):

"(3) Unless the Court dismisses the petition under sub-rule (2) it shall direct notice to be served on the opposite party to show cause why the said certificate should not be granted." [29-6-1943.]

[2] Where A appeals to the High Court making B a party to the appeal and succeeds in the appeal, B is entitled to present a petition for leave to appeal to the Privy Council. (Vol. 12) 1925 Pat 712 (712) (DB). (High Court cannot question locus standi of applicant.)

[3] See Notes under Order 44 Rule 1.

[4] An order for leave to appeal in forma pauperis takes effect from its date and has no effect whatever on costs incurred before that date. (Vol. 1) 1914 P C 227 (227) (P.C.). (Costs of petition for special leave to appeal in forma pauperis cannot be taxed on the pauper scale.)

[5] An application for leave to appeal to the Privy Council must be filed within ninety days of the date of the decree or order appealed from, under Art. 179 of Limitation Act, 1908. See notes on Act 179, Limitation Act, 1908.

7. Form. See Appendix G, Form No. 12.

1. Scope of the rule.—[1] This rule must be read with S. 109, cl. (c) and S. 110.

[2] A party wishing to file an appeal to His Majesty in Council should file a petition to the High Court under this rule stating the grounds of appeal and praying for the issue of a certificate that the case fulfils the requirements of S. 110 or is "otherwise fit" for appeal.

4. For the purposes of pecuniary valuation, suits involving substantially the same questions for determination and decided by the same judgment may be consolidated. (See also (Vol. 8) 1921 Pat 134 (135) (DB) (Defendant not taking any part in defending the suit or appeal held not entitled to leave separately.)

[3] This rule does not restrict the power or prerogative of the Judicial Committee to grant special leave to appeal. (See ('97) 19 All 95 (97); 23 Ind App 167 (PC). (Special leave granted without security.) * ('07) 30 Mad 135 (138); 34 Ind App 93 (PC) (Special leave granted as the appeal raised questions of law of general importance touching religious bodies in India in regard to public processions.)

[4] See Notes on S. 112.

[5] Certificate under this rule cannot be granted after there has been a final adjudication in the matter by the Judicial Committee. (Vol. 12) 1925 PC 174 (175) (PC) (Reversing (Vol. 11) 1924 Lah 225; 4 Lah 445.)

2. Naming of respondents in petition.—[1] An application for leave to appeal to the Privy Council from an order of winding up of a company is bad if it does not name any one as the respondent to the appeal. (Vol. 23) 1936 Lah 322 (324) (FB). (Per Young, C. J., and Addison, J.: Tek Chand, J., Contra.)

3. Certificate as to value or fitness.—See Notes on Sections 109 and 110.

4. Certificate as to fitness.—[1] It is the certificate granting leave to appeal and not the order for such certificate, which the Judicial Committee will consider and act upon; and unless the certificate upon which leave to appeal is based is in such a form as to justify that leave, it will be held not to have been properly given. ('01) 23 All 415 (418); 28 Ind App 182 (PC).

[2] Where an appeal is certified to be otherwise fit, it is of the utmost importance that the certificate should, on the face of it, show clearly the grounds upon which it is based. There should be an indication of the nature of the question that is involved in the appeal and that the discretion conferred by S. 109, cl. (c) was invoked or was exercised. (Vol. 8) 1921 PC 25 (26); 44 Mad 293; 48 Ind App 31 (PC).

[See also (Vol. 8) 1921 PC 128 (128); 48 Ind App 376 (PC).]

[3] Even if the High Court refuses a certificate, it is desirable that the reasons for such refusal should be stated. ('06) 29 Mad 194 (195); 33 Ind App 67 (PC).

[4] The respondent can raise a preliminary objection before the Judicial Committee on the ground that the order granting leave is ultra vires and that hence the appeal is not maintainable. ('75) 2 Ind App. 205 (206) (PC).

[5] An objection as to valuation should be taken at the earliest possible opportunity. ('69) 13 Moo Ind App 85 (95) (PC). (Should take such objection when petition for leave to appeal is heard.)

[6] The Privy Council will not interfere with any question of valuation, unless it can be shown that some item has improperly been made the subject of valuation or excluded therefrom, or that there is some fundamental principle affecting the valuation which renders it unsound. (Vol. 8) 1921 PC 50 (52); 48 Cal 110; 47 Ind App 255 (PC). * (Vol. 3) 1916 PC 18 (20); 38 All 488; 43 Ind App 187 (PC).

[See also (Vol. 9) 1922 PC 257 (258); 41 Mad 475; 49 Ind App 211 (PC) (Order of Council dated 9-2-1920 showing certificate not conclusive as to valuation.)

5. Ex parte grant of leave to appeal.—[1] An ex parte order granting leave to appeal is liable to be rescinded if it is obtained by any misrepresentation or concealment of fact which ought to have been disclosed. ('82) 4 All 500 (508); 9 Ind App 70 (PC) * (1861) 8 Moo Ind App 193 (195) (PC) * (1854) 6 Moo Ind App 207 (208, 209) (PC) * ('75) 2 Ind App 71 (81) (PC).

6. Non-Prosecution of petition.—[1] The petition is liable to be struck off for default if the applicant does not prosecute it diligently. ('86) 12 Cal 658 (660) * ('97) 2 Cal W N (xlv) (xlv) (PC). (In this case security was not given.) ('76) 1 Cal 142 (143).

[But see ('66) 6 Suth W R Misc 121 (121)]

[3] The Privy Council may also dismiss an appeal presented to it for want of prosecution where no further proceedings are taken in the High Court, as required by the rules. (1857) 6 Moo Ind App 346 (347) (PC).

6-a. Appeal, Revision and Review.—[1] No appeal lies to the High Court from an order of a District Court granting leave to appeal to the Privy Council in an appeal under S. 75 of the Provincial Insolvency Act. (Vol. 24) 1937 Mad 930 (936) (DB).

[3] High Court can interfere in revision where the subordinate Court has acted without jurisdiction in passing an order granting or refusing a certificate under this order (Vol. 24) 1937 Mad 930 (937) (DB).

[4] Order granting or refusing leave can be reviewed. ('84) 16 Cal 292n (294n) (DB). (Order granting leave). * ('12) 39 Cal 1037 (1040) (DB) (Order refusing leave).

4. Costs.

1. Consolidation of Suits.—[1] The object of the rule is that where there are appeals from one judgement

5. In the event of any dispute arising between the parties as to the amount or value of the Remission of dispute subject-matter of the suit in the Court of first instance, or as to the amount to Court of first instance, or value of the subject-matter in dispute on appeal to His Majesty in Council, the Court to which a petition for a certificate is made under rule 2 may, if it thinks fit, refer such dispute for report to the Court of first instance, which last-mentioned Court shall proceed to determine such amount or value and shall return its report together with the evidence to the Court by which the reference was made.

involving substantially the same questions for determination before the Privy Council they may be consolidated if, in the aggregate, the value of the appeals amounts to the appealable minimum. (Vol. 5) 1918 Pat 196 (196, 197) : 3 Pat L Jour 446 (DB) * (Vol. 11) 13 Cal L Jour 503 (504) (DB) * (Vol. 10) 1923 Mad 602 (602, 603) (DB) (No consolidation made as there were two separate judgments) * (Vol. 31) 1944 Mad 269 (270) ; I L R (1944) Mad 890).

[2] The mere fact that there is a common question in two suits is not sufficient to consolidate them if there are other questions which are not common. (Vol. 26) 1939 Mad 734 (735) : I L R (1939) Mad 593 (DB).

[See also (Vol. 24) 1937 Pesh 61 (62) (DB).]

[3] In interpreting the words "same judgement," the spirit of the rule should be observed and a narrow interpretation should not be given to it. (Vol. 14) 1927 Bom 19 (20) : 50 Bom 753 (DB).

[4] The suits were regarded as having been decided by the same judgement for the purposes of this rule in the following cases :—

(a) Where the judgment in one suit was merely a copy of the other. (Vol. 19) 1932 Mad 125 (126) : 55 Mad 106 (DB).

(b) Where the judgment in one suit merely referred to the judgement in the other, and, adopting its reasons a decree was accordingly passed. (Vol. 14) 1927 Bom 19 (20) : 50 Bom 753 (DB).

(c) Where the evidence in the two suits was, at the request of the parties, considered as a whole, and the Court came to a decision on the whole of the evidence in favour of a party, it was held that it was a proper case to which the procedure sanctioned by this rule should be applied. (Vol. 8) 1921 All 270 (270) : 43 All 223 (DB).

(d) Two suits involving substantially same questions disposed of by common judgement—Appeals therefrom also disposed of by common judgement—Held consolidation should be allowed. (Vol. 33) 1946 Mad 250 (250, 251) 1 L R (1946) Mad 672.

[5] Same judgment affirming lower Court's judgment in part relating to one defendant and modifying it in part relating to another defendant.—No substantial question of law involved in former part and in regard to the latter part appealable value less than Rs. 10,000—Both defendants applied jointly for leave to appeal. Held that leave should be refused. (Vol. 10) 1923 Nag 198 (199) (DB).

[6] Consolidation cannot be ordered in respect of deposit of printing charges or for furnishing security for costs. (Vol. 33) 1946 Mad 250 (250, 251) : 1 L R (1946) Mad 672.]

[7] The Court is not bound to consolidate suits in every case in which the conditions mentioned in the rule may be present. (Vol. 26) 1939 Mad 734 (735) : I L R (1939) Mad 593 (DB).

[8] The rule does not apply where two or more appeals are filed in the same suit and disposed of by the same judgment. But where the appeals involve substantially the same questions for determination, the High Court can certify the case to be a fit one for appeal under Cl (c) of S. 109 although the requirements of S. 110 as to pecuniary value may not be satisfied. (Vol. 23) 1936 All 832 (833) : I L R (1937) All 105 (DB). (5 Ind Cas 583 followed : (Vol. 6) 1919 Mad 275 : 42 Mad 228 distinguished).

[9] The rule applies only to appeals to the King in Council and not to appeals to the High Court. (Vol. 10) 1910 Pun LR 17 P 41 (42).

2. Inherent power to Consolidate.—[1] The rule does not limit the inherent power of the High Court to consolidate appeals to the Privy Council for the purpose of security for the costs and for saving expenses. (Vol. 5) 1918 Pat 196 (197) : 3 Pat L Jour 446 (DB).

[2] Rule 7 of the Schedule to the Rules of the Indian Order in Council (9th February 1920) regarding appeals to the Privy Council invests the High Court with power to allow consolidation of appeals for the purpose of giving security in cases not falling directly within the scope of O. 45 R. 4. (Vol. 25) 1938 Lah 207 (208) (DB). (Note.—This case is overruled in (Vol. 29) 1942 Lah 147 : I L R (1942) Lah 447 (FB) on another point).

[3] Ordinarily inherent powers exist as regards matter, relating exclusively to the proceedings in Court which exercised such powers (Vol. 23) 1936 All 832 (833) : I L R (1937) All 105 (DB).

(4) Such power cannot be exercised for settling pecuniary valuation when the rule forbids it in cases governed by different judgment. (Vol. 8) 1921 Pat 97 (98) : 6 Pat L Jour 97 (DB).

3. "Judgment," meaning of.—[1] The word "Judgment" refers to the judgment appealed against and not the judgment of the Court below. (Vol. 19) 1932 Mad 125 (126) : 55 Mad 106 (DB).

[2] Common judgment in two suits in trial Court—No consolidation of suits unless there is a common judgment in the High Court also. (Vol. 8) 1921 Pat 97 (98) : 6 Pat L Jour 97 (DB).

4 Costs.—[1] The effect of an order of consolidation of several appeals under this rule is to make them a single appeal, and if costs are awarded against the respondents, they are jointly and severally liable for the whole costs. (Vol. 10) 1923 Pat 215 (216) (DB).

[2] As to security for costs in consolidated appeals, see Notes on Rule 7.

ORDER 45 ULTER 5—Note 1.

[1] A remand should not be made under this rule when an issue as to valuation was raised and decided in the trial Court and the parties acquiesced in the finding on that issue. (Vol. 5) 1918 Bom 224 (225) : 42 Bom 609 (DB) * (Vol. 14) 1927 Cal 413 (419) (DB) * (Vol. 8) 1921 Pat 97 (98) : 6 Pat L Jour 97 (DB).

Effect of refusal of certificate.

6. Where such certificate is refused, the petition shall be dismissed.

[1882—S. 601; 1877—S. 601.]

Security and deposit required on grant of certificate.

7. (1) Where the certificate is granted, the applicant shall, within a[ninety days or such further period, not exceeding sixty days, as the Court may upon cause shown allow] from the date of the decree complained of, or within six weeks from the date of the grant of the certificate, whichever is the later date,—

(a) furnish security ^b[in cash or in Government securities] for the cost of the respondent, and

(b) deposit the amount required to defray the expense of translating, transcribing, indexing and transmitting to His Majesty in Council a correct copy of the whole record of the suit, except—

(1) formal documents directed to be excluded by any Order of His Majesty in Council in force for the time being;

(2) papers which the parties agree to exclude;

(3) accounts, or portions of accounts, which the officer empowered by the Court for that purpose considers unnecessary, and which the parties have not specifically asked to be included; and

(4) such other documents as the High Court may direct to be excluded:

^b[Provided that the Court at the time of granting the certificate may, after hearing any opposite party who appears, order on the ground of special hardship that some other form of security may be furnished:]

Provided, further, that no adjournment shall be granted to an opposite party to contest the nature of such security.]

(2) Where the applicant prefers to print in India the copy of the record, except as aforesaid, he shall also within the time mentioned in sub-rule (1) deposit the amount required to defray the expense of printing such copy.

[1882—S. 602.]

[a] Substituted by the Indian Limitation and Code of Civil Procedure (Amendment) Act 1920 (26 [XXVI] of 1920), s. 3 for "six months."

[2] The Court to which the remand is made should itself carry out the investigation and cannot remit it to some other officer. (Vol. 3) 1916 Cal 102 (102): 43 Cal 225 (DB).

[3] The Court has power to hold a local enquiry for the purpose of determining the value of the subject-matter. (Vol. 12) 1925 Cal 414 (415) (DB) (Such a power is discretionary).

[4] Full information with reference to the proceedings under this rule should be included in the record to be sent to the Privy Council. (Vol. 20) 1933 PC 232 (232): 12 Pat 679: 60 Ind App 366 (PC).

[5] Petition by creditor for adjudication of respondent as insolvent dismissed by High Court—Leave to appeal to Privy Council applied for—Question of value of subject-matter should not be referred to District Court, if respondent will be required to file schedule of his assets. (Vol. 21) 1934 Rang 292 (295): 12 Rang 355 (DB).

ORDER 45 RULE 6—Note 1.

[1] The High Courts should in refusing a certificate for leave to appeal state the grounds on which they refused it. ('06) 29 Mad 194 (195): 33 Ind App 67 (DB).

[2] Where an application for leave to appeal is dismissed with costs, the proper Court to execute the order as to costs is the trial Court. ('07) 34 Cal 860 (862) (DB)

[See however ('81) 6 Cal 201 (203) (DB) (Held High Court can execute such order.)]

[3] An appeal lies against an order made by any Court other than a High Court refusing the grant of a certificate under this rule and the period of limitation is thirty days from the date of the order under Article 153 of the Limitation Act—See O. 43 R 1 (z).

ORDER 45 RULE 7—SYNOPSIS.

1. Scope of the Rule.
2. "Date of the decree," meaning of.
3. Security and Deposit.
4. Security in case of Consolidated Appeal.
5. Form of Security—Proviso.
6. Extension of time.
7. Record not to include unnecessary papers.
8. Delay.
9. Letters Patent Appeal.

1. Scope of the rule.—[1] This rule prescribes the course to be followed by the applicant (appellant) after the issue of a certificate as to fitness of appeal. He should "except when the Secretary of State for India in Council is the applicant."

In the first proviso to R. 7 (1) for the words "at the time of granting the certificate" substitute the words "at any time before expiry of the period for furnishing security."

13. (1) Notwithstanding the grant of a certificate for the admission of any appeal, the Powers of Court decree appealed from shall be unconditionally executed, unless the Court pending appeal. otherwise directs.

(2) The Court may, if it thinks fit, on special cause shown by any party interested in the suit, or otherwise appearing to the Court,—

(a) impound any moveable property in dispute or any part thereof, or

(b) allow the decree appealed from to be executed, taking such security from the respondent as the court thinks fit for the due performance of any order which His Majesty in Council may make on the appeal, or

(c) stay the execution of the decree appealed from, taking such security from the appellant as the Court thinks fit for the due performance of the decree appealed from, or of any order which His Majesty in Council may make on the appeal, or

(d) place any party seeking the assistance of the Court under such conditions or give such other direction respecting the subject-matter of the appeal, as it thinks fit, by the appointment of a receiver or otherwise.

[1882—S. 608 ; 1877—Section 608.]

ORDER 45 RULE 13—SYNOPSIS.

1. "Court."

2. Stay of execution, if can be ordered before the granting of certificate.

3. Taking such security from the respondent.

4. Stay of execution on taking security from the appellant—Clause (c).

5. Stay of execution in view of application for special leave.

6. Stay of execution after special leave to appeal is granted by the Privy Council.

7. Stay of execution by Privy Council.

8. Security after execution.

9. To give such other directions.

10. "By the appointment of a receiver."

11. Powers of the High Court pending appeal to the Privy Council.

12. Letters Patent appeal.

1. "Court".—[1] The word "Court" in this rule means the High Court and not the Subordinate Court of original jurisdiction. A Subordinate Judge or a District Judge has no jurisdiction to stay execution of a decree of the High Court. The provisions of this rule are meant entirely to govern all questions regarding the execution of the decree under appeal before the Privy Council and the provisions of O. 41 R. 6 do not apply thereto. (Vol. 4) 1917 Pat 85 (86) : 3 Pat L. Jour 40 (DB) * (Vol. 12) 1925 Rang 254 (255) : 3 Rang 158 (DB) * ('69) 5 Mad HCR 98 (99) (DB).

2. Stay of execution, if can be ordered before the granting of certificate.—[1] Under the old Code on the basis of the words "Court admitting the appeal" in para 1 of the corresponding S. 608 which have now been omitted it was held that an application for stay of execution could not be granted before the appeal in the Privy Council was finally admitted. ('90) 1890 All WN 92 (92) * ('01) 5 Cal WN 562 (568) [DB] * ('71) 16 Suth WR 289 (289) (DB) * ('10) 20 Mad L. Jour 140 (141) (DB).

[But see ('95) 19 Bom 10 (11, 12) (DB). (High Court could stay execution of its decree although the appeal had not yet been admitted).]

[2] The omission of the words "admitting the appeal" in this rule does not affect its construction and even now no stay can be ordered under this rule before the certificate is granted. ('12) 6 Sind L R 86 (87) (DB).

[3] The High Court has inherent power to stay execution in appropriate cases even before the certificate is granted. (Vol. 12) 1925 Sind 216 (217) (DB). (But inherent power is to be used sparingly.) * ('13) 40 Cal 955 (961, 963, 965) (DB). (Stay under inherent power granted in a case where application for special leave is pending.)

3. Taking such security from the respondent.—[1] Under cl. (b) of the rule the Court may allow execution of the decree directing the respondent to furnish security for the due performance of any order which the Judicial Committee may make on appeal. (Vol. 12) 1915 Lah 270 (271) (DB).

[2] The object of the security is to indemnify the appellant for any loss that may be occasioned by the execution being taken out. ('70) 14 Suth WR 410 (411) (DB).

[3] Where the High Court orders execution to proceed on the decree-holder furnishing security and the latter does not do so, the order operates in fact as a stay of execution. The failure of the respondent decree-holder to give security will not therefore deprive him of the benefit of S. 15 Limitation Act so as to bar a fresh application for execution after the Privy Council appeal is dismissed. (Vol. 7) 1920 Pat 354 (356) : 5 Pat L. Jour 39 (DB).

4. Stay of execution on taking security from the appellant—Clause (c).—[1] The grant of an order for stay of execution of the decree pending appeal is in the discretion of the Court and the appellant should show "special cause" for the exercise of the discretion in his favour. As a general rule, execution ought not to be stayed unless it would so upset things that in the event of the appeal being successful the status quo ante could not be restored or could be restored only with great difficulty. ('12) (1912) Pun L. R. No. 234 p. 740 (742) (DB) * ('97) 2 Cal WN lix (lix, lx) (PC). (Stay not granted as no sufficient cause was made out).

[2] The principle underlying the granting of stay of execution is that "the successful party in litigation"

O. 45 R. 13 (contd.)

i. e., the ultimately successful party is to reap the fruits of that litigation, and not obtain merely a barren success." ('01) 5 Cal WN 781 (797, 798) (SB) * ('79) 4 Cal L. Rep 125 (129) * ('70) 14 Suth W R 361 (361) (DB), (Security for future mesne profits generally taken for three years.)

[3] Proceedings between a preliminary and final decree; as for instance, in partition suits being proceedings in the suit and not in execution. The High Court has no power to stay such proceedings under this rule. The Privy Council which has seisin of the appeal can alone stay such proceedings. ('09) 9 Cal L Jour 561 (562) (SB) * (Vol. 6) 1919 All 14 (15) : 42 All 170 (DB).

[See (Vol. 21) 1934 Lah 238 (238, 239).]

[4] Proceedings in a Revenue Court to eject the defendant, instituted after obtaining possession in execution of the decree of the High Court, are not proceedings in execution of the decree within the meaning of this rule. ('22) 64 Ind Cas 152 (152) (DB) (All).

[5] Where the Court orders security to be furnished, it is advisable to specify definitely the time within which the security must be tendered, and to give such further directions as may be necessary to ensure the intention of the Court being carried out. (Vol. 7) 1920 Cal 644 (646) (SB).

[6] This clause refers only to the stay of execution of the decree appealed from. Where pending an appeal to the Privy Council from the preliminary decree in a mortgage suit, a final decree is passed and the appellant to the Privy Council applies for stay of execution of the final decree, this clause will not enable the High Court to grant the stay. But under cl. (d) of the rule the High Court can pass necessary orders in order to safeguard the rights of the applicant. (Vol. 26) 1939 Mad 50 (51) ; I L R (1939) Mad 135 (DB). (Stay granted on giving security.)

5. Stay of execution in view of application for special leave.—[1] The High Court of Calcutta has held that it has inherent power to order stay of execution of its decree in view of an application for special leave to appeal to the Judicial Committee. (Vol. 29) 1942 Cal 488 (491) ; I L R (1942) 1 Cal 67 (DB) * (Vol. 26) 1939 Cal 308 (309) (DB).

6. Stay of execution after Special leave to appeal is granted by the Privy Council.—[1] In view of the Privy Council decision in 38 Cal 335 (338) ; 38 Ind App 74 (PC) that the High Court has power to stay execution of a decree although an appeal against that decree has been admitted by special leave of the Privy Council the contrary view taken in the under mentioned earlier decisions is no longer good law. (1900) 27 Cal 1 (4) ; 26 Ind App 281 (PC). (Decision under S. 608 of the Code of 1882 which limited the power to the "Court admitting the appeal.") * ('09) 10 Cal L Jour 326 (323, 329) (DB). (Application for the appointment of a receiver) * ('10) 7 Ind Cas 188 (189) (DB) (All).

[See ('66) 6 Suth W R Misc 111 (113) (FB). (A case of restitution).]

7. Stay of execution by Privy Council.—[1] As a general rule, in appeals pending before the Privy Council an application to stay proceedings in execution ought always to be made in the first instance to the High Court which has ample power to deal with the matter according to the circumstances of the particular case, and has knowledge of the details which the Judicial Committee cannot possess on an interlocutory application. ('06) 29 Mad 379 (381) : 33 Ind App 132 (PC). (Stay granted by Privy Council.)

[2] If the High Court refuses to grant stay, the Privy Council may, if it thinks fit, order stay itself. ('95) 22 Cal 1 (8) : 21 Ind App 170 (PC).

[3] Where the High Court refused to grant stay the Privy Council can direct the appellant to apply again to the High Court with its opinion as to the advisability of granting stay. (1863) 10 Moo Ind App 196 (202), (PC) * ('87) 14 Cal 290 (295) : 14 Ind App 1 (PC).

8. Security after execution.—[1] The High Court can under sub-rule (1) direct the respondent to furnish security for the due performance of any order which may be made by His Majesty in Council, even in cases where the decree has been executed. (Vol. 13) 1926 Bom 425 (426, 427) : 50 Bom 453 (DB) (If no security is given as ordered, the Court can appoint a receiver and take the property in its own charge.) * ('96) 19 Mad 140 (142) (DB). (Such an order is not ultra vires).

[See however (1865) 2 Suth W R Misc 23 (23) (DB.)] Held, High Court has no such power under S. 4, Regulation XVI of 1797 * ('67) 8 Suth W R 144 (146) (FB) (Do) * ('66) 5 Suth W R Misc 37 (37) (DB) (Do).]

[2] But the party seeking to obtain such security must show special cause such as waste or improper dealing with the property, on the part of the respondent. ('72) 17 Suth W R 521 (521) * ('69) 12 Suth W R 296 (298) * (1857) 6 Moo Ind App 309 (329) (PC).

9. To give such other directions.—[1] High Court ordering mortgage suit decreed ex parte to be re-heard—Pending appeal to Privy Council against that order one of parties applying for stay—High Court held had power under this rule as well as inherent power to stay further proceedings in the suit. (Vol. 18) 1931 Cal 79 (80, 81) (DB).

[2] Where during the pendency of an appeal to the Privy Council from the preliminary decree in a mortgage suit, a final decree is passed in the suit and the appellant to the Privy Council applies for stay of execution of the final decree, the High Court can pass necessary orders for safeguarding the rights of the appellant. (Vol. 26) 1939 Mad 50 (51) ; I L R (1939) Mad 135 (DB).

[3] Income of property in suit accruing after decree, lying in deposit in High Court pending appeal—Order for its preservation may be passed after and before application for leave to appeal to Privy Council is filed—Such income forms part of the subject-matter of the appeal to the Privy Council. (Vol. 29) 1942 Cal 488 (491) : I L R (1942) 1 Cal 67 (DB).

10. "By the appointment of a receiver."—[1] The principles on which a receiver should be appointed under cl. (d) of sub-rule (2) are the same as those contained in O. 40. In the absence of any allegation of waste or risk of loss, no receiver ought to be appointed under this clause. ('11) 12 Ind Cas 198 (198) (Upp Bur).

[2] The High Court has power to appoint a receiver even in cases where special leave to appeal is granted by the Judicial Committee. (Vol. 7) 1920 Pat 345 (346) : 4 Pat L Jour 482 (DB).

11. Powers of the High Court pending appeal to the Privy Council.—[1] The High Court has power to amend the decree even after leave to appeal is granted

14. (1) Where at any time during the pendency of the appeal the security furnished by Increase of security either party appears inadequate, the Court may, on the application of the found inadequate. other party, require further security.

(2) In default of such further security being furnished as required by the Court,—

- (a) if the original security was furnished by the appellant, the Court may, on the application of the respondent, execute the decree appealed from as if the appellant had furnished no such security ;
- (b) if the original security was furnished by the respondent, the Court shall, so far as may be practicable, stay the further execution of the decree, and restore the parties to the position in which they respectively were when the security which appears inadequate was furnished, or give such direction respecting the subject matter of the appeal as it thinks fit.

15. (1) Whoever desires to obtain execution of any order of His Majesty in Council shall Procedure to enforce apply by petition, accompanied by a certified copy of the decree passed or orders of King in order made in appeal and sought to be executed, to the Court from which Council. the appeal to His Majesty was preferred.

(2) Such Court shall transmit the order of His Majesty in Council to the Court which passed the first decree appealed from, or to such other Court as His Majesty in Council by such order may direct, and shall (upon the application of either party) give such directions as may be required for the execution of the same ; and the Court to which the said order is so transmitted shall execute it accordingly, in the manner and according to the provisions applicable to the execution of its original decrees.

(3) When any monies expressed to be payable in British currency are payable in India under such order, the amount so payable shall be estimated according to the rate of exchange for the time being fixed at the date of the making of the order a[* * *] for the adjustment of financial transactions between the Imperial and the Indian Governments.

PROVINCIAL AMENDMENTS.

ALLAHABAD

For Rule 15 (1) substitute the following :

"R. 15 (1) Whoever desires to obtain —

(a) execution of any order of His Majesty in Council, or

(b) where an appeal has been dismissed by His Majesty in Council for want of prosecution, an order of the Court from which the appeal to His Majesty was preferred terminating proceedings and determining the costs, shall apply to the said Court by a petition, accompanied by a certified copy of the decree passed or order made by His Majesty in Council of which execution is desired or to which effect is to be given and a memorandum of all costs incurred in India that are claimed in pursuance thereof."

BOMBAY

For sub-rule (1) substitute the following :

"15. (1) Whoever desires to obtain execution of any order of His Majesty in Council shall apply by petition, accompanied by the original decree passed or order made in appeal and sought to be executed, to the Court from which the appeal to His Majesty was preferred, provided that the Court may in its discretion, if for special reasons it thinks fit to do so, act on a certified copy of the decree passed or order made in appeal."

[27-11-1936.]

O. 45 R. 15 (contd.)

13. Interest.

14. Costs.

15. Rate of exchange—Sub-rule (3).

16. Letters Patent appeal.

17. Dismissal for want of prosecution.

18. Limitation.

1. "Whoever desires to obtain execution."—[1] It is not necessary in all cases that each person interested should obtain a separate transmission of the order when it has been already transmitted to lower Court at the instance of one of the successful parties. (Vol. 19) 1932 Mad 440 (442, 443) : 55 Mad 856 (DB) * (Vol. 11) 1924 Mad 95 (96) (DB).

[2] It is open to some of the decree-holders to execute the decree on behalf of all the decree-holders. (Vol. 7) 1920 Pat 672 (673) (DB).

[3] Where the decree is in favour of several persons declaring that each is entitled to a separate and distinct share, each plaintiff is bound to apply separately and an order of transmission obtained by some of the plaintiffs alone cannot be taken advantage of by the others. (Vol. 4) 1917 Pat 253 (256) : 2 Pat L Jour 496 (DB).

[4] Where a party having obtained an Order in Council delays or refuses to lodge the order, the opposite party can apply under this rule asking for a summary order against that party to lodge the order so that execution might follow in terms of the judgment of the Board. (Vol. 13) 1926 PC 31 (31) : 5 Pat 461 ; 53 Ind App 89 (PC).

[5] The application to enforce the order was to be made to the Court from which the appeal to the Privy Council had been preferred and the proper course for such Court was to transmit the Order in Council to the trial Court to be carried out. (Vol. 24) 1937 PC 165 (164, 165) : 1 L R (1937) Lah 502 ; 31 Sind L R 367 : 64 Ind App 191 (PC).

2. "Shall apply by petition."—[1] The rule is mandatory and an execution application filed without having filed a petition for transmission is incompetent. (Vol. 23) 1936 Oudh 185 (188) : 12 Luck 52 (DB).

(See however (Vol. 25) 1938 Oudh 250 (251) : 14 Luck 243 (DB).)

[2] Where no objection was taken in previous execution proceedings it cannot be allowed to be taken at a later stage to the application filed without a petition for transmission. (Vol. 11) 1924 Pat 576 (579) : 3 Pat 596 (DB).

3. "Accompanied by a certified copy."—[1] A certified copy of the decree sought to be executed should be filed along with the petition. ('80) 5 Cal 329 (330) (DB).

[2] A production of a copy of the judgment is not enough. ('78) 20 Suth W R 444 (445) (DB).

[3] The rule should not be construed as restricting the only possible evidence of the decree or order to the certified copy. (Vol. 5) 1918 Mad 626 (626) (DB) * ('83) 9 Cal 482 (492) : 10 Ind App 4 (PC).

O. 45 R. 15 (contd.)

[4] The practice in regard to Privy Council decrees is that the original decree is given to the successful party or to one of the successful parties and it is the duty of that person to file that original decree in the High Court. ('83) 9 Cal 482 (492): 10 Ind App 4 (PC) * (Vol. 13) 1926 P C 31 (31): 5 Pat 461: 53 Ind App 89 (PC).

[5] The trial Court cannot take any action under this rule until the receipt of the Order in Council. (Vol. 23) 1936 Oudh 185 (188): 12 Luck 52 (DB).

4. "To the Court from which the appeal to His Majesty was preferred."—[1] An application made to any other Court except the one from whose decree the appeal was preferred is not competent. ('74) 22 Suth W R 102 (102) * ('72) 1872 Pan Re. No. 3, page 27 (35, 36) (PC) * ('67) 7 Suth W R 225 (225).

5. Decree on appeal from another High Court—Jurisdiction to execute.—[1] The High Court of Patna has no jurisdiction to execute an Order in Council passed in an appeal from the Calcutta High Court. The proper Court to which an application for execution of the Order should be made is the High Court of Calcutta. (Vol. 5) 1918 Pat 333 (333): 2 Pat L Jour 684.

6. Functions under the rule merely ministerial.—[1] The duties of the High Court in receiving and transmitting Orders of His Majesty in Council under this rule are purely ministerial. ('95) 22 Cal 960 (971, 972) * ('81) 6 Cal 594 (604, 605) (SB) * (1880) 4 App Cas 482 (483, 484), Pitts v. La Fontaine * (Vol. 1) 1914 Mad 222 (224): 38 Mad 832 (DB) * (Vol. 17) 1930 Lah 674 (675): 11 Lah 365 (DB) * (Vol. 7) 1920 Pat 672 (673) (DB).

7. To what Court order should be transmitted.—[1] The High Court should transmit the order for execution to the Court which passed the decree. Where, such Court ceases to have territorial jurisdiction over the matter, the order can be transmitted to the Court which has jurisdiction to execute it. ('93) 20 Cal 105 (106) (DB) * (Vol. 2) 1915 Mad 602 (602).

[See ('73) 20 Suth W R 419 (419) (DB)]

8. "Shall give such directions," etc.—[1] Under sub-r. (2) of the rule it is the High Court that can give necessary directions in regard to execution. (Vol. 9) 1922 Oudh 34 (37) (DB) * ('12) 17 Suth W R 340 (341).

[See (Vol. 25) 1938 Oudh 250 (251): 14 Luck 243 (DB).]

The Privy Council itself gave direction in the following cases: ('74) 22 Suth W R 104 (104) (DB) * ('66) 5 Suth W R 271 (275) (DB).

[2] Neither the High Court nor the subordinate Court has power to stay execution or adjourn an application for execution on the ground that an application for review of the decree was pending before the Privy Council. (Vol. 18) 1931 Pat 203 (203) (DB).

9. Application by assignee of Order in Council.—[1] Where an order of the Privy Council is transmitted under this rule to the District Court as the Court which passed the first decree, the District Court has jurisdiction to entertain an application made by an assignee of the decree under O. 21 R. 16 to recognize the assignment, and to allow him to execute the decree. (Vol. 1) 1914 Mad 222 (224): 38 Mad 832 (DB).

10. Liability of surety.—[1] The surety is not precluded from questioning the validity of the security bond in execution proceedings, ('98) 26 Cal 246 (249) (DB).

11. Restitution.—[1] Defendant's right to restitution is not affected by the fact that the auction-purchaser is not a party to the Privy Council appeal. ('06) 28 All 337 (339) (DB).

[2] The fact that the party applying for restitution is not a party to the Privy Council appeal does not disentitle him to apply for restitution if the order of the Privy Council ensures to his benefit. (Vol. 11) 1924 Mad 95 (96) (DB).

[3] The word "execution" as used in O. 45 R. 15 is intended to cover a case for restitution also and a person who desires to obtain execution of any kind, whether by way of restitution or otherwise, must apply in the first instance to the Court indicated by Rule 15. (Vol. 23) 1936 Oudh 185 (188): 12 Luck 52 (DB).

[4] Application under this rule is not necessary—High Court is not competent to direct application for restitution to be made in a particular Court. (Vol. 24) 1937 All 515 (523, 524): 1 L R (1937) All 766 (DB).

12. Mesne profits.—[1] A party who is dispossessed of immovable property in pursuance of a decree of the High Court is entitled to get back, by way of restitution, not merely the property of which he was dispossessed, but also mesne profits for the period for which he was out of possession. ('92) 15 Mad 203 (209) (DB) ('74) 21 Suth W R 195 (195) (DB). * ('79) 3 Cal L Rep 189 (191) (DB). * ('70) 13 Moo Ind App 490 (496) (PC).

13. Interest.—No interest on costs can be allowed by the High Court or the Court of the first instance, when the order of the Privy Council is silent as to interest. ('78) 3 Cal 161 (170, 171): 4 Ind App 137: 1877 Pan Re. No. 1 (PC). * ('05) 32 Cal 494 (501) (DB). * ('74) 21 Suth W R 147 (147) (DB). * ('74) 21 Suth W R 195 (196) (DB).

[2] If interest is awarded by the Privy Council but no rate is specified, the executing Court can grant interest at the rate granted in the decree of the High Court or at a reasonable rate. ('72) 18 Suth W R 103 (103) (DB).

14. Costs.—[1] When the successful party in an appeal before the Privy Council is awarded the costs of the appeal in England and also the costs incurred in the Indian Courts, he is entitled to get also the costs of translating the records of the appeal and of transmitting them to England. ('75) 23 Suth W R 463 (463) (DB). ('74) 21 Suth W R 411 (411) (DB) * ('85) 11 Cal 244 (249): 12 Ind App 7 (PC) * (Vol. 24) 1937 Pesh 3 (4) (DB).

[2] The amount of such costs is left to be ascertained by the High Court and is not assessed by the Privy Council office. ('84) 10 Cal 106 (108) (DB) * ('72) 18 Suth W R 89 (90) * ('71) 15 Suth W R 356 (357) (DB).

[3] Party awarded costs of Privy Council praying for preparation of memo of costs—Prayer includes prayer for transmission. (Vol. 25) 1938 Oudh 250 (251): 14 Luck 243 (DB).

15. Rate of exchange—Sub-rule (3).—[1] Calcutta view that the "rate of exchange" meant the rate at the time when the order in Council is made, is now recognized. ('96) 23 Cal 357 (359) (DB). * ('98) 25 Cal 283 (285) (DB).

16. Letters Patent Appeal.—[1] An order of a single Judge of the High Court refusing to transmit for execution the order of His Majesty in Council is a "judgment" within the meaning of clause 15 of the Letters Patent and is appealable. ('83) 9 Cal 482 (493, 494): 10 Ind App 4 (PC).

16. The orders made by the Court which executes the order of His Majesty in Council, Appeal from order relating to such execution, shall be appealable in the same manner and relating to execution. subject to the same rules as the orders of such Court relating to the execution of its own decrees.

[1882—S. 611.]

Appeals to Federal Court,

17. Repealed by the Federal Court Act, 1941 (21 [XXI] of 1941), Section 2.

PROVINCIAL AMENDMENTS.

Rule 17—NAGPUR.

After Rule 16 of Order XLV add the following as Rule 17 :

"17. The provisions of sub-rules (1) and (2) of Rule 15 and the provisions of Rule 16 shall apply mutatis mutandis, to the execution of decrees or orders for costs passed in accordance with the declaration or order made by the Federal Court in appeals from the High Court," [22-11-1946.]

ODDH.

Rule 17 is same as that of Nagpur with the changes as follows: (i) Delete the words "in accordance with the declaration or order made"; and (ii) substitute the words "Chief Court" for the words "High Court." [18-5-1946.]

ORDER XLVI.

REFERENCE.

1 Where, before or on the hearing of a suit or an appeal in which the decree is not subject to appeal, or where, in the execution of any such decree, any question of law or usage having the force of law arises, on which the Court trying the suit or appeal, or executing the decree, entertains reasonable doubt, the Court may either of its own motion or on the application of any of the parties, draw up a statement of the fact, of the case and the point on which doubt is entertained, and refer such statement with its own opinion on the point for the decision of the High Court.

[1882—S. 617; 1877—S. 617; 1861—S. 28.]

O. 45 R. 15 (contd.)

[See ('70) 13 Moo Ind App 490 (496) (PC).]

17. Dismissal for want of prosecution.—[1] Where an appeal preferred against a decree of the High Court is dismissed by the Judicial Committee for want of prosecution, the order is not a judicial determination at all and limitation for execution of the High Court's decree runs from the date of the decree of the High Court. (Vol. 1) 1914 P C 66 (67): 36 All 350 (PC) * (Vol. 1) 1914 P C 65 (66): 36 All 234: 41 Ind App 104 (PC).

18. Limitation.—[1] An application to execute the decree or order of the Privy Council under this rule is governed by Article 183 of the Limitation Act. ('82) 3 Cal 218 (223) (FB) * (Vol. 3) 1916 Pat 254 (255, 256): 1 Pat L J. ur 385 * (Vol. 3) 1916 Cal 488 (490, 492): 43 Cal 903 (FB).

ORDER 46 RULE 1—SYNOPSIS.

1. Scope of the rule.
2. Reference, when can be made.
3. "Decree not subject to appeal."
4. "Court," meaning of.
5. Reasonable doubt
6. Statement of facts and Court's opinion.

1. Scope of the rule.—[1] A right of reference is fundamentally distinct from a right of appeal: the former vests in the Court, and the latter vests in the suitor. (Vol. 15) 1928 All 871 (375): 50 All 839 (SB) * (Vol. 19) 1932 All 651 (653): 54 All 891.

[2] The object of the provision for reference is to enable the subordinate Courts to obtain, in non-appealable cases, the opinion of the High Court in advance on a question of law and hereby avoid the commission of an error which could not be remedied later on. (Vol. 28) 1941 Bom 865 (866) (DB) * (Vol. 8) 1921 Cal 262 (264): 48 Cal 766 (SB).

[3] The right of reference is subject to the conditions prescribed by this rule and unless they are fulfilled, the High Court cannot entertain a reference from a subordinate tribunal. ('03) 30 Cal 458 (462) (SB).

[See also (Vol. 20) 1933 All 597 (598): 55 All 648 (DB).]

2. Reference, when can be made.—[1] A reference can be made only in a suit or appeal or in execution of a decree. (Vol. 27) 1940 Sind 111 (111): 1 L R (1940) Kar 411 (DB) * ('01) 25 Bom 327 (329) (DB).

[2] A reference lies only on a matter about which the parties are litigating, that is, on a matter wherein the Court is called on to adjudicate on the opposite contentions of the parties. ('88) 12 Bom 78 (79, 80) (DB).

[3] No reference can be made under this rule in the following cases.

(a) In a proceeding against a pleader under the Legal Practitioners Act, 1879, ('88) 12 Bom 78 (79, 80) (DB).

(b) In an application for review. ('72) 17 Suth W R 94 (94) (DB) * ('72) 17 Suth W R 95 (96, 97) (DB).

(h) In an enquiry in a proceeding before a District Judge acting under S. 20, C P and Berar Relief of Indebtedness Act. (Vol. 29) 1942 Nag 8 (11): I L R (1941) Nag 588 (DB).

(i) In an enquiry in an application for execution of an award made under the Bombay Co-operative Societies Act. (Vol. 27) 1940 Sind 111 (112): I L R (1940) Kar 411 (DB).

[4] The question on which a reference can be made must have arisen before or on the hearing of a suit or an appeal or in a pending proceeding in execution of a decree. A question arising subsequent to the hearing of a suit or appeal cannot be the subject of a reference under this rule, unless it arises in execution of the decree. (Vol. 11) 1924 Lah 566 (567) * ('79) 1879 Pun Re No. 31, page 93 (94) (DB).

[5] The question must be one which actually arises for decision in the proceedings before the Court. ('01) 25 Bom 327 (329) (DB).

[6] The right of reference cannot be exercised in proceedings other than those referred to in the rule by the application of S 141 of the Code. (Vol. 29) 1942 Nag 8 (9, 11): I L R (1941) Nag 588 (DB) * (Vol. 27) 1940 Sind 111 (112): I L R (1940) Kar 411 (DB) * ('11) 36 Mad 16 (17) (DB) * (Vol. 12) 1925 Cal 391 (392) (DB).

3. "Decree not subject to appeal."—[1] No reference can be made in a suit or appeal unless the decree that might be passed therein is one against which no appeal lies. [3] In appealable cases a remedy to correct possible errors is provided by the appeal. ('80) 7 Cal L Rep 144 (144).

[4] The words "an appeal in which the decree is not subject to appeal" include not only a first appeal in cases in which no second appeal is provided but also any appeal in which no further appeal is provided. (Vol. 28) 1941 Bom 365 (366) (DB).

[5] The words "not subject to appeal" mean only that the law provides no appeal in any circumstances. They do not mean that no appeal has been in fact preferred. (Vol. 28) 1941 Bom 365 (366, 367) (DB).

4. "Court" meaning of.—[1] The word "Court" in this rule means a Court of Civil Judicature. (Vol. 6) 1919 Oudh 18 (19): 22 Oudh Cas 319 (DB).

[2] A Collector executing a decree transferred to him under S 68 of the Code is not a Court. (Vol. 6) 1919 Oudh 18 (19): 22 Oudh Cas 319 (DB).

[4] Decision of High Court on particular question in conflict with view of other High Courts—Court subordinate to former High Court cannot entertain doubt on that question. ('13) 15 Oudh Cas 380 (380) (DB).

[5] The Court cannot make a reference on a question on which it entertains no doubt merely because the parties apply for it. ('70) 14 Suth W R 248 (249) (DB).

[See (Vol. 10) 1923 Rang 193 (193): 1 Rang 220 (DB).]

[6] A reference is not bad merely because the question arises out of the action of a third person not a party to the suit. ('08) 32 Bom 157 (161) (DB).

6. Statement of facts and Court's opinion.—[1] Court making reference should draw up a statement of facts of case, formulate the question and give its opinion thereon. ('02) 1902 Pun L R No. 93, page

Court may pass decree contingent upon decision of High Court

2. The Court may either stay the proceedings or proceed in the case notwithstanding such reference, and may pass a decree or make an order contingent upon the decision of the High Court on the point referred; but no decree or order shall be executed in any case in which such reference is made until the receipt of a copy of the judgment of the High Court upon the reference.

ORDER XLVII.

REVIEW

Application for review of judgment.

1. (1) Any person considering himself aggrieved,—

(a) by a decree or order from which an appeal is allowed, but from which no appeal has been preferred,

(b) by a decree or order from which no appeal is allowed, or

(c) by a decision on a reference from a Court of Small Causes, and who, from the discovery of new and important matter or evidence which, after the exercise of due diligence, was not within his knowledge or could not be produced by him at the time when the decree was passed or order made, or on account of some mistake or error apparent on the face of the record, or for any other sufficient reason, desires to obtain a review of the decree passed or order made against him, may apply for a review of judgment to the Court which passed the decree or made the order.

(2) A party who is not appealing from a decree or order may apply for a review of judgment notwithstanding the pendency of an appeal by some other party except where the ground of such appeal is common to the applicant and the appellant, or when, being respondent, he can present to the Appellate Court the case on which he applies for the review.

7. Clause (b).
8. Clause (c).
9. Discovery of new and important matter or evidence.
10. Discovery of important matter of law.
11. Exercise of due diligence.
12. "Was not within his knowledge or could not be produced by him at the time."
13. Mistake or error apparent on the face of the record.
14. "Any other sufficient reason."
15. Cases where review was allowed on ground of sufficient reason.
16. Cases where review was not allowed on the ground that there was no sufficient reason.
17. Review on the ground of subsequent events.
18. No review on ground of decision being erroneous on merits.
19. No review of fact after decision in second appeal.
20. Application of the rule to miscellaneous proceedings under the Code.
21. Review in proceedings under other Acts.
22. Review petitions by minors.
23. Consent decree.
24. Ex parte decrees and orders of dismissal for default.
25. Review of decision before signing decree.
26. Commissioner cannot review.
27. Limitation.
28. Appeal by one party—Review application by another—Clause (2).

1. Scope.—[1] No Court has got a power of revising its own appellate orders nor the power to review unless granted by statute. (Vol. 4) 1917 Mad, 726 (726) (DB) * (Vol. 23) 1936 Mad 531 (540): 59 Mad 825 (FB).

[2] Section 141 does not confer a right of review in proceedings under special enactments as such a right is a substantive right and not a mere matter of procedure. (Vol. 23) 1941 Mad 272 (273). (Madras Village Courts Act makes no provision for reviews) * (Vol. 6) 1919 Mad 244 (246) (DB) (District Judge cannot review his own order passed under S. 10 of the Religious Endowments Act.)

[3] A right of review is exercisable only in the circumstances where it is distinctly provided by the statute. (Vol. 28) 1941 Rang 233 (234): 1941 Rang L R 382 (DB) * (Vol. 18) 1931 Pat 409 (409).

[See also (Vol. 29) 1942 All 82 (84).]

[4] This rule is in itself definitive of the limits within which a review is permitted by the Code. (Vol. 9) 1922 P C 112 (115): 3 Lah 127: 49 Ind App 144 (PC). * (Vol. 21) 1934 P C 213 (216, 217): 61 Ind App 373: 56 All 634 (PC). * (Vol. 13) 1926 Pat 218 (226, 227): 5 Pat 361 (FB).

[5] This rule gives a special privilege to an aggrieved litigant and must be strictly construed. (Vol. 32) 1945 Bom 40 (42): I. L. R. (1944) Bom 675.

[6] Where a case falls within the class of cases contemplated by this rule, the Court cannot have an inherent power of review apart from the provisions of the rule. (Vol. 14) 1927 Bom 232 (233) * (Vol. 14) 1927 Cal 920 (921) * (1913) 17 Cal L Jour 416 (420) (DB) * (Vol. 31) 1944 Mad 293 (294): I L R (1944) Mad 857 (DB) * (Vol. 16) 1929 Mad 404 (406) (DB) * (Vol. 13) 1926 Mad 980 (983): 50 Mad 67 (DB) * (Vol. 18) 1932 Nag 252 (253): 27 Nag L R 102 (FB) * (Vol. 12) 1925 Pat 36 (37): 3 Pat 778 (DB) * (Vol. 20) 1933 Lah 169 (171).

[7] Case falling outside this rule—Court has inherent powers to review its orders for ends of justice. (Vol. 21) 1934 All 250 (252) * (Vol. 16) 1929 Nag 185 (189) (DB) * (Vol. 17) 1930 Bom 294 (295): 55 Bom 368 * (Vol. 11) 1924 Pat 673 (677): 3 Pat 930 (DB).

O. 47 R. 1 (contd.)

[8] The fact that an appeal can be filed against the decree does not afford any ground for refusing a review. (1909) 10 Cal L Jour 420 (433) (DB). (Right of review does not bar suit on same relief.) * (Vol. 20) 1933 Lah 226 (226) : 14 Lah 55, * (Vol. 18) 1931 Mad 828 (830). (But Court may refuse in its discretion an application for review.)

[9] An application for relief under the Bengal Money-lenders' Act by re-opening the decree and taking fresh accounts, is not an application for review under this Order. (Vol. 30) 1943 Cal 170 (171) : I L R (1942) 2 Cal 116 (DB) * (Vol. 29) 1942 Cal 121 : I L R (1941) 2 Cal 184 reversed.)

[10] Where a decision has been affirmed on appeal the Lower Court cannot thereafter review it even if asked to do so by the Appellate Court. (Vol. 30) 1943 Pat 353 (355) (DB).

[11] A Court cannot review its judgment suo motu. (Vol. 28) 1941 Lah 212 (214).

[12] No superior Court can direct an inferior Court to review its previous decision by sending a circular letter or any other order to it. (Vol. 30) 1943 Pat 353 (355) (DB).

2. Review and appeal—Distinction.—[1] A review is not the same thing as, or a substitute for, an appeal. (Vol. 18) 1931 Mad 608 (608) * (Vol. 9) 1922 Upp Bur 16 (17) : 4 Upp Bur Rul. 27.

[2] The two proceedings differ in the following particulars.

(a) A review is the reconsideration of the subject of the suit by the same Judge under certain conditions; while an appeal is a re-hearing by another tribunal. (Vol. 29) 1942 Pat 76 (77) (DB) * (1865) 3 Suth W R 45 (47, 48) (FC) * ('68) 9 Suth W R 181 (185) (FB) * (Vol. 21) 1934 All 175 (176).

(b) A point which may be a good ground of an appeal may not be a good ground for an application for review. (Vol. 18) 1931 Mad 608 (608) * ('83) 5 All 14 (16) (DB) * (Vol. 9) 1922 Pat 308 (309, 310) * (Vol. 13) 1926 Rang 89 (89) (DB) * (Vol. 22) 1935 Lah 330 (330) : 16 Lah 602 (DB) * (Vol. 17) 1930 Cal 701 (703). (Case of Erroneous view of evidence or Law).

(c) A review does not, of necessity, re-open questions already decided between the parties. The matter in issue is only re-opened when the application for review is accepted, while in the case of an appeal, the matter is re-opened as soon as an appeal is admitted. (Vol. 9) 1922 Oudh 148 (148) : 24 Oudh Cas 280.

[See also (Vol. 29) 1942 All 36 (38) (DB).]

3. Review and amendment—Distinction.—[1] A review and an amendment differ in the following particulars:

[a] In the case of a review the correctness of judgment and decree is questioned, while in the case of an amendment of a decree the correctness of the judgment is assumed, but the jurisdiction to amend arises from the fact that the decree is not in accordance with the judgment. (Vol. 4) 1917 Mad 290 (291, 292) (DB) * (Vol. 11) 1924 Mad 225 (226, 227) * ('81) 6 Cal 22 (25) (DB).

(b) Where an application for an amendment is allowed there is no need for a re-hearing of a suit, while if an application for review is allowed, a re-hearing of the suit becomes necessary. (Vol. 4) 1917 Mad 290 (291) (DB).

(c) Where an application for review is granted the result is a new decree superseding the original decree and not merely an amendment thereof. (Vol. 6) 1919 Nag 78 (79) : 15 Nag L R 65 * ('05) 28 All 240 (241) (DB).

4. Person considering himself to be aggrieved.—[1] A decree or order against a person not a party thereto is, on general principles of law, not binding on him. Such a person, therefore, cannot apply for a review of the decree or order under this rule. ('04) 8 Cal W N 468 (469) * ('21) 61 Ind Cas 534 (535) (Lah) * (Vol. 22) 1935 Rang 364 (365).

[See however (Vol. 16) 1929 Nag 185 (190) (DB).]

[2] A minor, who is aggrieved by a decree or order passed against him, may apply for a review under the same circumstances as an adult. ('71) 16 Suth W R 231 (232) (SB).

[3] Sanction granted to Public Prosecutor to prosecute attorney—Leave to appeal to Privy Council granted to attorney—Public Prosecutor can apply for review of order granting leave. (Vol. 1) 1914 Cal 557 (559) : 41 Cal 734 (DB).

8. Clause (c).—[1] The High Court has no power to review a judgment passed by it on a reference from a Subordinate Judge with small cause court powers. The rule allows a review of judgment on a reference only from a Court of Small Causes. ('86) 10 Bom 68 (69) (DB).

9. Discovery of new and important matter or evidence. [1] Where a review of a judgment is asked for by a party, the greatest care ought to be exercised by the Court in granting the review especially where the ground of review is the discovery of fresh evidence. (Vol. 5) 1918 Cal 618 (621): 45 Cal 60 (DB).

[2] A party applying for review on the ground of discovery of new evidence must show that there was no remissness on his part in adducing all possible evidence at the trial. (Vol. 29) 1942 All 82 (84). (A high degree of diligence on the part of the applicant is necessary—Mere absence of slackness is not enough.) * (Vol. 5) 1918 Cal 618 (625): 45 Cal 60 * ('07) 31 Bom 381 (388): 34 Ind App 115 (PC). [3] The new evidence ought to be adduced must be such as is presumably to be believed and such that, if adduced, it would practically be conclusive, i.e., evidence of such a class as to render it probable almost beyond doubt that the judgment would be different. (Vol. 29) 1942 All 82 (84) (Applicant ought to furnish Court with evidence he seeks to have admitted, otherwise it is impossible to tell what its value really is.) * (Vol. 5) 1918 PC 184 (188) (PC) * ('87) 10 Mad 73 (77): 13 Ind App 155 (PC) * (Vol. 28) 1939 Cal 42 (44, 45): 1 L R (1938) 2 Cal 361 (DB).

[4] Where it is very doubtful whether the evidence, if produced, would have had any effect on the judgment, there is no ground for review. ('02) 5 Oudh Cas 59 (64) (DB) * (Vol. 4) 1917 Pat 201 (204) (DB).

[5] Where a suit was dismissed on two grounds, namely, want of notice as required by law and the plaintiff being illegitimate, and a review was applied for on the ground of discovery of new evidence tending to establish the legitimacy of the plaintiff, it was held that a review should not be granted inasmuch as the suit would still have to be dismissed on the question of notice. But the case would be different where the effect of the evidence, if adduced, would be to alter or (cancel) the decree. (Vol. 1) 1914 All 44 (45): 36 All 277 (DB).

(Appeal dismissed with observation that if decision of High Court in a similar case is reversed by the Privy Council appellant might apply for review—Such reversal by Privy Council happening—The new ground may be deemed to have been in contemplation at the date of decree.)]

[14] The word "evidence" in this rule is not confined to documentary evidence but includes oral evidence. (Vol. 15) 1928 Nag 279 (279).

[15] Under this rule the new matter or evidence should have been discovered by the party applying for review and not by the Court whose order is sought to be reviewed. (Vol. 26) 1939 Pat 678 (680): 19 Pat 159 (FB).

[16] Appeal to High Court dismissed for failure to file list of documents or to deposit printing cost—Application for re-admission of appeal on ground that there was sufficient cause for appellant's failure—Application cannot be treated as one for review. (Vol. 26) 1939 Pat 678 (680): 19 Pat 159 (FB). (Such an application can be entertained, however, under S. 151—(Vol. 13) 1926 Pat 27: 4 Pat 704 overruled.)

[17] Rejection of plaint for failure to pay court-fee within time—Order rejecting plaint was held open to review. (Vol. 28) 1936 Pat 310 (311) (DB).

[18] Application for review of compromise decrees on allegation that the applicant's lawyer had entered into compromise against specific instructions—Application is not based on discovery of new matter or evidence. (Vol. 28) 1941 Pat 574 (577) (DB).

10. Discovery of important matter of law.—

[1] The words "new and important matter" in this rule refer to evidence or other matter in the nature of evidence, and not to a legal authority in existence at the date of the judgment but not brought to the notice of the Court. (99) 21 All 152 (153) (DB).

[2] No review can be asked for on the ground of the discovery of new authorities which show that the decision is not correct. (Vol. 12) 1925 Sind 53 (53, 54): 19 Sind L R 80 * (Vol. 33) 1946 Pat 188 (189) (DB). (Binding authority not brought to Court's notice) * (Vol. 11) 1924 Pat 250 (253): 3 Pat 134 (DB) * (Vol. 12) 1925 Nag 384 (385). [But see ('06) 1906 Pan Re No. 124, page 467 (469) (DB).]

11. Exercise of due diligence.—[1] The rule enjoins on the Court to require the facts as to the absence of negligence to be strictly proved before granting an application for review on ground of discovery of fresh evidence. ('07) 31 Bom 381 (388): 34 Ind App 115 (PC). (Reversing 7 Bom L R 119.)

[2] Applications for review on the ground of discovery of fresh evidence ought to be refused when such evidence could have been produced if reasonable care and diligence had been exercised. (Vol. 27) 1940 Pat 197 (198) * ('87) 10 Mad 73 (77): 13 Ind App 155 (PC) * (Vol. 20) 1933 Oudh 328 (328) (DB) * (Vol. 22) 1935 Rang 184 (185).

[3] There must be strong evidence of diligence in getting all the available evidence. (Vol. 29) 1942 All 82 (84) * (Vol. 20) 1933 Sind 110 (111) * ('11) 9 Ind Cas 266 (267) (DB) (All).

[4] Exercise of due diligence depends upon facts of particular case—Burden of proof is on petitioner. (Vol. 20) 1933 Sind 110 (111, 112).

[5] Trial lasting for three years—No reason shown as to why new evidence was not produced in time—Review refused. (Vol. 2) 1915 P C 78 (78) (PC).

[6] The fact that evidence was found subsequently cannot itself be taken to show that due diligence could not have been exercised; otherwise there cannot be any case coming within this rule. (Vol. 17) 1930 Pat 63 (67).

[7] The grounds for granting a review on account of the discovery of fresh evidence, may in certain cases, be grounds for extending the time under S. 5 of the Limitation Act, for the application for review. (Vol. 8) 1921 Nag 174 (176).

[See (Vol. 14) 1927 Dom 232 (234).]

12. "Was not within his knowledge or could not be produced by him at the time."—[1] It must be shown that after the exercise of due diligence the evidence was not within the applicant's knowledge or could not be produced by him at the time. (Vol. 4) 1917 All 107 (108) * ('73) 20 Suth W R 426 (426) (DB) * (Vol. 23) 1936 Pat 595 (600): 15 Pat 295 (DB). (Plaintiff failing to produce papers called for by defendant on false pretext—Subsequent tracing of papers by defendant after decree—Held, defendant was entitled to review.)

[2] The words "or could not be produced by him at the time" really mean "and could not be produced by him at the time" so that the whole clause means that the new matters alleged were not within the applicant's knowledge and, therefore, could not have been produced at the trial. Hence, the mere fact that the applicant for review could not produce the evidence in spite of his best efforts is no ground for allowing review under this clause. (Vol. 11) 1924 Pat 809 (810) (DB) * (Vol. 22) 1935 Mad 768 (769).

[But see ('74) 22 Suth W R 446 (446).]

13. Mistake or error apparent on the face of the record.—[1] In order that an error may be a ground for review, it must be one apparent on the face of the record, i. e., an evident error which does not require any extraneous matter to show its incorrectness. (Vol. 16) 1929 Rang 70 (70): 6 Rang 794 * (Vol. 25) 1938 Nag 221 (224) (DB) * (Vol. 26) 1939 All 619 (621) (DB) * (Vol. 25) 1938 Bom 422 (423) (DB) * (Vol. 26) 1939 Pat 678 (680): 19 Pat 159 (FB) * ('28) 1928 Mad W N 595 (598) (DB) * (Vol. 20) 1935 Lah 223 (223). [13] The fact that a Court takes a different view of law in a subsequent case is no ground for reviewing the judgment in a prior case. (Vol. 30) 1943 Mad 377 (377).

[14] Appeal dismissed for failure to take certain steps required by rules—Application for re-admission of appeal on ground of there having been sufficient cause for the failure—Application cannot be treated as one for review under this rule. Error due to Court not being apprised of real causes for appellant's failure to take steps in question is not error apparent on face of record. (Vol. 26) 1939 Pat 678 (681) : 19 Pat 159 (FB). (Overruling (Vol. 13) 1926 Pat 27.)

[15] Where a case is heard by a Bench of two judges and two separate judgments are delivered, in one of which there is a mistake apparent on the face of the record, review should be granted. (Vol. 24) 1937 Rang 56 (61) (DB).

[16] Court overlooking amendment of law and deciding case under old law—Held there was mistake or error apparent on face of record justifying review. (Vol. 31) 1944 Lah 442 (443).

14. "Any other sufficient reason."—[1] The expression "any other sufficient reason" should be interpreted as meaning a reason sufficient on grounds at least analogous to those specified immediately previously. (Vol. 9) 1922 P C 112 (115) : 3 Lah 127 : 49 Ind App 144 (PC) * (Vol. 29) 1942 Oudh 210 (212) : 18 Luck 48 * (Vol. 21) 1934 P C 213 (217) : 56 All 634 : 61 Ind App 378 (PC) * (Vol. 20) 1933 All 778 (779) * (Vol. 14) 1927 Nag 368 (368) * (Vol. 26) 1939 Cal 628 (629) (DB) * (Vol. 26) 1939 Pat 678 (680) : 19 Pat 159 (FB) * (Vol. 26) 1939 Lah 460 (462) * (Vol. 15) 1928 Rang 31 (32) : 5 Rang 675. (The word "analogous" as used by Privy Council in (Vol. 9) 1922 P C 112 : 3 Lah 127 : 49 Ind App 144 (PC) is wider than the expression "ejusdem generis".)

[2] The discretion in determining what is sufficient reason is not so rigidly circumscribed that an analogy must be discovered between the grounds specified immediately previously. (Vol. 11) 1924 Cal 872 (874) (DB).

15. Cases where review was allowed on ground of sufficient reason.—[1] A review can be granted in the following cases :—

O. 47 R. 1 (contd.)

ORDER 47 RULE 7—SYNOPSIS.

1. Scope and applicability of the rule.
2. Order rejecting review not appealable.
3. Order granting review, appeal against.
4. Application being in contravention of Rule 2.
5. “In contravention of the provisions of Rule 4.”
6. “After the expiry of the period of limitation.”
7. Second appeal from order granting review.
8. Letters Patent appeal.
9. Objections to order granting review may be taken in appeal from the final decree.
10. Order granting or refusing review in insolvency proceedings, if appealable.
11. Dismissal of application for review for default—No appeal.
12. Appeal from decree passed on review.
13. Second application for review.
14. Revision.

1. Scope and applicability of the rule.—[1] Rule being inconsistent with S. 176 of the Agra Tenancy Act is not applicable to an order passed by an Assistant Collector, Second Class, relating to the trial of any suit or application under that Act. ('15) 31 Ind Cas 912 (912) (All).

[2] This rule does not apply to the Provincial Small Cause Courts. (Vol. 6) 1919 Mad 111 (112).

O. 47 R. 7 (contd.)

[3] Where the Court actually granted a review though it purported to act under S. 152, it was held that it must be treated as an order under this Order and that an appeal lay against the order. (Vol. 8) 1921 Lah 250 (251)

2. Order rejecting review not appealable.—[1] An order rejecting an application for review is not appealable. 3. Order granting review, appeal against.—[1] Reading O. 47 R. 7 and O. 43 R. 1 (W) together it follows, that there is no appeal even from an order granting a review in cases other than those specified in this rule. [But see (Vol. 13) 1926 Bom 121 (121) (DB) * (Vol. 13) 1926 Cal 217 (218) (DB)].

[2] Where a Court grants review on the ground of "after sufficient reason" the order is not open to appeal. (Vol. 12) 1925 All 364 (365) : 47 All 361 (DB) * (Vol. 9) 1922 All 366 (367) (DB) * ('97) 24 Cal 878 (880) (DB) * (Vol. 15) 1928 Cal 73 (73) (DB) * (Vol. 16) 1929 Lah 26 (27) * (Vol. 15) 1928 Lah 755 (756, 757) * (Vol. 13) 1926 Mad 1033 (1034) * (Vol. 3) 1916 Mad 544 (544) (DB) * (Vol. 19) 1932 Oudh 63 (64, 65) : 7 Luck 350 (DB) * (Vol. 22) 1935 Rang 501 (502) * (Vol. 30) 943 Oudh 136 (139) (DB).

[3] Similarly an order granting review on the ground that there is an error in the judgment apparent on the face of the record is not appealable. ('89) 5 Bihar R. 530 (531) (DB) * (Vol. 21) 1934 Lah 575 (575).

[4] In Bombay O. 43 R. 1 (w) has been deleted by a rule made by the High Court under S. 122 of the Code, an order granting a review is in any view appealable if it fails under this rule. (Vol. 16) 1929 Bom 183 (184, 185) (DB) * (Vol. 20) 1933 Bom 183 (184) * (Vol. 14) 1927 Bom 599 (600) (DB).

[5] Where a decree passed on review cannot be attacked on a ground recognized under this rule, the case cannot be certified as fit case for appeal under section 109, clause (c) of the Code. (Vol. 13) 1926 Oudh 17 (18) (DB).

[6] The mere fact that an appeal is permitted under this rule will not make it a fit case for appeal to His Majesty in Council. (Vol. 19) 1932 All 318 (319) : 54 All 401 (DB).

[7] It is open to the appellant to prefer an appeal against an order granting a review, without taking any steps regarding the decree itself. (Vol. 19) 1932 Cal 552 (554) (DB).

[8] Appeal will lie also from an order granting a review of an order passed in execution proceedings. ('10) 5 Ind Cas 483 (484) (DB) (Cal).

[9] Where an application for review of an order for the stay of execution proceedings is granted, the order is appealable as a decree, the grounds of appeal against which need not be confined to those mentioned in this rule. (Vol. 26) 1939 Cal 628 (631) (DB).

[10] Where the order which is reviewed is clearly and demonstrably wrong the Appellate Court will not interfere with the order granting review and restore the wrong decision merely because the lower Court in granting review has proceeded on an incorrect basis or reasoning. (Vol. 28) 1941 Mad 918 (920) * (Vol. 30) 1943 Oudh 136 (138) (DB).

4. Application being in contravention of Rule 2.

[1] An appeal will lie from an order granting a review on the ground that there is a contravention of rule 2. ('10) 11 Cal L Joar 161 (163) (DB) * ('13) 17 Cal W N 403 (404, 405).

5. "In contravention of the provisions of rule 4."

[1] An appeal will lie from an order granting review without notice to the opposite party or without calling for strict proof of the allegations referred to. (Vol. 7) 1920 Cal 467 (470, 471) : 47 Cal 568 (DB) * (Vol. 20) 1933 Mad 217 (218) * (Vol. 11) 1924 Pat 250 (252, 253) : 3 Pat 134 (DB).

6. "After the expiry of the period of limitation."

[1] An Appellate Court cannot entertain an appeal from an order granting review simply on the ground that the application was time-barred unless there is also want of sufficient cause for the delay. (Vol. 5) 1918 All 229 (231) : 40 All 68.

[2] When an application made beyond the prescribed period is admitted without the Court satisfying itself that there is sufficient cause for the delay, the Court acts without jurisdiction. (Vol. 17) 1930 All 815 (816) * (Vol. 18) 1931 All 218 (218, 219) (DB) * (Vol. 15) 1928 Bom 308 (310) : 52 Bom 434 (DB) * ('75) 2 Ind App 53 (68, 69) (PC) * ('73) 11 Beng L R 427 n (428n) (DB) * ('69) 11 Suth W R 22 (22) (DB) * ('69) 12 Suth W R 94 (95) (DB) * ('76) 1876 Pan Re. [See however ('13) 18 Ind Cas 309 (311) (Lah)].

[3] The Appellate Court can look into the sufficiency of the cause alleged for the delay. (Vol. 29) 1942 Mad 511 (512) * ('74) 2 Ind App 53 (69) (PC) * ('76) 25 Suth W R 343 (344) (DB) * ('75) 24 Suth W R 294 (295) (DB) * ('71) 1871 Pan Re. 7. Second appeal from order granting review.

[1] No second appeal lies from the order of an Appellate Court, whether it confirms or reverses the order of the Court of first instance granting an application for review. ('89) 11 All 333 (335) (DB) * (Vol. 5) 1918 All 229 (229) : 40 All 68 * ('89) 13 Bom 496 (499) (DB) (But where the lower Appellate Court's order is against the decretal order as amended in review second appeal lies) * ('97) 24 Cal 319 (319) (DB) * ('85) 11 Cal 296 (298) (DB) * ('89) 12 Mad 125 (126) (DB) * (Vol. 5) 1918 Mad 1011 (1012) (DB). [But see ('82) 1882 Pan Re. No. 133, page 396 (396) (DB). (Under the Punjab Courts Act, a second appeal lies.)]

8. Letters Patent appeal.—[1] An order refusing an application for review is not a "judgment" within the meaning of cl. 15 of the Letters Patent and is not appealable. (Vol. 29) 1942 Nag 18 (19): 1 L R (1942) Nag 41 (DB) * (Vol. 10) 1923 All 356 (357): 45 All 535 (DB) * ('85) 9 Mad 253 (256) * (Vol. 4) 1917 Cal 88 (89) (DB) * ('05) 9 Cal W N 502 (503) (DB) * ('69) 12 Suth W R 459 (460) (SB).

[2] An order granting an application for review may amount to a "judgment" within that Clause but an appeal will lie on the grounds specified in this rule. (Vol. 16) 1929 Mad 261 (263) (DB) * ('89) 16 Cal 788 (793) (DB) * ('70) 13 Suth W R 439 (440) (DB).

[3] Where a single Judge disposed of an application for review when the other Judge was on a month's leave it was held that the order was without jurisdiction and that an appeal lay under Clause 15 of the Letters Patent. (Vol. 6) 1919 Cal 1033 (1034) (SB) * ('76) 25 Suth W R 324 (325) (DB) * ('74) 22 Suth W R 183 (183) (DB).

9. Objections to order granting review may be taken in appeal from the final decree.—[1] The propriety of an order granting review can also be questioned in the appeal against the final decree but only on the grounds specified in this rule. (Vol. 1) 1914 Cal 146 (147) (DB) * (Vol. 18) 1931 All 329 (330, 331) * ('13) 10 Ind Cas 481 (435): 1913 Pan Re. No. 109 (DB) * ('95) 1895 Pan Re. 10. Order granting or refusing review in insolvency proceedings if appealable.—[1] A Court exercising powers under its insolvency jurisdiction has the same powers as any other Court under the Code. (Vol. 22) 1935 Pat 177 (178) (DB) * (Vol. 9) 1922 All 206 (207): 44 All 605 (DB).

[But see (Vol. 24) 1937 Lah 568 (569)].

[2] The Madras High Court has held that an order in insolvency proceedings rejecting an application for review is appealable under the provisions of S. 75 of the Provincial Insolvency Act and that such provisions are not controlled by this rule. (Vol. 28) 1941 Mad 588 (589).

11. Dismissal of application for review for default—No appeal.—[1] Though an order refusing to re-admit an application for review, dismissed for default, is not appealable, the High Court can interfere in revision. (Vol. 14) 1927 Kang 204 (205): 5 Rang 121 (DB) * (Vol. 12) 1925 Cal 430 (431) (DB) * (Vol. 12) 1925 All 57 (58): 47 All 1 (DB).

13. Second application for review.—[1] There is nothing in the Code of Civil Procedure preventing a second application for review where a previous application for review was made and rejected, provided such second application is based on grounds different from those taken in the first application. PRELIMINARY DECREE FOR FORECLOSURE.

(Order XXXIV, rule 2—Where accounts are directed to be taken.)

(Title.)

This suit coming on this day, etc.; It is hereby ordered and decreed that it be referred to

as the Commissioner to take the accounts following:—

- (i) an account of what is due on this date to the plaintiff for principal and interest on his mortgage mentioned in the plaint (such interest to be computed at the rate payable on the principal, or where no such rate is fixed at six per cent. per annum or at such rate as the Court deems reasonable);
- (ii) an account of the income of the mortgaged property received up to this date by the plaintiff or by any other person by the order or for the use of the plaintiff or which without the wilful default of the plaintiff or such person might have been so received;
- (iii) an account of all sums of money properly incurred by the plaintiff up to this date for costs, charges and expenses (other than the costs of the suit) in respect of the mortgage-security, together with interest thereon (such interest to be computed at the rate agreed between the parties, or, failing such rate, at the same rate as is payable on the principal, or, failing both such rates, at nine per cent. per annum);
- (iv) an account of any loss or damage caused to the mortgaged property before this date by any act or omission of the plaintiff which is destructive of, or permanently injurious to, the property or by his failure to perform any of the duties imposed upon him by any law for the time being in force or by the terms of the mortgage-deed.

2. And it is hereby further ordered and decreed that any amount received under clause (ii) or adjudged due under clause (iv) above, together with interest thereon, shall first be adjusted against any sums paid by the plaintiff under clause (iii) together with interest thereon, and the balance, if any, shall be added to the mortgage-money or, as the case may be, be debited in reduction of the amount due to the plaintiff on account of interest on the principal sum adjudged due and thereafter in reduction or discharge of the principal.

3. And it is hereby further ordered that the said Commissioner shall present the account to this Court with all convenient despatch after making all just allowances on or before the _____ day of _____, and that upon such report of the Commissioner being received, it shall be confirmed and countersigned, subject to such modification as may be necessary after consideration of such objections as the parties to the suit may make.

4. And it is hereby further ordered and decreed—

- (i) that the defendant do pay into Court on or before the _____ day of _____, or any later date up to which time for payment may be extended by the Court, such sum as the Court shall find due, and the sum of Rs. _____ for the costs of the suit awarded to the plaintiff;
- (ii) that, on such payment and on payment thereafter before such date as the Court may fix of such amount as the Court may adjudge due in respect of such costs of the suit and such costs, charges and expenses as may be payable under Rs. 10, together with such subsequent interest as may be payable under R. 11 of O. 34 of the First Schedule to the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, the plaintiff shall bring into Court all documents in his possession or power relating to the mortgaged property in the plaint mentioned, and all such documents shall be delivered over to the defendant, or to such person as he appoints, and the plaintiff shall, if so required, re-convey or re-transfer the said property free from the said mortgage and clear of and from all incumbrances created by the plaintiff or any person claiming under him or any person under whom he claims and free from all liability whatsoever arising from the mortgage or this suit and shall, if so required, deliver up to the defendant quiet and peaceable possession of the said property.

5. And it is hereby further ordered and decreed that, in default of payment as aforesaid, the plaintiff shall be at liberty to apply to the Court for a final decree that the defendant shall thenceforth stand absolutely debarred and foreclosed of and from all right to redeem the mortgaged property described in the Schedule annexed hereto and shall, if so required, deliver up to the plaintiff quiet and peaceable possession of the said property; and that the parties shall be at liberty to apply to the Court from time to time as they may have occasion, and on such application or otherwise the Court may give such directions as it thinks fit.

(i) an account of what is due on this date to the defendant for principal and interest on the mortgage mentioned in the plaint (such interest to be computed at the rate payable on the principal or where no such rate is fixed, at six per cent, per annum or at such rate as the Court deems reasonable);

(ii) an account of the income of the mortgaged property received up to this date by the defendant or by any other person by order or for the use of the defendant or which, without the wilful default of the defendant or such person, might have been so received;

- (iii) an account of all sums of money properly incurred by the defendant up to this date for costs, charges and expenses (other than the costs of the suit) in respect of the mortgage-security together with interest thereon (such interest to be computed at the rate agreed between the parties, or, failing such rate, at the same rate as is payable on the principal, or, failing both such rates, at nine per cent per annum);
- (iv) an account of any loss or damage caused to the mortgaged property before this date by any act or omission of the defendant which is destructive of, or permanently injurious to, the property or by his failure to perform any of the duties imposed upon him by any law for the time being in force or by the terms of the mortgage-deed.

2. It is hereby further ordered and decreed that any amount received under clause (i) or adjudged due under clause (iv) above, together with interest thereon, shall be adjusted against any sums paid by the defendant under clause (ii) together with interest thereon, and the balance, if any, shall be added to the mortgage-money or, as the case may be, be debited in reduction of the amount due to the defendant on account of interest on the principal sum adjudged due and thereafter in reduction or discharge of the principal.

3. And it is hereby further ordered that the said Commissioner shall present the account to this Court with all convenient despatch after making all just allowances on or before the _____ day of _____, and that upon such report of the Commissioner being received, it shall be confirmed and countersigned, subject to such modification as may be necessary after consideration of such objections as the parties to the suit may make.

4. And it is hereby further ordered and decreed :

- (i) that the plaintiff do pay into Court on or before the _____ day of _____, or any later date up to which time for payment may be extended by the Court such sum as the Court shall find due and the sum of Rs. _____ for the costs of the suit awarded to the defendant;
- (ii) that, on such payment, and on payment thereafter before such date as the Court may fix of such amount as the Court may adjudge due in respect of such costs of the suit and such costs, charges and expenses as may be payable under R. 10, together with such subsequent interest as may be payable under R. 11 of O. 34 of the First Schedule to the Code of Civil Procedure 1908, the defendant shall bring into Court all documents in his possession or power relating to the mortgaged property in the plaint mentioned, and all such documents shall be delivered over to the plaintiff, or to such person as he appoints and the defendant shall, if so required, re-convey or re-transfer the said property free from the said mortgage and clear of and from all incumbrances created by the defendant or any person claiming under him or any person under whom he claims and free from all liability whatsoever arising from the mortgage or this suit and shall, if so required, deliver up to the plaintiff quiet and peaceable possession of the said property.

5. And it is hereby further ordered and decreed that, in default of payment as aforesaid, the defendant shall be at liberty to apply to the Court for a final decree that the plaintiff shall thenceforth stand absolutely debarred and foreclosed of and from all right to redeem the mortgaged property described in the Schedule annexed hereto and shall, if so required, deliver up to the defendant quiet and peaceable possession of the said property; and that the parties shall be at liberty to apply to the Court from time to time as they may have occasion, and on such application or otherwise the Court may give such directions as it thinks fit.

(Title.)

This suit coming on this _____ day, etc.; It is hereby ordered and decreed that it be referred to _____ as the Commissioner to take the accounts following :—

- (i) an account of what is due on this date to the defendant for principal and interest on the mortgage mentioned in the plaint (such interest to be computed at the rate payable on the principal or where no such rate is fixed, at six per cent, per annum or at such rate as the Court deems reasonable);
- (ii) an account of the income of the mortgaged property received up to this date by the defendant or by any other person by the order or for the use of the defendant or which without the wilful default of the defendant or such person might have been so received;
- (iii) an account of all sums of money properly incurred by the defendant up to this date for costs, charges and expenses (other than the costs of the suit) in respect of the mortgage-security together with interest thereon (such interest to be computed at the rate agreed between the parties, or, failing such rate, at the same rate as is payable on the principal, or, failing both such rates, at nine per cent. per annum);

(iv) an account of any loss or damage caused to the mortgaged property before this date by any act or omission of the defendant which is destructive of, or permanently injurious to, the property or by his failure to perform any of the duties imposed upon him by any law for the time being in force or by the terms of the mortgage-deed.

2. And it is hereby further ordered and decreed that any amount received under clause (ii) or adjudged due under clause (i) above, together with interest thereon, shall first be adjusted against any sums paid by the defendant under clause (iii) together with interest thereon, and the balance, if any, shall be added to the mortgage-money, or, as the case may be, be debited in reduction of the amount due to the defendant on account of interest on the principal sum adjudged due and thereafter in reduction or discharge of the principal.

3. And it is hereby further ordered that the said Commissioner shall present the account to this Court with all convenient despatch after making all just allowances on or before the _____ day of _____, and that, upon such report of the Commissioner being received, it shall be confirmed and countersigned, subject to such modification as may be necessary after consideration of such objections as the parties to the suit may make.

4. And it is hereby further ordered and decreed—

(i) that the plaintiff do pay into Court on or before the _____ day of _____ or any later date up to which time for payment may be extended by the Court, such sum as the Court shall find due and the sum of Rs. _____ for the costs of the suit awarded to the defendant;

(ii) that, on such payment and on payment thereafter before such date as the Court may fix of such amount as the Court may adjudge due in respect of such costs of the suit and such costs, charges and expenses as may be payable under R. 10, together with such subsequent interest as may be payable under R. 11 of O. 34 of the First Schedule to the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, the defendant shall bring into Court all documents in his possession or power relating to the mortgaged property in the plaint mentioned, and all such documents shall be delivered over to the plaintiff, or to such person as he appoints, and the defendant shall, if so required, re-convey or re-transfer the said property free from the said mortgage and clear of and from all incumbrances created by the defendant or any person claiming under him or any person under whom he claims and shall, if so required, deliver up to the plaintiff quiet and peaceable possession of the said property.

5. And it is hereby further ordered and decreed that, in default of payment as aforesaid, the defendant may apply to the Court for a final decree for the sale of the mortgaged property; and on such application being made, the mortgaged property or a sufficient part thereof shall be directed to be sold; and for the purposes of such sale the defendant shall produce before the Court or such officer as it appoints all documents in his possession or power relating to the mortgaged property.

6. And it is hereby further ordered and decreed that the money realized by such sale shall be paid into Court and shall be duly applied (after deduction therefrom of the expenses of the sale) in payment of the amount payable to the defendant under this decree and under any further orders that may be passed in this suit and in payment of any amount which the Court may adjudge due to the defendant in respect of such costs of the suit and such costs, charges and expenses as may be payable under R. 10, together with such subsequent interest as may be payable under R. 11 of O. 34 of the First Schedule to the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, and that the balance, if any, shall be paid to the plaintiff or other persons entitled to receive the same.

7. And it is hereby further ordered and decreed that, if the money realized by such sale shall not be sufficient for payment in full of the amount payable to the defendant as aforesaid, the defendant shall be at liberty (where such remedy is open to him under the terms of his mortgage and is not barred by any law for the time being in force) to apply for a personal decree against the plaintiff for the amount of the balance and that the parties are at liberty to apply to the Court from time to time as they may have occasion, and on such application or otherwise the Court may give such directions as it thinks fit.

The suit coming on the _____ day, etc.; It is hereby declared that the amount due to the plaintiff on the mortgage mentioned in the plaint calculated up to this _____ day of _____ is the sum of Rs. _____ for principal, the sum of Rs. _____ for interest on the said principal, the sum of Rs. _____ for costs, charges and expenses (other than the costs of the suit) incurred by the plaintiff in respect of the mortgage-security with interest thereon and the sum of Rs. _____ for the costs of this suit awarded to the plaintiff, making in all the sum of Rs. _____.

(Similar declarations to be introduced with regard to the amount due to defendant No. 3 in respect of his mortgage if the mortgage-money due thereunder has become payable at the date of the suit.)

2. It is further declared that the plaintiff is entitled to payment of the amount due to him in priority to defendant No. 2 * [or (if there are several subsequent mortgagees) that the several parties hereto are entitled in the following order to the payment of the sums due to them respectively :—]

3. And it is hereby ordered and decreed as follows :—

(i) (a) that defendants or one of them do pay into Court on or before the day of _____ or any later date up to which time for payment has been extended by the Court the said sum of Rs. _____ due to the plaintiff; and

(b) that defendant No. 1 do pay into Court on or before the day of _____ or any later date up to which time for payment has been extended by the Court the said sum of Rs. _____ due to defendant No. 2; and

(ii) that, on payment of the sum declared to be due to the plaintiff by defendants or either of them in the manner prescribed in clause (i) (a) and on payment thereafter before such date as the Court may fix of such amount as the Court may adjudge due in respect of such costs of the suit and such costs, charges and expenses as may be payable under R. 10, together with such subsequent interest as may be payable under R. 11 of O. 34 of the First Schedule to the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, the plaintiff shall bring into Court all documents in his possession or power relating to the mortgaged property in the plaint mentioned, and all such documents shall be delivered over to the defendant No. _____ (who has made the payment), or to such person as he appoints, and the plaintiff shall, if so required, re-convey or re-transfer the said property free from the said mortgage and clear of and from all incumbrances created by the plaintiff or any person claiming under him or any person under whom he claims, and also free from all liability whatsoever arising from the mortgage or this suit and shall, if so required, deliver up to the defendant No. _____ (who has made the payment) quiet and peaceable possession of the said property.

(Similar declarations to be introduced, if defendant No. 1 pays the amount found or declared to be due to defendant No. 2 with such variation as may be necessary having regard to the nature of his mortgage.)

4. And it is hereby further ordered and decreed that, in default of payment as aforesaid of the amount due to the plaintiff, the plaintiff shall be at liberty to apply to the Court for a final decree—

(i) * [in the case of a mortgage by conditional sale or an anomalous mortgage where the only remedy provided for in the mortgage-deed is foreclosure and no sale] that the defendants jointly and severally shall thenceforth stand absolutely debarred and foreclosed of and from all right to redeem the mortgaged property described in the Schedule annexed hereto and shall, if so required, deliver to the plaintiff quiet and peaceable possession of the said property; or

(ii) * [in the case of any other mortgage] that the mortgaged property or a sufficient part thereof shall be sold; and that for the purposes of such sale the plaintiff shall produce before the Court or such officer as it appoints, all documents in his possession or power relating to the mortgaged property; and

(iii) * [in the case where a sale is ordered under clause 4 (ii) above] that the money realised by such sale shall be paid into Court and be duly applied (after deduction therefrom of the expenses of the sale) in payment of the amount payable to the plaintiff under this decree and under any further orders that may have been passed in this suit and in payment of the amount which the Court may adjudge due to the plaintiff in respect of such costs of this suit and such costs, charges and expenses as may be payable under R. 10, together with such subsequent interest as may be payable under R. 11 of O. 34 of the First Schedule to the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, and that the balance, if any, shall be applied in payment of the amount due to defendant No. 2; and that if any balance be left, it shall be paid to the defendant No. 1 or other persons entitled to receive the same; and

(iv) that if the money realised by such sale shall not be sufficient for payment in full of the amounts due to the plaintiff and defendant No. 2 the plaintiff or defendant No. 2 or both of them, as the case may be shall be at liberty (when such remedy is open under the terms of their respective mortgages and is not barred by any law for the time being in force) to apply for a personal decree against defendant No. 1 for the amounts remaining due to them respectively.

5. And it is hereby further ordered and decreed—

(a) that if defendant No. 2 pays into Court to the credit of this suit the amount adjudged due to the plaintiff, but defendant No. 1 makes default in the payment of the said amount, defendant No. 2 shall be at liberty to apply to the Court to keep the plaintiff's mortgage alive for his benefit and to apply for a final decree (in the same manner as the plaintiff might have done under clause 4 above)—

* [(i) that defendant No. 1 shall thenceforth stand absolutely debarred and foreclosed of and from all right to redeem the mortgaged property described in the Schedule annexed hereto and shall, if so required, deliver up to defendant No. 2 quiet and peaceable possession of the said property;] or

* [(ii) that the mortgaged property or a sufficient part thereof be sold and that for the purposes of such sale defendant No. 2 shall produce before the Court or such officer as it appoints, all documents in his possession or power relating to the mortgaged property ;] and

(o) (if on the application of defendant No. 2 such a final decree for foreclosure is passed), that the whole of the liability of defendant No. 1 arising from the plaintiff's mortgage or from the mortgage of defendant No. 2 or from this suit shall be deemed to have been discharged and extinguished.

6. And it is hereby further ordered and decreed * [in the case where a sale is ordered under clause 5 above]

(i) that the money realised by such sale shall be paid into Court and be duly applied (after deduction therefrom of the expenses of the sale) first in payment of the amount paid by defendant No. 2 in respect of the plaintiff's mortgage and the costs of the suit in connexion therewith and in payment of the amount which the Court may adjudge due in respect of subsequent interest on the said amount; and that the balance, if any, shall then be applied in payment of the amount adjudged due to defendant No. 2 in respect of his own mortgage under this decree and any further orders that may be passed and in payment of the amount which the Court may adjudge due in respect of such costs of this suit and such costs, charges and expenses as may be payable to defendant No. 2 under R. 10 together with such subsequent interest as may be payable under R. 11 of O. 34 of the First Schedule to the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, and that the balance, if any, shall be paid to defendant No. 1 or other persons entitled to receive the same ; and

(ii) that, if the money realised by such sale shall not be sufficient for payment in full of the amount due in respect of the plaintiff's mortgage or defendant No. 2's mortgage, defendant No. 2 shall be at liberty where such remedy is open to him under the terms of his mortgage and is not barred by any law for the time being in force) to apply for a personal decree against defendant No. 1 for the amount of the balance.

7. And it is hereby further ordered and decreed that the parties are at liberty to apply to the Court from time to time as they may have occasion, and on such application or otherwise the Court may give such directions as it thinks fit.

- (ii) [in the case of any other mortgage] that the mortgaged property or a sufficient part thereof shall be sold; and that for the purposes of such sale defendant No. 2 shall produce before the Court or such officer as it appoints, all documents in his possession or power relating to the mortgaged property; and*
- (iii) [in the case where a sale is ordered under clause 4 (ii) above] that the money realised by such sale shall be paid into Court and be duly applied (after deduction therefrom of the expenses of the sale) in payment of the amount payable to defendant No. 2 under the decree and any further orders that may be passed in this suit and in payment of the amount which the Court may adjudge due to defendant No. 2 in respect of such costs of the suit and such costs, charges and expenses as may be payable to the plaintiff under R. 10, together with such subsequent interest as may be payable under R. 11 of O. 34 of the First Schedule to the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, and that the balance, if any, shall be applied in payment of the amount due to the plaintiff and that, if any balance be left, it shall be paid to defendant No. 1 or other persons entitled to receive the same; and*
- (iv) that, if the money realised by such sale shall not be sufficient for payment in full of the amounts due to defendant No. 2 and the plaintiff, defendant No. 2 or the plaintiff or both of them, as the case may be, shall be at liberty (when such remedy is open under the terms of their respective mortgages and is not barred by any law for the time being in force) to apply for a personal decree against defendant No. 1 for the amounts remaining due to them respectively.

5. And it is hereby further ordered and decreed.—

- (a) that, if the plaintiff pays into Court to the credit of this suit the amount adjudged due to defendant No. 2 but defendant No. 1 makes default in the payment of the said amount, the plaintiff shall be at liberty to apply to the Court to keep defendant No. 2's mortgage alive for his benefit and to apply for a final decree (in the same manner as the defendant No. 2 might have done under clause 4 above)—

[(i) that defendant No. 1 shall thenceforth stand absolutely debarred and foreclosed of and from all right to redeem the mortgaged property described in the Schedule annexed hereto and shall, if so required, deliver up to the plaintiff quiet and peaceable possession of the said property;] or*

[(ii) that the mortgaged property or a sufficient part thereof be sold and that for the purposes of such sale the plaintiff shall produce before the Court or such officer as it appoints, all documents in his possession or power relating to the mortgaged property;] and*

- (b) (if on the application of defendant No. 2 such a final decree for foreclosure is passed), that the whole of the liability of defendant No. 1 arising from the plaintiff's mortgage or from the mortgage of defendant No. 2 or from this suit shall be deemed to have been discharged and extinguished,

6. And it is hereby further ordered and decreed (in the case where a sale is ordered under clause 5 above)—

(i) that the money realized by such sale shall be paid into Court and be duly applied (after deduction therefrom of the expenses of the sale) first in payment of the amount paid by the plaintiff in respect of defendant No. 2's mortgage and the costs of the suit in connection therewith and in payment of the amount which the Court may adjudge due in respect of subsequent interest on the said amount; and that the balance, if any, shall then be applied in payment of the amount adjudged due to the plaintiff in respect of his own mortgage under this decree and any further orders that may be passed and in payment of the amount which the Court may adjudge due in respect of such costs of the suit and such costs, charges and expenses as may be payable to the plaintiff under R. 10, together with such subsequent interest as may be payable under R. 11 of O. 34 of the First Schedule to the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, and that the balance, if any, shall be paid to defendant No. 1 or other persons entitled to receive the same; and

(ii) that if the money realised by such sale shall not be sufficient for payment in full of the amount due in respect of defendant No. 2's mortgage or the plaintiff's mortgage, defendant No. 2 shall be at liberty (where such remedy is open to him under the terms of his mortgage and is not barred by any law for the time being in force) to apply for a personal decree against defendant No. 1 for the amount of the balance.

7. And it is hereby further ordered and decreed that the parties are at liberty to apply to the Court from time to time as they may have occasion, and on such application or otherwise the Court may give such directions as it thinks fit.

PROCLAMATION OF SALE. (O. 21. r. 66.)

(Title.)

Notice is hereby given that, under r. 64 of O. 21 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, an order has been
(1) Suit No. of 19 , decided passed by this Court for the sale of the attached property mentioned in the by the of in which was annexed Schedule, in satisfaction of the claim of the decree-holder in the suit plaintiff and was defendant. (1) mentioned in the margin, amounting with costs and interest up to date of sale to the sum of

The sale will be by public auction, and the property will be put up for sale in the lots specified in the schedule. The sale will be of the property of the judgment-debtors above-named as mentioned in the schedule below ; and the liabilities and claims attaching to the said property, so far as they have been ascertained, are those specified in the schedule against each lot.

In the absence of any order of postponement, the sale will be held by at the monthly sale commencing at o'clock on the

. In the event, however, of the debt above specified and of the costs of the sale being tendered or paid before the knocking down of any lot, the sale will be stopped.

At the sale the public generally are invited to bid, either personally or by duly authorised agent. No bid by, or on behalf of, the judgment-creditors above-mentioned, however, will be accepted, nor will any sale to them be valid without the express permission of the Court previously given. The following are the further

Conditions of sale.

1. The particulars specified in the schedule below have been stated to the best of the information of the Court but the Court will not be answerable for any error, mis-statement or omission in this proclamation.

2. The amount by which the biddings are to be increased shall be determined by the officer conducting the sale. In the event of any dispute arising as to the amount bid, or as to the bidder, the lot shall at once be again put up to auction.

3. The highest bidder shall be declared to be the purchaser of any lot, provided always that he is legally qualified to bid, and provided that it shall be in the discretion of the Court or officer holding the sale to decline acceptance of the highest bid when the price offered appears so clearly inadequate as to make it advisable to do so.

4. For reasons recorded, it shall be in the discretion of the officer conducting the sale to adjourn it subject always to the provisions of r. 69 of O. 21.

5. In the case of movable property the price of each lot shall be paid at the time of sale or as soon after as the officer holding the sale directs, and in default of payment the property shall forthwith be again put up and re-sold.

6. In the case of immovable property, the person declared to be the purchaser shall pay immediately after such declaration a deposit of 25 per cent. on the amount of his purchase-money to the officer conducting the sale, and in default of such deposit the property shall forthwith be put up again and re-sold.

7. The full amount of the purchase-money shall be paid by the purchaser before the Court closes on the fifteenth day after the sale of the property, exclusive of such day, or if the fifteenth day be a Sunday or other holiday, then on the first office day after the fifteenth day.

8. In default of payment of the balance of purchase-money within the period allowed, the property shall be re-sold after the issue of a fresh notification of sale. The deposit, after defraying the expenses of the sale, may, if the Court thinks fit, be forfeited to Government and the defaulting purchaser shall forfeit all claim to the property or to any part of the sum for which it may be subsequently sold.

THE SECOND SCHEDULE.

Repealed by the Arbitration Act, 1940 (10 [X] of 1940), S. 49 and Sch. III.

THE THIRD SCHEDULE.

EXECUTION OF DECREES BY COLLECTORS.

Powers of Collector. 1. Where the execution of a decree has been transferred to the Collector under section 68, he may—

- (a) proceed as the Court would proceed when the sale of immovable property is postponed in order to enable the judgment-debtor to raise the amount of the decree; or
- (b) raise the amount of the decree by letting in perpetuity, or for a term, on payment of a premium, or by mortgaging, the whole or any part of the property ordered to be sold; or
- (c) sell the property ordered to be sold or so much thereof as may be necessary.

[1882—S. 321. See Sections 42 and 68 to 72.]

Procedure of Collector in special cases. 2. Where the execution of a decree, not being a decree ordering the sale of immovable property in pursuance of a contract specifically affecting the same, but being a decree for the payment of money in satisfaction of which the Court has ordered the sale of immovable property, has been so transferred, the Collector, if, after such inquiry as he thinks necessary, he has reason to believe that all the liabilities of the judgment-debtor can be discharged without a sale of the whole of his available immovable property, may proceed as hereinafter provided.

Notice to be given to decree-holders and to persons having claims on property.

3. (1) In any such case as is referred to in paragraph 2, the Collector shall publish a notice, allowing a period of sixty days from the date of its publication for compliance and calling upon—

- (a) every person holding a decree for the payment of money against the judgment-debtor capable of execution by sale of his immovable property and which such decree-holder desires to have so executed, and every holder of a decree for the payment of money in execution of which proceedings for the sale of such property or pending, to produce before the Collector a copy of the decree, and a certificate from the Court which passed or is executing the same, declaring the amount recoverable thereunder."

STATEMENTS OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The object of this Bill is to carry out the most important recommendations of the Indian Coal Committee in Chapter IX of its Report. Since the war, the market for Indian coal both in Indian and in foreign ports has been greatly decreased, and the first finding of the Committee is that the problem of the recovery of these markets can be summed up in the two words 'quality' and 'price.' As regards quality, the Committee summarised its recommendations as below:—

It would be very difficult for individual exporters of coal to re-establish themselves in overseas markets owing to the bad repute into which Indian coal has fallen and a Grading Board should, therefore, be immediately established which would grade collieries which produce coal for export and would arrange the issue of a certificate for each consignment of coal exported. (Paragraphs 101 and 102 of the Report.)

Any system of grading and certificates should be such as to command the confidence of buyers overseas and not to relieve the exporter of any responsibility as to quality. (Paragraph 103).

It would take too long and it would be too expensive to establish immediately a new organisation for the grading of Indian coal. (Paragraph 104).

The organisation of the Chief Mining Engineer to the Railway Board should be utilised for the purpose of grading coal. (Paragraph 104).

The most suitable constitution for the Grading Board would be the Chief Mining Engineer as Chairman, a representative of the Indian Mining Association, a representative of the Indian Mining Federation, a nominee of the Bengal Chamber of Commerce and a nominee of the Bengal National Chamber of Commerce. The last two members would represent the consumer's interests on the Board. (Paragraph 104).

The general outline is given of a scheme for classifying all Indian coals, and it is suggested that a grading list should be published by the Grading Board as soon as possible, classifying the different collieries and seams on this system and giving the analysis for their coal. (Paragraph 105).

The names of collieries should not be included in the grading list without their consent. (Paragraph 105).

The decision of the Grading Board as to the classification of any colliery or seam in the grading list should be final. (Paragraph 105).

Any coal should be eligible for inclusion in the grading list. (Paragraph 105).

2. The question of price is largely one for the collieries themselves but the Committee has recommended that certain concessions should be given by the Railways concerned and by the Port Commissioners of Calcutta. These concessions take the form of an additional rebate on railway freight and a reduction of river duties on coal certified for export.

3. These recommendations have been agreed to by the Government of India, the Railway Administrations concerned and the Port Commissioners of Calcutta. The Committee suggested that they should be given effect to in the manner suggested at the end of paragraph 105 of its Report. But the Government of India have been unable to accept this proposal and have decided that the recommendations can be properly given effect to only by means of legislation. Hence they have embodied the recommendations of the Committee in this Bill.

THE COAL GRADING BOARD ACT, 1925.

(ACT XXXI OF 1925.) a

[23rd September, 1925.]

An Act to provide for the grading of coal and for the grant of certificates for coal intended for export.

WHEREAS it is expedient to provide for the grading of coal and for the grant of certificates for coal intended for export; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

[a] For Report of Select Committee, see Gazette of India, 1925, Part V, p. 210.

- Short title and extent. 1. (1) This Act may be called the Coal Grading Board Act, 1925.
(2) It extends to the whole of British India.
- Definitions. 2. In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—
- (a) "Board" means the Coal Grading Board constituted under section 3;
 - (b) "export" means the shipment of coal as cargo from a port in British India;
 - (c) "graded colliery" means a colliery the grade of all or any of the seams or of a part of any seam of which has been determined under the provisions of section 4 and is entered in the grade list maintained in accordance with the provisions of section 5;
 - (d) "prescribed" means prescribed by rules made under this Act; and
 - (e) "secretary" means the secretary of the Board appointed under sub-section (4) of section 3.

Constitution of Coal Grading Board.

3. (1) As soon as may be after the commencement of this Act, the a[Central Government] shall cause to be constituted^b a Board consisting of the following members, namely:—

- (a) the Chief Mining Engineer to the Railway Board c[or, after the establishment of the Federal Railway Authority, to that Authority]; and
- (b) four persons nominated respectively by the Indian Mining Association, the Indian Mining Federation, the Bengal Chamber of Commerce and the Bengal National Chamber of Commerce:

Provided that, if within the period prescribed in this behalf any such body fails to make any nomination which it is entitled to make under this sub-section, the a[Central Government] may d[itself] appoint a member or members, as the case may be, to fill the vacancy or vacancies.

(2) The Board so constituted shall be a body corporate by the name of the Coal Grading Board, having perpetual succession and a common seal with power to acquire and hold property, both movable and immovable, and to contract and shall by the said name sue and be sued.

(3) The Chief Mining Engineer to the Railway Board c[or, after the establishment of the Federal Railway Authority, to that Authority], shall be ex officio President of the Board.

(4) The secretary of the Board shall be a person, not being a member of the Board, appointed by the Board.

[a] Substituted by A. O. for "Governor-General in Council."

[b] For constitution of the Board see Notification No. 47-T. (57), dated 20th January 1926, Gazette of India, 1926, Pt. I, p. 148.

[c] Inserted by A. O.

[d] Substituted by A. O. for "himself."

SECTION 3—Note 1.

"Clause 3 (4) has been amended to vest in the Board the power to appoint its secretary as it is not necessary to retain this power in the hands of Government."—S O R.

Power to grade collieries, to revise grading and to grant certificate.

4. (1) On the application of any colliery and on payment of the prescribed fee, the Board shall, in such manner as may be prescribed, determine the grade of coal of all or any of the seams or of a part of a seam of such colliery, and shall by notice in writing inform the colliery of the grade so determined.

(2) The colliery may, within thirty days from the receipt of the said notice, lodge with the Board an objection to the order passed under sub-section (1) determining the grade of any coal, and the Board shall, on payment of the prescribed fee and after further inspection and analysis, decide such objection; the decision of the Board shall be final and shall not be questioned in any Court.

(3) Where the grade of any coal has been determined under the provisions of this section, the Board shall, on the request of the colliery, furnish a certificate in the prescribed form, specifying the grade of such coal.

Maintenance and
list.

5. (1) The Board shall maintain a grade list, in such form and containing such particulars as may be prescribed, of coal the grade of which has been determined in accordance with the provisions of section 4, but shall not enter in such list any coal in respect of which the colliery has, after the determination or decision of the Board under sub-section (1) or sub-section (2) of section 4, given notice in writing that such coal should not be entered in the grade list.

(2) The grade list shall be published in such manner as may be prescribed.

Grant of export certificate.

6. (1) On the application of any graded colliery desiring to export coal and on payment of the prescribed fee, the Board shall, if it is satisfied after such inspection as it may deem necessary with the quality and condition of the coal, grant a certificate of shipment in the prescribed form.

(2) Such fee shall not exceed one anna per ton of coal.

Powers of inspection.

7. Any member of the Board and any person authorised in this behalf by the Board may, for the purposes of this Act, enter at any time in and upon any colliery, storage bin, truck, vehicle, vessel or other place where there is coal and inspect, test and take sample of such coal.

Grant of rebate and preferences.

8. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in any law for the time being in force, a rebate of any charges, including freight, fees, tolls, dues or rates, may be granted in respect of coal of which a certificate of shipment has been granted under the provisions of section 6, and, subject to such restrictions as may be prescribed, preference may be given in the supply of wagons for forwarding coal for export from a graded colliery.

Application of fees.

9. Subject to such conditions as may be prescribed, the proceeds of fees received by the Board shall be applied to meeting the expenses of the Board.

Validity of acts of Board.

10. No act done or proceeding taken under this Act shall be questioned on the ground merely of the existence of any vacancy in, or any defect in the constitution of, the Board.

SECTION 4—Note 1.

"In clause 4 (2) the limitation period for presenting an appeal should start from the date of the receipt and not the date of issue of notice. We have carefully considered the provisions of clause 4 (2) relating to appeals against the orders of the Board determining the grade of any coal. It is obvious that the only satisfactory method of dealing with such appeals is to make arrangement for new analysis. We are satisfied from the information at our disposal that these fresh analyses will be made in circumstances which will secure an independent test, and we have altered the clause to make fresh inspection and analysis compulsory in the event of an appeal. We have also made provision in this clause for the grant of a certificate to the colliery on the determination of the grade of any coal."—S C R.

SECTION 8—Note 1.

"By clause 8 railway authorities have been allowed to give preference in the supply of wagons in favour of certified coal, but we are of opinion that this should be allowed only subject to such restrictions as may be prescribed by Government."—S C R.

Section 10 of Acts done under Act.

11. No suit or other legal proceeding shall be instituted against any person in respect of anything which is in good faith done or intended to be done under this Act.

Power of the Central Government to make rules.

12. (1) The [Central Government] may, after previous publication, by notification in the [Official Gazette], make rules for the purpose of carrying into effect all or any of the purposes of this Act.

(2) In particular and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such rules may provide for all or any of the following matters, namely:—

- (a) for prescribing the time within which nominations shall be made under section 3, whether in the first instance or on the occurrence of vacancies;
- (b) for prescribing the term of office of members of the Board;
- (c) for prescribing the circumstances in which and the authority by which any member may be removed from the Board;
- (d) for regulating the appointment of officers of, and the keeping and publication of accounts by, the Board;
- (e) for prescribing the procedure on application under section 4 and the principles for grading coal;
- (f) for prescribing the form of and particulars to be entered in and manner of publication of the grade list;
- (g) for prescribing the procedure of the Board in deciding any objection lodged against any order passed under section 4 determining the grade of any coal;
- (h) for prescribing the form of certificate to be granted under section 6 and the procedure on application under that section;
- (i) for prescribing the restrictions subject to which preference may be given under section 8;
- (j) for prescribing the fees for any inspection or analysis required for the purposes of this Act or payable under any of the provisions of this Act; and
- (k) for prescribing the remuneration of members and regulating the expenditure of the Board.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

"The Government of India have had under consideration for some time past the question inter alia of devising measures for the protection of miners against the dangers involved in the present methods of extraction in the main coalfields where a stage has been reached at which the continued extraction of the large quantities of coal standing in pillars by ordinary methods is impossible in some cases and would, in other cases, involve serious danger to those engaged in the work and the likelihood of a great wastage of coal. They accordingly appointed a committee known as the Coal Mining Committee in October, 1936, to inquire into the methods of extracting coal underground in Bengal, Bihar and the Central Provinces and to report on the measures which should be taken to secure the safety of the workers and to prevent avoidable waste of coal. The Committee have advocated the adoption of stowing, i. e., the filling with sand or other incombustible material of the space left by the extraction of coal, to start with, in areas where there is urgent and immediate danger to life or urgent danger of substantial loss of coal. The Committee have recommended that a cess of 8 annas per ton on coal, including soft coke, and 12 as per ton on hard coke should be imposed, to be used mainly to defray the cost of stowing. The recommendations of the Committee have been examined by the Government of India in consultation with the Provincial Governments and the interests concerned. The Government of India feel that for the present at any rate the main objective of any proposals should be to secure the safety of the worker. Such proposals would incidentally result in certain amount of conservation but safety should be the primary objective. The Bill is designed to give effect to these proposals...."

ACT HOW AFFECTED BY SUBSEQUENT LEGISLATION.

—Amended by Act 11 of 1940: 8 of 1944.

—Amended by Ordinance No. XXV of 1942.

THE COAL MINES SAFETY (STOWING) ACT, 1939 (ACT XIX OF 1939)^a

[21st April, 1939.]

An Act to make further provision for safety in coal mines.

Whereas it is expedient to make further provision for safety in coal mines by taking measures to facilitate or require therein the carrying out of the operation known as stowing^b [and other operations], and to provide for the creation of a fund for the assistance of such^c [operations], in the manner hereinafter provided :

It is hereby enacted as follows—

[a] For the Statement of Objects and Reasons, see Gazette of India 1939, Pt. V, p. 23; for the Report of Select Committee, see ibid., p. 37.

[b] Inserted by the Coal Mines Safety (Stowing) Amendment Act, 1940 (11 [XI] of 1940), s. 2.

[c] Substituted for "operation," ibid.

Short title extent and commencement.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Coal Mines Safety (Stowing) Act, 1939.
- (2) It extends to the whole of British India except Assam and the Punjab.
- (3) It shall come into force on such date^a as the Central Government may, by notification in the official Gazette, appoint.

[a] The 27th May, 1939, see Gazette of India, 1939, Pt. I, p. 907.

Definition

2. In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

- (a) "agent," "mine" and "owner" have the meanings respectively assigned to them in section 3 of the Indian Mines Act, 1923;
- (b) "Board" means the Coal Mines Stowing Board constituted under section 3;
- (c) "Chief Inspector" and "Inspector" mean the persons respectively appointed to be Chief Inspector of Mines and Inspector of Mines under sub-section (1) of section 4 of the Indian Mines Act, 1923 and the provisions of that Act shall apply to the Chief Inspector and to all Inspectors while exercising their powers under this Act or the rules made thereunder;
- (d) "fund" means the Coal Mines Stowing Fund;
- (e) "prescribed" means prescribed by rules made under this Act;
- (f) "soft coke" means of coke which is unsuitable for metallurgical purposes, and "hard coke" means all coke which is not soft coke;
- (g) "stowing" means the operation of filling with sand or other incombustible material space left underground in a coal mine by the extraction of coal.

3. (1) The Central Government shall, as soon as may be after the commencement of this Act, constitute a Board to be called the Coal Mines Stowing Board to administer the fund, and such Board shall be a body corporate and have perpetual succession and a common seal, and shall by the said name sue and be sued.

(2) The Board shall consist of the following members, namely:—

- (i) a person a [* * *] appointed by the Central Government, as Chairman:
- (ii) the Chief Inspector, or an Inspector appointed by the Central Government in this behalf;
- (iii) two persons nominated by the Indian Mining Association:
- (iv) one person nominated by the Indian Mining Federation;
- (v) one person nominated by the Indian Colliery Owners' Association:

Provided that if, within the prescribed period, any body fails to make the nomination which it is entitled to make under this sub-section, the Central Government may itself nominate a person to fill the place on the Board.

(3) Where a nominated member dies, resigns, ceases to reside in British India or becomes incapable of acting, the Central Government shall, on the recommendation of the body which would have been entitled to make the nomination if it had been a first nomination under sub-section (2), or where such recommendation is not made within the prescribed period, may, on its own initiative, nominate a person to fill the vacancy.

(4) No act done by the Board shall be questioned on the ground merely of the existence of any vacancy in, or any defect in the constitution of, the Board.

[a] Omitted by the Coal Mines Safety (Stowing) Amendment Ordinance 1942 (No. XXV of 1942), s. 2, [22-5-1942].

4. (1) The Board may, at any time and for such period as it thinks fit, co-opt as members of the Board any persons possessing such technical qualifications as may be prescribed.

(2) A member co-opted under sub section (1) shall exercise all the powers and functions of a member under this Act, except that he shall not be entitled to vote on any question coming before the Board.

5. With effect from such date^a as the Central Government may, by notification in the official Gazette, appoint in this behalf, there shall be levied and collected on all coal raised and despatched, and on all soft coke manufactured and despatched, from collieries in British India a duty of excise as may, by notification in the official Gazette, be fixed from time to time by the Central Government, subject to a maximum rate of three annas per ton; similarly there shall be levied and collected on such descriptions of hard coke as may be prescribed a duty of excise as may, by notification in the official Gazette, be fixed from time to time by the Central Government, subject to a maximum rate of one and a half times the rate of excise duty for the time being in force in respect of coal and soft coke.

[a] i.e., 1st December 1939—See Department of Labour Notification No. M.—955 (1) of 17-10-1939 in the Gazette of India, dated 21-10-1939, Part I.

6. During the period in which a duty of excise is being levied under section 5, the Central Government may, by notification in the official Gazette, impose on all coal and soft coke and on such descriptions of hard coke as may be prescribed under section 5, imported into British India from any foreign country or brought into British India from the territory of any Indian State ^a[* * *], a duty of customs, ^b[(which shall be in addition to any duty of customs for the time being leviable under any other Act),] at rates equivalent to the rates of the duty of excise levied under section 5 of this Act.

[a] Certain words were omitted by the Coal Mines Safety (Stowing) Amendment Act, 1940 (11 [XI] of 1940), s. 8.

7. The Central Government shall, as soon as may be in each financial year, pay to the Board a sum equivalent to the net proceeds ^a[determined in such manner as may be prescribed] of the duty of excise realised under section 5 during the preceding year.

[a] Substituted by the Coal Mines Safety (Stowing) Amendment Act, 1940 (11 [XI] of 1940), s. 4, for the original words.

8. (1) The sum referred to in section 7 and any other moneys received by the Board shall be credited to a fund to be called the Coal Mines Stowing Fund, which shall be applied by the Board in such manner and subject to such conditions as may be prescribed, to—

- (i) meeting the expenses in connection with the administration and the furtherance of the objects of this Act; ^a[*]
- (ii) the grant of stowing materials and other assistance for stowing operations to owners, agents or managers of coal mines:
- ^b [(iii) the execution of ^c[stowing and other operations] in furtherance of the objects of this Act; and
- (iv) the prosecution of research work connected with safety in mines].

(2) The Board shall keep accounts of the fund, and such accounts shall be examined and audited at the prescribed times by auditors appointed in this behalf by the Central Government.

[a] The word "and" was omitted by the Coal Mines Safety (Stowing) Amendment Act, 1940 (11 [XI] of 1940), s. 5.

[c] Amended, ibid., 1944 (8 [III] of 1944), s. 2.

9. (1) The Chief Inspector or any Inspector may make such examination and inquiries as he thinks fit in order to ascertain whether the provisions of this Act and of any rules and orders made thereunder are being complied with.

(2) The Chief Inspector or any Inspector may, with such assistance, if any, as he thinks fit, enter, inspect and examine at any time by day or night any coal mine in respect of which assistance is being, or has been, given under this Act, in order to ascertain the amount of sand or other incombustible material used in stowing in the mine or to ensure that stowing ^a[or any other operation towards which assistance may be granted under this Act], has been, or is being, done effectively:

Provided that the power conferred by this sub-section shall not be exercised in such a manner as unreasonably to impede or obstruct the working of the mine.

(3) Without prejudice to the provisions of section 19 of the Indian Mines Act, 1923, the chief Inspector or any Inspector may, by order in writing addressed to the owner, agent or manager of a coal mine, require him to take such protective measures, including stowing, in the mine as the Chief Inspector or the Inspector may think necessary, if in the opinion of the Chief Inspector or Inspector—

- (a) the extraction or reduction of pillars in any part of the mine is likely to cause crushing of pillars or the premature collapse of any part of the workings or otherwise endanger human life or the mine, or
- (b) adequate provision against the outbreak of fire or flooding has not been made by providing for the sealing off and isolation of any part of the mine or for restricting the area that might be affected by fire or flooding, as the case may be.

[a] Inserted by the Coal Mines Safety (Stowing) Amendment Act, 1940 (11 [XI] of 1940), s. 6.

10. The provisions of sub-sections (3) to (6) (both inclusive) of section 19 of the Indian Mines Act, 1923, shall apply to an order made under sub-section (3) of section 9 of this Act as they apply to an order made under sub-section (2) of section 19 of that Act, and all the provisions of the Indian Mines Act, 1923 (except sub-section (1) of section 11 thereof), affecting committees appointed for the purposes of that Act or relating to the disposal of references made to such committees, shall apply, mutatis mutandis and so far as may be, to a committee appointed to inquire into a reference under this Act and to the disposal of such reference. ^aProvided that the power conferred by the proviso to sub-section (6) of the said section 19 to suspend the operation of a requisition under sub-section (1) of that section shall include a power similarly to suspend the operation of an order made under sub-section (3) of section 9 of this Act.

^a Proviso was added by the Coal Mines Safety (Stowing) Amendment Act, 1944 (3 [III] of 1944), s. 3, [7-3-1944].

^a10A. Powers of Board in executing operations.—(1) If in the opinion of the Board it is necessary or desirable that any protective measures, including stowing, required in furtherance of the object of this Act, should be undertaken directly by the Board, the Board may execute or cause to be executed such measures under its own supervision.

(2) For the purposes of this section the Board shall have the right for itself and all persons employed in the execution of any work undertaken under this section to enter upon any property in which the work is to be done and to do therein all things necessary for the execution of the work.

(3) No person shall obstruct or interfere with the execution of any work undertaken under this section, and no person shall remove or tamper with any plant or machinery or any stowing or other material used in the execution of such work.

(4) Whoever contravenes the provisions of sub-section (3) shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to six months or with fine or with both.]

[^a Sec 10A was inserted by the Coal Mines Safety (Stowing) Amendment Act, 1944 (3 [III] of 1944), s. 4, [7-3-1944].

Committee of Inquiry. 11. (1) A committee appointed to inquire into a reference arising out of an order passed under sub-section (3) of section 9 shall consist of—

(a) the chairman of the Board as chairman;

(b) four members selected by the Chairman of the Board as follows:—

(i) two, from a panel of eight persons nominated by the Indian Mining Association;

(ii) one, from a panel of four persons nominated by the Indian Mining Federation;

(iii) one, from a panel of four persons nominated by the Indian Colliery Owners' Association; and

(c) one member appointed by the Central Government to represent the interests of persons employed in coal mines.

(2) No person shall be nominated to the panels referred to in clause (b) of sub-section (1) unless he possesses such technical qualifications as may be prescribed.

(3) If any body fails, within the prescribed period, to make any nomination which it is entitled to make under sub-section (1) or to fill any vacancy in a panel, the Central Government shall itself nominate a sufficient number of persons to complete the panel.

12. (1) The Central Government may, after previous publication, make rules^a to carry out the purposes of this Act.

(2) In particular, and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing provisions, such rules may provide for any or all of the following purposes, namely:—

- (a) the nomination, and term of office, of members of the Board appointed or nominated under section 3;
- (b) the powers and functions of, and the conduct of business by, the Board;
- b [(bb) the determination of the net proceeds of the duty of excise for the purposes of section 7];
- (c) prescribing the technical qualifications to be possessed by co-opted members of the Board and by persons nominated to the panels referred to in section 11;
- (d) prescribing the descriptions of hard coke on which a duty of excise may be levied under section 5;
- (e) regulating the levy, collection and payment of the duty of excise; and the imposition, collection and payment of the duty of customs;
- (f) prescribing the manner in which and the conditions under which sums at the credit of the fund may be applied;
- (a) prescribing the form in which the accounts of the fund shall be kept and the times at which such accounts shall be audited, and regulating the publication of the abstract of such accounts and the report of the auditors thereon, and prescribing the procedure in relation to any items of expenditure from the fund disallowed by the auditors;
- (h) any other matter which is to be or may be prescribed.

[a] For such rules see Department of Labour notification No. M.-955 (2) of 17-10-1939 in the Gazette of India, dated 21-10-1939, Part 1, as amended from time to time.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

"Even before the outbreak of the present war the supply of coconuts and coconut products from indigenous sources was insufficient to meet India's growing requirements and a large balance had to be imported. With the enemy occupation of some of the world's principal coconut-growing countries an acute shortage has developed abroad and it has become necessary to secure an immediate increase in the production of coconuts in India in order to meet as far as possible from internal sources India's increased demand for coconut products for essential purposes, military and civil. There is reason to believe that present production can be substantially increased in a comparatively short time by the adoption of better cultural and manurial practices and that the process of extracting the oil is similarly susceptible of considerable improvement. The time also appears opportune to provide for and initiate the agricultural and technological research necessary to render possible a general intensification of production, the better utilisation of the coconut and coconut products and the rehabilitation of the industry.

The Government of India consider that both the war-time and the long-term aspects of the problem can best be served by the immediate establishment of an all-India organisation on lines for which the Indian Central Cotton Committee and similar bodies concerned with coffee and lac afford precedent. The Bill accordingly seeks to establish an Indian Central Coconut Committee, with an independent source of income, for the improvement and development of the growing, marketing and manufacture of the coconut in India and for promoting and safeguarding the interests of all branches of its production and manufacture, from the producer to the consumer. An exception will be coir and coir manufactured goods, which will for the present be excluded from the purview of the proposed Committee in deference to the wishes of the Government of Travancore the largest producer of these commodities. Complete agreement has been reached with the Provincial and State Governments concerned as to the desirability of setting up such a Committee and as to its constitution, functions and pecuniary resources."

EXTRACT FROM THE SELECT COMMITTEE REPORT.

"The rate of duty proposed by the Bill is a fixed rate of Rs. 3-2-0 per ton, working out approximately to Rs. 0-2-6 per cwt., and was fixed by reference to the sum estimated as necessary for the inauguration of the scheme set up by the Bill and for the initial stages of the working of the Act. We realize that as the work of the Committee develops more ample funds will be required, and we think that the best method to secure elasticity is to provide a maximum limit which the cess must not transcend, and give the Central Government power within the limit to fix the amount of the cess from time to time by notification. Accordingly we have laid down in clause 3 Rs. 0-4-0 per cwt. as that limit, but we are of opinion that on the Act coming into force the Central Government should in the first instance fix the rate of the cess at Rs. 0-2-6 per cwt., that is to say, the rate provided for in the Bill as introduced. Our amendment, in that it increases the rate of cess which the Bill proposed, requires the previous sanction of the Governor General before it could be moved, and we request that this previous sanction may be obtained.

In the constitution of the Committee provision is already made for the representation of the interests of growers of coconuts and persons engaged in the coconut oil industry. We consider that it is desirable also to have persons to represent the interests of the general consumer. This, we consider, can best be done by providing for the appointment of additional members to be chosen by election from among the elected members of the Legislature. Accordingly, we have provided for the appointment of two such persons from the Legislative Assembly, and one from the Council of State; and in order that the three States primarily concerned with the subject-matter of the Bill may have similar representation, we have provided for nominations by the State Governments. We hope that the State Governments in making their nominations will find it suitable to base their choice on the principles which we have provided to be followed in British India.

We consider that a member elected by virtue of his being an elected member of the Legislature should remain on the Committee only so long as he continues to be an elected member of the Legislature, and we contemplated modifying the provisions of clause 6 to express this. But the effect can be achieved by the use of the rule-making power conferred by clauses (b) and (c), sub-clause (2) of clause 13, and we consider that the rules made under this clause should so provide."

ACT HOW AFFECTED BY SUBSEQUENT LEGISLATION,

—Amended by Acts 6 of 1945; 15 of 1946.

[THE INDIAN] COCONUT COMMITTEE ACT, 1944.

(ACT X of 1944)

[31st March, 1944.]

An Act to provide for the creation of a fund for the improvement and development of the cultivation, marketing and utilization of coconuts in India.

Whereas it is expedient to provide for the creation of a fund to be expended by a Committee specially constituted in this behalf for the improvement and development of the cultivation, marketing and utilization of coconuts in India;

It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Short title and extent. 1. (1) This Act may be called the Indian Coconut Committee Act, 1944.

[2] It extends to the whole of British India.

Definitions. 2. In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

(a) "Collector" means the officer appointed by the Central Government^t to perform in any specified area the duties of a Collector under the provisions of this Act and the rules made thereunder, and includes any officer subordinate to that officer whom he may by order in writing authorise to perform his duties under those provisions:]

(b) "the Committee" means the Indian Coconut Committee constituted under this Act:

b[(bb) "Fund" means the Coconut Improvement Fund referred to in sub-section (2) of section 3:]

(c) "mill" means any place in which copra is crushed for the extraction of oil, which is a factory as defined in section 2 of the ^o["*"] Factories Act, 1934;

(d) "prescribed" means prescribed by rules made under this Act.

[c] The word 'Indian' was omitted by the Repealing and Amending Act, 1945 (6 [VI] of 1945), S. 3 and Sch. II.

3. a[(1)] There shall be levied and collected, as a cess for the purposes of this Act, on ^{Imposition of} all copra consumed in any mill in British India, whether produced in or ^{Coconut cess.} imported from outside British India, a duty of excise at such rate, not exceeding four annas per cwt., as the Central Government may, after consulting the Committee, by notification in the official Gazette, fix in this behalf.

a[(2)] On the last day of each month, or as soon thereafter as may be convenient, the proceeds of the duty recovered during that month shall, after deduction of the expenses, if any, of collection and recovery, be paid to the Committee, and the Committee shall credit the said proceeds and any other monies received by it to a fund called the Coconut Improvement Fund.]

[a] Section 3 was re-numbered as sub-section (1) and sub-section (2) was added by the Indian Coconut Committee (Amendment) Act, 1946 (15 [XV] of 1946), S. 2. [18-4-1946.]

4. As soon as may be after the commencement of this Act, the Central Government ^{Con-stitution of} shall cause to be constituted a Committee consisting of the ^{Indian Coconut} following members, a[^{Committee.} to receive for credit to the Fund the proceeds of the duty and any other monies received by it and to administer the Fund,] namely:—

(g) recommending the maximum and minimum prices to be fixed for copra ;

(h) advising on all matters which require attention for the development of the industry ;

(i) improving the marketing of coconuts in India and abroad and suggesting suitable measures to prevent unfair competition ;

(j) assisting in the control of insects and other pests and diseases of coconut trees ;

(k) promoting and encouraging co-operative efforts among the coconut growers and in the coconut industries ;

(l) adopting such measures as may be practicable for assuring remunerative returns to growers ;

(m) maintaining and assisting in the maintenance of such institutes, farms and stations as it may consider necessary ;

(n) adopting any other measures or performing any other duties which it may be required by the Central Government to adopt or perform or which the Committee itself may think necessary or advisable in order to carry out the purposes of this Act.]

[a] Sec. 9 was substituted by the Indian Coconut Committee (Amendment) Act, 1946 (15 [XV] of 1946), S. 5, for the original section. [18-4-1946]

Delivery of monthly returns. 10. (1) The owner of every mill shall furnish to the Collector on or before the 7th day of each month, a return stating the total amount of copra consumed in the mill during the preceding month together with such further information in regard thereto as may be prescribed :

Provided that no return shall be required in regard to copra consumed before the commencement of this Act.

(2) Every such return shall be made in such form and shall be verified in such manner as may be prescribed.

Collection of cess by Collector. 11. (1) On receiving any return made under section 10 the Collector shall assess the amount of the duty payable under section 3 in respect of the period to which the return relates, and if the amount has not already been paid shall cause a notice to be served upon the owner of the mill requiring him to make payment of amount assessed within thirty days of the service of the notice.

(2) If the owner of any mill fails to furnish in due time the return referred to in sub-section (1) of section 10 or furnishes a return which the Collector has reason to believe is incorrect or defective, the Collector shall assess the amount, if any, payable by him in such manner, as may be prescribed, and the provisions of sub-section (1) shall thereupon apply as if such assessment had been made on the basis of a return furnished by the owner :

Provided that, in the case of a return which he has reason to believe is incorrect or defective, the Collector shall not assess the duty at an amount higher than that at which it is assessable on the basis of the return without giving to the owner a reasonable opportunity of proving the correctness and completeness of the return.

(3) A notice under sub-section (1) may be served on the owner of a mill either by post or by delivering it or tendering it to the owner or his agent at the mill.

Finality of assessment and recovery of unpaid duty.

a[12. (1) Any owner of a mill who is aggrieved by an assessment made under section 11 may, within three months of service of the notice referred to in sub-section (1) of that section, apply to the District Judge, or in a Presidency-town, to the Chief Judge of the Small Cause Court for the cancellation or modification of the assessment and, on such application, the said Judge may cancel or modify the assessment and order the refund to such owner of the whole or part, as the case may be, of any amount paid thereunder.

(2) The decision under sub-section (1) of the District Judge or the Chief Judge of the Small Cause Court, as the case may be, shall be final.]

(3) Any sum recoverable under section 11 may be recovered as an arrear of land revenue.

[a] Sub-sections (1) and (2) were substituted by the Indian Coconut Committee (Amendment) Act, 1946 (15 [XV] of 1946), S. 6, for the original sub-sections (1) and (2). [18-4-1946]

Power to inspect mills and take copies of records and accounts.

13. (1) The Collector or any officer empowered by general or special order of the Central Government in this behalf shall have free access at all reasonable times during working hours to any mill or to any part of any mill.

(2) The Collector or any such officer may at any time a [during working hours] with or without notice to the owner, examine the b [purchase, sale and stock] records and accounts of any mill and take copies of or extracts from all or any of the said records or accounts for the purpose of testing the accuracy of any return or of informing himself as to the particulars regarding which information is required for the purposes of this Act or any rules made thereunder.

c[Provided that nothing in this section shall be deemed to authorise the examination of any description or formulae of any trade process.]

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

1. "After the outbreak of the present war the Indian coffee industry lost certain important foreign markets. There was therefore a great slump in the prices of coffee. A Coffee Control Conference consisting of the interests affected was held in September 1940 to consider the steps that could be taken to save the industry from collapse. After full consideration of the recommendations made at the Conference, the Coffee Market Expansion Ordinance, 1940, was promulgated providing for the necessary assistance to the Indian Coffee Industry by regulating the export of coffee from, and the sale of coffee in, British India, and other connected means.

2. The duration of the Ordinance was limited in order to make proposals for legislation after gaining experience and after ascertaining the wishes of the coffee interests in the matter.

3. A second Coffee Control Conference of the coffee interests was accordingly convened on the 20th October, 1941. The Conference recognised that the control scheme has been greatly beneficial to the coffee industry in its present crisis and unanimously made the following recommendations :—

- (1) that the control scheme as generally embodied in the Ordinance should be continued by legislation and that its duration be for the period of the war and one coffee crop year thereafter, and
- (2) that the control should be limited to estates with area of 10 acres or more but provision should be made whereby control may be extended, if necessary, over estates with areas below 10 acres.

These recommendations were endorsed by the Standing Advisory Committee of the Legislature attached to the Commerce Department.

4. In view of the general agreement of all interests for the maintenance of the coffee control scheme it is proposed to continue control by legislation, and the present Bill is designed to achieve this object".

(3) Where a member of the Board dies, resigns or is removed, or ceases to reside in India, or becomes incapable of acting, the Central Government may, on the recommendation of the authority or body which was entitled to make the first nomination under sub-section (2), or where such recommendation is not made within a reasonable time, then on its own initiative, nominate a person to fill the vacancy.

c[(4)] No act done by the Board shall be questioned on the ground merely of the existence of any vacancy in, or any defect in the constitution of, the Board.

[a] Substituted by the Coffee Market Expansion (Amendment) Act, 1943 (7 [VII] of 1943), S. 3 (a) [26-3-1943]

[b] Substituted by the Coffee Market Expansion (Amendment) Act, 1947 (4 [IV] of 1947), S. 3 [11-3-1947]

[c] Renumbered, ibid, 1943, S. 3. [26-3-1943].

Incorporation of the Board. 5. The Board shall be a body corporate by the name of the a [Indian Coffee Board] having perpetual succession and a common seal, with power to acquire and hold property, both movable and immovable, and to contract, and shall by the said name sue and be sued.

[a] Substituted by the Coffee Market Expansion (Amendment) Act, 1943 (7 [VII] of 1943), S. 4 for "Indian Coffee Market Expansion Board". [26-3-1943]

Vesting of property in the Board. 6. So long as this Act remains in force all property, movable or immovable, of or belonging to the Indian Coffee Cess Committee shall vest in the Board and all debts and liabilities of the said Committee shall be transferred to the Board, and the officers and servants of the said Committee shall be officers and servants on the staff of the Board and the said Committee shall be suspended.

Chairman, committees, staff and agents. 7. (1) The chairman of the Board shall be elected by the Board from among the members of the Board :

Provided that the person who is, at the commencement of this Act, the chairman of the Indian Coffee Market Expansion Board constituted under the Coffee Market Expansion Ordinance, 1940, shall be the first chairman of the Board.

(2) The Board may appoint such committees for such purposes and may employ such staff as it thinks necessary for the efficient discharge of its functions under this Act.

(3) The Board may authorise agents to discharge on its behalf its functions in relation to the marketing, storing and curing of coffee.

Chief Coffee Marketing Officer and Deputy Chief Coffee Marketing Officer. a[8] (1) The Central Government shall appoint an officer, to be called the a[Chief Coffee Marketing Officer,] to exercise such powers and perform such duties under the direction of the Board as may be prescribed by the Central Government.

(2) The Central Government may appoint an officer, to be called the a[Deputy Chief Coffee Marketing Officer,] to exercise such powers and perform such duties of the a[Chief Coffee Marketing Officer] as may be delegated to him by the a[Chief Coffee Marketing Officer] with the previous sanction of the Central Government or as may be prescribed by the Central Government.

(3) The a[Chief Coffee Marketing Officer] and the a[Deputy Chief Coffee Marketing Officer,] may be either salaried or unsalaried : if salaried, they shall be paid by the Board such salaries as may be fixed by the Central Government.

(4) The Board shall pay to the a[Chief Coffee Marketing Officer] and the a[Deputy Chief Coffee Marketing Officer,] such allowances as may be fixed by the Central Government.

[a] The words 'Chief Coffee Marketing Officer' and 'Deputy Chief Coffee Marketing Officer' were substituted for the words 'Controller of Coffee' and 'Deputy Controller of Coffee' by the Coffee Market Expansion (Amendment) Act, 1947 [IV of 1947], S. 5. [11-3-1947]

Power of Board to make bye-laws. 9. The Board may, with the previous sanction of the Central Government, make bye-laws consistent with this Act and the rules made thereunder to provide for all or any of the following matters, namely :—

- (a) the procedure to be followed at meetings of the Board and at committees ;
- (b) the powers exercisable and the duties to be discharged by the chairman of the Board and the members of the staff of the Board ;
- (c) the travelling or other allowances which may be drawn by members of the Board ;
- (d) the appointment, promotion and dismissal of members of the staff of the Board, the creation and abolition of such appointments, and the terms of service of members of the staff of the Board ;

- (e) any other matter in respect of which bye-laws may be made under this Act or the rules made thereunder.

Dissolution of the Board.

10. When the Board is dissolved by reason of this Act having ceased to be in force, the unexpended balance of all money received by the Board under the Coffee Market Expansion Ordinance, 1940, or under this Act except money in the pool fund shall be disposed of in such manner as the Central Government may direct. The Central Government shall disburse the money in the pool fund in the same manner as the Board would have done had it continued to exist.

Duties of Customs and of Excise.

Duty of customs. 11. A duty of customs shall be levied on all coffee produced in India and exported from British India at the rate of one rupee per hundredweight or at such lower rate as the Central Government may, on the recommendation of the Board, by notification in the official Gazette provide.

Duty of excise. 12. A duty of excise shall be levied at such rate not exceeding one rupee per hundredweight as may be fixed by the Central Government on the recommendation of the Board by notification in the official Gazette on all coffee, except coffee sold and delivered before the estate became subject to the provisions of sub-section (1) of section 14, which a registered estate is permitted by the internal sale quota allotted to it to sell in the Indian Market, whether such coffee is actually sold or not, and on all coffee released for sale in India by the Board from the surplus pool.

Payment of proceeds of duties to the Board and manner of realisation by the Board.

13. (1) The proceeds of the duty of customs levied under section 11 and of the duty of excise levied under section 12 shall be paid to the Board for credit to the general fund of the Board.

(2) On the last day of each month, or as soon thereafter as may be convenient, the Collector shall pay to the Board the proceeds of the duty of customs recovered during that month after deduction of the expenses, if any, for collection and recovery.

(3) The Central Board of Revenue may make rules providing, on such conditions as may be specified in the rules, for—

(a) the refund of the duty of customs where coffee is exported by land and subsequently imported into India, and

(b) the export by land without payment of the duty of customs, of coffee which is subsequently to be imported into India.

(4) The duty of excise on coffee shall be payable by the registered owner of the estate producing the coffee and shall be realised by the Board by the deduction of the amount of the duty payable by such owner from any sum due to him on account of sales from the surplus pool. It shall be a first charge on such sum, and shall, if not capable of realisation by deduction as aforesaid, be paid to the Board by the registered owner within one month of demand by the Board or thereafter be recoverable from him as an arrear of land-revenue.

(5) The Board shall have power to adjudge by bulk the number of hundredweights contained in any quantity of uncured coffee.

(6) No action of the Board under this section shall be called in question by any Court.

Registration.

Registration of owners of coffee estates.

14. (1) Every person owning land planted with coffee plants aggregating not less than ten acres, whether such land is comprised in one estate or in more than one estate and whether it is situated wholly or only partly in British India, shall, unless it is already registered as required by this sub-section, before the expiration of one month from the date on which he first becomes subject to the provisions of this sub-section, apply to the registering officer appointed in this behalf by the Provincial Government to be registered as an owner and in respect of each estate owned by him.

(2) The Central Government may, by notification in the official Gazette, declare that the provisions of sub-section (1) shall apply to persons owning land planted with coffee plants aggregating less than ten acres.

(3) A registration once made shall continue in force until it is cancelled by the registering officer.

(4) If any question arises whether an owner of an estate is or is not required to be registered under this section, the question shall be decided by the Controller of Coffee, subject to revision by the Central Government.

Power of Provincial Government to make rules. 15. (1) The Provincial Government may, by notification in the official Gazette, make rules to carry into effect the provisions of section 14.

(2) Without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such rules may prescribe the form of the application for registration and for cancellation of registration, the fee payable on such applications, the particulars to be included in such applications, the procedure to be followed in granting and cancelling registration, the registers to be kept by registering officers, and the supply by registering officers of information to the Board.

Control of sale, Export and Re-import of Coffee.

Fixation of prices for sale of coffee. ^a16. (1) The Central Government may, after consultation with the Board, by notification in the official Gazette, fix the price or prices at which coffee may be sold wholesale or retail in the Indian market.

(2) No registered owner or licensed curer or dealer shall sell coffee wholesale or retail in the Indian market at a price or prices higher than the price or prices fixed under this section].

[a] Substituted by the Coffee Market Expansion (Amendment) Act, 1943 (7 [VII] of 1943), S. 5 [26-3-1943]

Sale of coffee in excess of internal sale quota. 17. No registered owner shall, before the estate became subject to the provisions of sub-section (1) of section 14, sell or contract to sell in the Indian market coffee from any registered estate if by such sale the internal sale quota allotted to that estate is exceeded. ^a[Nor shall a registered owner sell or contract to sell in the Indian market any coffee produced on his estate in any year for which no internal sale quota is allotted to the estate].

Provided that nothing in this section shall apply to coffee sold from a registered estate in excess of the internal sale quota if such sale was in pursuance of a contract of sale entered into before the estate became subject to the provisions of sub-section (1) of section 14 and if after the estate became so subject no coffee has been sold from that estate in the Indian market except in pursuance of a contract of sale entered into before the estate became subject to the provisions of sub-section (1) of section 14.

[a] Added by the Coffee Market Expansion (Amendment) Act, 1943 (7 [VII] of 1943), S. 6. [26-3-1943]

Sale of coffee, how made. 18. No registered owner shall sell coffee unless either—
(a) it has been cured at or is delivered to the buyer through a curing establishment licensed under section 28, or

(b) it is sold under and in accordance with the provisions of a licence procured from the Board under section 24.

Storage or sale of coffee on or from unregistered estate. 19. No owner of an estate not registered under this Act shall sell from or store on his estate or cause or permit to be sold from or stored on his estate any coffee not grown on the estate ^a[and no owner of a registered estate shall sell from or store on his estate or cause or permit to be sold from or stored on his estate any coffee grown on any state not registered under this Act.]

[a] Added by the Coffee Market Expansion (Amendment) Act, 1943 (7 [VII] of 1943), S. 7 [26-3-1943]

Export of coffee. 20. No coffee shall be exported from British India otherwise than by the Board or under an authorisation granted by the Board in the prescribed manner and in the prescribed cases, and the provisions of the Sea Customs Act, 1878, shall have effect as if the provision made by this section had been made by notification issued under section 19 of that Act:

Provided that nothing herein contained shall apply to coffee dispatched out of British India by post, or carried in a passenger's luggage for his personal use:

Provided further that the Central Government may exempt from the operation of this section, either absolutely or subject to conditions, the export of coffee from British India to an Indian State or to any foreign settlement bounded by India.

Re-import of coffee exported from India. 21. (1) No coffee which has been exported from India shall be re-imported into British India except under and in accordance with a permit granted by the Board.

(2) ^a[Unless with the previous sanction of the Central Government the Board decides that no internal sale quotas shall be allotted], the Board may in any fit case grant such a permit and no charge shall be made therefor.

[a] Inserted by the Coffee Market Expansion (Amendment) Act, 1943 (7 [VII] of 1943), S. 8. [26-3-1943]

Internal sale quota. 22. (1) The Board shall, as soon as may be, allot to each registered estate an internal sale quota for the year.

(2) The internal sale quota shall be a fixed percentage, common to all registered estates, of the probable total production of the estate in the year as estimated by the Board.

(3) The Board may at any time vary the internal sale quota by varying the fixed percentage common to all registered estates, or may express the whole or any part of the internal sale quota of an estate in terms of bulk instead of in terms of weight.

Returns to be made by registered owners. 23. (1) A registered owner shall furnish to the Board at the prescribed times and in the prescribed manner such returns as may be prescribed.

(2) If any registered owner fails to furnish the returns required under sub-section (1) in respect of any estate, the Board may ^a[without prejudice to any penalty to which the said owner is liable under section 37-A], refuse to allot an internal sale quota to that estate, or, where an internal sale quota has already been allotted, may cancel it.

(3) The Board may authorise an officer to visit any estate at any time to verify the accuracy of any return made under this section or to ascertain the productive capacity of the estate.

[a] Inserted by the Coffee Market Expansion (Amendment) Act, 1943 (7 [VII] of 1943), S. 9 [26-3-1943]

Licences for sale of uncured coffee. 24. The registered owner of any estate may, subject to the prescribed conditions and so long as the internal sale quota allotted to that estate will not be exceeded by the proposed sale, obtain from the Board a licence for the sale from that estate of uncured coffee.

Surplus coffee and surplus pool. 25. (1) All coffee produced by a registered estate in excess of the amount specified in the internal sale quota allotted to the estate ^a[or when no internal sale quotas have been allotted to estates, all coffee produced by the estate], shall be delivered to the Board for inclusion in the surplus pool by the owner of the estate or by the curing establishment receiving the coffee from the estate.

(2) Delivery shall be made to the Board in such places ^a[at such times], and in such manner as the Board may direct, and such directions may provide for partial delivery to the surplus pool at any time whether or not at that time the internal sale quota has been exceeded; and the coffee delivered shall be such as to represent fairly in kind and quality the produce of the estate. The Board may reject any consignment offered for delivery which does not satisfy this requirement, but shall not reject any consignment merely for a defect in curing.

(3) Coffee delivered for inclusion in the surplus pool shall upon delivery to the Board remain under the control of the Board which shall be responsible for storage, curing where necessary, and marketing of the coffee.

(4) The Board shall, with the concurrence of the ^b[Chief Coffee Marketing Officer,] ^a[from time to time] prepare a differential scale for the valuation of coffee, and shall in accordance with that scale classify the coffee in each consignment delivered for inclusion in the surplus pool according to its kind and quality, and shall make an assessment of its value based on its quantity, kind and quality.

(5) The Board may, with the consent of a registered owner, ^c[] treat as having been delivered for inclusion in the surplus pool any coffee from such estate which the registered owner may agree to have so treated.

(6) When coffee has been delivered or is treated as having been delivered for inclusion in the surplus pool, the registered owner whose coffee has been so delivered or is treated as having been so delivered shall retain no rights in respect of such coffee except his right to receive the payments referred to in section 34.

[c] *Words omitted, ibid, 1943, S. 9 (d) 1943.*

Sales of coffee by the Board. 26. (1) The Board shall take all practical measures to market the coffee included in the surplus pool, and all sales thereof shall be conducted by or through the Board.

(2) The Board may purchase for inclusion in the surplus pool coffee not delivered for inclusion in it.

Curing of Coffee.

Coffee to be cured in licensed curing establishments. 27. No registered owner shall cause or allow coffee to be cured elsewhere than a licensed curing establishment, whether the curing establishment is maintained by himself or by another person.

Licensing of curing establishments. 28. Every establishment for curing coffee shall obtain from the Board a licence to operate as such.

29. (1) A registered owner when sending coffee to a curing establishment shall report to the Board, separately for each estate from which the coffee is sent, the amount of coffee sent; and the curing establishment shall, in accordance with such instructions as may be issued by the Board and having regard to the internal sale quota of the estate, ^a[where one has been allotted], apportion each such consignment into two parts, one part, consisting of coffee intended for internal sale and one part of coffee intended to be delivered for inclusion in the surplus pool and shall report to the Board the amount of coffee in each such part. ^b[Where no internal sale quotas have been allotted to estates, the curing establishment shall report merely the whole amount of coffee sent in each such consignment].

(2) A registered owner curing coffee in a curing establishment maintained by himself shall supply to the Board the information specified in sub-section (1).

(3) A curing establishment which buys or receives uncured coffee from any person shall ascertain the estate on which the coffee was produced and shall report to the Board the quantity of coffee so obtained and the estate or estates from which it came.

(4) Every curing establishment shall maintain accounts in such forms as may be required by the Board and such accounts shall be open to inspection at any time by the Board or by an officer authorised in this behalf by the Board.

[b] *Added, ibid.*

Finance.

Separate funds to be maintained by the Board. 30. The Board shall maintain two separate funds, a general fund and a pool fund.

31. (1) To the general fund shall be credited all proceeds of the duty of customs and the duty of excise levied under section 11 and section 12, respectively, and all receipts including receipts for licences issued by the Board, other than those to be credited under section 32 to the pool fund ^a[and any sums transferred to the general fund under the proviso to sub-section (2) of Section 32].

General fund. (2) The general fund shall be applied to meet the expenses of the Board, the cost of such measures as it may consider advisable to undertake for promoting the sale and increasing the consumption in India and elsewhere of coffee produced in India, or for promoting agricultural and technological research in the interest of the coffee industry in India.

[22-11-1944].

Pool fund.

32. (1) To the pool fund shall be credited all sums realised by sales by the Board of coffee from the surplus pool.

(2) Subject to the provisions of sub-section (4) of section 13, the pool fund shall be applied only to—

(a) the making to registered owners of estates of payments proportionate to the value of the coffee delivered by them for inclusion in the surplus pool;

(b) the costs of storing, curing and marketing coffee deposited in and of administering the surplus pool;

(c) the purchase of coffee not delivered for inclusion in the surplus pool.

^a[Provided that where, after the requirements of the clauses of this sub-section have been met, there remains any excess in the pool fund, the Board may, with the previous sanction of the Central Government, transfer the whole or any part of such excess to the credit of the general fund].

[a] Provido added by the Coffee Market Expansion (Second) Amendment Act, 1944 (16 [XVI] of 1944), S. 3. [22-11-1944].

33. The Board may, subject to any prescribed conditions, borrow on the security of Power to borrow. the general fund or the pool fund for any purposes for which it is authorised to expend money from such fund, or on the security of the coffee delivered or treated as delivered for inclusion in the surplus pool for any purposes for which it is authorised to expend money from the pool fund.

Payments to registered owners. 34. (1) The Board shall at such times as it thinks fit make to registered owners who have delivered coffee for inclusion in the surplus pool such payments out of the pool fund as it may think proper.

(2) The sum of all payments made under sub-section (2) to any one registered owner shall bear to the sum of the payments made to all registered owners the same proportion as the value of the coffee delivered by him out of the year's crop to the surplus pool bears to the value of all coffee delivered to the surplus pool out of that year's crop:

^a[Provided that in calculating the sum of all payments made under sub-section (1) and the value of the coffee delivered to the surplus pool out of the year's crop, respectively, any payment accepted by a registered owner as final payment in immediate settlement for coffee delivered by him for inclusion in the surplus pool and the value of any such coffee shall be excluded].

[a] Added by the Coffee Market Expansion (Amendment) Act, 1943 (7 [VII] of 1943), S. 12 [26-3-1943].

Penalties and Procedure.

Failure to register. 35. Any owner of a coffee estate who fails to apply for registration in accordance with section 14 shall be punishable with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees and to a further fine which may extend to five hundred rupees for each month after the first during which such failure continues.

Contraventions of Ss. 16, 17, 18 and 19. 36. (1) Any registered owner who contravenes the provisions of sub-section (2) of section 16, or section 17 or section 18, any licensed curer ^a[or dealer] who contravenes the provisions of sub-section (2) of section 16, and any person who contravenes the provisions of section 19 shall be punishable with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees.

(2) When a registered owner is convicted under this section, the Board may thereafter deduct from any payment to be made under section 34 to such registered owner a sum equal to the value as estimated by the Board of any coffee unlawfully sold by him.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

"The object of this Bill is to consolidate the Acts relating to the coinage. The law, as originally formulated in the Indian Coinage Act, 1870 (XXIII of 1870), has been materially modified by two Acts, namely, the Indian Coinage and Paper Currency Act, 1898 (VIII of 1898), which abolished obligatory free coinage, and the Indian Coinage and Paper Currency Act, 1899 (XXII of 1899), which made gold coins a legal tender. The present Bill proposes to repeal both these Acts as well as the main Act of 1870, to reproduce their provisions, so far as they are still required, in a consolidated form, and to provide for the introduction of a nickel one-anna piece and of a bronze-coinage. . . ."

[ab] The words "that section" substituted for the words "any of these sections", ibid., S. 7.

Diminished, Defaced and Counterfeit a[] Coins.*

Note :—Sections 16 to 20 deal with diminished, defaced and counterfeit coins. Of these, sections 16 to 19 deal with diminished or defaced coin, while section 20 is limited to counterfeit coin. As regards diminished or defaced silver coin, section 16 confers powers on certain persons, to be authorised in this behalf by the Central Government, to cut or break such coin. S. 17 prescribes the procedure to be followed in regard to coins cut or broken on the ground of their being of diminished weight. If diminished in weight beyond the limit of reasonable wear, as may be prescribed, but not beyond a further limit to be prescribed in this connection, they will be accepted at something less than face value according to graduated scale. If diminished beyond this last percentage, the pieces will be returned to the tenderer and will be worth to him only their value as silver bullion. Section 18 prescribes the procedure to be followed in regard to coins cut or broken on the ground that they have been defaced. In cases where the cutting officer has reason to believe that the defacement was fraudulent, he will return the pieces to the tenderer who will bear the loss; and where the defacement is not fraudulent the coin, though it will be cut or broken, shall be received at full face value. An explanation has been added to this clause to show that defacement caused by sweating constitutes fraudulent defacement. Section 19 provides for the case where a coin is liable to be cut or broken both as being diminished in weight and as being defaced. In such cases the section provides that the person cutting or breaking the coin shall deal with it, if he has reason to believe that the coin has been fraudulently defaced, under the provisions of section 18, clause (a), relating to such coin, and otherwise under the provisions of section 17 as a coin which has been diminished in weight. As regards counterfeit coin, section 20 provides for such coin being wholly rejected by the person cutting or breaking them. Power is, however, also taken to require the tenderer to sell, in the case of silver coin, the pieces at bullion value to Government in cases where the officer considers this course to be for any reason desirable.—See Select Committee Report.]

Power to certain persons to cut diminished or defaced silver coins.

16. Where any silver coin which has been coined and issued under the authority of the ^b[Central Government] is tendered to any person ^cauthorised by the ^b[Central Government] ^d[* * *] to act under this section, and such person has reason to believe that the coin—

(a) has been diminished in weight so as to be more than such percentage below standard weight as may be prescribed as the limit of reasonable wear, or

(b) has been defaced, he shall, by himself or another, cut or break the coin.

[a] The word "Silver" was repealed by the Indian Coinage (Amendment) Act, 1919 (21 [XXI] of 1919), S. 6. (1).

[b] Substituted by A. O. for "Governor-General in Council".

[c] For persons so authorised, see General Rules and Orders.

[d] The words "or by the Local Government" were repealed by A. O.

Procedure in regard to coin cut under section 16 (a).

17. A person cutting or breaking coin under the provisions of clause (a) of section 16 shall observe the following procedure, namely :—

(a) if the coin has been diminished in weight so as to be more than such percentage below standard weight as may be prescribed as the limit of reasonable wear, but not more than such further percentage as may be prescribed in this behalf, he shall either return the pieces to the person tendering the coin, or, if such person so requests, shall receive and pay for the coin at such rates as may be prescribed in this behalf; and

- (b) if the coin has been diminished in weight so as to be more than such further percentage below standard weight so prescribed as aforesaid, he shall return the pieces to the person tendering the coin, who shall bear the loss caused by such cutting or breaking.

Procedure in regard to coin cut under section 16 (b).

18. A person cutting or breaking coin under the provisions of clause (b) of section 16 shall observe the following procedure, namely :—

- (a) if such person has reason to believe that the coin has been fraudulently defaced, he shall return the pieces to the person tendering the coin, who shall bear the loss caused by such cutting or breaking;
- (b) if such person has not reason to believe that the coin has been fraudulently defaced, he shall receive and pay for the coin at its nominal value.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this section a coin which there is reason to believe has been defaced by sweating shall be deemed to have been fraudulently defaced.

Procedure in regard to coin which is liable to be cut under both clause (a) and clause (b) of section 16.

19. If a coin is liable to be cut or broken under the provisions of both clause (a) and clause (b) of section 16, the person cutting or breaking the coin shall deal with it,—

- (a) if he has reason to believe that the coin has been fraudulently defaced, under clause (a) of section 18, and
- (b) in other cases, under section 17.

Power to certain persons to cut counterfeit or fraudulently defaced coin and procedure in regard to coin so cut.

20. Where any ^a[silver or other] coin purporting to be coined or issued under the authority of the ^b[Central Government] is tendered to any person ^cauthorised by the ^b[Central Government] ^d[* * *] to act under this section, and such person has reason to believe that the coin is counterfeit, ^e[or has been fraudulently defaced] he shall by himself or another cut or break the coin, and may at his discretion either return the pieces to the tenderer, who shall bear the loss caused by such cutting or breaking, or ^f[in the case of silver coin] receive and pay for the coin according to the value of the silver bullion contained in it.

Supplemental Provisions.

Power to make rules.

21. (1) The ^a[Central Government] may make rules to carry out the purposes and objects of this Act.

(2) In particular and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such rules may—

- ^b[(a) * * * * *]
- (b) provide for the guidance of persons authorised to cut or break coin under sections 16 and 20;
- (c) determine the percentage of diminution in weight below standard weight not being less ^c[than two per cent in the case of silver coins or five per cent. in the case of pure nickel coins,] which shall be the limit of reasonable wear;
- (d) prescribe the further percentage referred to in clause (a) of section 17, and the rates at which payments shall be made in the case of coins falling under the same clause ^d[* * * * *]

(3) Every such rule shall be published in the [Official Gazette], and on such publication shall have effect as if enacted in this Act.

Colonial Courts of Admiralty.

2. (1) Every Court of law in a British possession, which is for the time being declared in pursuance of this Act to be a Court of Admiralty, or which, if no such declaration is in force in the possession, has therein original unlimited civil jurisdiction, shall be a Court of Admiralty, with the jurisdiction in this Act mentioned, and may for the purpose of that jurisdiction, exercise all the powers which it possesses for the purpose of its other civil jurisdiction and such Court in reference to the jurisdiction conferred by this Act is in this Act referred to as a Colonial Court of Admiralty. Where in a British possession the Governor is the sole judicial authority the expression "Court of law" for the purposes of this section includes such Governor.

(2) The jurisdiction of a Colonial Court of Admiralty shall, subject to the provisions of this Act, be over the like places, persons, matters, and things, as the Admiralty jurisdiction of the High Court in England, whether existing by virtue of any statute or otherwise, and the Colonial Court of Admiralty may exercise such jurisdiction in like manner and to as full an extent as the High Court in England, and shall have the same regard as that Court to international law and the comity of nations.

SECTION 2—Note 1.

The jurisdiction of the High Court in India in relation to necessities supplied to a ship rests on the provisions of this Act, which vests in it, inter alia, the powers described in Section 5 of the Admiralty Court Act, 1861 (24 & 25 Vict., c. 10). And under Section 5 of the latter statute the High Court in India, in the Admiralty side, has jurisdiction over any claim for necessities supplied to any ship elsewhere than in the part to which the ship Court belongs. (Vol 2) 1915 Cal 681 (683, 684) : 42 Cal 85.

Claim for necessities can be enforced in a Colonial Court of Admiralty by a suit in rem, and such a suit can presumably be instituted in any Admiralty Court within whose jurisdiction the ship happens to be at the time when the suit is instituted. Before there can be an action in rem there must be a personal liability on the part of the owner. (Vol 10) 1928 Rang 163 (165) : 1 Rang 78.

In order to render a ship liable for maritime lien for injury caused, the ship itself must be the instrument which caused the damage. The old law of arresting any other ship instead has now become obsolete even in England. (Vol 24) 1987 Cal 122 (124).

To establish a maritime lien for damage against a ship, the damage must be the direct result of some unskilful or negligent conduct of those in charge of the ship which does the mischief, the ship herself being the 'instrument of mischief'. (1902) 29 Cal 402 (407).

(3) Subject to the provisions of this Act any enactment referring to a Vice-Admiralty Court, which is contained in an Act of the Imperial Parliament or in a Colonial law, shall apply to a Colonial Court of Admiralty, and be read as if the expression "Colonial Court of Admiralty" were therein substituted for "Vice-Admiralty Court" or for other expressions respectively referring to such Vice-Admiralty Courts or the judge thereof, and the Colonial Court of Admiralty shall have jurisdiction accordingly :

Provided as follows :—

- (a) Any enactment in an Act of the Imperial Parliament referring to the Admiralty jurisdiction of the High Court in England when applied to a Colonial Court of Admiralty in a British possession, shall be read as if the name of that possession were therein substituted for England and Wales ; and
- (b) A Colonial Court of Admiralty shall have under the Naval Prize Act, 1864,^a and under the Slave Trade Act, 1873,^b and any enactment relating to prize or the slave trade, the jurisdiction thereby conferred on a Vice-Admiralty Court and not the jurisdiction thereby conferred exclusively on the High Court of Admiralty or the High Court of Justice ; but, unless for the time being duly authorised, shall not by virtue of this Act exercise any jurisdiction under the Naval Prize Act, 1864^a, or otherwise in relation to prize ; and
- (c) A Colonial Court of Admiralty shall not have jurisdiction under this Act to try or punish a person for an offence which according to the law of England is punishable on indictment ; and
- (d) A Colonial Court of Admiralty shall not have any greater jurisdiction in relation to the laws and regulations relating to Her Majesty's Navy at sea or under any Act providing for the discipline of Her Majesty's Navy, than may be from time to time conferred on such Court by Order in Council.

(4) Where a Court in a British possession exercises in respect of matters arising outside the body of a county or other like part of a British possession any jurisdiction exercisable under this Act, that jurisdiction shall be deemed to be exercised under this Act and not otherwise.

[a] 27 & 28 Vict., c. 25.

[b] 36 & 37 Vict., c. 88.

Power of Colonial legislature as to Admiralty jurisdiction.

3. The legislature of a British possession may by any Colonial law—

(a) declare any Court of unlimited civil jurisdiction, whether original or appellate, in that possession to be a Colonial Court of Admiralty^a, and provide for the exercise by such Court of its jurisdiction under this Act, and limit territorially, or otherwise, the extent of such jurisdiction ; and

(b) confer upon any inferior or subordinate Court in that possession such partial or limited Admiralty jurisdiction under such regulations and with such appeal (if any) as may seem fit :

Provided that any such Colonial law shall not confer any jurisdiction which is not by this Act conferred upon a Colonial Court of Admiralty.

[a] See the Colonial Courts of Admiralty (India) Act, 1891 (16 [XVI] of 1891).

Reservation of Colonial law for Her Majesty's assent.

4. Every Colonial law which is made in pursuance of this Act, or affects the jurisdiction of or practice or procedure in any Court of such possession in respect of the jurisdiction conferred by this Act, or alters any such Colonial law as above in this section mentioned, which has been previously passed, shall, unless previously approved by Her Majesty through a Secretary of State, either be reserved for the signification of Her Majesty's pleasure thereon, or contain a suspending clause providing that such law shall not come into operation until Her Majesty's pleasure thereon has been publicly signified in the British possession in which it has been passed.

^a[This section shall not apply to Indian laws or Burma laws.]

[a] Inserted by A. O. (P).

Local Admiralty appeal.

5. Subject to rules of Court under this Act, judgments of a Court in a British possession given or made in the exercise of the jurisdiction conferred on it by this Act, shall be subject to the like local appeal, if any, as judgment of the Court in the exercise of its ordinary civil jurisdiction, and the Court having cognizance of such appeal shall for the purpose thereof possess all the jurisdiction by this Act conferred upon a Colonial Court of Admiralty.

Admiralty appeal to the Queen in Council.

6. (1) The appeal from a judgment of any Court in a British possession in the exercise of the jurisdiction conferred by this Act, either where there is as of right no local appeal or after a decision on local appeal, lies to Her Majesty the Queen in Council.

(2) Save as may be otherwise specially allowed in a particular case by Her Majesty the Queen in Council, an appeal under this section shall not be allowed—

- (a) from any judgment not having the effect of a definitive judgment unless the Court appealed from has given leave for such appeal, nor
- (b) from any judgment unless the petition of appeal has been lodged within the time prescribed by rules, or if no time is prescribed within six months from the date of the judgment appealed against, or if leave to appeal has been given then from the date of such leave.

(3) For the purpose of appeals under this Act, Her Majesty the Queen in Council and the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council shall, subject to rules under this section, have all such powers for making and enforcing judgments, whether interlocutory or final, for punishing contempts, for requiring the payment of money into Court, or for any other purpose, as may be necessary, or as were possessed by the High Court of Delegates before the passing of the Act transferring the powers of such Court to Her Majesty in Council, or as are for the time being possessed by the High Court in England or by the Court appealed from in relation to the like matters as those forming the subject of appeals under this Act.

(4) All Orders of the Queen in Council or the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council for the purposes aforesaid or otherwise in relation to appeals under this Act shall have full effect throughout Her Majesty's dominions and in all places where Her Majesty has jurisdiction.

(5) This section shall be in addition to and not in derogation of the authority of Her Majesty in Council or the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council arising otherwise than under this Act, and all enactments relating to appeals to Her Majesty in Council or to the powers of Her Majesty in Council or the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council in relation to those appeals, whether for making rules and orders or otherwise, shall extend, save as otherwise directed by Her Majesty in Council, to appeals to Her Majesty in Council under this Act.

Rules of Court.

7. (1) Rules of Court for regulating the procedure and practice (including fees and costs) in a Court in a British possession in the exercise of the jurisdiction conferred by this Act, whether original or appellate, may be made by the same authority and in the same manner as rules touching the practice, procedure, fees, and costs in the said Court in the exercise of its ordinary civil jurisdiction respectively are made:

Provided that the rules under this section shall not, save as provided by this Act, extend to matters relating to the slave trade, and shall not (save as provided by this section) come into operation until they have been approved by Her Majesty in Council, but on coming into operation shall have full effect as if enacted in this Act, and any enactment inconsistent therewith shall, so far as it is so inconsistent, be repealed.

(2) It shall be lawful for Her Majesty in Council, in approving rules made under this section, to declare that the rules so made with respect to any matters which appear to Her Majesty to be matters of detail or of local concern may be revoked, varied, or added to without the approval required by this section.

(3) Such rules may provide for the exercise of any jurisdiction conferred by this Act by the full Court, or by any judge or judges thereof, and subject to any rules, where the ordinary civil jurisdiction of the Court can in any case be exercised by a single judge, any jurisdiction conferred by this Act may in the like case be exercised by a single judge.

Droits of Admiralty and of the Crown.

8. (1) Subject to the provisions of this section nothing in this Act shall alter the application of any droits of Admiralty or droits of or forfeitures to the crown in a British possession; and such droits and forfeitures, when condemned by a Court of a British possession in the exercise of the jurisdiction conferred by this Act, shall, save as is otherwise provided by any other Act, be notified, accounted for, and dealt with in such manner as the Treasury from time to time direct, and the officers of every Colonial Court of Admiralty and of every other Court in a British possession exercising Admiralty jurisdiction shall obey such directions in respect of the said droits and forfeitures as may be from time to time given by the Treasury.

(2) It shall be lawful for Her Majesty the Queen in Council by order to direct that, subject to any conditions, exceptions, reservations, and regulations contained in the Order, the said droits and forfeitures condemned by a Court in a British possession shall form part of the revenues of that possession either for ever or for such limited term or subject to such revocation as may be specified in the Order.

(3) If and so long as any of such droits or forfeitures by virtue of this or any other Act form part of the revenues of the said possession the same shall, subject to the provisions of any law for the time being applicable thereto, be notified, accounted for, and dealt with in manner directed by the Government of the possession and the Treasury shall not have any power in relation thereto.

Power to establish Vice-Admiralty Court. 9. (1) It shall be lawful for Her Majesty, by commission under the Great Seal, to empower the Admiralty to establish in a British possession any Vice-Admiralty Court or Courts.

(2) Upon the establishment of a Vice-Admiralty Court in a British possession, the Admiralty, by writing under their hands and the seal of the office of Admiralty, in such form as the Admiralty direct, may appoint a judge, registrar, marshal, and other officers of the Court, and may cancel any such appointment; and in addition to any other jurisdiction of such Court, may (subject to the limits imposed by this Act or the said commission from Her Majesty) vest in such Court the whole or any part of the jurisdiction by or by virtue of this Act conferred upon any Courts of that British possession, and may vary or revoke such vesting, and while such vesting is in force the power of such last-mentioned Courts to exercise the jurisdiction so vested shall be suspended.

Provided that—

(a) nothing in this section shall authorise a Vice-Admiralty Court so established in India ^a[or in Burma or in any other British possession] having a representative legislature, to exercise any jurisdiction, except for some purpose relating to prize, to Her Majesty's Navy, to the slave trade, to the matters dealt with by the Foreign Enlistment Act, 1870^b, or the Pacific Islanders Protection Acts, 1872^c and 1875^d, or to matters in which questions arise relating to treaties or conventions with foreign countries, or to international law: and

(b) in the event of a vacancy in the office of judge, registrar, marshal, or other officer of any Vice-Admiralty Court in a British possession, the Governor of that possession may appoint a fit person to fill the vacancy until an appointment to the office is made by the Admiralty.

(3) The provisions of this Act with respect to appeals to Her Majesty in Council from Courts in British possessions in the exercise of the jurisdiction conferred by this Act shall apply to appeals from Vice-Admiralty Courts but the rules and orders made in relation to appeals from Vice-Admiralty Courts may differ from the rules made in relation^f to appeals from the said Courts in British possessions.

(4) If Her Majesty at any time by commission under the Great Seal so directs, the Admiralty shall by writing under their hands and the Seal of the office of Admiralty abolish a Vice-Admiralty Court established in any British possession under this section, and upon such abolition the jurisdiction of any Colonial Court of Admiralty in that possession which was previously suspended shall be revived.

[a] Substituted by A. O. (P).

[b] 83 and 84 Vict., C. 90.

[c] 85 and 86 Vict., C. 19.

[d] 88 and 89 Vict., C. 51.

Power to appoint a Vice-Admiral. 10. Nothing in this Act shall affect any power of appointing a vice-admiral in and for any British possession or any place therein; and whenever there is not a formally appointed vice-admiral in a British possession or any place therein, the Governor of the possession shall be ex-officio vice-admiral thereof.

Exception of Channel Islands and other possessions.

11. (1) The provisions of this Act with respect to Colonial Courts of Admiralty shall not apply to the Channel Islands.

(2) It shall be lawful for the Queen in Council by order to declare, with respect to any British possession which has not a representative legislature, that the jurisdiction conferred by this Act on Colonial Courts of Admiralty shall not be vested in any court of such possession, or shall be vested only to the partial or limited extent specified in the Order.

12. It shall be lawful for Her Majesty the Queen in Council by Order to direct that this Act shall, subject to the conditions, exceptions, and qualifications (if any) contained in the Order, apply to any Court established by Her Majesty for the exercise of jurisdiction in any place out of Her Majesty's dominions which is named in the Order as if that Court were a Colonial Court of Admiralty, and to provide for carrying into effect such application.

Application of Act to courts under Foreign Jurisdiction Acts.^a

[a] Now see Foreign Jurisdiction Act, 1890 (53 and 54 Vict., C. 37).

13. (1) It shall be lawful for Her Majesty the Queen in Council by Order to make rules as to the practice and procedure (including fees and costs) to be observed in and the returns to be made from Colonial Courts of Admiralty and Vice-Admiralty Courts in the exercise of their jurisdiction in matters relating to the slave trade, and in and from East African Courts as defined by the Slave Trade (East African Courts) Acts, 1873^a and 1879.^b

Rules for procedure in slave trade matters.

(2) Except when inconsistent with such Order in Council, the rules of Court for the time being in force in a Colonial Court of Admiralty or Vice-Admiralty Court shall, so far as applicable, extend to proceedings in such court in matters relating to the slave trade.

(3) The provisions of this Act with respect to appeals to Her Majesty in Council, from courts in British possessions in the exercise of the jurisdiction conferred by this Act, shall apply, with the necessary modifications, to appeals from judgments of any East African Court made or purporting to be made in exercise of the jurisdiction under the Slave Trade (East African Courts) Acts, 1873^a and 1879^b.

[a] 36 and 37 Vict., C. 59.

[b] 42 and 43 Vict., C. 88.

14. It shall be lawful for Her Majesty in Council from time to time to make Orders for the purposes authorised by this Act, and to revoke and vary such Orders, and every such Order while in operation shall have effect as if it were part of this Act.

Interpretation.

15. In the construction of this Act, unless the context otherwise requires,—

The expression "representative legislature" means, in relation to a British possession, a legislature comprising a legislative body of which at least one-half are elected by inhabitants of the British possession.

The expression "unlimited civil jurisdiction" means civil jurisdiction unlimited as to the value of the subject-matter at issue, or as to the amount that may be claimed or recovered.

The expression "judgment" includes a decree, order, and sentence.

The expression "appeal" means any appeal, rehearing, or review; and the expression "local appeal" means an appeal to any court inferior to Her Majesty in Council.

The expression "Colonial law" means any Act, ordinance, or other law having the force of legislative enactment in a British possession and made by any authority, other than the Imperial Parliament of Her Majesty in Council, competent to make laws for such possession.

Commencement of Act.

16. (1) This Act shall, save as otherwise in this Act provided, come into force in every British possession on the first day of July, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one.

Provided that—

- (a) This Act shall not come into force in any of the British possessions named in the First Schedule to this Act until Her Majesty so directs by Order in Council, and until the day named in that behalf in such Order ; and
- (b) If before any day above mentioned rules of court for the Colonial Court of Admiralty in any British possession have been approved by Her Majesty in Council, this Act may be proclaimed in that possession by the Governor thereof, and on such proclamation shall come into force on the day named in the proclamation.

(2) The day upon which this Act comes into force in any British possession shall, as regards that British possession, be deemed to be the commencement of this Act.

(3) If, on the commencement of this Act in any British possession, rules of court have not been approved by Her Majesty in pursuance of this Act, the rules in force at such commencement under the Vice-Admiralty Courts Act, 1863,^a and in India the rules in force at such commencement regulating the respective Vice-Admiralty Courts or Courts of Admiralty in India, including any rules made with reference to proceedings instituted on behalf of Her Majesty's ships, shall, so far as applicable, have effect in the Colonial Court or Courts of Admiralty of such possession, and in any Vice-Admiralty Court established under this Act in that possession, as rules of court under this Act, and may be revoked and varied accordingly; and all fees payable under such rules may be taken in such manner as the Colonial Court may direct, so however that the amount of each such fee shall so nearly as practicable be paid to the same officer or person who but for the passing of this Act would have been entitled to receive the same in respect of like business. So far as any such rules are inapplicable or do not extend, the rules of court for the exercise by a court of its ordinary civil jurisdiction shall have effect as rules for the exercise by the same court of the jurisdiction conferred by this Act.

(4) At any time after the passing of this Act any Colonial law may be passed, and any Vice-Admiralty Court may be established and jurisdiction vested in such Court but any such law, establishment, or vesting shall not come into effect until the commencement of this Act.

[a] 26 and 27 Vict., C. 24. This Act is now repealed ; see Sch. II.

Abolition of Vice-Admiralty Courts.

17. On the commencement of this Act in any British possession, but subject to the provisions of this Act, every Vice-Admiralty Court in that possession shall be abolished : subject as follows :—

(1) All judgments of such Vice-Admiralty Court shall be executed and may be appealed from in like manner as if this Act had not been passed, and all appeals from any Vice-Admiralty Court pending at the commencement of this Act shall be heard and determined, and the judgment thereon executed as nearly as may be in like manner as if this Act had not been passed :

(2) All proceedings pending in the Vice-Admiralty Court in any British possession at the commencement of this Act shall, notwithstanding the repeal of any enactment by this Act, be continued in a Colonial Court of Admiralty of the possession in manner directed by rules of court, and, so far as no such rule extends, in a like manner as nearly as may be, as if they had been originally begun in such court :

(3) Where any person holding an office, whether that of judge, registrar or marshal, or any other office in any such Vice-Admiralty Court in a British possession, suffers any pecuniary loss in consequence of the abolition of such Court, the Government of the British possession, on complaint of such person, shall provide that such person shall receive reasonable compensation (by way of an increase of salary or a capital sum, or otherwise) in respect of his loss, subject nevertheless to the performance, if required by the said Government of the like duties as before such abolition.

(4) All books, papers, documents, office furniture, and other things at the commencement of this Act belonging, or appertaining to any Vice-Admiralty Court, shall be delivered over to the proper officer of the Colonial Court of Admiralty, or be otherwise dealt with in such manner as, subject to any directions from Her Majesty, the Governor may direct.

(5) Where, at the commencement of this Act in any British possession, any person holds a commission to act as advocate in any Vice-Admiralty Court abolished by this Act, either for

Her Majesty or for the Admiralty, such commission shall be of the same avail in every Court of the same British possession exercising jurisdiction under this Act, as if such Court were the Court mentioned or referred to in such commission.

Repeal. 18. The Acts specified in Second Schedule to this Act shall, to the extent mentioned in the third column of that schedule, be repealed as respects any British possession as from the commencement of this Act in that possession, and as respects any Courts out of Her Majesty's dominions as from the date of any Order applying this Act:

Provided that—

- (a) Any appeal against a judgment made before the commencement of this Act may be brought and any such appeal and any proceedings or appeals pending at the commencement of this Act may be carried on and completed and carried into effect as if such repeal had not been enacted; and
- (b) All enactments and rules at the passing of this Act in force touching the practice, procedure, fees, costs, and returns in matters relating to the slave trade, in Vice-Admiralty Courts and in East African Courts shall have effect as rules made in pursuance of this Act, and shall apply to Colonial Courts of Admiralty, and may be altered and revoked accordingly.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

"The main object of this Bill is to declare certain Courts in India having unlimited civil jurisdiction to be Colonial Courts of Admiralty in pursuance of the Colonial Courts of Admiralty Act, 1890 (53 and 54 Vict., c. 27)....."

2. The Bill, like the English Act, is not intended to take away any jurisdiction of any High Court of Judicature in India. On the contrary, the Bill will, so far as the Admiralty and Vice-Admiralty jurisdictions of those Courts are affected, extend and improve them.

3. Besides the High Courts of Judicature at Calcutta, Madras and Bombay, it is proposed that there shall be three other Colonial Courts of Admiralty, namely :

- (a) the Court of the Recorder of Rangoon;
- (b) the Court of the Resident at Aden; and
- (c) the District Court of Karachi.

4. Under the English Act of 1890, a first appeal from the Court of the Recorder of Rangoon will lie to the Calcutta High Court; from the Court of the Resident at Aden direct to Her Majesty the Queen in Council; and from the District Court of Karachi to the Sadr Court in Sind. There is an ultimate appeal in all cases to Her Majesty the Queen in Council.

5. The Governor-General in Council has accepted the opinion of the Governor of Bombay in Council, and the unanimous opinion of the Hon'ble the Chief Justice and Judges of the Calcutta High Court, that the jurisdiction of Colonial Courts of Admiralty in India should not be limited territorially or otherwise."

COGNATE ACTS AND PROVISIONS.

1. COLONIAL COURTS OF ADMIRALTY ACT, 1890 (53 & 54 VICT., c. 27).

[THE] COLONIAL COURTS OF ADMIRALTY (INDIA) ACT, 1891
(ACT XVI OF 1891)^a.

[14th May, 1891].

An Act to declare certain Courts in British India to be Colonial Courts of Admiralty.

Whereas it is provided by the Colonial Courts of Admiralty Act, 1890,^b that the Legislature of a British possession may by any colonial law declare any Court of unlimited civil jurisdiction in that possession to be a Colonial Court of Admiralty;

And whereas it is expedient, in pursuance of that provision, to declare certain Courts in British India to be Colonial Courts of Admiralty;

It is hereby enacted as follows:—

[a] For Proceedings in Council, see Gazette of India, 1891, Pt. VI, p. 116.

[b] 53 and 54 Vict., C. 27 see page 1581, supra of this volume.

Title and commencement. 1. (1) This Act may be called the Colonial Courts of Admiralty (India) Act, 1891; and

(2) It shall come into effect—

(a) if Her Majesty's pleasure thereon has been signified, by a notification in the ^b[Official Gazette], on or before the first day of July, 1891, then on that day, or

(b) if Her Majesty's pleasure thereon has not been so signified on or before that day, then on the day on which Her Majesty's pleasure shall be signified by such a notification as aforesaid.

[a] For notification publishing Her Majesty's Assent to this Act, see Gazette of India, 1891, Pt. I, p. 371.

[b] Substituted by A. O. for "Gazette of India."

Appointment of Colonial Courts of Admiralty. 2. The following Courts of unlimited civil jurisdiction are hereby declared to be Colonial Courts of Admiralty, namely:—

(1) the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal,

(2) the High Court of Judicature at Madras.

(3) the High Court of Judicature at Bombay, ^a[and]

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

"Certain commercial documents of various kinds are by the practice of merchants accepted as evidence and taken as prima facie correct, but in a Court of law they cannot, in the absence of consent by the parties, be admitted in evidence without testimony as to their genuineness or the correctness of the statements made therein. Such documents are not admissible in evidence under S. 82 or any other provision of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, without further proof. The result is that a party desirous of delaying the proceedings can often insist on the other side getting Commissions issued to take evidence as to facts which are for all practical purposes sufficiently established by the documents in question. It is proposed to undertake legislation on the lines of the Bankers Books Evidence Act, 1891, so as to provide that commercial documents which are accepted as prima facie correct in commercial circles may be admitted in evidence without formal proof. A list of such documents has been prepared in consultation with Commercial Associations and Local Governments, and is included in the Schedule to the Bill, power being reserved to the Government of India to add to the list from time to time and to remove items from it."—Gazette of India, 1937, Part V, page.

[THE] COMMERCIAL DOCUMENTS EVIDENCE ACT, 1939.

(ACT XXX OF 1939).^a

[26th September, 1939.]

An Act to amend the Law of Evidence with respect to certain commercial documents.

Whereas it is expedient to amend the law of Evidence with respect to certain commercial documents ;

It is hereby enacted as follows :—

[a] For the Report of Select Committee See Gazette of India 1939, Pt. V, p. 157.

This Act has been applied to—

British Baluchistan see Gazette of India, 1940, Pt. I, p. 790 ;

the Darjeeling district and the partially excluded areas of the Mymensingh district with effect from the 8th February, 1940, by Bengal Government Notification No. 361-J., dated 31st January, 1940.

Short title and extent.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Commercial Documents Evidence Act, 1939.

(2) It extends to the whole of British India.

Statements of relevant facts in scheduled documents to be themselves relevant facts.

2. Notwithstanding anything contained in the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, statements of facts in issue or of relevant facts made in any document included in the Schedule as to matters usually stated in such document shall be themselves relevant facts within the meaning of that Act, Presumption as to genuineness of documents.

3. For the purposes of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, and notwithstanding anything contained therein, a Court—

(a) shall presume, within the meaning of that Act, in relation to documents included in Part I of the Schedule, and

(b) may presume, within the meaning of that Act, in relation to documents included in Part II of the Schedule,— that any document purporting to be a document included in Part I or Part II of the Schedule, as the case may be, and to have been duly made by or under the appropriate authority, was so made and that the statements contained therein are accurate.

4. In the Schedule the expression “recognised Chamber of Commerce” means a Chamber of Commerce recognised by the Government of its country as being competent to issue certificates of origin, and includes any other association similarly recognised.

Definition.

THE SCHEDULE.

(See Sections 2 and 3).

PART I.

Documents in relation to which the Court “SHALL presume”

1. Lloyd's Register of Shipping.
2. Lloyd's Daily Shipping Index.
3. Lloyd's Loading List.
4. Lloyd's Weekly Casualty Reports.
5. Certificate of delivery of goods to the Manchester Ship Canal Company.
6. Official log book, Supplementary Official log book and official wireless log kept by a British ship.
7. 11. Protest made before a Notary Public or other duly authorised official by a master of a ship relating to circumstances calculated to affect the liability of the ship-owner.
12. Licence or permit for radio-telegraph apparatus carried in ships or aircraft.
13. Certificate of registration of an aircraft granted by the Government of the country to which the aircraft belongs.
14. Certificate of airworthiness of an aircraft granted or validated by, or under the authority of, the Government of the country to which the aircraft belongs.

SECTION 3—Note 1.

“In considering the several documents included in the schedule, we came to the conclusion in several cases that although the document did not merit exclusion altogether the measure of its reliability is not such as to oblige the Court to make the presumption. We have, therefore, divided the schedule into two parts: in Part I we include documents in relation to which the Court shall make the presumption and in Part II documents in relation to which the presumption is left to the Court's discretion...”

—Select Committee Report.

SECTION 4—Note 1.

“We were faced by the difficulty that there appears to be little recognition by Governments of Chambers of Commerce and like associations as such: on the other hand there is a widely adopted convention whereby Governments recognise such associations as being competent to issue certificates of origin, and we propose the adoption of such recognition as the basis of the definition.”—Select Committee Report.

15. Licences and certificates of competency of aircraft personnel granted or validated by, or under the authority of, the Government of the country to which the personnel belongs.

16. Ground Engineer's Licence issued by a competent authority authorised in this behalf by Government.

17. Consular Certificate in respect of goods shipped or shut out, consular certificates of origin, and consular invoice.

18. Certificate of origin of goods issued (but not merely attested) by a recognised Chamber of Commerce, or by a British Consular officer of British or Indian Trade Commissioner or Agent.

8. Certificate of safety for flight signed by a licensed Ground Engineer.

9. Aircraft Log Book, Journey Log Book and Log Book, maintained by the owner or operator in respect of aircraft.

10. Passenger List or Manifest of Goods carried in public transport aircraft.

SCH. ITEM 18—Note 1.

"On examination of some certificates of origin we found that while in some cases effective certificates were given by the Chamber of Commerce, in others the statement was merely to the effect that a declaration had been made in the presence of the representative of the Chamber either by the consignor or by an agent of his. Mere attestation we regard as of little value and we, therefore, propose to recognise in this Bill only effective declarations by the Chamber of Commerce concerned. . . ."—Select Committee Report.

APPENDIX II.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS (1912)

The object of this Bill is to revise and consolidate the Indian law on the subject of Joint-Stock Companies on the lines of recent English legislation. The law on this subject in India is contained in the Indian Companies Act, 1882, which was modelled closely on the English law in force in 1887. Since 1882 the Indian law has been added to by four amending Acts, namely, the Indian Companies Act (1882) Amendment Act, 1887; the Indian Companies (Memorandum of Association) Act, 1895; the Indian Companies (Branch Registers) Act, 1900, and the Indian Companies (Amendment) Act, 1910. The substantial additions, however, which have been made to the English law by the long series of Acts passed between 1879 and 1908 have not, with the exception of the matters dealt with in the four small amending Acts above-mentioned, been adopted in the Indian law. The more important of the later English Acts are the Companies Act, 1879; the Companies Act, 1890; the Companies (Winding up) Act, 1890, the Directors Liability Act, 1890; the Companies Act 1900; the Companies Act 1907; and the Companies (Consolidation) Act, 1908. The last named Act consolidated the English law into a convenient Code and this code has been taken as the model of the present Bill.

Among the new and important provisions introduced into Indian Company law by this Bill are those relating to:—(a) the preparation of a statutory report by a company limited by shares before the first general meeting; (b) the appointment and advertisement of directors; (c) the prospectus and statement in lieu of prospectus; (d) restrictions on proceeding to allotment; (e) restrictions on commencing business; (f) the appointment, remuneration and duties of auditors; (g) the registering of information regarding certain kinds of mortgages and charges; and (h) the registering of information regarding companies situated outside British India but operating therein.

The present Bill follows the English Act not merely in its general principles but in its detailed arrangement and expression, wherever possible, as it is considered a matter of the first importance to have the Indian law as uniform as possible with the English law, except where local circumstances demand a modification in substance.

It has been considered necessary to depart from the English law on the subject of the winding up of companies by order of the Court, and in place of the provisions introduced into English law by the Companies (Winding up) Act, 1890, the procedure of the existing Indian law has been in the main retained. This procedure leaves the discretion in the matter of winding up in the hands of the Court, whereas in the English law important functions are exercised by the Board of Trade, by Official Receivers, and by Committees of Inspection. On the subject of the annual balance sheet the provisions of the existing Indian law have been retained where these appeared more complete than the provisions of the English law, and the prescribed form of balance sheet has also been retained.

In order to make inspection in the interests of shareholders obtainable without difficulty where a case for such inspection has been made out, the Registrar of Joint-Stock Companies has been empowered to demand from any company an explanation of anything that is not clear in its balance sheet or other returns submitted to him, and the company will be liable to a penalty if it fails to provide a full and true statement to the Registrar, when called upon. A Report from the Registrar will form a ground on which the Local Government [now Central Government] may order an inspection of the affairs of a company.

In regard to the qualifications of auditors, a matter on which the English law imposes no restriction, a provision has been inserted authorizing Local Governments [now Central Government] to issue certificates for the auditing of companies' accounts to approved persons in accordance with rules to be framed for the purpose and restricting the audit of companies' accounts to persons holding such certificates.

It has not been thought necessary to include the provision of the English Act (Sec. 40) whereby a company is empowered to return accumulated profits in reduction of paid-up share capital.

The other matters on which modifications have been made in the English law are of minor importance. The insertion of explanations based on case law has been generally avoided, but in one or two cases where decisions of the Courts have added to or explained the law, it has been thought desirable to expand or modify the wording of the English Act.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS (1936) —

[THE INDIAN] COMPANIES (AMENDMENT) ACT, 1936.

For some considerable time Government has had under consideration the overhaul of the law relating to Companies.

2. Substantial material has accumulated in the form of communications and suggestions from Local Governments, public bodies and individuals, supplemented by publications in the press, indicating unanimity of opinion that the Indian Companies Act requires fairly extensive changes. The opinions received disclosed a demand for power to deal with mushroom and fraudulent companies, for changes in the provisions relating to the issue and contents of prospectuses, for increased disclosure to share-holders of the financial position of companies and for increased rights to share-holders in connection with the management of companies, for modification of the present law applicable to managing agents, for changes in the provisions applicable to winding up, for special provisions to govern Banking Companies and for numerous other improvements.

3. The Indian Companies Act, 1913, was based on the English Companies (Consolidation) Act of 1908 and followed generally the provisions of that Act. Its revision in order to overtake the subsequent developments in the law is overdue.

4. The English Act of 1908 was examined by a committee presided over by Lord Wrenbury in 1918 and again by a committee presided over by Mr. Greene, K. C., in 1926. The latter committee made extensive recommendations many of which were subsequently incorporated with or without modification in the Companies Consolidation Act, 1929. The guidance afforded by that Act is now available in the task of revising the company law of British India.

Act how affected by subsequent legislation.

Amended by Acts 10 of 1914; 11 of 1914; 11 of 1915; 42 of 1920; 47 of 1920; 33 of 1926; 19 of 1930; 1 of 1932; 2 of 1934; 22 of 1936; 2 of 1938; 34 of 1939; 10 of 1940; 22 of 1940; 36 of 1940; 26 of 1941; 17 of 1942; 21 of 1942; 50 of 1943; 1 of 1944; 4 of 1945; 6 of 1945; 13 of 1946.—Amended and repealed in part by Act 20 of 1937.—Adapted by A. O.

5. In September, 1934, the Government of India placed a lawyer with experience in the administration of Company Law on special duty to examine the material collected and to make proposals for the amendment of the Indian law. These proposals were further discussed by a small committee of business experts specially convened for the purpose. Out of these proposals and discussions there have crystallized the amendments now proposed.

6. The revision of the law in England took the form of a consolidating Act which completely replaced the Act of 1908. This course has not been followed here. The arrangement adopted in the new English Act has attracted unfavourable criticism to an extent which does not encourage its adoption, and there are manifest advantages in retaining the form of the existing Indian Act with the administration of which the Courts are now familiar, even though the additions to it by this Bill are extensive.

7. In the amendments proposed, the lines followed in the overhaul of the English law have in accordance with the policy followed in the past been adopted in the amendments now proposed where the problems dealt with are problems common to India and England. India has, however, problems peculiar to itself, for example, those connected with the managing agency system.

8. The special provisions relating to banking companies have been included, because there is no immediate prospect of legislation dealing solely with this object being undertaken. The recommendations of the Central Banking Enquiry Committee have been carefully considered in drafting these provisions. Gazette of India, 1936, Part V, page 93.

THE INDIAN COMPANIES ACT, 1913.

(ACT VII OF 1913)^a

[27th March, 1913.]

An Act to consolidate and amend the law relating to Trading Companies and other Associations.

Whereas it is expedient to consolidate and amend the law relating to Trading Companies and other Associations; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

[a] For Report of Select Committee, see Gazette of India, 1913, Pt. V, p. 45; and for Proceedings in Council, see ibid., 1912, Pt. VI, p. 586, and ibid., 1913, Pt. VI, pp. 6, 106 and 800.

The provisions of this Act do not apply to registered Co-operative Societies in Bengal, Bombay, Madras, Bihar and Orissa; see the Bengal Co-operative Societies Act, 1940 (Beng. 21 of 1940), the Bombay Co-operative Societies Act, 1925 (Bom. 7 [VII] of 1925), S. 68, the Madras Co-operative Societies Act, 1932 (Mad. 6 [VI] of 1932), S. 61, and the B. & O. Co-operative Societies Act, 1935 (B. & O. 6 [VI] of 1935, s. 8.

PART I. PRELIMINARY.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Indian Companies Act, 1913.
- (2) It shall come into force on the first day of April 1914; and
- (3) It extends to the whole of British India including British Baluchistan and the Santhal Parganas.

Short title, commencement and extent.

Definitions.

a[2. (1)] In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

[a] The original S. 2 was re-numbered as sub-section (1) of that section by the Indian Companies (Amendment) Act, 1936 (22 [XXII] of 1936), S. 2. [15-1-1937].

- (1) “articles” means the articles of association of a company as originally framed or as altered by special resolution, including, so far as they apply to the company, the regulations contained (as the case may be) in a Table B in the Schedule annexed to Act No. XIX of 1857 or in a Table A in the First Schedule annexed to the Indian Companies Act, 1882, or in Table A in the First Schedule annexed to this Act:

[a] See Appendix I, Infra

[b] See Appendix II, Infra

PREAMBLE—Note 1.

[1] The Companies Act is an Act merely legislating for or regulating certain rights recognized under the common law in England. (Vol. 15) 1928 Mad. 571 (573) (D. B.).

[2] A Company registered under the Companies Act, 1913 is subject to all the provisions of that Act; and if it carries on life insurance business it is in addition subject to the further provisions contained in the Life Assurance Companies Act of 1912. (Vol. 21) 1934 Cal 63 (64): 35 Cr L Jour 492. [Note.—S. 287 saves the Indian Life Assurance Companies Act of 1912 and Provident Insurance Societies Act of 1912 from the application of this Act].

[3] Interpretation.—The object of a consolidating and Amending Act is to present the whole body of the statutory law completely, repealing the former enactments. The principle of interpreting a Codifying Act is stated by Lord Herschell in Bank of England v. Vagliano, (1891 A. C. 107, at pp. 144, 145): (A codifying statute should be interpreted as it stands and the former law should not be taken into consideration except upon some special ground, as an ambiguous provision.)* (1897) 2 Q.B. 334 (346); (1891) 1891 App. Cas. 107 (144).

[4] Where Act of Parliament receives a judicial construction putting a certain meaning on its words, and the same words are used by the Legislature in subsequent enactment, it can be presumed that the Legislature used these words with an intention to express the meaning which was put upon the same words before; unless this presumption is rebutted, the Act should be so construed even if the words were such that they might originally have been construed otherwise. (1864) 11 H. L. C. 443 (480); 35 L.J.M.C. 1: 19 W. R. (Eng.) 1069.

[5] There is no obligation on a Court of law so to construe a clause in an enactment as would lead to a clear absurdity which could not possibly be regarded as contemplated by the legislating authority or agency. On the other hand, that construction alone should be adopted which is in consonance with common sense, which does not lead to absurd results or enormous practical difficulties. (Vol. 15) 1928 Mad. 571 (577) (DB).

[6] If a new enactment creates new rights unknown previously to law and provides remedies for the infringement of such rights, it must follow that it was the clear intention of the legislature that such remedies should be enforced only in the manner and by following the procedure indicated. It is open to the legislature to take away any subsisting right of suit and provide a special remedy instead: but it must be done by express provision and such a general right is incapable of being taken away merely by implication. (Vol. 15) 1928 Mad. 571 (572, 573) (DB).

[7] When any section is copied into an Indian Companies Act from the English Statute it has got the same meaning as under English Statute. (Vol. 13) 1926 Lah 624 (626): 8 Lah. 549 (DB). (S. 285 of Indian Companies Act has been copied from English Statute and the above mentioned case refers to this section).

[8] Different Sections of the Act must be read so as to be consistent with each other. (Vol. 14) 1927 Pat. 132 (133): 6 Pat. 132 (DB). (Ss. 199 and 200).

[9] Precedent may be excluded by a change in the language of the new enactment. 1909 2 Ch. 484 (491).

[10] Where a special provision is made in a special statute, that special provision excludes the operation of a general provision in the general law. (Vol. 30) 1943 Sind 89 (90); L. L. R. (1942) Kar 504 (DB). (S. 201, Companies Act excludes S. 89, Civil P.O.).

SECTION 2 (1) (2)—Note 1.

[1]. Distinct Legal entity.—Joint Stock Company is a distinct entity. It is not permissible to inquire whether the directors belong to the same family or whether it is as compendiously described, a one-man company. (Vol. 28) 1936 Bom. 62 (76): 60 Bom. 326 (DB). * (Vol. 14) 1927 Bom. 371 (374 375): 51 Bom. 372 (DB).

Also see under S. 23.

[2] Domicile.—The domicile of a corporation is the place considered by law to be the centre of its affairs which (1) in the case of a trading corporation is its principal place of business i.e., the place where the administrative business of the corporation is carried

- (2) "Company" means a company formed and registered under this Act or an existing company :
- (3) "the Court" means the Court having jurisdiction under this Act :
- (4) "debenture" includes debenture stock :
- (5) "director" includes any person occupying the position of a director by whatever name called :
- (6) "District Court" means the principal Civil Court of original jurisdiction in a district, but does not include a High Court in the exercise of its ordinary original civil jurisdiction :
- (7) "existing company" means a company formed and registered under the Indian Companies Act, 1866, or under any Act or Acts repealed thereby, or under the Indian Companies Act, 1882 :

[a] Repealed by the Indian Companies Act, 1882 (6 [VI] of 1882), which was in turn repealed by this Act.

(8) "Insurance company" means a company that carries on the business of insurance either solely or in common with any other business or businesses :

(9) "manager" means a person who, subject to the control and direction of the directors has the management of the whole affairs of a company, and includes a director or any other person occupying the position of a manager by whatever name called and whether under a contract of service or not :

[a] Clause (9) was substituted by the Indian Companies (Amendment) Act, 1936 (22 [XXII] of 1936), S. 2, for original Cl. 9. [15-1-1937].

(9A) "managing agent" means a person, firm or company entitled to the management of the whole affairs of a company by virtue of an agreement with the company, and under the control and direction of the directors except to the extent, if any, otherwise provided for in the agreement and includes any person, firm or company occupying such position by whatever name called :

Explanation.—If a person occupying the position of a managing agent calls himself a manager he shall nevertheless be regarded as managing agent and not as manager for the purpose of this Act.]

[a] Clause (9A) was inserted by the Indian Companies (Amendment) Act, 1936 (22 [XXII] of 1936), S. 2, [15-1-1937].

on, (2) in the case of any other corporation is the place where its functions are discharged. The registration of the company is not for all purposes, of itself decisive. The question in each case is, where is it that the real business of the company is carried on? According to the answer to that question, the companies' domicile must, in the main, be determined. The domicile of a trading corporation is the place where the centre of control is, where the directing power resides or, where the brain which controls the operations of the company is situated. (Vol. 26) 1939 Mad. 818 (824).

[3] The distinction between a company incorporated under an Act of Parliament and an association incorporated under Royal Charter is that the former can do such acts only as are authorised directly or indirectly by the statute creating it; the latter can do everything that an ordinary individual can do. Hence even though a corporation incorporated by a Royal Charter may have exceeded its powers in entering into a contract, though it may entail forfeiture, the transaction would nevertheless be valid. (Vol. 30) 1943 Mad. 111 (115).

SECTION 2 (1) (4)—Note 1.

[1] In determining what is or is not a debenture within the meaning of this clause the Court is not bound to hold that an instrument is or is not a debenture because it is so called by the company issuing it. The Court must look at the substance of the instrument itself and form the best opinion it can whether the instrument is or is not a debenture. A document which either creates a debt or acknowledges it and is one of a series may be dealt with as a debenture. A creation of a charge over the assets of the company issuing the debenture though usual, is not an essential requisite of a debenture. There may be a mortgage debenture or a simple debenture which does not create any charge on any of the assets of the company. (Vol. 33) 1946 Bom. 18 (19) : 47 Cr. L. Jour 361 : I.L.R. (1945) Bom. 863.

SECTION 2 (1) (8)—Note 1.

[1] Compare the definition given in S. 2 (8), Insurance Act, 1938 which runs as follows: 'Insurance Company' means any insurer being company, a association or partnership which may be wound up under the Indian Companies Act, 1913, or to which the Indian Partnership Act 1932, applies."

SECTION 2 (1) (9)—Note 1.

[1] Unless a person is in charge of the entire business of the Company he cannot be deemed a Manager. A branch Manager is not a manager (Vol. 5) 1918 Lah 170 (171) : 19 Cr. L. Jour 215 : 1917 Pun Re. No. (Cr.) 47 (DB)

SECTION 2 (1) (11)—Note 1.

[1] One person, officer of two companies—His knowledge, as officer, of one company cannot be imputed to the other company in the absence of duty imposed on the officer to communicate it to the other company. (Vol. 28) 1941 Bom. 108 (116) : I. L. R. (1941) Bom. 278 (DB).

(10) "memorandum" means the memorandum of association of a company as originally framed or as altered in pursuance of the provisions of this Act :

(11) "officer" includes any director, ^a[managing agent,] manager or secretary but, save in sections 235, 236 and 237, does not include an auditor :

[a] Inserted by the Indian Companies (Amendment) Act, 1936 (22 [XXII] of 1936), S. 2. [15-1-1937]

(12) "prescribed" means, as respects the provisions of this Act relating to the winding up of companies, prescribed by rules made by the High Court, and, as respects the other provisions of this Act, prescribed by the ^a[Central Government] :

^a[(13) "private company" means a company which by its articles—

(a) restricts the right to transfer the shares, if any ; and

(b) limits the number of its members to fifty not including persons who are in the employment of the company ; and

(c) prohibits any invitation to the public to subscribe for the shares, if any, or debentures of the company :

Provided that where two or more persons hold one or more shares in a company jointly they shall, for the purposes of this definition, be treated as a single member :]

[a] Substituted by the Indian Companies (Amendment) Act, 1936 (22 [XXII] of 1936), S. 2 for original clause (13). [15-1-1937]

^a[(13A) "public company" means a company incorporated under this Act or under the Indian Companies Act, 1882, or under the Indian Companies Act, 1866, or under any Act, repealed thereby, which is not a private company.]

[a] Inserted by the Indian Companies (Amendment) Act, 1936 (22 [XXII] of 1936), S. 2. [15-1-1937]

(14) "prospectus" means any prospectus, notice, circular, advertisement or other invitation, offering to the public for subscription or purchase any shares or debentures of a company ^a[but shall not include any trade advertisement which shows on the face of it that a formal prospectus has been prepared and filed.]

[a] Added by the Indian Companies (Amendment) Act, 1936 (22 [XXII] of 1936), S. 2. [15-1-1937]

(15) "the registrar" means a registrar or assistant registrar performing under this Act the duty of registration of companies : and

(16) "share" means share in the share capital of the company, and includes stock except when a distinction between stock and shares is expressed or implied :

^a[(17) "trading corporation" means a trading corporation within the meaning of Item 33 in List I in the Seventh Schedule to the Government of India Act, 1935.]

^a[(2) Where the assets of a company consist in whole or in part of shares in another company, whether held directly or through a nominee and whether that other company is a company within the meaning of this Act or not, and

(a) the amount of the shares so held is at the time when the accounts of the holding company are made up more than fifty per cent. of the issued share capital of that other company or such as to entitle the company to more than fifty per cent. of the voting power in that other company, or

1. Applicability and Scope.—[1] The Court will not interfere with the internal management of Companies acting within their powers. (Vol. 26) 1939 Rang. 417 (417) * (Vol. 21) 1934 Bom. 427 (427) : 59 Bom. 218 (DB). (If the majority of the share-holders consider that a particular contract of employment should be terminated, the Court would not consider the matter at the instance of the minority of share-holders.) * (Vol. 21) 1934 Bom. 243 (245).

[2] Court does not interfere for forcing companies to conduct their business according to strictest rules. (Vol. 21) 1934 Bom. 243 (245, 247).

[3] Interpretation of the clause in the memorandum of association relating to the assets of the company, is not a matter of mere internal management: a single member can therefore maintain a suit against the company for a declaration as to the true interpretation of the clause in question and the company cannot be excused from being impleaded in such an action. (Vol. 22) 1935 Lah. 792 (798, 794) (D.B.)

exercise all or any of the jurisdiction by this Act conferred upon the Court, and in that case such District Court shall, as regards the jurisdiction so conferred, be the Court in respect of all companies having their registered offices in the district.

(2) For the purposes of jurisdiction to wind up companies, the expression "registered office" means the place which has longest been the registered office of the company during the six months immediately preceding the presentation of the petition for winding up.

(3) Nothing in this section shall invalidate a proceeding by reason of its being taken in a wrong Court.

OBJECTS AND REASONS.

"We have inserted a new clause 3 prescribing the Court which is to exercise jurisdiction under the Act. Under the existing law certain powers of the Court can only be exercised by the High Court. As regards winding up proceedings, unless there is a special provision in the articles of the company, the Court having jurisdiction to wind up is the principal Court having original civil jurisdiction in the place in which the registered office of the company is situate. The company can, however, by its articles stipulate that the company if wound up shall be wound up in the Calcutta, Madras or Bombay High Courts or by the Chief Court of the Punjab. (Section 180 of the Indian Companies Act, 1882). It seems to be obviously desirable to define "the Court" if possible in such general terms as will necessitate no further reference to the matter in the body of the Bill. In the second place, we are not satisfied that the arrangements provided by the existing law are altogether suitable. We think there is prima facie some objection to an arrangement by which parties should be able by contract to determine their tribunal in regard to proceedings by which the rights of third parties may be affected. In the third place, some of the opinions which have reached us lead to the conclusion that it may be undesirable that District Courts in all parts of India should be invested with jurisdiction under the Act, regard being had to the fact that its provisions are considerably more complicated than those of the existing Act. We have, therefore, provided that the Court having jurisdiction under the Bill shall be the High Court of the place in which the registered office of the company is situate, while we have at the same time provided that the Local Government [now Central Government] may empower District Courts to exercise all or any jurisdiction under the Act. We are fortified in this conclusion by the reflection that, making necessary allowances for differences of conditions, our amendment approximates the position as regards the exercise of jurisdiction to that provided by the English Law."

[4] A company Judge has jurisdiction to pass orders to enforce statutory obligations of a company e.g., supplying copy of the register of the members of the Company to a shareholder. (Vol. 23) 1936 All. 568 (572) : 58 All. 988 (D.B.)

[5] Jurisdiction of the High Court referred to in S. 3 is the jurisdiction exercised by virtue of the specific provisions of the Act and not jurisdiction where merely a criminal offence under this Act is declared. S. 3 cannot be interpreted to mean that High Court is the only Court to try as Court of first instance offences due to breaches of provisions of Companies Act. (Vol. 23) 1936 All. 830 (831) : I.L.R. (1937) All. 220 : 38 Cr. L. Jour. 111 (F. B.) (Contra-vention of S. 85).

[6] The jurisdiction conferred on the High Court in Company matters is the jurisdiction to deal with matters provided by the Act and it is very doubtful whether an application to rectify the register of the Registrar, Joint Stock Company for which no provision is made in the Act can properly be brought before the Judge who is dealing with company matters. (Vol. 24) 1937 Cal. 81 (83, 84) : 68 Cal. 773.

[7] The existing jurisdiction of the district Courts under Companies Act, 1882 over cases which began before the commencement of the new Act of 1913 is preserved by S. 284 of the Act of 1913. (Vol. 1) 1914 Lah. 511 (512) : 1915 Pun. Re. No. 20.

[8] Company registered and having registered office in Bihar under jurisdiction of Patna High Court—Directors making payment after winding up petition—Official liquidator applied for enquiry into the conduct of the directors under S. 285—Some directors were residing in England—One director living in British India but outside jurisdiction of Patna High Court—Patna High Court has no jurisdiction over directors residing in England but has it over directors in British India—Inquiry can be made in respect to such director residing in British India. (Vol. 24) 1937 Pat. 196 (198, 199) : 15 Pat. 630.

2. 'High Court'.—[1] 'High Court' includes all sides of the High Court, and equally applies to the High Courts having Original Side, as well as those having no Original Side. (Vol. 12) 1925 Cal. 606 (607, 608) (D.B.)

[2] Applications under the Companies Act relating to companies doing business in the mofussil should be made in the Original Side of the High Court. (Vol. 12) 1925 Cal. 626 (626) : 52 Cal. 586 (D.B.)

[3] Not the Allahabad High Court but the Chief Commissioner of Ajmere and Merwara is the High Court for the purposes of the Companies Act for places within its jurisdiction. (Vol. 13) 1926 All. 649 (650) : 48 All. 709.

[4] The High Court is not prohibited either by Company Law or Letters Patent or High Court Act from getting transferred to its own file proceeding in winding up on the file of District Court. Such a power is given by Civil Procedure Code. (1887) 9 All. 180 (182).

[5] Winding up of company—Official Liquidator directed to settle list of creditors—Advocate appearing before Official Liquidator for one of the creditors can apply under O. V, R. 20, Madras High Court Original Side Rules, for his bill of costs to be taxed. (Vol. 31) 1944 Mad. 867 (868) : I.L.R. (1945) Mad. 24.

PART II.

CONSTITUTION AND INCORPORATION

Prohibition of partnerships exceeding certain number.

4. (1) No company, association or partnership consisting of more than ten persons shall be formed for the purpose of carrying on the business of banking unless it is registered as a company under this Act, or is formed in pursuance of an Act of Parliament or some other ^a[Indian law] or of Royal Charter or Letters Patent.

(2) No company, association or partnership consisting of more than twenty persons shall be formed for the purpose of carrying on any other business that has for its objects the acquisition of gain by the company, association or partnership, or by the individual members thereof, unless it is registered as a company under this Act, or is formed in pursuance of an Act of Parliament or some other ^a[Indian law] or of Royal Charter or Letters Patent.

Section 3 (contd.)

3. Section 3 (1), Proviso.—[1] The District Judge empowered under Proviso to S. 3 (1) has exclusive original jurisdiction to decide matters arising under the Act, with reference to Companies having registered offices within his district. But the revisional jurisdiction of the High Court under S. 115, Civil P.C., is not ousted. (Vol. 22) 1935 All 810 (815): 57 All 810 (D.B.).

[2] Office of company situate within jurisdiction of District Judge—District Judge has power to pass orders in liquidation proceedings—Contributories living outside British India are amenable to jurisdiction of District Judge. (Vol. 21) 1934 Lah. 362 (368): 15 Lah. 302.

4. Section 3 (2).—[1] Under the Companies Act, the High Court is the Court which has jurisdiction to wind up a company registered under it having its registered office anywhere in the Punjab. (Vol. 29) 1942 Lah. 74 (75): I. L. R. (1942) Lah. 800 (D.B.).

5. Section 3 (3).—[1] Sub-section (3) can have no application when objection to jurisdiction is taken at the very commencement and at the proper time. (Vol. 17) 1980 Mad. 74 (75): 53 Mad. 147* (D.B.). * (Vol. 14) 1927 Pat. 182 (183): 6 Pat. 182 (D. B.)

SECTION 4—SYNOPSIS

1. Applicability and scope.
2. Association.
3. Carrying on business.
4. Gain.
5. Illegal company, association or partnership.
6. Joint family trade or business—Sub-sec. (3).
7. Partnership.
8. Person.
9. Sub-section (5).*

1. Applicability and scope.—[1] A company of nine share-holders does not require registration. (Vol. 12) 1925 Mad. 298 (284).

[2] The members of a partnership or company or association hit by S. 4, can have beneficial interest in property. (Vol. 26) 1939 Cal. 187 (189): I.L.R. (1938) 2 Cal. 368 (D. B.).

[3] Section 4 governs company, association or partnership not only at its formation but also rules its continuance. (Vol. 26) 1939 Cal. 187 (189): I.L.R. (1938) 2 Cal. 368 (D.B.). (If number of original members, subsequently exceeds maximum allowable, the association becomes illegal if not registered.)

[4] Association illegal at inception due to want of registration—Subsequent reduction in number of members does not cure illegality—But subsequent registration cures defect. (Vol. 17) 1980 Rang. 21 (27): 7 Rang. 540 (D.B.).

[5] Company formed in Native State not illegal according to the law of the State—Company or members forming it does not commit illegal act. (Vol. 17) 1980 Bom. 5 (6): 53 Bom. 652 (D. B.).

2. Association.—[1] To constitute an association, existence of legal relation between more than 20 persons giving rise to joint rights or obligations is necessary. But such relation is not necessary when object is to form a 'Company'. (Vol. 26) 1939 Rang. 273 (278, 274): 40 Cr. L. Jour. 799.

[2] Chit fund is not an association under S. 4. Manager can sue and be sued though it is not registered. (Vol. 6) 1919 Low Bur 102 (102)* (1906) 29 Mad. 477 (483)* (1897) 20 Mad. 68 (74) (A chit fund association having more than twenty subscribers for it, is no association for the purpose of gain. Its members can be sued for unpaid subscriptions.)

[But see (1906) 1 Mad. L. Tim. 106 (112) (A chit fund consisting of more than twenty persons having joint rights and obligations inter se is an association.)]

[3] Pool arrangement to stifle competition, even if it were an association, does not fall under S. 4. (1936) 60 Bom. 800 (827).

[4] Under S. 4, all members must be interested in the business either by themselves or by their agents. Person obtaining licence from Government to catch elephants joined by others who were to get profits—Defendant carrying on business without interference from others—Held he was not an agent, and that the case did not come under S. 4. So no registration was required and suit for account was held competent. (1909) 18 Cal. W. N. 638 (642, 643).

[5] Association of several firms consisting of more than twenty persons formed for acquiring gain is essentially within S. 4 and requires registration. (Vol. 1) 1914 Nag. 26 (31): 10 Nag. L. R. 98.

[6] Unregistered company started for carrying on business for gain—Money collected from subscribers numbering more than twenty—Subscribers become share-holders though share certificates have not been issued and case comes under sub-S. (2). (Vol. 26) 1939 Rang. 273 (274): 40 Cr. L. J. 799.

[7] Association of 100 members—Each member to pay subscription and the whole amount was to be given to one of the members by drawing lots until all the members had their turn—Association was to remain for 100 months—Held it was doubtful whether it required registration and whether a claim for refund of subscription would have been legally maintainable against secretary and treasurer. (Vol. 20) 1938 Lah. 121 (122).

(3) This section shall not apply to a joint family carrying on joint family trade or business and where two or more such joint families form a partnership, in computing the number of persons for the purposes of this section, minor members of such families shall be excluded.

(4) Every member of a company, association or partnership carrying on business in contravention of this section shall be personally liable for all liabilities incurred in such business.

Section 4 (contd.)

3. Carrying on business.—[1] The test of business is continuity and repetition of acts; whether a repetition of acts amounts to business or not must depend upon the nature of the acts, and the act itself, if done singly, must be such as to be called business. But if the act when done singly does not amount to business, then merely because twenty persons or more than twenty persons are repeating the same act, it cannot be said that they are carrying on business. (1936) 60 Bom. 800 (S28).

[2] 'Carrying on business' implies continuous control of business. Proprietors of Wool factories entering into a pooling contract to work factories in a particular manner and sharing profits in a certain proportion—Contract for a period of five years—Two of the parties to work factory for 2½ years each and the other two at option to work or not—In case they worked profits should be shared—Held they did not constitute any association under S. 4 which requires continuous carrying on of business. (Vol. 21) 1934 Lah. 832 (884).

[3] The words 'any other business' show that what the Legislature contemplated is something which must be business in the same sense in which banking is, although implicitly, described as business. (1936) 60 Bom. 800 (824).

[4] The phrase "carry on business" is a very elastic one and is almost incapable of definition. The Court must in each case look to the circumstances. (94) 18 Bom. 294 (298); 21 Ind. App. 13 (P.C.). (Case under Cl. 12, Letters Patent (Bombay) 1865;—Expression 'carry on business' is intended to relate to business in which a man may contract debts and ought to be liable to be sued by persons having business transactions with him.)

4. Gain.—[1] Gain in S. 4 is not limited to pecuniary gain or commercial profits—Society with more than 20 persons with object to give aid to Chinese—Fund raised by contribution from members to be returned after three years—Money lent to needy Chinese for interest—Interest accrued to be sent on charity after three years—Held society was formed to carry on money-lending business and as it was not registered was illegal and therefore could not institute a suit for recovery of monies lent. (Vol. 19) 1932 Rang. 167 (168); 10 Rang. 490.

[2] Fact that gain is to be disposed of on a charitable object will not exclude operation of S. 4 where the association has over twenty members and its object is gain. (Vol. 17) 1930 All. 186 (187); 52 All. 325. (D.B.)

[3] The expression 'acquisition of gain' does not necessarily mean the acquisition of a commercial profit. It is sufficient that the association carries on a business for the purpose of obtaining payments, and it is not necessary that the business should result in a commercial profit at the end of the accounting period. (1926) Ch. 657 (663).

[4] Even though the business of an association has not for its object the acquisition of gain by the association, yet if it has for its object the acquisition of gain by the individual members and if the association consists of more than twenty members, it is hit by this section. (1882) 20 Ch.D. 137 (144, 145). (Meaning of the word 'gain' considered).

5. Illegal company, association or partnership.—[1] Provision of S. 4 is mandatory, any association contravening its provision is an illegal body and its existence cannot therefore be recognised by law. (Vol. 21) 1934 Lah. 832 (884) (D.B.).

[2] Where total number of persons constituting four unregistered firms, carrying on business, consisted of 22 persons such a partnership would be illegal. (Vol. 17) 1930 P. C. 300 (301) (P.C.)

[3] An association consisting of more than twenty members and not having been registered under S. 4 (2) can have no legal recognition as a legal unit and it cannot sue or be sued as a corporate body nor can it enter into a contract as such. But it cannot be said that a trade association is unlawful merely because it has not been registered in conformity with the provisions of this Act. (Vol. 18) 1931 All. 83 (84); 53 All. 816 (D.B.).

[4] Compulsory registrable association not registered. Members cannot sue inter se in respect of any matter connected with the association. (1911) All. L. Jour. 32 (35).

[5] Suit by third party against members of an illegal association can be maintained in certain circumstances; it would not be maintainable if he knew its illegal character and was himself participant criminis. (Vol. 21) 1934 Lah. 832 (884) (D.B.). * (Vol. 17) 1930 Bom. 5 (8); 53 Bom. 652 (D.B.).

[6] In the case of unregistered association of more than 20 persons if a member sues for dissolution a declaration can be granted that association is illegal but no relief for dissolution or accounts can be granted. (Vol. 13) 1926 All. 591 (593); 48 All. 735 (D.B.) (Sulaiman, J., dissenting). * (Vol. 13) 1926 Nag 241 (243).

[7] Partnership—Number of partners less than 20 at its inception—Number increasing beyond 20 without knowledge of one of the partners, A—Partnership converted into a joint stock company—A not given any share—Suit by A for declaration that there had been a dissolution of partnership and for recovery of share capital and profits—Suit without impleading all partner held not maintainable, as the liability was of the individual partners and of the partnership and not jointly of the various members constituting the partnership. (Vol. 25) 1938 Mad. 151 (153).

[8] A partition suit by one partner against the remaining partners of an illegal partnership is not maintainable. (Vol. 14) 1927 All. 487 (487); 49 All. 319 (D.B.).

[9] Suit for dissolution and for accounts—Preliminary decree passed by consent—Plaintiff applying to vacate it on the ground that firm was illegal under S. 4—Held a separate suit to set aside decree

(5) Any person who is a member of a company, association or partnership formed in contravention of this section shall be punishable with fine not exceeding one thousand rupees.]

on the ground of fraud should be instituted. (Vol. 20) 1933 Sind 29 (31): 26 Sind L. R. 895.

[10] An unregistered association for carrying on rice business and consisting of more than 20 persons is illegal. A suit by the members of illegal association for a declaration of their respective shares and for payment is maintainable. (Vol. 17) 1930 Rang. 21 (27): 7 Rang. 540 (D.B.).

[11] Unregistered partnership—Suit against, for declaration that partnership was illegal and for recovery of share of capital contributed—Held the cause of action accrued from date payment and was not continuous. (Vol. 8) 1921 All. 73 (74) (D.B.).

[12] If an association, the number of the members of which exceeds twenty, is an illegal one by reason of non-registration a suit at the instance of the firm or its members is not maintainable (Vol. 26) 1939 Cal. 187 (189): L.L.R. (1938) 2 Cal. 868 (D.B.).

[13] In determining the purpose of the association the primary and original object of the association has to be looked into and no regard to be paid to circumstances developed later on. Hence if a legal association be formed, later on some of the members commit a breach of trust, the association does not become illegal. (Vol. 17) 1930 All. 186 (187): 52 All. 325 (D.B.).

[14] A company which is not registered under the Companies Act although it is a partnership of thirteen unregistered firms, composed in turn of individual members, the aggregate number of whom exceed twenty, is liable to assessment to income-tax on its profits, whatever penalties and disabilities it may incur on account of non-compliance with the provisions of the Companies Act. (Vol. 18) 1931 Lah. 876 (878).

6. Joint family trade or business—Sub-s. (3).—

[1] A trading association to be within S. 4 must be formed on the basis of contract between its members. A joint family business, however, in which interests are acquired not by an act of party but by the law of inheritance, is not an association of persons in this sense and does not come within the scope of S. 4. (Vol. 26) 1939 Cal. 187 (190): L.L.R. (1938) 2 Cal. 868 (D.B.).

[2] A Hindu undivided family is not a company and its rights, obligations, privileges and constitution are not the same as that of a company. (Vol. 24) 1937 Lah. 880 (885): L.L.R. (1937) Lah. 325 (DB).

[3] Where partnership arose not as a result of contract but by operation of law as in the case of a Hindu joint family firm the individual members are merely sub-partners and the joint family consisting of these is reckoned as one person for the purposes of S. 4. (Vol. 21) 1934 Nag. 45 (47): 30 Nag. L.R. 219.

[4] The word 'person' may comprise a number of individuals such as a joint Hindu family. (Vol. 17) 1930 Bom. 431 (435): 54 Bom. 696 (D.B.). * (Vol. 11) 1924 All. 414 (414): 46 All. 509 (D.B.).

7. Partnership.—[1] Pool arrangement amongst concerns for the purpose of stifling competition and distributing the whole profits pooled in a certain proportion and each member allowed to carry on business in an unrestricted manner, is not a partnership as there is no common business. (1936) 60 Bom. 800 (327).

[2] Sub-partners are not members of a firm and their existence does not affect the number of members of a firm for the purposes of S. 4. (Vol. 23) 1936 Bom. 246 (248).

[3] Party who merely advances money but does nothing more than to be repaid by share of profits is merely a creditor though he may be styled as a partner, if his liability to pay the losses is clearly in respect of the losses occasioned by his neglect or default. (Vol. 9) 1922 Nag. 67 (69).

[4] Held on facts that the venture was not a single venture but was a partnership consisting of more than 20 persons within the meaning of S. 4 (2), and being unregistered, was illegal and could not maintain a suit. (Vol. 21) 1934 Bom. 861 (863) (D.B.).

[5] A single venture whereby a number of articles are purchased and sold may not be business. But when a number of bales are purchased, sales are to go on, profits are to be realised and are to be divided among partners it is not a single venture but amounts to a partnership. (Vol. 17) 1930 P. C. 300 (301) (P.C.).

[6] A becoming partner—Number of partners increasing beyond twenty without A's knowledge—Partnership subsequently converted into joint stock company, A being given no share—Suit by A for dissolution and for share of his profits in partnership—It was held that A was entitled to a share. (Vol. 25) 1938 Mad. 151 (152) ((1926) Ch. 657 relied on).

8. Person.—[1] Section 3 (39), General Clauses Act, 1897, says that 'person' shall include any company or association or body of individuals, whether incorporated or not. But the word 'person' in section 4, Companies Act, 1913, denotes individuals and does not include bodies of individuals whether corporate or not, since any such extended definition would be repugnant to the subject and context of the section. (Vol. 27) 1930 P. C. 300 (301) (P.C.). * (Vol. 14) 1927 Mad 123 (124): 50 Mad 175 * (Vol. 1) 1914 Nag 26 (29): 10 Nag L. R. 98.

[2] Person lending his name to a partnership contract, is a 'person' constituting the total number of partners, though he may be representing a joint Hindu family or a firm consisting of himself and other members. (Vol. 18) 1926 All 337 (338): 48 All 895 (DB).

[See also Note 6.]

9. Sub-section (5).—[1] Members of an unregistered company of more than 20 persons formed before S. 4 (5) was enacted can be punished for continuing to be members of such a company. (Vol. 29) 1942 Mad 283 (284): 43 Cr. L. Jour 785. (The Magistrate can drop the proceedings if he finds that he ought not to have taken cognizance of the offence under S. 4 (5)).

[2] It is true that offences under S. 4 (5) and S. 283 are non-cognizable and cannot be investigated by the police under Ch. 14, Criminal P. C. But the mere fact that offences were wrongly investigated and sent up by police is not an obstacle to their being tried by a Magistrate. (Vol. 26) 1939 Rang 273 (274): 40 Cr. L. Jour 799.

Memorandum of Association.

Mode of forming incorporated Company.

5. Any seven or more persons (or, where the company to be formed will be a private company, any two or more persons) associated for any lawful purpose may, by subscribing their names to a memorandum of association and otherwise complying with the requirements of this Act in respect of registration, form an incorporated company, with or without limited liability (that is to say), either—

- (i) a company having the liability of its members limited by the memorandum to the amount, if any, unpaid on the shares respectively held by them (in this Act termed a company limited by shares); or
- (ii) a company having the liability of its members limited by the memorandum to such amount as the members may respectively thereby undertake to contribute to the assets of the company in the event of its being wound up (in this Act termed a company limited by guarantee); or
- (iii) a company not having any limit on the liability of its members (in this Act termed an unlimited company).

Memorandum of company limited by shares.

6. In the case of a company limited by shares—

- (1) the memorandum shall state—
 - (i) the name of the company, with “Limited” as the last word in its name;
 - (ii) the province in which the registered office of the company is to be situate;
 - (iii) the objects of the company, a [and, except in the case of trading corporations, the territories to which they extend];

SECTION 5—Note 1.

[1] Court can go into the question whether a Company is genuine or not where the circumstances throw a doubt upon the genuineness. (Vol. 14) 1927 Bom 371 (385): 51 Bom 372 (DB).

[2] The mere fact of the principal business being abroad should not exclude any foreign merchants from incorporating themselves as a Joint Stock Company and carrying on business as such. (1871) 40 L. J. Ch. 655 (668).

[3] Gambling in differences in the stock exchange cannot be the legitimate business for an investment trust. (Vol. 31) 1944 Mad 586 (587): I. L. R. (1945) Mad 107 (DB). (Company in the nature of an investment trust though can buy and sell shares cannot legitimately amble in difference in Stock Exchange).

[4] In determining the object of the association, the primary and original object of the association has to be looked into and no regard should be paid to the circumstances that developed later. (Vol. 17) 1930 All 186 (187): 52 All 325 (DB). (If a perfectly legal association be formed and if later on, some of the members of the association should commit a breach of trust that fact should not render the original association an illegal one.)

[5] A company formed with the purpose of avoiding super-tax is not a genuine company. (Vol. 14) 1927 Bom 371 (382): 51 Bom 372. (DB).

[6] A's wife, daughter and four sons subscribed for one share each—A himself held the balance of the twenty thousand shares issued—All the requirements of the Companies Act were complied with and a company was duly incorporated—It was held by the House of Lords that the company was duly formed and registered and that the Court could not inquire whether or not such a one-man company was intended by the Legislature. (1897) App Cas 22 (30, 38).

[7] Proprietors of Zamindari forming a company do not act illegally where the means adopted for management are beneficial. (12) 16 Cal W. N. 297 (298).

[8] The use of the words “otherwise” in the section shows that the statutory condition that the memorandum of association must be signed by seven persons is as much a condition of registration as any other to be found in the Act which is preliminary to registration and essential. (13) 40 Cal 1 (19): 39 Ind App 237 (P.C.).

[9] There is no provision which limits the maximum number of shares that can be held by a member. It only sets the minimum at one share to become a shareholder. Nor is it necessary that the shareholders should be independent and beneficially interested persons. Hence the fact that one man because of his preponderating number of shares is in a position to outvote the others who are members of his own family will not make the company illegal where the memorandum has been signed by the requisite number. (1897) App Cas 22 (32, 34).

[10] An infant signing a memorandum is a ‘person’ within the meaning of the section though he can avoid subsequently the contract arising on his signature. Unless and until he repudiates the contract he is a ‘person’ and therefore an objection to registration on the ground that he is not “a person” is not sustainable. (1892) 3 Ch. 555 (561, 562) * (1876) 2 Ch. D. 610 (614).

[11] The word ‘person’ includes bodies politic. One limited Company can be a share-holder of another where it is authorised to do so under its memorandum and Articles of Association. (1867) L. R. 3 Ch. 105 (112, 114). * (1869) L. R. 4 Ch. App 252 (257).

[1] When the Act says that the memorandum must 'state the objects' the meaning is that it must specify the objects, that it must delimit and identify the objects in such plain and unambiguous manner as that the reader can identify the field of industry within which the corporate activities are to be confined. The purpose is twofold. The first is that the intending incorporator who contemplates the investment of his capital shall know within what field it is to be put at risk. The second is that any one who shall deal with the company shall know without reasonable doubt whether the contractual relation into which he contemplates entering with the company is one relating to a matter within its corporate objects. The objects of the company and the powers of the company to be exercised in effecting the objects are different things. Powers are not required to be and ought not to be specified in the memorandum. (1918) App. Cas 514 (522).

[2] Company's memorandum must state the Province in which the office of the proposed company must be situate, but once that province has been declared, there is no valid reason why the company should not fix its office anywhere it likes within the province and change it from time to time on giving notice. (Vol. 24) 1937 Cal 81 (88) : 63 Cal 773.

[3] If nothing is said in the memorandum, the articles of association may provide for the issue of authorised capital in the form of preference shares: if the articles do not provide, or do provide for equality inter socios, the power to issue preference shares may be obtained by alteration of the articles. If the memorandum prescribes the classes of shares into which the capital is to be divided and the rights to be attached to such shares respectively, the company has no power to alter that position by special resolution. (Vol. 20) 1933 P. C. 39 (42) (P. C.).

[4] Powers are not required to be and ought not to be specified in the memorandum of association. In the case of a trading company, the Act intends that the memorandum should define trade and not that it should specify the various acts which it should be within the power of the company to do in carrying on the trade. (Vol. 18) 1931 P. C. 182 (185) (P. C.). * (18) 1918 App Cas 514 (522).

Construction of memorandum.—[5] The memorandum of association does not constitute a contract between the company and a third party named therein. (Vol. 21) 1934 Bom 427 (428) : 59 Bom 218 (D.B.).

[6] The memorandum of association like any other document, must be read fairly and its import derived from a reasonable interpretation of the language which it employs. A special rigid construction cannot be applied. (Vol. 18) 1931 P. C. 182 (184) (P. C.).

[7] In construing a memorandum of association in which there are general words, such words must be taken in connection with what are shown by the context to be the dominant or main object. It will not do under general words to turn a company formed with one object into a company for working out some other object however general the words are. (1905) 2 Ch 427 (434, 435).

[8] Except in matters as must by statute be provided for by the memorandum of a company it is not to be regarded as a document but must always be studied in connection with the articles of association wherever there is ambiguity or where it is silent. (Vol. 21) 1934 P. C. 39 (90) (P. C.).

[9] A company is entitled to exercise the powers conferred on it by the memorandum unless such right is clearly restricted by any article. (Vol. 20) 1933 P. C. 39 (42) (P. C.).

[10] Where the memorandum of association of a company stated that one of the objects of the company was to carry on the business of manufacturers of and dealers in salt, soda, iodine and other products and that it may do so in any part of the world. Held that the business included the sale of salt to purchasers abroad, though there was no express mention of exportation. (Vol. 18) 1931 P. C. 182 (185) (P. C.).

[11] The objects of a shipping company stated in its memorandum of association were to acquire and deal with...personal estate and effects; to invest money of the company in such manner as the directors think fit. The Directors bought gold and silver and deposited it in the Bank for safe custody. Held that the company's action was ultra vires. (Vol. 31) 1944 Bom 131 (134) : I L R (1944) Bom 247 (D.B.). (Per Stone, C.J., Kania, J., Contra: the action was not an investment.)

[12] Where one of the objects of the company stated in its memorandum of association was "to advance money at interest on the security of land, houses, machinery etc., situated in India, and to Memorandum of company limited by guarantee.

7. In the case of a company limited by guarantee—

(1) the memorandum shall state—

- (i) the name of the company, with "Limited" as the last word in its name;
- (ii) the province in which the registered office of the company is to be situate;
- (iii) the objects of the company, a [and, except in the case of trading corporations, the territories to which they extend];
- (iv) that the liability of the members is limited;
- (v) that each member undertakes to contribute to the assets of the company in the event of its being wound up while he is a member, or within one year afterwards, for payment of the debts and liabilities of the company contracted before he ceases to be a member, and of the costs, charges and expenses of winding up, and for adjustment of the rights of the contributories among themselves, such amount as may be required, not exceeding a specified amount:

(2) if the company has a share capital—

- (i) the memorandum shall also state the amount of share capital with which the company proposes to be registered and the division thereof into shares of a fixed amount;
- (ii) no subscriber of the memorandum shall take less than one share;
- (iii) each subscriber shall write opposite to his name the number of shares he takes.

invest money not immediately required upon such securities and bank deposits as may be from time to time determined". Held on construction that so far as the money not immediately required was concerned, the directors had complete discretion in the matter of approving the kind of security offered. (Vol. 22) 1935 Lah 792 (795) (D B).

[13] If the Memorandum authorises, a company can raise money by the issue of debentures and invest the same or any part of it. (Vol. 17) 1930 Cal 586 (597): 57 Cal 828.

[14] Whether any particular transaction is within the company's object depends on the construction of the memorandum of association. Powers specified as objects might be construed as merely ancillary to the company's main object. (1918) 1918 App Cas 514 (520, 528).

[15] A commercial corporation not only has powers that are expressly set out in its constitution but also impliedly justifiable. Therefore where a Colliery Company had express power to purchase or take on lease certain coal mines and mineral lands to work them and also to acquire real estates but there was no such power to sell, it was held that it had an implied power to sell the real estates it had acquired. [1] To vary conditional rights and privileges given to various share-holders by strictly complying with articles of memorandum does not amount to alteration of conditions in memorandum, where one of the conditions in memorandum is that the rights and privileges are subject to variation. (Vol. 22) 1935 All 810 (818, 819) : 57 All 810.

[2] The provision in the memorandum of the company relating to the appointment of a managing agent is merely a detail of management for the purpose of carrying on the business of the company, and a company is entitled to regulate that detail in such manner as it likes without going to a Court for its sanction. (Vol. 31) 1944 Bom 76 (82). * (Vol. 21) 1934 Bom 427 (428) : 59 Bom 218.

[But see (Vol. 11) 1924 Mad 126 (127, 128) (DB). Clause in the Memorandum appointing certain person as agent and secretary of the company—Held that the clause was not one relating to the objects of the Company and as such could not be altered under s. 12 (1) (a) by a special resolution; nor was it one relating to the detail of management, but was a condition of an important condition within the meaning of s. 10. (Note: Case decided before amendment and is of doubtful authority).]

[3] The insertion of the place-name of the registered office of a company in the memorandum of association does not make it an unalterable condition of the company's constitution and provided the alteration has been made in the manner provided by the Act such alteration is valid and binding on the company. (Vol. 24) 1937 Cal 81 (88) : 68 Cal 778.

[4] The word 'condition' is not limited by any such words as 'condition hereinbefore mentioned' or 'condition necessary to the constitution of the company'. Therefore, anything which is laid down as a rule in the memorandum of association must be taken to be one of the conditions on which the company is established. Hence any stipulation in the memorandum cannot be altered, save such as is expressly mentioned in this section. (1885) 80 Ch. D. 376 (381).

[5] As to construction of memorandum by reference to the articles, see Notes on S. 6.

SECTION 11—Note 1.

[1] Under the company law, a company by registering its name gains a monopoly of the use of that name. Even if the company is not registered the Court will restrain the registration under the Act of a projected new company which is intended to carry on the same business and to bear a name so similar to that of the unregistered company as to be calculated to deceive the public. (4) Any company may, by special resolution and subject to the approval of the c[Central Government] signified in writing. d[* * * *] change its name.

(5) Where a company changes its name, the registrar shall enter the new name on the register in place of the former name, and shall issue a certificate of incorporation altered to meet the circumstances of the case. On the issue of such a certificate, the change of name shall be complete.

(6) The change of name shall not affect any rights or obligations of the company, or render defective any legal proceedings by or against the company; and any legal proceedings that might have been continued or commenced against it by its former name may be continued or commenced against it by its new name.

[2] Where a company registered under S. 26, Companies Act, desires to alter its memorandum of association, the proper course is to apply in the first instance to the Central Government for the approval of the proposed alterations and, then to the High Court for the confirmation of the alterations. But where the High Court wrongly confirms the alteration without its being first approved by the Central Government, the High Court can cancel its wrong order if no right has accrued to any person in consequence of the illegal order. (3) Before confirming the alteration, the Court must be satisfied—

- (b) that, with respect to every creditor who in the opinion of the Court is entitled to object, and who signifies his objection in a manner directed by the Court either his consent to the alteration has been obtained or his debt or claim has been discharged or has determined, or has been secured to the satisfaction of the Court:

OBJECTS AND REASONS

Amendment made in 1936—Sub-S. (1), Cls. (f) and (g):—In certain decisions it had been doubted whether in the absence of express provision in the memorandum, a company was competent to alter its objects so as to enable it to perform the acts now referred to in clauses (f) and (g). Sections 5 of the English Act, 1929, makes express provision for this purpose and has been adopted by these clauses.—See S.O.R. 1936.

Exercise of discretion by Court.

14. The Court shall, in exercising its discretion under sections 12 and 13, have regard to the rights and interests of the members of the company or of any class of them, as well as to the rights and interests of the creditors, and may, if it thinks fit, adjourn the proceedings in order that an arrangement may be made to the satisfaction of the Court for the purchase of the interests of dissentient members; and may give such directions and make such orders as it may think expedient for facilitating or carrying into effect any such arrangement:

Provided that no part of the capital of the company may be expended in any such purchase.

Procedure on confirmation of the alteration.

15. (1) A certified copy of the order confirming the alteration, together with a printed copy of the memorandum as altered, shall, within three months from the date of the order, be filed by the company with the registrar, and he shall register the same, and shall certify the registration under his hand, and the certificate shall be conclusive evidence that all the requirements of this Act with respect to the alteration and the confirmation thereof have been complied with, and thenceforth the memorandum so altered shall be the memorandum of the company.

(2) Where the alteration involves a transfer of the registered office from one province to another, a certified copy of the order confirming such change shall be filed by the Effect of failure to register within three months. 16. No such alteration shall have any operation until registration thereof has been duly effected in accordance with the provisions of section 15, and if such registration is not effected within three months next after the date of the order of the Court confirming the alteration, or within such further time as may be allowed by the Court in accordance with the provisions of section 15, such alteration and order and all proceedings connected therewith shall, at the expiration of such period of three months or such further time, as the case may be, become absolutely null and void.

Provided that the Court may, on sufficient cause shown, revive the order on application made within a further period of one month.

Articles of Association.

Registration of articles.

17. (1) There may, in the case of a company limited by shares, and there shall, in the case of a company limited by guarantee or unlimited, be registered with the memorandum, articles of association signed by the subscribers to the memorandum and prescribing regulations for the company.

(2) Articles of association may adopt all or any of the regulations contained in Table A in the First Schedule, ^a[and shall in any event be deemed to contain regulations identical with or to the same effect as regulation 56, regulation 66, regulation 71, regulations 78, 79, 80, 81, and 82, regulation 95, regulation 97, regulation 105, regulation 107 and regulations 112, 113, 114, 115 and 116 contained in that Table:

Provided that ^b [Regulations 78, 79, 80, 81 and 82] shall not be deemed to be included in the articles of any private company except a private company which is the subsidiary company of a public company:

Provision for share capital of company limited by guarantee—27 (2).

1. Section 17 (1).—[1] Articles of Association provide for varying sets of circumstances. (Vol. 27) 1940 Sind 87 (89).

[2] Provisions of forfeiture of shares in Articles of Association are enforceable. (1936) 63 Cal 531 (533).

[3] Provision in the articles as to how dividends are to be distributed while the company is a going concern does not per se govern or affect the distribution of surplus assets in a winding up. (Vol. 26) 1939 Cal 126 (127, 128): ILR (1938) 2 Cal 533.

[4] Where the articles of association provided that "all deeds, hundis, cheques, certificates and other instruments shall be signed by the managing director, the Secretary and the working director on behalf of the company", held that a mortgage deed executed by the Secretary and the working director alone was invalid and the mere fact that the managing director had been dismissed was not material. Held further that the mortgagee must be deemed to have notice of the Articles of Association and therefore could not take advantage of the principle laid down in Royal British Bank v. Turquand (119 E.R. 474) even though he might have acted in good faith and the money might have been applied for the purposes of the company. (Vol. 21) 1934 Mad 579 (580, 581).

[5] The Articles of Association of a bank provided that the company is not bound to recognise the executor or administrator of the deceased unless he shall have obtained probate or letters of administration, or other legal representation from a duly constituted Court in British India. It was held that a succession certificate was "other legal representation" within the meaning of the Articles of Association. (Vol. 30) 1943 Mad 743 (746).

[6] Where an Article of Association of a bank declares that the office of a director shall ipso facto be vacated "if he resigns, or for any other reason becomes incapable of acting as a director", the article contemplates resignation or some incapacity such as illness, long absence, imprisonment, insanity or any other incapacity but not the director's indebtedness to the bank which can be no ground for his removal. (Vol. 29) 1942 Mad 737 (737): ILR (1943) Mad 291.

[7] Articles of Association of insurance company—Construction—Article 148 providing that if at any meeting or adjourned meeting, vacating directors or such of them as have not had their places filled up shall be deemed to have been re-elected—Article 151 providing director's shall have power to elect any other person to be a director of the company either to fill up casual vacancy or as an addition to the Board, but the total number shall not at any time exceed the maximum number fixed—Directors 89

Provided further that regulation 107 shall be deemed to require that a statement of the reasons why of the whole amount of any item of expenditure which may in fairness be distributed over several years, only a portion thereof is charged against the income of the year, shall be shown in the profit and loss account, unless the company in general meeting shall determine otherwise.]

(3) In the case of an unlimited company or a company limited by guarantee, the articles, if the company has a share capital, shall state the amount of share capital with which the company proposes to be registered.

(4) In the case of an unlimited company or a company limited by guarantee, if the company has not a share capital, the articles shall state the number of members with which the company proposes to be registered, for the purpose of enabling the registrar to determine the fees payable on registration.

OBJECTS AND REASONS.

Amendment made in 1936.—"It is desired to make generally applicable certain provisions usually made by the articles of properly managed companies as to polls, absence of restrictions on form of proxies, retirement of directors by rotation, inspection of accounts, details shown in profit and loss account and the giving of notice to members. This clause makes the adoption of the model regulations on this subject contained in Table A compulsory."—S. O. R. 1936.

Application of Table A.

18. In the case of a company limited by shares and registered after the commencement of this Act, if articles are not registered, or, if articles are registered, in so far as the articles do not exclude or modify the regulations in Table A in the First Schedule, those regulations shall, so far as applicable, be the regulations of the company in the same manner and to the same extent as if they were contained in duly registered articles.

(Company—Winding up—On construction of Articles of Association, arrears of dividends on preferential shares held were not debts).

2. Section 17 (2).—[1] It was held in (Vol. 21) 1934 All 855 (861) that there was nothing in the Act to prevent the insertion in the articles of association of a clause limiting the liability of a director or officer of the company in relation to the public. But such an insertion will now be against the provisions of Sec. 86 C which was newly inserted by the Act of 1936.

SECTION 18—Note 1.

[1] In the absence of proof to the contrary, it must be taken that Table A of the Companies Act has been incorporated in the Articles of Association of a Company limited by shares. (Vol. 18) 1931 Pat 44 (45, 46) : 10 Pat 249 (DB).

SECTION 20—Note 1.

[1] Section 20 empowers a company to alter or add to its articles and when altered the new articles are as valid as if they had found place in the original articles. (46) 1946 Nag L Jour 128 (131).

(2) The power of altering articles under this section shall, in the case of any company formed and registered under Act No. XIX of 1857 and a Act No. VII of 1860 or either of them, extend to altering any provisions in Table B annexed to Act XIX of 1857, and shall also, in the case of an unlimited company formed and registered under the said Acts or either of them, extend to altering any regulations relating to the amount of capital or its distribution into shares, notwithstanding that those regulations are contained in the memorandum.

[1882—S. 76; (1908) 3 Edw. VII, C. 69—S. 13 (1), (2); (1929) 19 & 20 Geo. V, C. 23—Ss. 10, 319 (2)].

Section 20 (contd.)

[2] It is a cardinal rule of corporation law that prima facie a majority of its members is entitled to exercise the powers of the corporation and where no special provision is made, the whole are bound not only by the major part, but by the major part of those present at a regular corporate meeting whether the number present be a majority of the whole or not. Therefore, unless a construction of the articles of association of a company leads to the conclusion that there was an intention to supersede the ordinary rule, it must be held that, where no quorum has in fact been fixed, the acts of a major part of the directors for the time being are valid. (Vol. 29) 1942 Lah 68 (69, 70): I L R (1943) Lah 123 (DB).

[3] Right of a Company to alter the articles of association is statutory and cannot be limited or removed either by a contract or provision in the articles themselves. The only limitation on the power to alter is that it should be exercised fairly and according to law. (Vol. 32) 1945 Nag 187 (189): I L R (1945) Nag 599.

[4] Effect cannot be given to an article reserving power to the company to alter its articles by an ordinary resolution, as it would amount to getting round the provisions of S. 20, in an indirect manner. (Vol. 14) 1927 Bom 609 (611).

[5] Power given by the Act to alter articles should be exercised by the shareholders bona fide for the benefit of the company. It is not for the Court to say what is for the benefit but the shareholders alone can decide what is beneficial. It cannot be interfered with provided reasonable men would regard it so. (1927) 2 K B 9 (27).

[6] The ordinary rule is that anything which appears in the articles of association but is not provided for by the memorandum of association, may be altered by special resolution. The memorandum of association of a bank provided for the post of a hereditary secretary. His salary and emoluments were provided by the articles of association. Held that by a special resolution it was competent to the Directors to vary the articles and limit the powers and emoluments of the Secretary. (1910) 33 Mad 36 (39, 40).

[7] A member of a company will be ordinarily bound by any change in the articles of association but when there is a special contract between a member and the company, though that member is a shareholder, no change in the articles affects that contract. When there is such a special contract, the directors would not be acting ultra vires if they discharge the obligations under such contract from out of the general assets of the company. (Vol. 12) 1925 Cal 690 (696): 52 Cal 239.

[8] A became a member of a benefit fund association incorporated under this Act. A bound himself to abide by the rules as contained in its articles of association. The articles provided a scheme for the payment of the claim of the members. By the enactment of the Insurance Act (1938), the scheme became abolished, and the association altered its articles of association so as to effect a change in the scheme of payment. A had notice of the meetings in which the amendment was made. Held that the change in the articles was binding on A, as the company had powers under S. 20 to alter the articles. (Vol. 32) 1945 Nag 187 (189): I L R (1945) Nag 599.

[9] An article providing for the qualification of directors cannot be altered by an ordinary resolution. It can alter the same only by a special resolution as required by S. 20. (Vol. 14) 1927 Bom 609 (611).

[10] Any alteration in the articles cannot bind a member from whom notice of the meeting at which the alteration was made was withheld. (Vol. 28) 1941 Mad 854 (855).

[11] Where a company amends the articles by a special resolution without mentioning in the notice under S. 81 that the question of amendment was to come up for decision in the meeting the amendment is invalid and ultra vires. (Vol. 27) 1940 Lah 248 (244).

[12] Rules framed by a Wheat Merchants' Association for regulating the conduct of business mutually—Rules amended by resolution to meet emergency created by sudden rains—Amendment of articles not to be made unless with five days' notice and passed by 2/3 majority in the general body—Resolution amending rules not conforming to articles—Held that the moving or passing of a resolution regulating the business of members upon the happening of a sudden and unexpected emergency did not amount to the amendment of the articles. (Vol. 17) 1930 All 661 (666, 667) (DB).

[13] Where one of the articles of association of a company provided in absolute terms that the number of directors shall be not more than four it was held that the article did not empower the company to alter the maximum number of directors except by a special resolution under this section. (1946) 50 Cal W N 810 (814).

[14] The Articles of Association of a company provided that 'unless otherwise determined by general meeting' the number of directors shall not be less than five or more than nine. The company by a general meeting without a special resolution resolved to increase the number to sixteen: Held, that the increase in the number of directors did not involve any alteration of the articles and that the resolution passed at the general meeting was valid. Held also, that such a provision implied that it was open to the shareholders to vary the number of directors therein referred to without in any way necessitating an alteration in the articles itself and that S. 20 did not apply. (Vol. 20) 1938 All 344 (346, 347): 55 All 899 * (Vol. 27) 1940 Sind 87 (90).

[15] As to the alteration of articles restricting foreign interests by a company governed by the Companies (Foreign Interests) Act, 1918, see S. 4 of that Act.

Effect of alteration in memorandum or articles.

a[20A. Notwithstanding anything in the memorandum or articles of a company, no member of the company shall be bound by an alteration made in the memorandum or articles after the date on which he became a member if and so far as the alteration requires him to take or subscribe for more shares than the number held by him at the date on which the alteration is made, or in any way increases his liability as at that date to contribute to the share capital of, or otherwise to pay money to, the company :

Provided that this section shall not apply in any case where the member agrees in writing either before or after the alteration is made to be bound thereby].

[a] Inserted by the Indian Companies (Amendment) Act, 1936, (22 [XXII] of 1936), S. 10. [15—1—1937]

General Provisions.

Effect of memorandum and articles.

21. (1) The memorandum and articles shall, when registered, bind the company and the members thereof to the same extent as if they respectively had been signed by each member and contained a covenant on the part of each member, his heirs, and legal representatives, to observe all the provisions of the memorandum and of the articles, subject to the provisions of this Act.

(2) All money payable by any member to the company under the memorandum or articles shall be a debt due from him to the company.

[1882—S. 39; (1908) 8 Edw. VII, C. 69—S. 14; (1929) 19 & 20 Geo. V, C. 23—S. 20]

SECTION 20A—Note 1.

[1] Section 20A is limited to two things: (a) requiring a share-holder to take or subscribe for more shares than the number held by him at the rate of the alteration, and (b) increasing his liability to contribute to the share capital of, or otherwise to pay money to, the company. (46) 1946 Nag L Jour 128 (187).

SECTION 21—SYNOPSIS.

1. Section 21 (1)—Contractual nature of articles.

2. Section 21 (2)—“Debt due”.

1. Section 21 (1)—Contractual nature of articles.—[1] A member of a company and those claiming through him are bound by Company's Articles. As long as the Company and its directors are acting literally and ‘bona fides’ according to the provisions of the Articles, it or they cannot be said to be acting without sufficient cause. (Vol. 29) 1936 Rang 52 (53).

[2] Where members have under the articles a contractual right of inspection, that cannot be reduced by the power given to make rules, into a mere right to claim inspection subject to the Committee's approval. But a right of inspection does not carry with it a right to take copies, this right must be separately established. If he has got such a right the motive with which he wants to exercise it is irrelevant. (Vol 25) 1938 Cal 89 (90, 92).

[3] Articles of Association is no contract between a company and an outsider. It does not give to any individual member special rights beyond those of the members generally. Article only constitutes a contract between a Company and its members in respect of their ordinary rights as members. (Vol 15) 1928 Bom 252 (254) : 52 Bom 477.

[4] Even if the memorandum and articles of association of a company are held not to constitute a contract in themselves, an implied contract may be proved by the acts of the parties on the terms set out in the articles of association of the company. (Vol 29) 1942 Lah 47 (49) : I L R (1943) Lah 28.

[5] A shipping company incorporated under the Companies Act had clauses in its memorandum of objects, viz., ‘to acquire and deal with the property—Personal estate and effects’ and ‘to invest money of the company in such manner as the directors think fit’. The company through its directors purchased gold and silver and kept the same with a bank for safe custody. In a suit by one of the share-holders for a declaration that the company's action was ultra vires, it was held that the company's action was not ultra vires as it came within one of the objects. (Vol 31) 1944 Bom 131 (134) : I L R (1944) Bom 247. (Meaning of the word ‘invest’ discussed)

[6] Articles of association of a banking company declaring director's office to be ipso facto vacated if he resigns or becomes incapable of acting as director—Held director's indebtedness to bank was not incapacity within the meaning of article. (Vol 29) 1942 Mad 787 (787) : I L R (1943) Mad 291.

2. Section 21 (2)—“Debt due”.—[1] Only money which is presently due can be described as a debt. Money does not become due merely because signatories to the Articles of Association or memorandum have undertaken to purchase shares and pay for them. The signatories of the Memorandum and Articles of Association of a Company undertook to purchase certain number of shares each. There was no term by which the signatories contracted to pay any sum on any particular date or any particular time or on demand. The failure of the signatories to pay the prescribed amount of their shares on or before the date fixed by the directors for payment does not entail a forfeiture as the amount was not presently due from the signatories. (Vol 26) 1939 All 739 (743).

[2] Unpaid share capital can be called up only in accordance with the articles of association and the provisions of Ch. V of the Act. Therefore where notice was not dispensed with by the articles of association mere passing of a resolution calling up shares will not constitute a valid call. (Vol 19) 1932 Cal 716 (718) : 59 Cal 1186.

[3] A suit by a company which is not under liquidation for recovery of arrears of allotment money and call money due on shares allotted to the defendant is cognizable by a Court of Small Causes. (Vol 20) 1938 Lah 657 (658).

Registration of memorandum and articles.

22. The memorandum and the articles (if any) shall be filed with the registrar for the province in which the registered office of the company is stated by the memorandum to be situate, and he shall retain and register them.

[1882—S. 40; (1908) 8 Edw. VII, C. 69—S. 15; (1929) 19 & 20 Geo. V, C. 23—S. 12]

Effect of registration.

23. (1) On the registration of the memorandum of a company, the registrar shall certify under his hand that the company is incorporated, and in the case of a limited company that the company is limited.

(2) From the date of incorporation mentioned in the certificate of incorporation, the subscribers of the memorandum, together with such other persons as may from time to time become members of the company, shall be a body corporate by the name contained in the memorandum, capable forthwith of exercising all the functions of an incorporated company, and having perpetual succession and a common seal, but with such liability on the part of the members to contribute to the assets of the company in the event of its being wound up as is mentioned in this Act.

[1882—S. 41; (1908) 8 Edw. VII, C. 69—26; (1929) 19 & 20 Geo. V, C. 23—S. 13]

[4] Although the liability of a share-holder as regards the balance due on his shares is a debt accruing on the date of taking of the shares the liability is enforceable only after a valid call has been made. (Vol 19) 1932 Cal 716 (718) : 59 Cal 1186.

[5] A debtor of a company on becoming its share-holder becomes also bound by the provisions where it exists in the article by which any debt due by a share-holder to the company is made a first charge on the share. (Vol 6) 1919 Mad 1161 (1163) (DB).

[6] In the event of a company being wound up, the liability of a contributory creates a debt payable at the time specified in the calls made on him by the liquidator; see S. 159.

If the directors propose to do something in excess of those powers, he cannot assume their power to be extended by a special resolution. For, such a resolution would require registration. (Vol 14) 1927 Cal 299 (302) (DB).

[2] Registrar has a discretion to refuse to register alteration of articles to same extent as he has with regard to articles. (Vol 20) 1933 Mad 129 (129).

1. Status and rights of a Company.—[1] Companies incorporated under the Companies Act are separate legal entities. entity from any individual although that individual may practically hold all the shares.) * (Vol 18) 1931 Bom 178 (180) (DB). (Distinction between Company and firm made out).

[2] A joint stock Company is a distinct entity, and although all the shares may be practically controlled by one person in law, it is not permissible or relevant to enquire whether the directors belonged to the same family or it is "one man company". (Vol 28) 1936 Bom 62 (76) : 60 Bom 326.

[3] There is nothing in the Act requiring that the subscribers to the memorandum should be independent or unconnected or that they or any one of them should take substantial interest in the undertaking, or that they should have a mind and will of their own, or that there should be anything like a balance of power in the constitution of the company. (1897) 2 All 22 (51).

[4] The distinction should be marked and maintained between an incorporated company's legal entity and its actions, assets, rights and liabilities on the one hand, and the individual share-holders and their actions, assets, rights and liabilities on the other. Where the Directors of a Company misuse their powers as directors to their own advantage, their actions as against the company will be of no effect and the Court will not enquire whether the company derived any benefit from such transaction. (Vol 24) 1937 P O 279 (285).

[2] Where the majority of shares of a company are controlled by those against whom the relief is sought, share-holders may sue on their own names but must show that acts complained of are of a fraudulent character or beyond the powers of the company. (1) A certificate of incorporation given by the registrar in respect of any association shall be conclusive evidence that all the requirements of this Act in respect of registration and of matters precedent and incidental thereto have been complied with, and that the association is a company authorised to be registered and duly registered under this Act.

(2) A declaration by an advocate, attorney or pleader entitled to appear before a High Court who is engaged in the formation of a company, or by a person named in the articles as a director, manager or secretary of the company, of compliance with all or any of the said requirements shall be filed with the registrar, and the registrar may accept such a declaration as sufficient evidence of compliance.

[8] Company is not bound by contract entered before its formation. (Vol 21) 1934 Bom 427 (428) : 59 Bom 218.

[9] An agreement entered into by the promoters of a company before incorporation of the company cannot be enforced by the company even though the company has, after its incorporation, adopted and ratified it. (Vol 33) 1946 Cal 23 (30) : 1 L R (1944) 2 Cal 101.

[10] In cases of "fraud upon the minority", if the wrong-doer has the balance of power, and therefore the company does not take action, there are two courses open : the minority may take the risk and boldly use the Company's name, or where the wrongful act is supported by the majority the minority share-holders can sue in their own name, or as a matter of convenience a share-holder can sue on behalf of himself and all the other share-holders. If however, the wrong-doers are also share-holders, these share-holders as a matter of course must be excluded from the category of plaintiffs; hence the phrase "except those who are defendants". In such cases the primary fraud must be clearly indicated. It is the gist of the action, although no doubt the pleading or the particulars may be so framed as to stress the dominance of the majority and the effectuation of the fraud through that dominance. Where a decision of the directors is attacked on the ground that it is injurious to the Company, the directors should be parties. Where that act of directors so impeached has been confirmed and is still impeached on the basis that the directors have got that confirmation by controlling the majority, still those directors should be parties. (Vol 28) 1941 Cal 174 (178, 180) : 1 L R (1941) 1 Cal 30.

[11] Where the action is brought by share-holders, the plaintiffs should distinctly allege the illegality of the act complained of and the impossibility of getting the company to impeach its validity. Mere irregularities committed by the directors cannot give a cause of action to share-holders and entitle them to challenge the validity of the resolutions passed, and the aggrieved share-holders must appeal to the company. This supremacy of the majority is subject to certain exception. These came into play (1) where the act complained of is ultra vires the Company ; (2) where the act complained of is a fraud on the minority ; (3) where there is an absolute necessity to waive the rule in order that there may not be a denial of justice. (Vol 21) 1934 Bom 248 (245).

[12] Neither under the Companies Act nor under the Co-operative Societies Act is there any statutory provision which entitles the creditor to treat members of a society with unlimited liability differently from the members of a society with limited liability. Creditors cannot proceed directly against individual members for the debts of society, until there is a winding up. (Vol 18) 1931 Pat 321 (328) : 11 Pat 174 (FB).

[13] The effect of incorporation is to make the body corporate a separate legal entity. A person must look to its assets for payment and can only call upon individual members to contribute in case the Act or charter so provides. (Vol 18) 1931 Pat 321 (321) : 11 Pat 174 (F B).

[14] The Court has jurisdiction to entertain suit by share-holders against the company in respect of the infringement of their rights as share-holders, e.g. the right of exercising their individual votes, when the interests of justice so required. (Vol 19) 1932 Mad 100 (108) (DB).

SECTION 24—Note 1.

[1] Certificate of incorporation is conclusive as to the fact of incorporation and that all the previous requisites of the Act in respect of registration have been complied with. The statutory condition that memorandum of association must be signed by seven persons is as much a condition of registration as any other requisition to be found in the Act which is preliminary to registration. OBJECTS AND REASONS

This section follows S. 24 of the English Act, 1929, in providing that the memorandum or articles of a company should show all changes made therein. As this section is made applicable to articles, S. 50, sub-Ss. (3) and (4) and S. 71, sub-Ss. (2) and (3), containing similar provisions, have been repealed by the amending Act of 1936. The insertion of the words 'knowingly and wilfully' has been made to ensure that an unintentional default is not to be penalised.—See S.O.R. and S.C.R., 1936.

(1) Where it is proved to the satisfaction of the a[Central Government] that an association capable of being formed as a limited company has been or is about to be formed for promoting commerce, art, science, b[religion], charity, or any other useful object, and applies or intends to apply its profits (if any) or other income in promoting its objects, and to prohibit the payment of any dividend to its members the a[Central Government] may, by license under the hand of one of its Secretaries, direct that the association be registered as a company with limited liability, without the addition of the word "Limited" to its name, and the association may be registered accordingly.

(2) A license by the a[Central Government] under this section may be granted on such conditions and subject to such regulations as the a[Central Government] thinks fit, and those conditions and regulations shall be binding on the association, and shall, if the a[Central Government] so directs, be inserted in the memorandum and articles, or in one of those documents.

(3) The association shall on registration enjoy all the privileges of limited companies, and be subject to all their obligations, except those of using the word "Limited" as any part of its name, and of publishing its name, c[and of sending lists of members to the registrar].

SECTION 25-A.

This section is newly inserted by the Amending Act of 1936 and follows S. 24 of the English Act, 1929, in providing that the memorandum should show all changes made therein. Prior to the insertion of this section, provisions similar to this section were included in Ss. 50 (3) and (4) and Ss. 71 (2) and (3) which have now been omitted by the Amending Act of 1936.—See S. O. R. and S. C. R., 1936.

Provision as to companies limited by guarantee. 27. (1) In the case of a company limited by guarantee and not having a share capital, and registered after the commencement of this Act, every provision in the memorandum or articles or in any resolution of the company purporting to give any person a right to participate in the divisible profits of the company otherwise than as a member shall be void

SHARE CAPITAL, REGISTRATION OF UNLIMITED COMPANY AS LIMITED, AND UNLIMITED LIABILITY OF DIRECTORS

Distribution of Share Capital

Nature of shares. 28. (1) The shares or other interest of any member in a company shall be movable property, transferable in manner provided by the articles of the company.

(2) Each share in a company having a share capital shall be distinguished by its appropriate number.

(High Court wrongly ordering confirmation of alteration without its approval by Local Government—High Court has jurisdiction to cancel its order).

SECTION 28—Note 1.

[1] Shares are prima facie transferable. A restriction which precludes a share-holder altogether from transferring may be invalid, but a restriction which does no more than give a right of pre-emption is valid. (Vol 15) 1928 P C 291 (293) (P.C.).

[2] Every share-holder in a company can as of right transfer his share to another and the transfer is complete on the day the deed is signed by both parties. The provision in the Articles of Association that no transfer would be valid and recognised unless registered in the books and that the company could refuse to register a transferee without assigning reasons is one for the protection of the company and does not prevent the passing of title. (Vol II) 1924 Lah 173 (174) (DB).

[3] In the absence of anything in the Articles of Association forbidding the same, a sale by Court of shares held by a member has the effect of transferring the shares to the purchaser. The burden is on the opponents to prove the contrary by reference to some provision in the Memorandum or Articles of Association of the company. (Vol 15) 1928 Mad 571 (574) (DB).

[4] Transfer of shares otherwise than as provided by the Companies Act and the Articles of Association is invalid. A transferee without a proper conveyance has only an equitable right to compel the vendor to execute the proper conveyance upon which his title may be perfected. In the case of a sale of shares through Court, there is no further deed of transfer to be executed. Hence a purchaser of shares at a Court sale has priority over an assignee of shares in respect of which proper conveyance has not been made (Vol 10) 1923 Mad 241 (244, 245) : 45 Mad 587 (D B).

[5] The purchaser of shares at Court sale is in no way in a superior position to that of a transferee by [7] The right of a share-holder to transfer his shares in a company is absolute subject to any restriction imposed by the articles of association. (Vol 30) 1943 Mad 743 (747).

[8] The term 'goods' as defined in the Sale of Goods Act, 1930, S. 2 (7) now includes stock and shares.

[9] A company cannot exercise wide powers of accepting a surrender. It can only accept a surrender of shares under condition and limitations under which shares can be forfeited. To hold that a company by a resolution of its directors accept surrender of shares would be to allow a company to reduce its capital at its pleasure. (Vol 15) 1928 Lah 240 (241).

SECTION 29—Note 1.

[1] As to the meaning of "stock" see Notes on S. 50.

1. Applicability and Scope.—[1] As a Registered share-holder has a vested interest in the property of the company and gets certain rights he must also be subjected to the burdens attached to it. (Vol 1) 1914 Bom 128 (129): 39 Bom 331 (DB) (Obligation to pay calls in the future).

[2] A minor may be a member of a company. (Vol 1) 1914 Bom 128 (129): 39 Bom 331 (DB).

[3] Share-holder who was a minor at the date of allotment of shares but after attaining majority received dividends and raised no objection to his name being included in the register of members is estopped from denying as between himself and the company's representatives that he is a share-holder. (Vol 1) 1914 Bom 128 (129): 39 Bom 331 (DB).

[4] Shares transferred to person as qualification for directorship without payment—Such person holding out that he is share-holder and member of company—Liquidation of company—He is estopped from denying that he is share-holder or member of company. (Vol 28) 1936 Lah 480 (481): 17 Lah 576.

[5] Where a company by its resolution expels a member without any power under the articles of the company as the resolution of expulsion has no effect; the expelled member remains both as a share-holder, and a member. (Vol 28) 1941 Mad 354 (355).

[6] The membership in a mutual benefit fund is not terminated by the mere appropriation of the share capital of a member towards the amount due by him to the fund in the absence of any forfeiture. (Vol 23) 1936 Mad 97 (97) (DB).

2. Section 30 (1).—[1] The signatories to the Memorandum of Association become the first members of the Company from the date of incorporation. The fact that no shares are allotted to a signatory and that he has ceased to be treated as a member for a considerable time does not relieve him from liability and he is liable to be placed on the list of contributories. (Vol 21) 1934 Sind 39 (42, 43) (Affirmed in (Vol 25) 1938 Sind 187: 32 Sind L R 157.)

[2] Express allotment of shares to subscriber to the Memorandum of Association is necessary in order to give rise to liability to pay up value of the shares. (Vol 26) 1939 Mad 498 (498).

[3] Under S. 30, a person shall be deemed to have agreed to become a member of the company on his subscribing to the memorandum and on its registration can properly be entered as a member. He cannot plead that he subscribed to the memorandum subject to certain reservation. (1928) 26 All L Jour 347 (348).

[4] By merely subscribing to the memorandum a person becomes the member and on his death his heirs can be placed in the list of contributories in winding up. (See S. 160). (Vol 20) 1933 All 334 (337): 55 All 417 (DB).

[5] The first portion of Sub-S. (1) of S. 30 lays down a rule of substantive law; the second portion lays down a rule of procedure and it does not govern the earlier portion. The mere omission of the entry of the names of subscribers to the memorandum does not negative their membership. (Vol 13) 1926 All 550 (551): 48 All 580* (Vol 21) 1934 Sind 39 (43).

- (i) the names and addresses, and the occupations, if any, of the members, and, in the case of a company having a share capital, a statement of the shares held by each member, distinguishing each share by its number, and of the amount paid or agreed to be considered as paid on the shares of each member;
- (ii) the date at which each person was entered in the register as a member;
- (iii) the date at which any person ceased to be a member.

(2) If a company makes default in complying with the requirements of this section, it shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees for every day during which the default continues; and every officer of the company who knowingly and wilfully authorises or permits the default shall be liable to the like penalty.

[2] Where a person has been given shares or shares have been transferred to him, as qualification for a directorship without any payment, such a transfer makes the transferee a member of the company. (Vol 28) 1936 Lah 480 (481): 17 Lah 576.

[3] Agreement by a person to take shares makes him share-holder and his name must be entered in the register. (Vol 19) 1932 P C 212 (215) (PC).

[6] In the case of conditional applications the rule is that if the condition attached to the application is a condition precedent there is no contract until the condition is complied with, but if the condition attached is collateral or subsequent, the agreement is concluded by allotment and registration and the fact that the collateral condition has not been fulfilled will not affect the applicant's position as a share-holder. [10] Where in the event of a company not making a profit the shares were not to be paid for at all, the share-holder is a 'bogus' share-holder. This is opposed to the whole object of the Companies Act. (1912) 36 Bom 557 (562).

[4] The words 'knowingly' and 'wilfully' are used in S. 32. with reference only to the officers of the company and not to the company itself. The Company is always liable where the return is not sent in; but the officers of the company are liable only if they knowingly or wilfully authorise or permit the default. (Vol 29) 1942 Mad 75 (76): 43 Cr L Jour 188 * (Vol 21) 1934 Cal 63 (64): 35 Cr L Jour 492.

[5] Where in a charge under S. 32 (5) the lower Court found that certain entries did not agree with the figures in papers filed previously and there was no evidence that the previous returns were correct it was held that the whole charge failed in the absence of evidence of the correctness of the previous returns. (Vol 19) 1932 Mad 497 (498, 499): 33 Cr L Jour (589) * (Vol 29) 1942 Cal 225 (225): 43 Cr L Jour 466. - (k) the number of shares or amount of stock comprised in each sharewarrant;
- (l) the names and addresses of the persons who at the date of the return are the directors of the company and of the persons (if any) who at the said date are the managers or managing agents of the company, and the changes in the personnel of the directors, managers and managing agents since the last return together with the dates on which they took place; and
- (m) the total amount of debt due from the company in respect of all mortgages and charges which are required to be registered with the registrar under this Act.

(3) The above list and summary shall be contained in a separate part of the register of members, and shall be completed within [twenty-one days] after the date of the first or only ordinary general meeting in the year, and the company shall forthwith file with the registrar a copy signed by a director or by the manager or the secretary of the company, together with a certificate from such director, manager or secretary that the list and summary state the facts as they stood on the day aforesaid.

f[(4) A private company shall send with the annual return required by sub-S. (1), a certificate signed by a director or other officer of the company that the company has not, since the date of the last return or, in the case of a first return, since the date of the incorporation of the company, issued any invitation to the public to subscribe for any shares or debentures of the company, and where the annual return discloses the fact that the number of members of the company exceeds fifty, also a certificate so signed that the excess consists wholly of persons who under sub-clause (b) of clause 13 of sub-S. (1) of S. 2 are not to be included in reckoning the number of fifty.]

g[(5) If a company makes default in complying with the requirements of this section, it shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees for every day during which the default continues, and every officer of the company who knowingly and wilfully authorises or permits the default shall be liable to the like penalty.]

Section 32 (contd.)

[6] Forfeiture recognised in S. 32 (2) (g) and Sch. III Form E is not limited to forfeiture for non-payment of calls only. Regulations 24 to 30 in Table A do not control the section or the form. The Act sanctions forfeiture generally, that is to say, forfeiture as a means to get rid of a member who is in default either in payment of calls or in observing or performing other rules and regulations of the company. (1945) 49 Cal W N 502 (509).

[7] Purely arithmetical mistakes in additions in the returns filed—Accused held cannot be convicted. (Vol 19) 1932 Mad 497 (499): 33 Cr L J 589.

[8] If an officer of the company knows of the fact of non-compliance with the requirements of the section and takes no steps to have them complied with, it can be held that he permitted the defaults to continue. In order that a conviction under this section of an officer may be sustained, the only thing the prosecution has to prove is that the particular officer knowingly and wilfully authorised or permitted the defaults. The offence is complete if the officer knew of the defaults and permitted them; it is not necessary further to prove that he authorised those defaults. (Vol 23) 1936 Cal 237 (238): 37 Cr L J 552.

[9] A person charged under this section is not entitled to plead by way of defence the impossibility of complying with it by reason of no general meeting having been held, at any rate when he himself is also a party to the default in holding the meeting. (1911) 1 K B 588 (592).

[See also (Vol 29) 1942 Cal 225 (225): 43 Cr L J 492.]

[10] Where a director is convicted under S. 76, his further conviction under S. 32 may be dropped. (Vol 29) 1942 Cal 225 (225): 43 Cr L J 466.

[11] The offence contemplated by S. 32 (5) is a continuing offence. The obligation to forward to the Registrar the summary and list specified in this section does not come to an end on the date on which by default on the part of every officer of the company, the penalty begins to accrue. Hence any person who acts as an officer of the company during the continuance of the offence becomes liable whether he was legally appointed or not. (Vol 8) 1916 Lah 397 (399, 400): 17 Cr L J 242.

[12] The fact that the managing director and chief secretary have resigned their position before the prosecution for non-compliance with the provisions of this section was started, without resigning thereby their post as director does not free them from their liability. (Vol 1) 1914 Lah 125 (126) (DB): 15 Cr L J 900 (901): (Case under Companies Act, 1882, Ss. 48, 50).

[13] Under the Punjab Government Notification No. 3, dated 28rd February 1910, Registrar of the Joint Stock Companies can authorise any person to institute complaints of offences. (Vol 8) 1916 Lah 397 (398): 17 Cr L J 242. (Case decided under Companies Act, 1882).

[14] When the conviction is not of the managing director but of a company, company acting through a properly authorised agent is the proper appellant and not the managing director. (Vol 21) 1934 Cal 63 (63): 35 Cr L J 492.

[cc] This seems to be a discrepancy. Even in the book published by the Government this clause is lettered (k) instead of (j).

OBJECTS AND REASONS

"We have altered the date up to which the list and summary required by clause 32 (now S. 32) is to be prepared. We are of the opinion that the day of the general meeting is the most suitable date from every point of view. We have amended clause (32) (2) (i) so as to provide for the inclusion in the particulars required thereby of the names of the managers of the company. We think this important in view of the peculiar position which managing agents occupy in this country. We have amended sub-clause (3) of the same clause so as to require a certificate only of the fact that the list and summary are as they stood in the day of the general meeting."—S.C.K., 1933.

Amendment made in 1936.—Sub-S. (1) of S. 32 as it stood prior to the amendment did not clearly show when the first list of members was to be prepared if a company was incorporated towards the end of a year. Confusion was also caused by the use of the words first or ordinary general meeting. The amendment made in 1936 is designed to remove this uncertainty and confusion.—See S.O.R., 1936, Cl. 12.

Transfer of shares.

[34. (1)] An application for the registration of the transfer of shares in a company may be made either by the transferor or the transferee, provided that where such application is made by the transferor no registration shall in the case of partly paid shares be effected unless the company gives notice of the application to the transferee and subject to the provisions of sub-S. 34(7) the company shall, unless objection is made by the transferee within two weeks from the date of receipt of the notice, enter in its register of members the name of the transferee in the same manner and subject to the same conditions as if the application for registration was made by the transferee.

(2) For the purposes of sub-S. (1) notice to the transferee shall be deemed to have been duly given if despatched by prepaid post to the transferee at the address given in the instrument of transfer and shall be deemed to have been delivered in the ordinary course of post.

SECTION 33—Note 1.

[1] Though a company is not bound to recognise a trust in respect of its shares, it would not prevent the Court from recognising it and considering the rights between the parties. (Vol. 18) 1931 Bom 269 (271, 272) (DB).

[2] A share in a joint stock company is capable of equitable assignment and can be a subject of a trust. S. 33 which forbids notice of a trust to be entered on the register implies that there can be a trust of shares. (1948) 45 Bom L R 46 (50).

[3] Where the articles of association of a company provide that the company should have a paramount lien upon every share for all debts due from the holder thereof the company cannot, in respect of moneys which became due from the shareholders to the company after notice of the deposit of the shares by them with the mortgagees' claim priority over the advances made by the mortgagees after such notice. Transfer by a legal representative—35.

1. Amendment—Effect of.—See the objects and reasons given under the text of this section above.

2. Necessary formalities.—[1] Where a shareholder purports to transfer his share, the transfer must include the right to get on the register of the shareholders and to become a shareholder in his stead. The transfer must be operative to divest him of this right and vest it in the transferee. If he effects a sale which in law is void (being in favour of person under legal incapacity to purchase) the transferor does not cease to be the legal owner and he remains on the register, subject to the liabilities attaching to his membership. (Vol. 80) 1948 Mad 111 (114).

[2] Until the transferee's name is entered in the register, the dividends on the shares are also payable to the transferor for he is deemed to be the holder of the shares until the entry is made. (Vol. 23) 1936 Bom 24 (27); 60 Bom 297.

[3] When the shares are sold and vendee's name is registered in the company's record, the vendor is not entitled to a decree against company for proportionate dividend in spite of private agreement between the vendor and vendee. (Vol. 32) 1945 All 47 (48); I L R (1945) All 15.

[4] Deed of transfer of share must be executed by both transferor and transferee. (Vol. 10) 1928 Mad 241 (242); 45 Mad 537 (DB).

(3) It shall not be lawful for the company to register a transfer of shares in or debentures of the company unless the proper instrument of transfer duly stamped and executed by the transferor and the transferee has been delivered to the company along with the scrip:

Provided that, where it is proved to the satisfaction of the directors of the company that an instrument of transfer signed by the transferor and transferee has been lost, the company may, if the directors think fit, on an application in writing made by the transferee and bearing the stamp required by an instrument of transfer, register the transfer on such terms as to indemnity as the directors may think fit.

(4) If a company refuses to register the transfer of any shares or debentures, the company shall, within two months from the date on which the instrument of transfer was lodged with the company, send to the transferee and the transferor notice of the refusal.

(5) If default is made in complying with sub-S. (4) of this section, the company and every director, manager, secretary or other officer of the company who is knowingly a party to the default shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees for every day during which the default continues.

[5] The contract is complete on the day when the deed of transfer of shares is signed by both the parties and the deed is handed over to the transferee. The transferee then steps into the shoes of transferor and becomes the owner of the shares in his place with all the advantages and disadvantages attached to the status, even though the shares are not transferred to the transferee's name. (Vol. 11) 1924 Lah 173 (174, 175) (DB).

[6] The transferee in cases of transfers of shares in blank has the right to fill in the necessary particulars including his own name as transferee and the date of the transfer after the death of the original transferor. The instrument then is complete and transferee is entitled to have his name registered as the holder of the shares in the company's registers. (Vol. 29) 1942 Cal 461 (464); 1 I L R (1942) 1 Cal 122.

[7] Before a share-holder can get himself removed and another person can come in his stead, both must conform to regulations of the company. (Vol 30) 1943 Mad 111 (114).

[8] An article of company conferring power on directors to transfer shares without an instrument of transfer is ultra vires. (Vol 28) 1941 Mad 354 (355).

[9] Transfer of shares by a director without requisite formalities will not be recognised and transferor will still remain a contributory. (Vol 2) 1915 Lah 320 (321).

[10] Companies Act does not contemplate the registration of the name of a firm as holder of its shares, but only individuals or other legal entities. An application is therefore not maintainable when transfer is made in firm name of partnership concern and not in the name of any person. (Vol 31) 1944 Oudh 818 (321).

[11] A gift of certain shares was intended by the transferor to take effect by way of transfer. He did not intend any trust and died before the transfer deed was completed; nor was the deed presented for registration before the company during his life time. It was held that there was no equity in perfecting the imperfect gift and that the intended transfer could not also be held to operate as a declaration of trust. (Vol 8) 1921 Cal 148 (149); 48 Cal 986.

[12] For registration as a share-holder a person must present to the company the share script accompanied by a duly stamped and signed transfer-deed. (Vol 32) 1945 Bom 149 (151); 1 I L R (1945) Bom 334 (DB).

[13] Where a transferee complies with all the necessary formalities there is no duty on his part to see that the company has carried out its part in registering the transfer in strict accordance with the articles of association. Where according to articles of association two directors were to decide the registration of transfer of shares it was held simply because one only did it, it was not invalid. (1911) 6 Low Bur Rul 152 (157).

3. Priority.—[1] On confirmation of Court sale and issue of order under O. 21, R. 79, Civil P.C. no further steps are required to be taken by the Code for completing the sale of shares. All that remains for the company is to signify or to withhold its assent to the transfer. The auction-purchaser has therefore priority over the private transferee from the share-holder who has not got the assignment in the manner required by law and is thus merely a holder of an equitable contract. (Vol 10) 1923 Mad 241 (245): 45 Mad 587 (DB).

[2] As between two persons claiming title to shares in a company which are registered in the name of third person, priority of title prevails unless the later claimant can show that as between himself and the company he had acquired the full status of a share-holder before the company received the notice of the first claimant's claim. (1912) 36 Bom 334 (337).

4. Refusal to transfer.—[1] A transfer of a share cannot take effect without the sanction of company. (Vol 14) 1927 Lah 797 (797) (DB).

[2] It is in the discretion of the company to recognise or not a transfer whether it is private or by Court auction. (Vol 10) 1923 Mad 241 (242): 45 Mad 587 (DB).

[3] Directors refusing to consent to the registration of transfer of shares are not bound to state their reasons for the refusal. If they do not state their reasons, they must, in the absence of evidence to the contrary, be assumed to have acted bona fide and honestly in the interest of the company. To vitiate the exercise of their powers it must be shown by evidence that they were acting arbitrarily and capriciously or from some improper motive. (1931) 33 Bom L R 184 (197) * (1892) 16 Bom 80 (90, 91). (But the refusal must be on the personal objection to the transferee and not because the transferee declines to pledge himself to hold a particular view as held by the directors.) * (Vol 28) 1941 All 360 (362, 363); 1 I L R (1941) All 671. (Willingness of the majority of the share-holders to recognise the transfer is absolutely immaterial.) * (1900) 22 All 410 (412) * (Vol 22) 1935 Mad 784 (784).

(6) Nothing in sub-S. (3) shall prejudice any power of the company to register as shareholder or debenture holder any person to whom the right to any shares in or debentures of the company has been transmitted by operation of law.

(7) Nothing in this section shall prejudice any power of the company under its articles to refuse to register the transfer of any shares.]

[b] Substituted, ibid, 1938 (2 [II] of 1938), S. 3.

OBJECTS AND REASONS

Amendments made in 1936.—The Act as it stood prior to its amendment in 1936 did not lay down the procedure for the transfer of shares; this was generally provided for in the articles of the company. Undue restrictions upon transfers and undue delay in registering transfers were not uncommon. The section now substituted by the amending Act in 1936, while leaving a discretion with the directors to refuse transfer requires for a transfer application either by the transferor or transferee, notice by the transferee in the case of an application by the transferor, the use of the proper instrument of transfer required by the company in the case of an application by the transferee. It also prescribes the time limit within which an objection by a transferee may be made or a refusal to register a transfer must be communicated. —See S.O.R., 1936, Cl. 13.

“The new sub-S. (6) of S. 34 makes it clear that there is no intention in anything contained in the section to affect the right of a company to refuse to register a transfer of shares, where that right exists by virtue of the articles.”—S.O.R., 1936.

Section 34 (contd.)

[4] The right of a share-holder to transfer his shares in a company is absolute as it is inherent in the ownership of the shares; but it can be restricted by contract, which has to be found in the articles of association of the company. Even in a case where power to refuse registration of transfer of shares is conferred on the directors of a company in absolute terms, the refusal must not be arbitrary. Provided they act in a bona fide manner, the directors are not bound to give any reasons. But if they give any reasons, the Court can examine them, but it will not overrule the decision of the directors merely on the ground that it would have reached a different conclusion. If the directors refuse registration on any wrong principle their act can be rectified. When consent for the transfer of shares is withheld by the directors for reasons which cannot stand scrutiny and no objection is raised of a personal kind against him on whom the shares have devolved by operation of law, to recognise a power in the directors to refuse the transfer is to countenance an abuse of powers vested in them for the due and efficient management of the company. (Vol 30) 1943 Mad 743 (747, 748) * (1900) 22 All 410 (427, 429) (In re Bell Bros, 7 L T 689 Foll.)

[5] Reasons for refusing to register transfers should not be arbitrary, capricious or wanton. Where the objection taken by the company for refusal to register the transfer is an arbitrary one in that the company thereby endeavours to try and avoid the consequence of what they considered their own prior mistake and to obtain a position which by their own deliberate act they have waived such objection cannot be upheld. (1912) 6 Low Bur Rul 152 (158).

[6] Directors should refuse registration of transfer of shares when the company is insolvent though winding up is not commenced. (Vol 2) 1915 Lah 320 (321).

[7] Articles gave powers to company to refuse to recognise transfer made when share-holder was indebted to the company on any account whatsoever and gave lien on all shares other than fully paid-up shares—A holder created equitable mortgage over his fully paid-up shares—It was held that power to refuse to register transfer of shares was confined to shares that were not fully paid up. (Vol 21) 1984 Mad 476 (480) : 57 Mad 965 (DB).

[8] Slight delay in according sanction to a transfer of shares would not justify a payment of dividends to a person not yet entered as a member on the books of the company and such a delay would not make the company liable to an action for damages. (Vol. 28) 1936 Lah 207 (208).

[9] An irregularity in a meeting of directors convened for confirmation of a transfer of a share for want of notice does not invalidate a transfer duly made. It is enough that at the date of the winding up there was upon the register a transferee who was legally liable to the company in respect of the shares. (Vol. 23) 1936 Bom 24 (28) : 60 Bom 297.

[10] As to the rights of a purchaser of shares in a company where the transfer of shares has been refused by the company, see (1943) 45 Bom L R 46 (48, 49).

[11] Arbitrary refusal by company to transfer shares in plaintiff's name—Damages when and how far can be claimed stated. (Vol 80) 1948 Mad 743 (748, 749).

5. Transfer and transmission.—[1] Transfer and transmission of shares in a company are quite distinct from each other. The former is based upon the act of parties; the latter is the result of the operation of law. In the case of a transmission of shares they continue to be subject to the original liabilities and if there was any lien on the shares of any sums due, the lien would subsist notwithstanding the devolution of the shares. (Vol 30) 1943 Mad 743 (747).

[2] Articles 19 to 27 of the Articles of Association of a company were under the heading ‘Shares (transfer)’ and articles 28 to 30 were under the heading ‘Shares (transmission)’. Art. 20 provided that the shares in the company shall be transferred by endorsement on the certificate in such form as shall from time to time be approved by the managers of the company. The plaintiff required the defendant company to register in his name certain shares purchased by him at a sale held by Court in execution of a decree and subsequently confirmed. On the company's refusal to register his name the plaintiff brought the suit. It was held that the expression ‘transfer’ was not appropriate to indicate a sale in invitum by the Court as that expression was more appropriate to indicate what was effected or brought about by the will of the person in whom the property was vested and that the expression ‘transmission’ was more appropriate than the word ‘transfer’ for indicating Transfer by legal representative. 35. A transfer of the share or other interest of a deceased member of a company made by his legal representative shall, although the legal representative is not himself a member, be as valid as if he had been a member at the time of the execution of the instrument of transfer.

[1882—S. 46; See Sch. I, Table A, Regs. 21 & 22; (1908) 8 Edw. VII, C. 62—S. 29; (1929) 19 & 20 Geo. V, C. 23—S. 64]

(2) Any member or other person may require a copy of the register, or of any part thereof, or of the list and summary required by this Act, or any part thereof, on payment of six annas for every hundred words or fractional part thereof required to be copied ^a[and the company shall cause any copy so required by any person to be sent to that person within a period of ten days, exclusive of non-working days and days on which the transfer books of the company are closed, commencing on the day next after the day on which the requirement is received by the company].

^b(3) If any inspection required under this section is refused or if any copy required under this section is not sent within the proper period the company and every officer of the company who is in default shall be liable in respect of each offence to a fine not exceeding twenty rupees and to a further fine not exceeding twenty rupees for every day during which the refusal or default continues and the Court may by an order compel an immediate inspection of the register and index or direct that copies required shall be sent to the persons requiring them.]

OBJECTS AND REASONS.

Amendments made in 1936.—“We have extended (3) of section 36 a provision enabling the Court to the time allowed for compliance with a request for a enforce compliance with such a request where there copy of the register, and have added in sub-section is undue delay.”—S. O. R., 1936.

assignments effected by some agency other than the transferor; the case, therefore, fell under the heading ‘Shares (transmission)’. (Vol 15) 1928 Mad 571 (574) (DB).

[1] As to the liability of a legal representative as a contributory in case of death of member, see S. 160.

[2] As to the meaning of ‘legal representative’ see Civil P. C. S. 2 (11); see also Succession Act, 1925, Sa. 211 and 811.

SECTION 36—Note 1.

[1] The provision in sub-S. (8) as regards immediate inspection being ordered by the Court is presumably inserted in the Act with a view to provide for those contingencies in which the Court for sufficient reasons is satisfied that the purpose of the inspection will be frustrated unless immediate inspection is ordered. (Vol. 28) 1936 All 568 (572) : 58 All 988.

[2] By sub-S. (9) as substituted by the amending Act of 1936, it is now provided that the Court may by an order “direct that copies required shall be sent to the persons requiring them.” In a case decided prior to the above amendment it was held that the Court had jurisdiction to order a company to deliver a copy of the register of the members of the company to a share-holder of the company even though there was no express provision in the Act empowering it to do so. (Vol 28) 1936 All 568 (572) : 58 All 988.

Power of Court to rectify register.

38. (1) If—

- (a) the name of any person is fraudulently or without sufficient cause entered in or omitted from the register of members of a company; or
- (b) default is made or unnecessary delay takes place in entering on the register the fact of any person having ceased to be a member, the person aggrieved, or any member of the company, or the company, may apply to the Court for rectification of the register.

(2) The Court may either refuse the application, or may order rectification of the register and payment by the company of any damages sustained by any party aggrieved, and may make such order as to costs as it in its discretion thinks fit.

SECTION 38—SYNOPSIS.

1. Application for rectification—Sub-S. (1).
2. Application—Parties to.
3. Power of Court—Sub-section (2).
4. Question relating to title—Sub-section (3).
5. "Direct an issue to be tried"—Proviso.
6. Appeal.

1. Application for rectification—Sub-S. (1).—

[1] The articles of association imposed certain restrictions and conditions regarding the change of name in the register. The company insisted on those conditions and restrictions being fulfilled. It was held that the company was not acting 'without sufficient cause' within the meaning of S. 38 (1) (a). (Vol 28) 1936 Rang 52 (58).

[2] Where the contributory has failed to show that his name was entered in the register fraudulently or without sufficient cause, rectification of share register by deleting a number of shares standing against his name cannot be ordered. (Vol 28) 1936 Bom 24 (29) : 60 Bom 297.

[3] The striking out or expunging a member's name from the register is an 'omission' within the meaning of S. 38 (1) (a). (Vol. 28) 1941 Mad 354 (356).

[4] The expression 'omission' may be inapt to cover cases of refusal to register. (Vol 15) 1928 Mad 571 (573) (DB).

[5] Shareholder who transfers his shares is entitled to have his transferee's name registered on an application for the same on proving default or delay on company's part to do the same. (Vol 2) 1915 Bom 1 (10) : 40 Bom 134 (DB).

[6] A mortgage of the uncalled share capital of the company is a person vitally interested in the proceedings for removal of name of a shareholder from the register. (Vol 7) 1920 Cal 789 (790) : 47 Cal 901 (DB).

[7] If names of persons are improperly added in the register, the remedy of the company is to apply under S. 38 for rectification and not to take upon itself to alter the register. (Vol 38) 1946 Mad 35 (35) : 1 L R (1945) Mad 728.

[8] A, the head of a mutt was allotted shares in his name—B, his successor in office applied to have the shares in the name of the mutt—A still alive—Directors demanding a transfer from A or an indemnity from the mutt before making the change—Transfer or indemnity not furnished—Shares forfeited—Suit for rectification by B—B adduced no evidence to show that A had used the funds of the mutt in paying the calls—Held that B should have applied for rectification under the Companies Act and such application would have failed as B could not have shown that the directors had acted capriciously or unreasonably in refusing to make the change. (1908) 26 Mad 79 (84, 85).

[9] Transfer of shares in the firm name of a partnership concern and not in the name of any individual—Application for registration under this section is not maintainable. (Vol 81) 1944 Oudh 818 (321).

[10] Where a person purchases shares on condition that he would be appointed Chairman of the local board of the bank and he is allotted shares and appointed Chairman, but subsequently there is a breach of the condition by his dismissal, his remedy is by an action for damages and not for getting his name removed from the register of the share-holders. (Vol 28) 1936 Lah 700 (701) : 17 Lah 798 (DB). (Share-holder having right to have his name expunged from register—No action taken for seven years—Right is barred).

2. Application—Parties to.—[1]—An order to put the transferee's name on the register of the company cannot be made in an action to which the transferor is not a party. (Vol 15) 1928 P C 291 (291) (PC).

[But see (1900) 22 All 410 (419) (DB)].

[2] Directors of a company are not necessary or proper parties to an application made under S. 38. (Vol 38) 1946 Lah 193 (196).

3. Power of Court—Sub-section (2).—[1] Court has ultimate jurisdiction to decide whether a transferee has a right under the Articles of Association to get his name registered or not and for that purpose to determine whether he is a proper person. (1912) 14 Bom L R 919 (921).

[2] Where the company discloses the grounds on which the registration of a transfer is refused, the Court can and should consider such grounds. (1912) 6 Low Bur Rul 152 (157, 158).

[3] Company judge acting under S. 38 has no jurisdiction to appoint Receiver to take over management of Company—O. 40, R 1 (i), Civil P. C. does not apply. (Vol 38) 1946 Lah 193 (198).

[4] Although persons are not entitled to an order ex debito justitiae, the jurisdiction under S. 38 is unlimited with a discretion in the Court in the circumstances of each case. (Vol 7) 1920 Cal 789 (790) : 47 Cal 901 *(Vol 15) 1928 Mad 571 (573) (DB).

[5] The exercise of jurisdiction given by S. 38 is discretionary, having regard to the person who is the applicant and to all the facts and circumstances of the case. (Vol 28) 1936 Bom 24 (26) : 60 Bom 297 *(Vol 7) 1920 Low Bur 50 (50).

[6] Section does not confer upon the Court jurisdiction to make a roving enquiry as to whether what has happened is desirable or even reasonable. (Vol 28) 1936 Rang 52 (53).

[7] A person who claims to have been misled by fraud or false representation into taking shares in a company should raise the objection without delay.

(3) On any application under this section the Court may decide any question relating to the title of any person who is a party to the application to have his name entered in or omitted from the register, whether the question arises between members or alleged members or between members or alleged members on the one hand and the company on the other hand; and generally may decide any question necessary or expedient to be decided for rectification of the register:

Provided that the Court may direct an issue to be tried in which any question of law may be raised; and an appeal from the decision on such an issue shall lie in the manner directed by the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, on the grounds mentioned in section 100 of that Code.

[1882—S. 58; (1908) 8 Edw. VII, C. 69—S. 32 (1), (2), (3); (1929) 19 & 20 Geo. V, C. 23—S. 100 (1), (2), (3)]

Notice to registrar of rectification of register.

39. In the case of a company required by this Act to file a list of its members with the registrar, the Court, when making an order for rectification of the register, shall, by its order, direct notice of the rectification to

Section 38 (contd.)

(Vol 2) 1915 Lah 100 (100) (Having regard to delay of two years and complexity of question involved the High Court refused to exercise its jurisdiction to rectify register under this section).

[8] Mere delay is not by itself a ground for refusing to order rectification. (Vol 26) 1939 Pat 603 (604).

[9] Application designed to save the expense of taking out letters of administration and the transfer of the shares to minor applicants—Application should be rejected. (Vol 7) 1920 Low Bur 50 (50).

[10] In the exercise of its discretion the Court will not order a Company under S. 34 to register a transfer, where the alleged transferor is not before the Court and there is real doubt as to the validity or bona fides of the transaction. (1892) 8 Cal 317 (325, 326).

[11] The making of an order under the section is discretionary and it may be refused where there is a conflict of evidence without prejudice to the applicant's right to bring an action for rectification. (1981) 38 Bom L R 184 (208).

[12] A, indebted to a company, deposited certain number of fully paid-up shares with a bank with intent to create an equitable mortgage. The bank entered on the blank transfer-deed names of two of its officials who were registered by the company as the owners of the shares. Subsequently B purchased a number of these shares; but when asked to register the transfer to B the company refused on the ground that a lien which they claimed to possess under one of the Articles of Association upon A's share had not been discharged. On an application for rectification of the register, it was held that the transfer to the officials of the bank was valid and that the company having registered the transfer in the names of the bank officials were now estopped from denying that they were the proprietors of these shares. The rectification of the register in favour of B was ordered. (1912) 6 Low Bur Rul 152 (158).

[13] Quorum of three required at directors' meeting—Five directors at a meeting allotting shares to three of them—S. 91-B Companies Act, disentitling such three from voting—Quorum not formed and allotment is invalid—Rectification ordered. (Vol 8) 1921 Bom 372 (373, 374).

[14] Board of Directors having powers to decline the registration of any transfer of shares unless the transferee is approved by them—Shares transferred—Directors requiring transferees to give undertaking as to their future course of action as regards a particular question of policy undertaking not given—Held, directors could not refuse to register the transfer as they had no personal objection to the transferees. (1892) 16 Bom 80 (90).

4. Question relating to title—Sub-section (3).—

[1] The Court under sub-S. (8) can consider a dispute between a member who applies to have his name removed from the register and the mortgagees of the uncalled share capital of the company. (Vol 7) 1920 Cal 789 (790); 47 Cal 901 (DB).

5. "Direct an issue to be tried"—Proviso.—

[1] The proviso to S. 38 applies to the section generally and not only to the last sub-section. (Vol 8) 1916 Bom 147 (149); 41 Bom 76 (DB).

[2] Under the proviso to the section the Court can direct an issue to be tried. (Vol 15) 1928 Mad 571 (573) (DB).

[3] The jurisdiction of Civil Courts to decide questions falling within the purview of S. 38 is not excluded. (Vol 15) 1928 Lah 234 (235).

[4] The transferee of a share can bring a suit for the registration of his name in respect of the shares purchased and his remedy is not limited to the making of an application under S. 38. (Vol 15) 1928 Mad 571 (581) (DB).

[5] Where complexity of questions are involved, the applicant may pursue his remedy by a regular suit in which all the matters can be properly enquired into. (Vol 2) 1915 Lah 100 (100) (DB).

[6] Where there was a defect in the constitution of the Board of Directors which refused to register the transfer of shares and the defect was not cured by the Articles of Association, held that the Court was not bound to dismiss the application for rectification on the ground that there had not been any refusal to register by a properly constituted Board, but might treat the defence set up as a refusal and deal with the application on the merits. (1900) 22 All 410 (421).

6. Appeal.—[1] An appeal lies from an order passed under this section though no issue had been directed upon a question of title. (1899) 26 Cal 944 (945).

[2] The conditions for an appeal are that the lower Court should have directed the trial of an issue involving a question of law and should have come to a decision on such issue. (Vol 8) 1916 Bom 147 (148); 41 Bom 76 (DB).

[3] Under S. 38, the District Judge is not obliged to decide a question of title but if he does decide or direct an issue to be tried, appeal will lie in the manner provided by S. 100, Civil P. C. (Vol 9) 1922 All 258 (260); 44 All 151 (DB).

Power for company to keep branch register in the United Kingdom.

41. (1) A company having a share capital may, if so authorised by its articles, cause to be kept in the United Kingdom a branch register of members (in this Act called a British register).

(2) The company shall, within one month from the date of the opening of any British register, file with the registrar notice of the situation of the office where such register is kept and, in the event of any change in the situation of such office or of its discontinuance, shall within one month from the date of such change or discontinuance, as the case may be, file notice of such change or discontinuance.

(3) If a company makes default in complying with the requirements of this section, it shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees for every day during which the default continues.

[(1908) 8 Edw. VII, C. 69—S. 34 (1), (2); (1929) 19 & 20 Geo. V, C. 23—S. 103]

OBJECTS AND REASONS.

"We have amended clause 41 (now section 41) so as to require that notice of the facts required to be given by that clause should be given within one month, and we have added a penalty for failure to observe its provisions."—S.O.R., 1918.

Regulations as to British register.

42. (1) A British register shall be deemed to be part of the company's register of members (in this section called the principal register).

(2) It shall be kept in the same manner in which the principal register is by this Act required to be kept, except that the advertisement before closing the register shall be inserted in some newspaper circulating in the locality wherein the British register is kept.

(3) The company shall transmit to its registered office in India a copy of every entry in its British register as soon as may be after the entry is made; and shall cause to be kept at such office, duly entered up from time to time, a duplicate of its British register, and the duplicate shall, for all the purposes of this Act, be deemed to be part of the principal register.

(4) Subject to the provisions of this section with respect to the duplicate register, the shares registered in a British register shall be distinguished from the shares registered in the principal register, and no transaction with respect to any shares registered in a British register shall, during the continuance of that registration, be registered in any other register.

(5) The company may discontinue to keep any British register, and thereupon all entries in that register shall be transferred to the principal register.

(6) Subject to the provisions of this Act, any company may, by its articles, make such regulations as it may think fit respecting the keeping of a British register.

[(1908) 8 Edw. VII, C. 69—S. 35; (1929) 19 & 20 Geo. V, C. 23—S. 104]

SECTION 40—Note 1.

[1] All entries in documents of a company are presumed to be true. The onus lies heavily upon those who assert that the entries are incorrect and had been made fraudulently or without sufficient cause. (Vol 22) 1935 Lah 157 (158) (DB).

[2] Where the name of a person is entered in the register of members, the onus is on him to prove that he is not a member. (Vol 20) 1933 Lah 1016 (1016) * (Vol 20) 1933 Lah 108 (108).

[3] Where the names of persons are found on the register as share-holders, it should be taken for granted that they are qualified to vote for the reduction of capital of the Company. (Vol 28) 1936 Cal 927 (881): 68 Cal 708 (DB). (Burden to prove that they are not so entitled to vote, is on those alleging it.)

[4] The Register of members is prima facie evidence of membership and the burden of proving allegations as to conditions and failure to send notice of allotment is on the person alleging. (Vol 18) 1926 Lah 414 (414).

[5] The register of share-holders in a company is not absolutely conclusive. But it is necessary not only from the point of view of the law but as a matter of policy to see that it is as conclusive as it can be made consistently with a proper interpretation of the Companies Act. Contesting share-holder is as much estopped from going against the register and disowning liability, as the company would be estopped from questioning his title when once he was put upon the register. When he has been treated as share-holder and has acted as such he cannot go back and deny his position. (Vol 28) 1936 Bom 24 (29): 60 Bom 297.

[6] The mere entry of a shareholder's name in the company's register is insufficient to establish that an allotment in fact was made. Notice of allotment is essential. (Vol 20) 1933 Mad 520 (520, 521): 57 Mad 849.

Application of sections 41 & 42 to Burma. a[42 A. (1) The provisions of sections 41 and 42 shall apply in relation to Burma as they apply in relation to the United Kingdom.

(2) In the application of the said provisions to Burma, references to a British register shall be construed as references to a Burma register.]

Issue of share-warrants to bearer.

43. a[(1)] A company limited by shares, if so authorised by its articles, may, with respect to any fully paid-up shares, or to stock, issue under its common seal a warrant stating that the bearer of the warrant is entitled to the shares or stock therein specified, and may provide by coupons or otherwise, for the payment of the future dividends on the shares or stock included in the warrant, in this Act termed a share-warrant.

b[(2) Nothing in this section shall apply to a private company.]

[1882—S. 30; (1908) 8 Edw. VII, C. 69—S. 37 (1); (1929) 19 & 20 Geo. V, C. 23—S. 70 (1)]

[a] The original S. 43 was re-numbered as sub-section (1) of that section by the Indian Companies (Amendment) Act, 1936 (22 [XXII] of 1936), S. 20. [15-1-1937].

[b] Added, ibid.

OBJECTS AND REASONS.

Amendment made in 1936.—"The issue of bearer share-warrants is not compatible with the provision contained in new section 2 (1) (13) (a). Section 43 should not, therefore, apply to private companies."—S. O. R., 1936.

44. A share-warrant shall entitle the bearer thereof to the shares or stock therein specified, and the shares or stock may be transferred by delivery of the warrant.

[1882—S. 31; (1908) 8 Edw. VII, C. 69—S. 37 (2); (1929) 19 & 20 Geo. V, C. 23—S. 70 (3)].

45. The bearer of a share-warrant shall, subject to the articles of the company, be entitled, on surrendering it for cancellation, to have his name entered as a member in the register of members; and the company shall be responsible for any loss incurred by any person by reason of the company entering in its register the name of a bearer of a share-warrant in respect of the shares or stock therein specified without the warrant being surrendered and cancelled.

[1882—S. 32; (1908) 8 Edw. VII, C. 69—S. 37 (3); (1929) 19 & 20 Geo. V, C. 23—S. 97 (2), (3)].

46. The bearer of a share-warrant may, if the articles of the company so provide, be deemed to be a member of the company within the meaning of this Act, either to the full extent or for any purposes defined in the articles, except that he shall not be qualified in respect of the shares or stock specified in the warrant for being a director or manager of the company, in cases where such a qualification is required by the articles.

[1882—S. 33; (1908) 8 Edw. VII, C. 69—S. 37 (4); (1929) 19 & 20 Geo. V, C. 23—Ss. 97 (5), 141 (2)].

47. (1) On the issue of a share-warrant, the company shall strike out of its register of members the name of the member then entered therein as holding the shares or stock specified in the warrant as if he had ceased to be a member, and shall enter in the register the following particulars, namely:—

- (i) the fact of the issue of the warrant;
- (ii) a statement of the shares or stock included in the warrant, distinguishing each share by its number; and
- (iii) the date of the issue of the warrant.

(2) If a company makes default in complying with the requirements of this section it shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees for every day during which the default continues, and every officer of the company who knowingly and wilfully continues or permits the default shall be liable to the like penalty.

[1882—S. 34; (1908) 8 Edw. VII, C. 69—S. 37 (5); (1929) 19 & 20 Geo. V, C. 93—S. 97 (1)].

48. Until the warrant is surrendered, the above particulars shall be deemed to be the particulars required by this Act to be entered in the register of members; and, on the surrender, the date of the surrender shall be entered as if it were the date at which a person ceased to be a member.

SECTION 48—Note 1.

[1] A share-holder whose shares are forfeited ceases to be a member but not one surrendering shares. (Vol 15) 1928 Lah 240 (241).

49. A company, if so authorised by its articles, may do any one or more of the following things, namely:—

Power of company to arrange for different amounts being paid on shares.

(1) make arrangements on the issue of shares for a difference between the shareholders in the amounts and times of payment of calls on their shares:

(2) accept from any member who assents thereto the whole or a part of the amount remaining unpaid on any shares held by him although no part of that amount has been called up;

(3) pay dividend in proportion to the amount paid up on each share where a larger amount is paid up on some shares than on others.

Power of company limited by shares to alter its share capital.

50. (1) A company limited by shares, if so authorised by its articles, may alter the conditions of its memorandum as follows (that is to say), it may—

(a) increase its share capital by the issue of new shares of such amount as it thinks expedient;

(b) consolidate and divide all or any of its share capital into shares of larger amount than its existing shares;

(c) convert all or any of its paid-up shares into stock and re-convert that stock into paid-up shares of any denomination;

(d) sub-divide its shares, or any of them, into shares of smaller amount than is fixed by the memorandum, so however, that in the sub-division the proportion between the amount paid and the amount, if any, unpaid on each reduced share shall be the same as it was in the case of the share from which the reduced share is derived;

(e) cancel shares which, at the date of the passing of the resolution in that behalf, have not been taken or agreed to be taken by any person, and diminish the amount of its share capital by the amount of the shares so cancelled.

(2) The powers conferred by this section a[* * *] must be exercised b[by the company in general meeting].

c[(3)] A cancellation of shares in pursuance of this section shall not be deemed to be a reduction of share capital within the meaning of this Act.

SECTION 49—Note 1.

[1] There is by virtue of the ordinary law of partnership an implied condition of equality between shareholders in a company; prima facie it is entirely improper for the directors to make a call on some members of a class of shareholders who stand in the same relation to the company as the other members of the class without making a similar call on all the other members of that class. Even assuming that the company has power under its articles of association to make calls on certain members without making similar calls on other members of the class such power should be exercised on special grounds and should not be used against some of the members because they had been dilatory in paying previous calls and caused the company trouble and expense. OBJECTS AND REASONS.

Amendment made in 1936.—The section as it stood prior to its amendment in 1936 allowed alteration of capital to be effected by the directors and required only an alteration involving sub-division of shares to be made in general meeting. One consequence was that the registrar's office had no record of alterations of capital made by directors. The section as amended in 1936 brings the law into accord with section 50 of the English Company Act, 1929.—See S. O. R., 1936, cl. 18.

Notice to registrar of consolidation of share capital, conversion of shares into stock, etc.

51. (1) Where a company having a share capital has consolidated and divided its share capital into shares of larger amount than its existing shares or converted any of its shares into stock, or re-converted stock into shares, it shall within fifteen days of the consolidation and division, conversion or reconversion, file notice with the registrar of the same, specifying the share consolidated and divided, or converted, or the stock re-converted.

(2) If a company makes default in complying with the requirements of this section, it shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees for every day during which the default continues, and every officer of the company who knowingly and wilfully authorises or permits the default shall be liable to the like penalty.

[1882—S. 51; (1908) 8 Edw. VII, C. 69—S. 42; (1929) 19 & 20 Geo. V, C. 23—S. 51]

52 Where a company having a share capital has converted any of its shares into stock, and filed notice of the conversion with the registrar, all the provisions of this Act which are applicable to shares only shall cease as to so much of the share capital as is converted into stock; and the register of members of the company, and the list of members to be filed with the registrar, shall show the amount of stock held by each member instead of the amount of shares and the particulars relating to shares hereinbefore required by this Act.

OBJECTS AND REASONS

"We have returned to the drafting of the English Act in regard to special resolutions and have made the necessary alterations in Cl. 53 (now S. 53) and other places where the Bill has departed from the English Act in this respect. In doing so, we have been guided by the fact that, although the English drafting may be open to question, its language is very familiar to the legal profession and to the general public, and, in these circumstances, it seems to us undesirable to depart from it merely for the sake of a questionable improvement in form."—S.C.R., 1913.

54. [Re-organisation of share capital]—Omitted by the Indian Companies (Amendment) Act, 1942 (17 [XVII] of 1942), S. 2 [30-3-1942].

SECTION 54—Note 1.

The omitted section 54 ran as follows:—

"54 (1) A company limited by shares may, by special resolution confirmed by an order of the Court, modify the conditions contained in its memorandum so as to reorganise its share capital, whether by the consolidation of shares of different classes or by the division of its share into shares of different classes:

Reduction of Share Capital.

Restrictions on purchase by company or its own shares.

54A. (1) No company limited by shares shall have power to buy its own shares or the shares of a public company of which it is a subsidiary company unless the consequent reduction of capital is effected and sanctioned in the manner provided by Ss. 55 to 66.

(2) No company limited by shares other than a private company, not being a subsidiary company of a public company, shall give, whether directly or indirectly, and whether by means of a loan, guarantee, the provision of security or otherwise, any financial assistance for the purpose of or in connection with a purchase made or to be made by any person of any shares in the company:

Provided that nothing in this section shall be taken to prohibit, where the lending of money is part of the ordinary business of a company, the lending of money by the company in the ordinary course of its business.

(3) If a company acts in contravention of this section, the company and every officer of the company who is knowingly and wilfully in default shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one thousand rupees.

(4) Nothing in this section shall affect the right of a company to redeem any shares issued under S. 105B].

[a] Inserted by the Indian Companies (Amendment) Act, 1936 [(XXII) of 1936], S. 24.

[15-1-1937].

OBJECTS AND REASONS

Amendment made in 1936.—Before the insertion of this section in 1936, the utilisation of the funds of a company in the purchase of its own shares had the result of reducing its capital and was prohibited by sub-section (1) of S. 55. The prohibition was circumvented in some cases by advancing money out of the company's funds to nominees who acquired the shares S. 54A, newly inserted in 1936, follows S. 45 of the English Act in forbidding this subterfuge. Sub-S. (1) of existing S. 55 is transferred to the new section now introduced."—See S. O. R., 1936.

Section 54 (contd.)

Provided that no preference or special privilege attached to or belonging to any class of shares shall be interfered with except by resolution passed by a majority in number of shareholders of that class holding three-fourths of the share capital of that class and every resolution so passed shall bind all shareholders of the class.

[2] Where an order is made under this section, a certified copy thereof shall be filed with the registrar within twenty-one days after the making of the order, or within such further time as the Court may allow, and the resolution shall not take effect until such a copy has been so filed."

The following is an extract taken from the Statement of Objects and Reasons made for the passing of the Indian Companies (Amendment) Act, 1942, by which this section was omitted: "Section 54 of the Indian Companies Act, 1913, provides that if the conditions contained in the memorandum of a company are to be modified so as to re-organise its share capital, whether by consolidation of shares of different classes or by division of its shares into shares of different classes, no preference or special privilege attached to any class of shares shall be interfered with except by resolution passed by a majority of share-holders of that class holding three-fourths of the share capital of that class. The well-nigh prohibitive majority required by the section has made it extremely difficult, in practice to put through any scheme for consolidation or sub-division of share capital in the case of companies in which the rights and privileges attached to the different classes of shares are set out in the memorandum. With the passing of the Indian Companies (Amendment) Act 1936, an anomaly has resulted—that while under the new section 153 A added by that Act, it is now possible for a company to carry out a scheme for the transfer of the whole of its assets and undertaking and for dissolution by proceedings under section 153, which require a far less stringent majority than is required by section 54, the relatively less important matter of consolidation or sub-division of the capital of a company can only be effected through the machinery of the latter section. . . .

It is now sought to remedy what was left undone by the Indian Companies (Amendment) Act, 1936, by deletion of section 54 and amendment of section 153. . . ."

SECTION 54A—Note 1.

[1] Provision in the articles for option to the company to buy its own shares is ultra vires. (1912) 14 Bom L R 521 (527) (Case decided under original Sub-S. (1) of S. 55 which now corresponds with S. 54A).

[2] Although a company duly created in one state is recognised as a corporation by other states, the transactions of that company are governed not by the law of the state creating it, but by the law of the place where those transactions occur, and by the constitution of the company; the capacity of a company to acquire rights and incur obligations is limited by the object to attain which it is created, and these limits must be regarded whenever and wherever the extent of the corporate powers has to be judicially decided. Thus the legal incapacity of a limited liability company to purchase its own shares is not dependent upon the fact of the purchase being made either within the territorial limits of the place where the company was incorporated or outside its territorial limits but it is beyond the scope of its constitution. (Vol. 30) 1948 Mad 111 (113, 114).

[3] It was held in this case that the exercise of the power of forfeiture of shares did not bring about any illegal reduction of capital in contravention of S. 55 specially in view of the fact that under one of the articles of association of the company all the

[1] Reduction of capital should not be permitted unless effected under statutory authority or by forfeiture as laid down in the articles. Any reduction of capital contrary to this principle is ultra vires. (Vol 17) 1980 Bom 267 (271): 54 Bom 178.

[2] Where by its articles, a limited company enabled its subscribers of shares of Rs. 100 to sever all connections with the company on payment of Rs. 84, held that this being reduction of capital without assent of the Court was opposed to S. 55 and such an article was ultra vires (Vol 16) 1929 Mad 778 (778): 52 Mad 915 (DB).

[3] A limited company not in liquidation cannot make payment by way of return of capital to its shareholders except as a step in an authorised reduction of capital. Any other payment can only be made by way of division of profits. (Vol 17) 1980 P C 902 (906) (PO).

[4] It is not always essential for the court, when a petition for reduction of capital is made, to satisfy itself that there has been a reduction of capital. The only question which the Court has to consider is whether the company had duly passed its special resolution. (Vol 28) 1986 Cal 827 (830): 63 Cal 708.

[5] But where a reduction of capital is based on the ground that capital has been lost or unrepresented by available assets, it is always prudent to proceed on some evidence. Where in opposing the petition, a person accepts the statement of the company that there had been a loss of capital as stated by the Managing Director, the Court should act upon the assumption that there is evidence of loss of capital. (Vol. 28) 1986 Cal 827 (830): 63 Cal 708.

[6] For valid surrender, see Sch. 1 Table A Reg. 24.

SECTION 56—Note 1.

[1] Under S. 56, validity of resolution cannot be questioned. The Court is only concerned with confirming the proposed reduction. Questions to be considered are: Ought the Court to refuse its sanction to the reduction out of regard to the interests of those members of public who may become shareholders? and, is the reduction fair and equitable as between the different classes of share-holders? Court should not interfere with internal management of a company. (Vol. 26) 1989 Rang 417 (418).

[2] For reduction of the share capital the following principles are applicable. (1) That a company has the power to reduce its capital if the power is conferred by the articles of association. (2) Subject to confirmation by the Court which is the safeguard of the minority, the question of reducing capital is a domestic one for the decision of the majority. (3) The Company is to determine the extent. The mode and incidence of the reduction. (4) The company may reduce the share capital of all its shareholders pro rata or may reduce the shares of any individual shareholder or any class of shareholders wholly or in part. (5) That the Court has to see that interests of the minority have been protected and no unfairness has been shown to it. (6) That in doing so the Court should keep in view the consideration that the decision has been arrived at by business men who are fully cognizant of their necessities and are the best custodians of their interests and should therefore be slow to interfere. (Vol 25) 1988 Pesh 41 (45).

Special resolution of limited company making liability of directors unlimited.

71. (1) A limited company, if so authorised by its articles, may, by special resolution, alter its memorandum so as to render unlimited the liability of its directors or of any director.

(2) Upon the [passing] of any such special resolution, the provisions thereof shall be as valid as if they had been originally contained in the memorandum. [* * *]

[1882—S. 76 (3); (1908) 8 Edw. VII, C. 69—S. 61; (1929) 19 & 20 Geo. V, C. 23—S. 147]

[a] Substituted by the Indian Companies (Amendment) Act, 1936 (22 [XXII] of 1936), S. 29, for "confirmation". [15-1-1937]

[b] Certain words in sub-section (2) and sub-section (3) of S. 71 were repealed by S. 29, ibid.

SECTION 70—Note 1.

[1] In the winding up of a limited company any director whether past or present, whose liability is, in pursuance of this Act, unlimited, shall, in addition to his liability (if any) to contribute as an ordinary member, be liable to make a further contribution as if he were at the commencement of the winding up a member of an unlimited company; see section 157,

OBJECTS AND REASONS

After the word 'memorandum' sub-section (2) contained the words : "A copy thereof shall be embodied in or annexed to every copy of the memorandum issued after the confirmation of the resolution ; "and sub-section (3) provided a penalty for the default.

The words and the sub-section are omitted by the amending Act of 1936, as they are no longer necessary in view of section 25 A newly inserted.—See S. O. R. 1936.

PART IV.

MANAGEMENT AND ADMINISTRATION

Office and Name

Registered office of company. a[72. (1) A company shall as from the day on which it begins to carry on business, or as from the twenty-eighth day after the date of its incorporation, whichever is the earlier, have a registered office to which all communications and notices may be addressed.

(2) Notice of the situation of the registered office and of any change therein shall be given within twenty-eight days after the date of the incorporation of the company or of the change, as the case may be, to the registrar who shall record the same.

(3) The inclusion in the annual return of a company of the statement as to the address of its registered office shall not be taken to satisfy the obligation imposed by this section.

(4) If a company carries on business without complying with the requirements of this section, it shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees for every day during which it so carries on business.]

[1882—Ss. 63, 64 ; (1908) 8 Edw. VII, C. 69—S. 62 ; (1929) 19 & 20 Geo. V, C. 23—S. 92]

[a] Substituted for the original section, by the Indian Companies (Amendment) Act, 1936 (22 [XXII] of 1936) S. 30. [15-1-1937]

Publication of name by a limited company. 73. Every limited company—

- (a) shall paint or affix, and keep painted or affixed, its name on the outside of every office or place in which its business is carried on, in a conspicuous position, in letters easily legible and in English characters, and also, if the registered office be situate in a place beyond the local limits of the ordinary original civil jurisdiction of a High Court, in the characters of one of the vernacular languages used in that place ;
- (b) shall have its name engraven in legible characters on its seal ;
- (c) shall have its name mentioned in legible English characters in all bill-heads and letter paper and in all notices, advertisements and other official publications of the company, and in all bills of exchange, hundis, promissory notes, endorsements, cheques and orders for money or goods purporting to be signed by or on behalf of the company, and in all bills of parcels ; invoices, receipts and letters of credit of the company.

[1882—S. 65 ; (1908) 8 Edw. VII, C. 69—S. 63 (1) ; (1929) 19 & 20 Geo. V, S. 23—S. 93 (1)]

SECTION 72—Note 1.

[1] This section is merely permissive and not imperative. It only provides one of several methods whereby a communication of notice may be served on a company. (Vol 28) 1941 Rang 389 (340) (SB).

[2] Where there is a change in the registered office of a company, in order that the change might be effective it is necessary that the registrar should be notified of the change. A mere resolution to change is insufficient. (Vol 18) 1931 Cal 692 (694) : 58 Cal 716. (Part of business of company shifting but registered office still existing at its usual place—Notice must be addressed to usual registered office).

SECTION 73—Note 1.

[1] Section 73 being a penal provision has to be construed strictly. Its object is to make the company itself continually to bring to the notice of those who deal or might deal with it the fact that it is limited. The requirements of this section would be satisfied by a board of the necessary conspicuousness and legibility outside the office room inside the building in which it is situate. The words 'outside the office' in clause (a) cannot be construed to mean outside the premises in which the office is situate. (Vol 28) 1941 Bom 97 (98) : ILR (1941) Bom 186 : 42 Cr L Jour 452 (DB).

[2] Where a promissory note is signed by secretary on paper bearing rubber stamp of company the note must be deemed to be signed on behalf of the company. (Vol 10) 1928 Bom 29 (29) (DB) (Case under S. 72 of Act VI of 1882).

OBJECTS AND REASONS

"We have amended clause 78 (now section 78) so as to make it clear that the name of the company need not be translated into the English language, and that it will suffice if it is in English characters. We do not think it necessary to require that the name of the company should be recorded on its seal in more than one language, and we have amended clause 78 (b) accordingly. We have amended clause 78 (c) by the addition of the words 'bill-heads and letter paper'". —S. C. R., 1913.

Penalties for non-publication of name. 74. (1) If a limited company does not paint or affix, and keep painted or affixed, its name in manner directed by this Act, it shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees for not so painting or affixing its name, and for every day during which its name is not so kept painted or affixed, and every officer of the company, who knowingly and wilfully authorises or permits the default, shall be liable to the like penalty.

(2) If any officer of a limited company, or any person on its behalf, uses or authorises the use of any seal purporting to be a seal of the company where-on its name is not so engraven as aforesaid, or issues or authorises the issue of any bill-head, letter paper, notice, advertisement or other official publication of the company, or signs or authorises to be signed on behalf of the company any bill of exchange, hundi, promissory note, endorsement, cheque or order for money or goods, or issues or authorises to be issued any bill of parcels, invoice, receipt or letter of credit of the company, wherein its name is not mentioned in manner aforesaid, he shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees, and shall further be personally liable to the holder of any such bill of exchange, hundi, promissory note, cheque or order for money or goods, for the amount thereof, unless the same is duly paid by the company.

[1882—S. 66 ; (1908) Edw. VII, C. 69—S. 63 (2), (3) ; (1929) 19 & 20 Geo. V, C. 23—S. 93 (2), (4)]

Publication of authorised as well as subscribed and paid-up capital. 75. (1) Where any notice, advertisement or other official publication of a company contains a statement of the amount of the authorised capital of the company, such notice, advertisement or other official publication shall also contain a statement in an equally prominent position and in equally conspicuous characters of the amount of the capital which has been subscribed and the amount paid up.

(2) Any company which makes default in complying with the requirements of this section and every officer of the company who is knowingly a party to the default shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one thousand rupees.

OBJECTS AND REASONS.

"We have inserted a new clause 75 (now section 75) requiring a company which publishes a statement of its authorised capital to mention in an equally conspicuous manner its subscribed and paid-up capital, and have annexed a penalty for failure to comply with its provisions. It is analogous to the provision in the existing law relating to Life Assurance. We regard this as an important safeguard to prevent the deception of the more ignorant class of investors." —S. C. R., 1913

Meetings and Proceedings.

Annual general meeting. 76. (1) A general meeting of every company shall be held within eighteen months from the date of its incorporation and thereafter once at least in every calendar year and not more than fifteen months after the holding of the last preceding general meeting.

SECTION 74—Note 1.

[1] Section 78 is a penal provision and should be construed strictly. The burden, therefore, is very strongly on the prosecution to show that there really has been an infringement of the law. (Vol 28) 1941 Bom 97 (98) : ILR (1941) Bom 186 : 42 Or L Jour 452 (DB).

SECTION 76—Note 1.

[1] Section 76 demands that a distinct and separate meeting should be held every year. Same meeting cannot be continued and held once in each year. (Vol 25) 1938 Mad 640 (641) : 39 Or L Jour 907. (Contention, that as general meeting called on 30-12-1934 was adjourned to and held on 31-3-1935 it follows that general meeting held on 23-1-1936 was within fifteen months of 31-3-1935 overruled).

[2] Extraordinary meeting held on requisition by shareholders is not a general meeting within S. 76. (Vol 10) 1928 Bom 194 (195) : 24 Or L Jour 349. (DB).

[3] Section does not differentiate between a general meeting and an extraordinary general meeting of a company. Where an extraordinary general meeting of a company was held within fifteen months of the last general meeting, it was held that no offence had been committed under S. 76 (1). (Vol 7) 1920 All 357 (358) : 21 Or L Jour 94.

[4] The expression 'manager' includes every person or body of persons who conducts or conduct the affairs of the company and to whom its management, subject to the control of the Directors, is entrusted. (Vol 3) 1916 Lah 199 (201) : 17 Or L Jour 306.

(2) If default is made in holding a meeting in accordance with the provisions of this section, the company and every director or manager of the company who is knowingly and wilfully a party to the default shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees.

(3) If default is made as aforesaid, the Court may, on the application of any member of the company, call or direct the calling of a general meeting of the company.]

[1882—S. 74; See Sch. I, Table A, Regs. 45 to 67; (1908) 8 Edw. VII, C. 69—S. 64; (1929) 19 & 20 Geo. V, C. 23—S. 112]

Statutory meeting of company. a[77. (1) Every company limited by shares and every company limited by guarantee and having a share capital shall, within a period of not less than one month nor more than six months from the date at which the company is entitled to commence business, hold a general meeting of the members of the company, which shall be called the statutory meeting.

(2) The directors shall, at least twenty-one days before the day on which the meeting is held, forward a report (in this Act referred to as the statutory report) certified as required by this section to every member of the company.

(3) The statutory report shall be certified by not less than two directors of the company or by the chairman of the directors if authorised in this behalf by the directors and shall state—

- (a) the total number of shares allotted, distinguishing shares allotted as fully or partly paid up otherwise than in cash, and stating in the case of shares partly paid up the extent to which they are so paid up, and in either case the consideration for which they have been allotted;
- (b) the total amount of cash received by the company in respect of all the shares allotted, distinguished as aforesaid;
- (c) an abstract of the receipts of the company and of the payments made thereout up to a date within seven days of the date of the report, exhibiting under

Section 76 (contd.)

[5] A firm is as capable of managing a company as an individual. (Vol 3) 1916 Lah 199 (201): 17 Or L Jour 306. (If it does so, it cannot escape liability for its misfeasance or nonfeasance merely by calling itself Managing Agent instead of Manager. Case under Act of 1882, S. 74, now S. 134).

[6] An ordinary director of a company who was not knowingly and wilfully a party to the default under S. 76 (2) cannot be convicted. (1942) 43 Or L Jour 295 (295) (Mad) * ('41) 42 Cr L Jour 854 (854) (Mad).

[7] Before conviction of an officer under S. 134 (4) Companies Act for default in submitting the balance-sheet in a case where no general meeting was held, it must be shown with reference to the provisions of S. 76 of the Act, that the officer was party to default in holding the general meeting. (Vol 5) 1918 Cal 190 (191): 18 Cr L Jour 325. (DB).

[8] Where the officers took legal advice and acted accordingly it was held that they could not be said to have been 'knowingly parties to the default.' (Vol 25) 1938 Mad 640 (641): 39 Or L Jour 907.

[9] Where there is conviction of a director under S. 76, conviction under S. 32 may be dropped. (Vol 29) 1942 Cal 225 (225): 43 Cr L Jour 466.

[10] Sub-section (3)—The terms of the section are mandatory. It can be invoked by any member when there is a failure to summon the general meeting but it does not enable the Court to make an order which will excuse persons responsible for failure to call a general meeting from the consequences of their omission. (Vol 21) 1934 Cal 624 (625): 61 Cal 408.

[11] General Body—Per Lord Hardwicke—“Wherever a certain number are incorporated, a major part of them may do any corporate act. So if all are summoned, and part appear, a major part of those that appear may do a corporate act, though nothing be mentioned in the charter of the major part.” (1744) 26 E R 581 (581) * 2 Atk 212.

[See also (1888) 21 Q B D 160 (165) (Observations of Wills, J.)]

[12] General body can sanction payment of gratuity to ex-servant even if by-laws did not provide for its payment—Mere fact that Board of Management is delegated with power to frame by-laws does not take away power of General body to sanction a gratuity. (Vol 27) 1940 Mad 928 (928, 929).

[13] Whether the Registrar has powers to condone delay in the holding of general meeting. (Vol 28) 1941 Mad 504 (504): 42 Cr L Jour 688. (In this case the conviction was set aside as there was no contention regarding whether he had or had not power to condone).

[See also (Vol 21) 1934 Cal 624 (625): 61 Cal 408 (Where Buckland, J. seems to be of opinion that the registrar has no such power).

SECTION 77—Note 1.

[1] Sub-section (9)—A company may be wound up by the Court if default is made in filing the statutory report or in holding the statutory meeting; see section 162.

[2] Where a petition for winding up a company is presented on the ground of default in filing the statutory report or in holding the statutory meeting, the distinctive headings the receipts of the company from shares and debentures and other sources, the payments made thereout, and particulars concerning the balance remaining in hand, and an account or estimate of the preliminary expenses of the company showing separately any commission or discount paid on the issue or sale of shares;

- (d) the names, addresses and descriptions of the directors, auditors, managing agents and managers, if any, and secretary of the company and the changes, if any, which have occurred since the date of the incorporation;
- (e) the particulars of any contract, the modification of which is to be submitted to the meeting for its approval, together with the particulars of the modification or proposed modification;
- (f) the extent to which underwriting contracts, if any, have been carried out;
- (g) the arrears, if any, due on calls from directors, managing agents and managers; and
- (h) the particulars of any commission or brokerage paid or to be paid in connection with the issue or sale of shares to any director, managing agent or manager or a partner of the managing agent if the managing agent is a firm or if the managing agent is a private company, a director thereof.

(4) The statutory report shall, so far as it relates to the shares allotted by the company, and to the cash received in respect of such shares and to the receipts and payments of the company, be certified as correct by the auditors of the company.

(5) The directors shall cause a copy of the statutory report certified as required by this section to be delivered to the registration forthwith after the sending thereof to the members of the company.

(6) The directors shall cause a list showing the names, descriptions and addresses of the members of the company, and the number of shares held by them respectively, to be produced at the commencement of the meeting, and to remain open and accessible to any member of the company during the continuance of the meeting.

(7) The members of the company present at the meeting shall be at liberty to discuss any matter relating to the formation of the company or arising out of the statutory report, whether previous notice has been given or not, but no resolution of which notice has not been given in accordance with the articles may be passed.

(8) The meeting may adjourn from time to time, and at any adjourned meeting any resolution of which notice has been given in accordance with the articles, either before or subsequently to the former meeting, may be passed, and the adjourned meeting shall have the same powers as an original meeting.

(9) If a petition is presented to the Court in manner provided by Part V for winding up the company on the ground of default in filing the statutory report or in holding the statutory meeting, the Court may, instead of directing that the company be wound up, give directions for the statutory report to be filed or a meeting to be held, or make such other order as may be just.

(10) In the event of any default in complying with the provisions of this section every director of the company who is guilty of or who knowingly and wilfully authorises or permits the default shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees.

(11) This section shall not apply to a private company.

[1882—S. 75; See Sch. I, Table A, Reg. 45; (1908) 8 Edw. VII, C. 69—S. 65; (1929) 19 & 20 Geo. V, C. 23—Ss. 113, 171 (2)]

Section 77 (contd.)

Court may order the costs to be paid by any persons who, in the opinion of the Court, are responsible for the default.—See section 170 (2).

[3] Sub-section (10)—The prosecution has only to prove that the officer knowingly and wilfully authorised or permitted the defaults, in order to sustain a conviction under this section. (Vol 28) 1936 Cal 287 (288): 37 Cr L Jour 552.

[4] Offence committed and punishable under Companies Act (1882) while it was in force cannot be punished after its repeal. (Vol 4) 1917 Lah 280 (280): 15 Cr L Jour 596.

Calling of extra-ordinary general meeting on requisition.

78. (1) Notwithstanding anything in the articles, the directors of a company which has a share capital shall, on the requisition of the holders of not less than one-tenth of the issued share capital of the company upon which all calls or other sums then due have been paid, forthwith proceed to call an extraordinary general meeting of the company.

(2) The requisition must state the objects of the meeting, and must be signed by the requisitionists and deposited at the registered office of the company, and may consist of several documents in like form, each signed by one or more requisitionists.

(3) If the directors do not proceed within twenty-one days from the date of the requisition being so deposited to cause a meeting to be called, the requisitionists, or a majority of them in value, may themselves call the meeting, but in either case any meeting so called shall be held within three months from the date of the deposit of the requisition.

^a[(4)] Any meeting called under this section by the requisitionists shall be called in the same manner, as nearly as possible, as that in which meetings are to be called by directors.

^a[(5)] Any reasonable expenses incurred by the requisitionists by reason of the failure of the directors duly to convene a meeting shall be repaid to the requisitionists by the company, and any sum so repaid shall be retained by the company out of any sums due or to become due from the company by way of fees or other remuneration for their services to such of the directors as were in default.]

[See Sch. I, Table A, Reg. 48. (1908) 8 Edw. VII, C. 69—S. 66; (1929) 19 & 20 Geo. V, C. 23—S. 114]

[a] Sub-section (4) was omitted, original sub-section (5) was renumbered as (4) and sub-section (5) was added by the Indian Companies (Amendment) Act, 1936 (22 [XXII] of 1936), S. 88. [15-1-1937]

^a[79. (1) The following provisions shall have effect with respect to meetings of a company other than a private company not being a subsidiary of a public company and the procedure thereat, notwithstanding any provision made in the articles of the company in this behalf:—

Provisions as to meetings and votes.

- (a) a meeting of a company other than a meeting for the passing of a special resolution may be called by not less than fourteen days' notice in writing; but with the consent of all the members entitled to receive notice of some particular meeting that meeting may be convened by such shorter notice and in such manner as those members may think fit;

SECTION 78—Note 1.

[1] A share-holder is entitled to be given adequate information as to the business to be transacted at the meeting. But this does not mean that in order to make the meeting a valid one, the notice of the meeting should recite all facts necessary to meet every technical objection which may be raised to its validity. (Vol. 27) 1940 Sind 87 (88).

[2] Meeting on requisition.—No presumption that requisition was received on the date it bears (Vol. 27) 1940 Sind 87 (88).

SECTION 79—SYNOPSIS

1. Notice
2. Proxies.
3. Procedure at Meetings.

1. Notice.—[1] Meeting not held in accordance with Articles of Association or by direction of Court to a liquidator in winding up proceedings is not a meeting of the company. The mere fact that certain share-holders met together at a private house and passed resolutions appointing directors and so on, does not make that a meeting of the Company. (Vol. 12) 1925 Cal 817 (818); 52 Cal 518 (DB).

[2] Share-holder having knowledge about business to be transacted at meeting cannot complain of insufficiency of notice. (Vol. 15) 1928 P C 180 (185); 55 Ind App 274; 52 Bom 571 (PC) * (Vol. 12) 1925 Bom 49 (54) (DB). (Share-holder by his conduct showing that he knew the real nature of the business to be transacted at the meeting).

[3] The omission to mention any secret arrangement would constitute a serious defect in the notice. But where no such arrangement is proved the Court will not upset any proceedings taken on a notice for some defect due to an honest mistake. (Vol. 12) 1925 Bom 49 (55) (DB).

[4] As to the publication of notices and documents of Mutual Insurance Companies and Co-operative Life Insurance Societies, see Insurance Act, 1938, S. 100.

2. Proxies.—[1] A second proxy after expiry of time does not revoke the first lodged in time. (Vol. 15) 1928 Bom 80 (89).

[2] Members voting on amendment but the substantive proposition was voted on by their proxies—Held the proxies votes were valid. (Vol. 15) 1928 Bom 80 (86).

[3] One proxy form was settled by Court—A member signing the proxy added some words which were too vague to have any meaning. Held that the votes were good. (Vol. 15) 1928 Bom 80 (87).

[4] Voting made by proxy in the presence of the member entitled to vote is valid. (Vol. 15) 1928 Bom 80 (86).

[5] Undated proxies are valid. (Vol. 15) 1928 Bom 80 (88).

- (b) notice of the meeting of a company with a statement of the business to be transacted at the meeting shall be served on every member in the manner in which notices are required to be served by Table A and for the purpose of this clause the expression 'Table A' means that table as for the time being in force; but the accidental omission to give notice to, or the non-receipt of notice by, any member shall not invalidate the proceedings at any meeting;
 - (c) five members present in person or by proxy, or the chairman of the meeting, or any member or members holding not less than one-tenth of the issued capital which carries voting rights shall be entitled to demand a poll: Provided that in the case of a private company if not more than seven members are personally present, one member, and if more than seven members are personally present, two members shall be entitled to demand a poll;
 - (d) an instrument appointing a proxy, if in the form set out in regulation 67 of Table A, shall not be questioned on the ground that it fails to comply with any special requirements specified for such instruments by the articles; and
 - (e) any shareholder whose name is entered in the register of shareholders of the company shall enjoy the same rights and be subject to the same liabilities as all other shareholders of the same class.
- (2) The following provisions shall have effect in so far as the articles of the company do not make other provision in that behalf:—
- (a) two or more members holding not less than one-tenth of the total share capital paid up or, if the company has not a share capital, not less than five per cent, in number of the members of the company may call a meeting;
 - (b) in the case of a private company two members and in the case of any other company five members personally present shall be a quorum;
 - (c) any member elected by the members present at a meeting may be chairman thereof;

Section 79 (contd.)

[6] Any substantial failure to comply with the Court's discretion would invalidate the proxy. (Vol 15) 1928 Bom 80 (89).

[7] Proxies given by debtors to the company are bad. (Vol 15) 1928 Bom 80 (88).

[8] Proxies given by company in favour of its director are bad. (Vol 15) 1928 Bom 80 (87).

[9] Votes recorded on unstamped proxies must be excluded. (Vol 15) 1928 Bom 80 (89).

3. Procedure at Meetings.—[1] As to provisions relating to Quorum of members, see Reg. 51; Chairman at the general meeting see Regs. 53, 54; Adjournment of meeting, see Reg 55; Method of taking votes, see Regs. 60 to 63.

[2] While any of the business for which the meeting is convened remains unfinished, the chairman of the meeting, unless so empowered by the articles, has no power to stop or adjourn the meeting at his own will. (1894) 3 Ch. 159 (162) (If he does so, the meeting can conduct the business in hand and appoint another chairman for that purpose).

[8] Amendment moved should not be in substance a direct negation of the subject matter of the proposition. Nor can it go beyond the notice conveying the meeting or in the case of an ordinary meeting, beyond the scope of the ordinary business which by the articles may be transacted without special notice. Thus where in an ordinary meeting convened for the purpose of receiving and adopting the accounts an amendment to remove the directors will be irregular; but an amendment refusing to adopt it and appointing a committee of inspection to examine and make a report is valid. (Vol 32) 1945 Bom 475 (476, 477): ILR (1945) Bom 687

[4] Any proper amendment should not be ruled out without being put for consideration and if the chairman rules out, the resolution is liable to be set aside. But an amendment which contains a counter proposal involving either adjournment or rejection of the proposal or where the amendment goes beyond the scope of the subject matter of resolution should be ruled out. Hence where the subject for consideration whether a proposal for amalgamation with another company is to be accepted or not, an amendment which in effect wanted a modification of the scheme and required the other company to do something after amalgamation, the amendment is illegal. But the shareholders can adjourn consideration of proposal in order to negotiate with the other company. (Vol 12) 1925 Bom 49 (57, 58) (DB).

[5] When the chairman wrongly rules the amendment out of order and the original unamended proposition is moved and lost, the proper course is to treat the proceeding subsequent to the putting of proposition as a nullity and to call another general meeting and start afresh with the consideration of the proposition. (Vol 32) 1945 Bom 475 (476, 477): ILR (1945) Bom 687.

[6] Amendment to resolution lost on show of hands—Poll demanded and taken—But before declaration of result of poll, demand for poll and other amendments withdrawn and new amendment allowed—Original resolution is not invalidated. (Vol 12) 1925 Bom 49 (69) (DB).

[7] Amendment may be rejected if it is contrary to the terms of the order of the Court, under which the meeting takes place. (Vol 12) 1925 Bom 105 (106) (DB).

[8] Point of order assailing competency of the meeting to consider the resolution which is long

- (d) in the case of a company originally having a share capital, every member shall have one vote in respect of each share or each hundred rupees of stock held by him, and in any other case every member shall have one vote;
- (e) on a poll votes may be given either personally or by proxy;
- f) the instrument appointing a proxy shall be in writing under the hand of the appointor or of his attorney duly authorised in writing, or if the appointor is a corporation, either under seal or under the hand of an officer or an attorney duly authorised; and
- (g) a proxy must be a member of the company.

[a] Substituted by the Indian Companies (Amendment) Act, 1936 (22 [XXII] of 1936), S. 34 for the original section. [15-1-1937]

OBJECTS AND REASONS.

Amendment made in 1936.—This section is "based on section 115 of the English Act, but whereas that section allows of its provisions being overridden by the provisions made in the articles of the company, the section here makes certain provisions such as those governing the notice to be given for special resolution, the manner of service of notices, the number of members entitled to demand a poll and the form of proxy instruments incapable of variation."—S. O. R., 1936.

"We have provided specifically that agenda must accompany notice of a general meeting, and have amplified the provisions relating to demand for a poll. We have added a provision to deal with a practice said to be not uncommon of denying to share-holders duly brought on the register the full exercise of their rights as share-holders until after a specified period. We have increased the quorum for a general meeting of a public company, where other provision is not made in the article, to five." —S. C. R., 1936.

Representation of companies at meetings of other companies of which they are members.

80. A company which is a member of another company may, by resolution of the directors, authorise any of its officials or any other person to act as its representative at any meeting of that other company, and the person so authorised shall be entitled to exercise the same powers on behalf of the company which he represents as if he were an individual shareholder of that other company.

[See Sch. I, Table A, Reg. 64. (1908) 8 Edw. VII, C. 69—S. 68; (1929) 19 & 20 Geo. V, C. 23—S. 116]

81. (1) A resolution shall be an extraordinary resolution when it has been passed by a majority of not less than three-fourths of such members entitled to vote as are present in person or by proxy (where proxies are allowed) at a general meeting of which notice specifying the intention to propose the resolution as an extraordinary resolution has been duly given.

If it is practically certain that his speech would not have made any difference in the situation, the resolution will stand. (Vol 12) 1925 Bom 49 (58, 59) (DB).

OBJECTS AND REASONS.

Amendment made in 1936.—Section 81 is amended in 1936 on the lines of S. 117 of the English Act, that is to say, it abolishes the necessity for the confirmation of a special resolution by a second general meeting, but requires 21 days' notice to be given of the meeting at which the special resolution is passed.—S.O.R., 1936.

82. (1) A copy of every special and extraordinary resolution shall, within fifteen days from a[the passing thereof] be printed or typewritten b[and duly certified under the signature of an officer of the company] and filed with the registrar who shall record the same.

Registration and copies of special and extraordinary resolutions.

Section 81 (contd.)

[2]—A special resolution seeking to amend the articles without proper notice under S. 81 is ultra vires and invalid. (Vol 27) 1940 Lah 243 (244).

[3] If the directors issue a circular in which they refer to certain alterations and say that only alterations are with regard to cl. (x) of the articles of associations, whereas there are equally important alterations in cl. (y), it cannot be said that shareholders have sufficient notice of the alterations in cl. (y). (Vol 18) 1931 Bom 354 (365) (DB).

3. Proxy—See S. 79.

4. Declaration of Chairman—Sub-S. (3) —

[1] A declaration of the chairman in a show of hands that the resolution is carried is conclusive evidence and the minutes of the meeting are not admissible in evidence to show that the declaration of the chairman is unwarranted. (Vol 16) 1929 Bom 38 (44).

[2] The conclusiveness of the declaration of the chairman contemplated by Sub-section (3) attaches to the declaration where the chairman does not find by the declaration the figures for or against the resolution. But where the chairman by his declaration finds the figures and erroneously in point of law holds that the resolution has been duly passed, the resolution cannot be said to have been passed according to law. (Vol 24) 1937 Cal 645 (648, 649) : I L R (1938) 1 Cal 90 (DB).

5. Taking of poll—Sub-S. (5).—[1] When a poll is demanded at a general meeting, the original meeting in law continues until the chairman has carried out the direction given to him by the shareholders to take a poll. It is a notional meeting not dependent for its existence and continuity upon the shareholders being actually in session and business being transacted. The actual process of holding the poll is not a meeting at all. It differs in several of its features from any meeting of shareholders. It is only the result of the poll which forms part of the meeting at which the poll was demanded by being deemed to be a resolution passed at it. (Vol 19) 1932 Mad 100 (102) (DB).

SECTION 82—Note 1.

[1] The Registrar has power to exercise a discretion to refuse to register with regard to the alterations.

(2) Where articles have been registered, a copy of every special resolution for the time being in force shall be embodied in or annexed to every copy of the articles issued after the date of the resolution.

(3) Where articles have not been registered, a copy of every special resolution shall be forwarded in print to any member at his request, on payment of one rupee or such less sum as the company may direct.

(4) If a company makes default in so filing with the registrar a copy of a special or extraordinary resolution, it shall be liable to a fine not exceeding twenty rupees for every day during which the default continues.

(5) If a company makes default in embodying in or annexing to a copy of its articles or in forwarding in print to a member when required by this section a copy of a special resolution, it shall be liable to a fine not exceeding ten rupees for each copy in respect of which default is made.

(6) Every officer of a company, who knowingly and wilfully authorises or permits any default by the company in complying with the requirements of this section shall be liable to the like penalty as is imposed by this section on the company for that default.

[a] Substituted for "the confirmation of the special resolution or from the passing of the extraordinary resolution, as the case may be," by the Indian Companies (Amendment) Act, 1936 (22 [XXII] of 1936) S. 86. [15-1-1937]

Minutes of proceedings of general meetings and of its directors.

83. (1) Every company shall cause minutes of all proceedings of general meetings and of its directors to be entered in books kept for that purpose.

(2) Any such minute, if purporting to be signed by the chairman of the meeting at which the proceedings were had, or by the chairman of the next succeeding meeting, shall be evidence of the proceedings.

(3) Until the contrary is proved, every general meeting of the company or meeting of directors in respect of the proceedings whereof minutes have been so made shall be deemed to have been duly called and held, and all proceedings had thereat to have been duly had, and all appointments of directors or liquidators shall be deemed to be valid.

a[(4) The books containing the minutes of proceedings of any general meeting of a company held after the commencement of the Indian Companies (Amendment) Act, 1936, shall be kept at the registered office of the company and shall during business hours (subject to such reasonable restrictions as the company may by its articles or in general meeting impose so that no less than two hours in each day be allowed for inspection) be open to the inspection of any member without charge.

(5) Any member shall at any time after seven days from the meeting be entitled to be furnished within seven days after he has made a request in that behalf to the company with a copy of any minutes referred to in sub-section (4) at a charge not exceeding six annas for every hundred words.

(6) If any inspection required under sub-section (4) of this section is refused or if any copy required under sub-section (5) of this section is not furnished within the time specified in sub-section (5) the company and every officer of the company who is knowingly and wilfully in default shall be liable in respect of each offence to a fine not exceeding twenty-five rupees and to a further fine not exceeding twenty-five rupees for every day during which the default continues.

OBJECTS AND REASONS

Amendment made in 1986.—"The change made gives effect to our decision that private companies which are subsidiary of public companies should not enjoy the exemption accorded to private companies by certain provisions of the Act, e.g., S. 88A, and Ss. 86D, 87C, 87D, 91B (8), 91D, and Sub-Ss. 144 (1) and 144 (5)."—S.C.R., 1986.

Appointment of directors.

a[83B. b[(1)] In default of and subject to any regulations in the articles of a^a company other than a private company—

- (i) the subscribers of the memorandum shall be deemed to be the directors of the company until the first directors shall have been appointed;
- (ii) the directors of the company shall be appointed by the members in general meeting; and
- (iii) any casual vacancy occurring among the directors may be filled up by the directors, but the person so appointed shall be subject to retirement at the same time as if he had become a director on the day on which the director in whose place he is appointed was last appointed a director.]

SECTION 83B—Note 1.

[1] A casual vacancy means in general any vacancy occurring by death, resignation or bankruptcy and not by efflux of time. (Vol 19) 1932 Mad 100 (103) (DB).

[2] The election of a person as director by directors, entitles him to hold office till the next general meeting, while if he is elected by the shareholders, he is entitled to hold office for three years. (Vol 20) 1933 All 844 (846) : 55 All 899 (DB).

[3] Directors elected at a general meeting but not in conformity with articles of association—Such election and proceedings are void if adopted—Directors thus elected are de jure directors till validly replaced in accordance with articles of association of company. (1988) 67 Cal L Jour 148 (151).

[4] Held on construction of the articles of association of a company that the power of company in general meeting to appoint additional directors was not excluded and that no special resolution was necessary. (Vol 27) 1940 Sind 87 (90).

[5] Member failing to be elected as director at general meeting can be co-opted for the limited period for which power to co-opt exists. (Vol 20) 1933 All 844 (846) : 55 All 899 (DB).

[6] An article of a Company provided that if no election takes place at a meeting where such an election was intended, that the meeting shall stand adjourned to the same day the following week and if no election takes place the vacating directors shall be deemed to have been re-elected. By another article the directors had powers to co-opt to fill up vacancies or as addition and persons so co-opted were to hold office till the next general meeting. The directors co-opted six persons and in the following general meeting these co-opted directors were not elected specifically nor were the vacancies filled up. Held : that they should be deemed to have been elected according to the terms of the first article. (Vol 28) 1941 Cal 186 (187) : I L R (1940) 1 Cal 560.

[7] Company meeting called for election of certain directors to be elected by shareholders—Chairman ordering poll to be taken on certain future day—Chairman was absent on that day poll was not taken—Co-option of directors by remaining office-holding directors—This action was held ultra vires the company's articles—Some shareholders held could sue to set aside this procedure and for order for holding new election. (Vol 19) 1932 Mad 100 (106) (DB).

[8] A suit challenging the position of a particular board of directors and to remove them from the directorate is wrongly constituted. But a suit to declare plaintiff a director and for the protection of his rights is competent. (Vol 28) 1941 Cal 186 (189) : I L R (1940) 1 Cal 560.

[9] In suit for declaration and injunction by excluded director, Court should grant temporary injunction restraining defendants from interfering with rights of plaintiff. (Vol 20) 1933 All 844 (846) : 55 All 899 (DB).

b [(2)] Notwithstanding anything contained in the articles of a company other than a private company not less than two-thirds of the whole number of directors shall be persons whose period of office is liable to determination at any time by retirement of directors in rotation.

Provided that nothing herein contained shall apply to a company incorporated before the commencement of the Indian Companies (Amendment) Act, 1936, where by virtue of the articles of the company the number of directors whose period of office is liable to determination at any time by retirement of directors in rotation falls below the two-thirds proportion mentioned in this section.]

[See Sch. I, Table A, Regs. 78, 79.]

[a] Section 88B was inserted by the Indian Companies (Amendment) Act, 1914 (11 [XI] of 1914), S. 2.

[b] The original Section 88B was renumbered as Sub-section (1) of that section and Sub-section (2) was added by the Indian Companies (Amendment) Act, 1936 (22 [XXII] of 1936), S. 39; [15-1-1937].

[c] The Act came into force on the 15th January, 1937.

OBJECTS AND REASONS.

Amendment made in 1936.—"This provision is to be read in conjunction with S. 17 (2) which by making the provisions of Art. 78 or Table A applicable to all companies secures that all first directors of a company must retire at the first ordinary meeting of the company."—S.O.R., 1936.

Restrictions on appointment or advertisement of director.
84. (1) A person shall not be capable of being appointed director of a company by the articles, and shall not be named as a director or proposed director of a company in any prospectus issued by or on behalf of the company or in relation to any intended company or in any statement in lieu of prospectus filed by or on behalf of a company, unless, before the registration of the articles or the publication of the prospectus, or the filing of the statement in lieu of prospectus, as the case may be, he has by himself or by his agent authorised in writing—

(i) signed and filed with the registrar a consent in writing to act as such director; and

(ii) save in the case of ^a[companies] not having a share capital, either signed the memorandum for a number of shares not less than his qualification (if any) ^b[or taken from the company and paid or agreed to pay for his qualification shares] or signed and filed with the registrar a contract in writing to take from the company and pay for his qualification shares (if any) ^b[or made and filed with the registrar an affidavit to the effect that a number of shares, not less than his qualification (if any), are registered in his name];

(2) On the application for registration of the memorandum and articles ^b[if any,] of a company the applicant shall file with the registrar a list of the persons who have consented to be directors of the company, and, if this list contains the name of any person who has not so consented, the applicant shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees.

(3) This section shall not apply to a private company ^b[or a company which was a private company before becoming a public company] nor to a prospectus issued by or on behalf of a company after the expiration of one year from the date at which the company is entitled to commence business.

a[86B. If in the case of any company provision is made by the articles or by any agreement entered into between any person and the company for empowering a director or manager of the company to assign his office as such to another person, any assignment of office made in pursuance of the said provision shall, notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in the said provision, be of no effect unless and until it is approved by a special resolution of the company :

Assignment of office by directors. Provided that the exercise by a director of a power to appoint an alternate or substitute director to act for him during an absence of not less than three months from the district in which meetings of the directors are ordinarily held, if done with the approval of the board of directors, shall not be deemed to be an assignment of office within the meaning of this section :

Provided always that any such alternate or substitute director shall ipso facto vacate office if and when the appointor returns to the district in which meetings of the directors are ordinarily held.

Explanation.—For the purposes of the provisos to this section, the presidency-towns of Calcutta and Madras shall be deemed to be part of the 24-Parganas and Chingleput Districts, respectively, and the presidency-town of Bombay shall be deemed to be part of the Bombay Suburban and the Thana districts.]

[1] 'K' was muni of 'H', a director of a bank,—K's application for loan from bank was supported by statement as to his business and property known by 'H' to be untrue and that the loan was in reality taken for the benefit of H's firm and the receipt of the money was entered in firms book.—The bank sued K for money but he had been adjudicated a bankrupt during the pendency of the suit held; that H had acted dishonestly in sanctioning K's application for loan and was liable for a fraud committed by him. (Vol 28) 1936 Lah 268 (271): 17 Lah 262.

[2] In contravention of S. 86 D the directors sanctioned loan to one of the directors for a period of one year. Before the year had terminated, one of the directors moved his fellow directors to cancel the resolution. They refused and resolved that as the year for which the loan was made had not then elapsed, they would not then interfere. Thereupon the director who moved for cancellation filed a complaint with the Registrar of Joint Stock Companies under S. 86 D. The Registrar refused to intervene; Held that there was undoubtedly a contravention of the provisions of S. 86 in sanctioning a loan to a director and when the attention of the directors on the second occasion was drawn to this, they should have taken steps at once to see that the illegal loan was terminated. The Registrar of Joint Stock Companies should also have taken action in the matter and atleast have told the directors that they should see that such an illegality was not committed again. Section 87 (contd.)

[2] Where a statutory duty is cast upon a company to do something, it must take steps to see that it is aware of all changes that it has to notify to the Registrar, and if it fails to do so, then the company becomes liable for the default. (Vol. 30) 1943 Mad 214 (215) : 44 Cr L Jour 380.

[3] Notwithstanding the provisions of S. 87, the appointment of director shall remain part of the indoor management and it would hardly conduce to facility of business if outsiders were compelled to search the register and find for themselves whether a person who was permitted to act as a director of the company for some length of time was also its direc-

(4) The termination of the office of a managing agent by virtue of the provisions of sub-section (2) shall not take effect until all moneys payable to the managing agent for loans made to or remuneration due up to the date of such termination from the company are paid.

(5) Nothing in this section shall apply to a private company which is not the subsidiary company of a public company.]

[a] Inserted by the Indian Companies (Amendment) Act, 1936 (22 [XXII] of 1936), S. 44. [15-1-1937].

[b] The Act came into force on the 15th January, 1937.

OBJECTS AND REASONS

Sub-section (2) is drafted so as to avoid a possible implication with a managing agent whose appointment would otherwise expire earlier might be entitled under the sub-section to continue in office for 20 years after the commencement of the Amending Act of 1936, and at the same time to show that re-appointment is possible. Sub-sections (3) and (4) are drafted to refer specifically to loans made to the company and to remuneration due from the company to the managing agent at the time of the termination of the managing agency and to secure to the managing agent a lien on the assets of the company to provide for any claims made on him for liabilities undertaken by him on behalf of the company. The termination of the managing agency contract under this section does not affect any right the managing agent may have to be compensated for the premature termination of his functions.—See S C R 1936.

Conditions applicable to managing agents.

a [87B. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in the articles of the company or in any agreement with the company—

- (a) a company may, by resolution passed at a general meeting of which notice has been given to the managing agent in the same manner as to members of the company, remove a managing agent if he is convicted of an offence in relation to the affairs of the company punishable under the Indian Penal Code, and being under the provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, non-bailable; and for the purposes of this clause, where the managing agent is a firm or company an offence committed by a member of such firm or a director of or an officer holding a general power-of-attorney from such company shall be deemed to be an offence committed by such firm or company:

is nothing unconscionable or improper in the defendant having retained the money, even though he could not have maintained an action, for recovering the same from the plaintiff. Thus where articles of association provided for the appointment of a certain firm as managing agents and directors to execute agreement forthwith but none was executed and the firm purporting to act as such agents withdrew money for their remuneration and initial expenses and subsequently resigned agency it was held that the company could not recover the money as money had and received. (Vol. 22) 1936 Mad 799 (803) (DB).

[3] Agreement to employ firm of four partners as managing agents in 1907.—One partner died in 1910.—Other two partners assigning their shares to stranger in 1920—Stranger again assigning in 1922 to P.—Last surviving partner assigning his interest to D in 1939.—Company serving notice on firm that agreement of 1907 terminated.—No new agreement entered into.—Only intimation of changes noted.—P suing for damages for breach of agreement of 1907.—Suit, not tenable without setting up novation or estoppel as P was not party to agreement of 1907. (Vol. 31) 1944 Bom 205 (209, 210) (DB).

[4] Where the managing agents of a company admitted to be in possession of money belonging to the company, but claimed a lien over it, it was held that the Court had power under section 185 to ask them to deposit the amount in Court until the adjudication of their claim as lien-holders. (Vol. 20) 1938 Lah 437 (439): 14 Lah 68.

[5] As to appointment of a managing agent by a banking company, see sections 277 H and 270 I of this Act; as to the limitation on employment of managing agents by an insurer company, see section 32 (2), Insurance Act, 1938.

SECTION 87 B—Note 1.

[1] As a general rule, a party to a contract cannot assign his liability thereunder without the other party's consent; under S. 87-B (c) too the office of the managing agent cannot be transferred without the consent of the company. S. 87-B (c) applies to the case of a transfer of the office of the managing agent to himself and certain others. (Vol. 31) 1944 Bom 76 (82).

[2] S. 87-B (d) restrains the voluntary alienation to the detriment of a company by the managing agent of his remuneration. But it does not bar a compulsory sale at the instance of a creditor. (Vol. 28) 1941 Cal 240 (241).

[3] In considering the question of misconduct necessary to justify the termination of the employment of the managing agents, the same principle applies which applies to the case of a master and servant. In each case the question must be whether the misconduct proved or reasonably apprehended,

Provided that a managing agent shall not be liable to be removed under the provisions hereof if the offending member, director or officer as aforesaid is expelled or dismissed by the managing agent within thirty days from the date of his conviction or if his conviction is set aside on appeal;

- (b) the office of a managing agent shall be vacated if he is adjudged insolvent;
- (c) a transfer of his office by a managing agent shall be void unless approved by the company in general meeting:

Provided that in the case of a managing agent's firm a change in the partners thereof shall not be deemed to operate as a transfer of the office of managing agent, so long as one of the original partners shall continue to be a partner of the managing agent's firm. For the purpose of this proviso 'original partners' shall mean, in the case of managing agents appointed before the commencement of the Indian Companies (Amendment) Act, 1936, partners who were partners at the date of the commencement of the said Act, and in the case of managing agents appointed after the commencement of the said Act, partners who were partners at the date of the appointment;

- (d) a charge or assignment of his remuneration or any part thereof effected by a managing agent shall be void as against the company;
- (e) if a company is wound up either by the Court or voluntarily, any contract of management made with a managing agent shall be thereupon determined without prejudice, however, to the right of the managing agent to recover any moneys recoverable by the managing agent from the company: Provided that where the Court finds that the winding up is due to the negligence or default of the managing agent himself the managing agent shall not be entitled to receive any compensation for the premature termination of his contract of management; and
- (f) the appointment of a managing agent, the removal of a managing agent and any variation of a managing agent's contract of management made after the commencement of the Indian Companies (Amendment) Act, 1936, shall not be valid unless approved by the company by a resolution at a general meeting of the company notwithstanding anything to the contrary in section 86E:

Provided that nothing herein contained shall apply to the appointment of a company's first managing agent made prior to the issue of the prospectus or statement in lieu of prospectus where the terms of the appointment of such managing agent are there set forth.]

[a] Inserted by the Indian Companies (Amendment) Act, 1936 (22 [XXII] of 1936), S. 44. [15-1-1937]

[b] The Act came into force on the 15th January, 1937.

Section 87B (contd.)

has such a direct bearing on the employer's business or on the discharge of the employee of that part of the employer's business in which he is employed, as to seriously affect or to threaten to seriously affect the employer's business or the employee's efficient discharge of his duty to his employer. The nature of the particular business, and the nature of the duties of the employee, will require to be considered in each case in order to arrive at a just conclusion on the question; but the principle remains the same (Vol 81) 1944 P O 17 (18): I L R (1944) Kar 57 (Where the quarrels between the partners of the firm of managing agents were such as to be detrimental to the interests of the company, the termination of the employment of managing agents would be justified).

[4] The purpose of section 87-B seems to be to prevent the appointment of a managing agent of a company or the dismissal of a managing agent by a company without the share-holders in general meeting giving their assent. But when the articles of association bind the members of the company and the company itself to follow a certain procedure in dismissing its managing agents and that procedure does not contravene the provision of section 87 B but goes beyond the provisions of that section in the way of providing protection for the members of the company there is nothing in section 87 B (f) which authorises the abrogation of a contract contained in the articles of association prescribing that the services of the managing agents shall be dispensed with in a particular manner; (1946) 50 Cal W N 810 (328). (For the removal of managing agents Art. 182 of articles of association of a company required an extraordinary resolution passed at an extraordinary general meeting of which not less than six months' notice was to be given and at which persons holding not less than three-fourths of the issued ordinary capital were to be present—By an ordinary resolution passed by a bare majority the managing agents were removed—Held the resolution was invalid.)

OBJECTS AND REASONS.

Clause (a) provides that it shall be for conviction of a non-bailable offence committed in relation to the company that a managing agent may be removed; it also deals with those cases in which the managing agent is a firm or a company. Clause (c) provides that an ordinary resolution, instead of an extraordinary resolution, should be sufficient for the approval of a transfer of office by a managing agent. It is provided in clause (e) that if the negligence or misconduct of the managing agent itself conduces to the winding up, the managing agent shall be debarred from recovering compensation for the consequent termination of his contract. It is clear that clause (f) does not apply to appointments, etc., made before the amending Act of 1936 comes into force; it also saves from its operation those preliminary appointments announced in a prospectus, which it would be impracticable to hold in abeyance until the first general meeting.—See S. C. R., 1936.

Remuneration of managing agent. ^a[87C. (1) Where any company appoints a managing agent after the commencement of the Indian Companies (Amendment) Act, 1936, the remuneration of the managing agent shall be a sum based on a fixed percentage of the net annual profits of the company, with provision for a minimum payment in the case of absence of or inadequacy of profits, together with an office allowance to be defined in the agreement of management.

(2) Any stipulation for remuneration additional to or in any other form than the remuneration specified in sub-section (1) shall not be binding on the company unless sanctioned by a special resolution of the company.

(3) For the purposes of this section 'net profits' means the profits of the company calculated after allowing for all the usual working charges, interest on loans and advances, repairs and outgoings, depreciation, bounties or subsidies received from ^c [any Government] or from a public body, profits by way of premium on shares sold, profits on sale proceeds of forfeited shares, or profits from the sale of the whole or part of the undertaking of the company but without any deduction in respect of income-tax or super-tax, or any other tax or duty on income or revenue or for expenditure by way of interest on debentures or otherwise on capital account or on account of any sum which may be set aside in each year out of the profits for reserve or any other special fund.

(4) This section shall not apply to a private company except a private company which is the subsidiary company of a public company or to any company whose principal business is the business of insurance.]

Loans to managing agents. ^a [87D. (1) No company shall make to a managing agent of the company or to any partner of the firm, if the managing agent is a firm, ^b [or to any member or director of the private company], if the managing agent is a private company, any loan out of moneys of the company or guarantee any loan made to a managing agent.

(2) Nothing contained in this section shall apply to any credit held by a managing agent in a current account maintained subject to limits previously approved by the board of directors by the company with the managing agent for the purposes of the company's business.

(3) In the event of any contravention of sub-section (1) any director of the company who is a party to the making of the loan or giving of the guarantee shall be punishable with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees, and if default is made in repayment of the loan or discharging the guarantee shall be liable jointly and severally for the amount unpaid.

Contracts.

88. (1) Contracts on behalf of a company may be made as follows
Form of contracts. (that is to say):—

- (i) any contract which, if made between private persons, would be by law required to be in writing, signed by the parties to be charged therewith, may be made on behalf of the company in writing signed by any person acting under its authority, express or implied, and may in the same manner be varied or discharged;
- (ii) any contract which, if made between private persons, would by law be valid although made by parol only, and not reduced into writing, may be made by parol on behalf of the company by any person acting under its authority, express or implied, and may in the same manner be varied or discharged.

(2) All contracts made according to this section shall be effectual in law and shall bind the company and its successors and all other parties thereto, their heirs, or legal representatives, as the case may be.

[1882—S. 67; (1908) 8 Edw. VII, C. 69—S. 76; (1929) 19 & 20 Geo. V, C. 23—S. 29].

SECTION 88—Note 1.

[1] A company cannot be bound by a contract entered into on its behalf before the company was formed, and it is not competent to bring a company into existence bound to enter into a contract with the third party, the terms of which have been arranged before the company is formed. It is for the company to consider after its formation whether it will enter into the contract or not. (Vol 21) 1984 Bom 427 (428) : 59 Bom 218 (DB). * (Vol 10) 1928 Lah 100 (101).

[2] An agreement, to which the company was not a party which was entered into on its behalf by the promoters of the company before its incorporation cannot be enforced by the company even if after its incorporation it has adopted and rectified the agreement. (Vol. 38) 1946 Cal 28 (80) : I L R (1944) 2 Cal 101.

[3] A provision in the articles of association prohibiting the directors from delegating their power to borrow does not prevent them from empowering one of the directors to execute a mortgage deed in respect of a loan which has already been incurred, and to settle the details of the mortgage transaction. (Vol 19) 1932 All 141 (148) : 58 All 1009 (DB).

[4] Where the directors lend to the company in excess of the borrowing powers conferred upon them by the articles of association and all these moneys are in fact utilised by the company, the company is liable to pay that amount. If in fact the monies have not been utilised by the company, the company is not liable for them. (Vol 29) 1942 Bom 231 (236, 237).

[5] Where borrowing is ultra vires the directors and not ultra vires the company, the money could be recovered in action for money had and received. (Vol 23) 1936 Bom 62 (66) : 60 Bom 326 (DB).

[6] Where a mortgage deed is executed by an agent authorised by the directors, the transaction is not vitiated by the fact that there was a defect in the passing of the resolution authorising the agent to execute the document. The creditor is entitled to assume that all acts of internal management have been regularly performed. (Vol 19) 1932 All 141 (145) : 58 All 1009 (DB).

[7] Where the articles of association contained a clause empowering managing agent to conduct and manage the business and affairs of the case and to enter into all contracts and do all other things usual and necessary or desirable in the management of the affairs of the company but there was also another clause which expressly prohibited the directors from delegating their power to borrow, it was held that the two clauses should be read together and the first clause could not be interpreted to give unrestricted power to borrow on behalf of the company and the second clause did not restrict the agent from raising temporary loan in emergency for management of the company. (Vol 19) 1932 All 141 (145) : 58 All 1009 (DB).

[8] Where a person knowing at least something about the constitution of a bank and knowing that its Managing Director has died, takes a transfer of the bank's property from its accountant within a few days after the death of the Managing Director, he is not entitled to assume that the transfer was authorised and regular. (Vol 29) 1942 Oudh 417 (421, 422) : 18 Luck 110 (DB).

[9] R and K were the managing directors of a company but from the inception of the company the management of its business was left entirely to R who was also the agent of the joint family firm of which R was the head. Thus R controlled the business of the firm as well as that of the company. Under the authority given to him to borrow money from the joint family firm R borrowed large sums of money from that firm and misappropriated them. It was not until all the sums had actually been misappropriated by R that the directors of the company including K became aware of R's fraudulent conduct. In the claim by the firm against the company to recover the amount borrowed by R from it, it was held that if R had borrowed money from another firm under the authority conferred upon him by the company the lender would not have been put on inquiry as to the application of the money and the company would in such circumstances have been liable notwithstanding that R had misappropriated the money borrowed. R's knowledge of the fraud which he was committing was not the knowledge of the firm or the company. Therefore the company must be held to be liable. (Vol. 31) 1944 Mad 582 (535) : I L R (1945) Mad 96 (DB).

[10] Chairman has implied authority to create lien on property of corporation in respect of loan sanctioned by board of directors though articles are silent about it. (Vol. 26) 1939 Sind 100 (106).

Bills of exchange and promissory notes.

89. A bill of exchange, hundi or promissory note shall be deemed to have been made, drawn, accepted or endorsed on behalf of a company if made, drawn, accepted or endorsed in the name of, or by or on behalf or on account of, the company by any person acting under its authority, express or implied.

[1882—S. 72; (1908) 8 Edw. VII, C. 69—S. 77; (1929) 19 & 20 Geo. V, C. 23—S. 30]

[1882—S. 81; (1908) 8 Edw. VII, C. 69—S. 78; (1929) 19 & 20 Geo. V, C. 23—S. 31]

Power for company to have official seal for use abroad.

91. (1) A company whose objects require or comprise the transaction of business beyond the limits of British India may, if authorised by its articles, have for use in any territory, district or place not situate in British India, an official seal which shall be a facsimile of the common seal of the company, with the addition on its face of the name of every territory, district or place where it is to be used.

(2) A company having such an official seal may, by writing under its common seal, authorise any person appointed for the purpose in any territory, district or place not situate in British India to affix the same to any deed or other document to which the company is party in that territory, district or place.

(3) The authority of any such agent shall, as between the company and any person dealing with the agent, continue during the period (if any) mentioned in the instrument conferring the authority, or if no period is there mentioned, then until notice of the revocation or determination of the agent's authority has been given to the person dealing with him.

(4) The person affixing any such official seal shall, by writing under his hand, on the deed or other document to which the seal is affixed, certify the date and place of affixing the same.

(5) A deed or other document to which an official seal is duly affixed shall bind the company as if it had been sealed with the common seal of the company.

tors to the share-holders submitting the audited account, which was signed by the directors at a properly convened meeting. Held that assuming that the managing agent had acted ultra vires in contracting the loan there was a ratification by the directors which made the loan binding on the company. (Vol 19) 1982 All 141 (143) : 58 All 1009 (DB).

[12] Under S. 88 a mortgage-deed could be validly executed on behalf of a company, by any person acting on behalf of the company. It need not necessarily be under the common seal. If a document under seal is not necessary, then a mere defect in the manner of affixing the seal will not render the document invalid. (Vol 19) 1982 All 141 (142) : 58 All 1009 (DB).

[13] For restriction on borrowing powers of a company see under S. 108 (5).

[14] As to power for company to have official seal for use abroad, see Section 91, as to seal, See S. I, Table A, Reg. 76.

SECTION 89—Note 1.

[1] The question as to liability of a company on a particular endorsement is in every case one of construction of that endorsement; where responsibility of company is not made quite clear company is not liable. Where the endorsement was "M. and Sons, Managing agents of L A company; held that it would not necessarily be clear to anyone that the responsibility of L. A. Company was involved and therefore S. A. Company was not liable. (Vol 12) 1925 Cal 1062 (1063, 1064) : 52 Cal 802. (DB).

[2] When a person is not specifically authorized either as a managing agent or otherwise to execute or make a promissory note in his own name so as to bind the Company, the company will not be liable. (Vol 17) (1980) All 778 (778) : 52 All 888 (DB).

[3] The ignorance of the Manager of the bank of the terms of the Articles of Association does not affect his power to make a transfer of negotiable instruments. He is the agent of Bank for performing all ordinary banking transactions, and a transfer of such an instrument is a very ordinary transaction. (Vol 11) 1984 Lah 462 (463) (DB).

[4] When a promissory note was signed by the secretary of a company on paper bearing rubber stamp of the company, it was held that note was signed on behalf of company. (Vol 10) 1928 Bom 29 (29) (DB).

[5] Where a manager of family which is managing agent of company executes a promissory note in Disclosure of interest by director.

a[91A. (1) Every director who is directly or indirectly concerned or interested in any contract or arrangement entered into by or on behalf of the company shall disclose the nature of his interest at the meeting of the directors at which the contract or arrangement is determined on, if his interest then exists, or in any other case at the first meeting of the directors after the acquisition of his interest or the making of the contract or arrangement :

Provided that a general notice that a director is a b[director or a member of any specified company or is a member of any specified firm], and is to be regarded as interested in any subsequent transaction with such firm or company, shall as regards any such transaction be sufficient disclosure within the meaning of this sub-section and after such general notice, it shall not be necessary to give any special notice relating to any particular transaction with such firm or company.

(2) Every director who contravenes the provisions of sub-section (1) shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one thousand rupees.]

c[(3) A register shall be kept by the company in which shall be entered particulars of all contracts or arrangements to which sub-section (1) applies and which shall be open to inspection by any member of the company at the registered office of the company during business hours.

Section 89 (contd.)

his own name in favour of the promisee and borrows money with the object of lending it to a company, the company cannot be held liable to the promisee even if he knew with what object the money was being borrowed; before the company can be held liable it must be found that the loan was actually a loan to the company. The mere fact that the company benefited by the loan is not by itself sufficient to bind the company. (Vol 33) 1946 All 372 (376) : I L R (1946) All 361.

SECTION 91A—Note 1.

[1] Directors of the company are agents of the company and trustees for the share-holders and as a general rule, cannot enter into a contract with the company for personal benefit. (Vol 2) 1915 Mad 1179 (1180) : 98 Mad 991.

[2] Articles of Company not objecting to director being interested in contract with the Company but requiring such interest to be disclosed and further imposing a restriction that he shall not vote on questions affecting the contract—Articles not amended subsequent to 1914. Held that though S. 91-A and 91-B introduced in 1914 imposed penalty for breach, they did not render article ultra vires. (Vol 16) 1929 Mad 353 (356) (DB).

[3] A breach of S. 91-A, 91-B or 91-C does not ipso facto render a contract void or voidable. But non-disclosure or voting by a director, where but for the vote the contract would not have been sanctioned will render the interested director liable to account for secret profits. (Vol 16) 1929 Mad 353 (357, 358) (DB).

[4] Although director ought to disclose his interest in the other party to contract where such interest is likely to conflict with his duty to the Company, formal disclosure is not necessary if all directors know of such interest. (Vol 16) 1929 Mad 353 (358) (DB).

[5] Per Srinivas Ayyangar J.—Where the Articles of Association did not object to a director being interested in a contract provided such interest is duly disclosed by him and the company sued one director alleging his interest in the contract but did not allege its non-disclosure by him in the plaint. Held—that under the Articles, the director will have to show that he complied with the proviso in the articles by disclosing his interest. (Vol 16) 1929 Mad 353 (368) (DB).

[6] A letter written by the director disclosing his interest in the firm where the purchase was made by him and endorsed as noted by the Chairman of the board, his signature is not disclosure at the director's meeting. The mere endorsement by the Chairman does not prove such a disclosure. (Vol 25) 1938 Cal 440 (442) : 39 Cr. L. Jour 687 (DB).

[7] In India the interest of a director in a contract need not necessarily be a pecuniary interest, but even mere relationship as that of husband and wife or father and son, is interest if the circumstances are such that it may reasonably be regarded as affecting the director's mind. (Per Srinivasa Ayyangar J-Obiter) (Vol 16) 1929 Mad 353 (368) (DB).

[8] Per Srinivasa Ayyangar, Wallace J. Contra : Where a director of a Company executed a lease on its behalf, and his son had obtained a power-of-attorney from the lessee and was made a major partner with six annas share in the lease and there was difference between the rate of working charges to be given to the Company as stated in the lease and that on the basis of which the lessees were to calculate their profits, it was held that though the director was separate from his son, he must be considered to have pecuniary interest in the lease. (Vol 16) 1929 Mad 353 (368, 370) (DB).

[9] Sub-partnership with other party to contract is interest in contract. (Vol 16) 1929 Mad 353 (368) (DB).

[10] Contracts referred to in S. 91-A also include contracts not made at a meeting of directors and even petty purchases from another firm in which purchasing director has an interest. (Vol 25) 1938 Cal 440 (441) : 39 Cr L Jour 687 (DB).

[11] Where the secretaries of a company having power to enter into a mortgage on behalf of a Company took director's sanction without disclosing their interest, they cannot afterwards plead that they themselves could have sanctioned the mortgage. (Vol 16) 1929 Mad 353 (356) (DB).

[12] Allegation of non-disclosure of interest in the contract not taken up in the plaint itself cannot be raised subsequently after issues are framed and evidence closed. (Vol 16) 1929 Mad 353 (369) (DB).

(4) Every officer of the company who knowingly and wilfully acts in contravention of the provisions of sub-section (3) shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees.]

SECTION 91B—Note 1.

[1] Where a director of a company has an interest as share-holder in another Company or is in a fiduciary position towards and owes a duty to another Company, which is proposing to enter into a transaction with the Company of which he is the director, he comes within the rule laid down in S. 91-B, and the transaction is voidable at the instance of the Company with whom it is entered into. He has a personal interest in the matter and owes a duty which conflicts with his duty to the company of which he is the director. It is immaterial whether the conflicting interest belongs to him beneficially or as a trustee for others. S. 91-B would not however, deprive of the benefit of his contract with the company a third party who had no notice of the defect in the director's authority. Such a person would be entitled to assume that the internal management of the Company is properly conducted. But if the third party is shown to have knowledge of the real state of affairs, the transaction is voidable as against him. (Vol 25) 1938 PC 159 (162, 163): I L R (1938) Bom 421: 32 Sind L R 517 (PC).

[2] S Company which had been financing P Company through MT Company for 7 years, decided to have the property of P Company as security for debt owed really by MT Company and obtained an equitable mortgage over P's property. MT Company which was putting up P's property as security held almost all the shares in P company and the directors of P Company had for years been directors of MT Company and these facts were known to directors of S Company in course of their business. Winding up proceedings having been started in respect of P Company, S Company claimed to be a secured creditor of P by virtue of the equitable mortgage in its favour.

Held that the official liquidator was entitled to avoid the equitable mortgage on which S Company based its claim; as S Company was not entitled to assume that S. 91-B had been complied with. (Vol 25) 1938 PC 159 (162, 163, 164): I L R (1938) Bom 421: 32 Sind L R 517 (PC).

[3] Persons dealing with a Company are fixed with notice of limitation of powers imposed by statute or contained in the memorandum or articles of association. But once the power to act is shown as authorised they need not enquire whether it was properly exercised. The questions whether a director was personally interested in a contract or whether he was qualified to vote are all of purely internal management and with which a third party need not concern himself. (Vol 23) 1936 Bom 62 (80): 60 Bom 326 (DB).

[4] A Company owed money to C its director and managing agent. One of the articles provided that the directors may receive from a member all or any part of the Capital due upon shares held over and above the sum called and interest was payable. The quorum for the board of directors was three. C's brother S also was a director and a share-holder and had lent money to C for being utilised for the Company. At a meeting where three directors including C and S were present a resolution was passed setting off a part of money due to C against what he owed towards the shares. It was held that though it was open to a Company to agree to set off money due by it towards future calls, the arrangement arrived at was invalid. Disclosure to members in case of contract appointing a manager.

a[91C. (2) If a company makes default in complying with the requirements of sub-section (1), it shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one thousand rupees; and every officer of the company who knowingly and wilfully authorises or permits the default shall be liable to the like penalty.]

Prospectus.

Filing of prospectus.

92. (1) Every prospectus issued by or on behalf of a company or in relation to any intended company shall be dated, and that date shall, unless the contrary be proved, be taken as the date of publication of the prospectus.

(2) A copy of every such prospectus, signed by every person who is named therein as a director or proposed director of the company, or by his agent authorised in writing, shall

SECTION 92—Note 1.

[1] For the definition of 'prospectus' in every part of S. 92, the Court must go back to S. 2 (1) (14). To hold that a prospectus is a prospectus only if it conforms to the terms of S. 93, would mean that in regard to S. 92, the penalty for failure to file the prospectus could be avoided by allowing it to lack any of the requisites laid down in S. 93. Moreover under S. 93 (5) a company is not absolved from the liability under S. 100. (Vol 21) 1934 Mad 641 (642).

[2] It was held in (Vol 12) 1925 Cal 714: 26 Or L Jour 1061 (LB) that advertisement in a newspaper offering to the public some shares of the company for sale is a 'prospectus' as defined in section 2 (1) (14) and a copy of an advertisement of this nature must be filed with the registrar before issuing it. In the light of the amendment made to section 2 (1) (14) in 1936 this decision cannot be taken to be good law now.

[3] Where a prospectus issued to the public in Bengal did not contain certain particulars required by S. 93 and was not a verbatim translation of the English prospectus filed with the Registrar, which in fact fulfilled all the requirements of law, held S. 92 was contravened. (Vol 23) 1936 Cal 33 (35): 37 Or L Jour 379 (DB).

[4] Even when proceedings under sub-section (5) are initiated by a private person where the case is one of great importance in view of the scope of the Act and in the interests of the community the High Court can interfere when there is contravention of law. be filed for registration with the registrar on or before the date of its publication, and no such prospectus shall be issued until a copy thereof has been so filed for registration.

(3) The registrar shall not register any prospectus unless it is dated, and the copy thereof signed, in manner required by this section.

(4) Every prospectus shall state on the face of it that a copy has been filed for registration as required by this section.

(5) If a prospectus is issued without a copy thereof being so filed, the company, and every person who is knowingly a party to the issue of the prospectus, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees for every day from the date of the issue of the prospectus until a copy thereof is so filed.

Specific requirements as to particulars of prospectus.

93. (1) Every prospectus issued by or on behalf a company, or by or on behalf of any person who is or has been engaged or interested in the formation of the company, shall state—

- (a) the contents of the memorandum, with the names, descriptions and addresses of the signatories and the number of shares subscribed for by them respectively; and the number of founders or management or deferred shares (if any) and the nature and extent of the interest of the holders in the property and profits of the company ^a[and the number of redeemable preference shares intended to be issued with the date or, where no date is fixed, the period of notice required and the proposed method of redemption]; and
- (b) the number of shares (if any) fixed by the articles as the qualification of a director, and any provision in the articles as to the remuneration of the directors; and
- (c) the names, descriptions and addresses of the directors or proposed directors and of the managers or proposed managers ^a[and managing agents or proposed managing agents] (if any) ^a[and any provision in the articles or in any contract as to the appointment of managers or managing agents and the remuneration payable to them]; and
- (d) the minimum subscription on which the directors may proceed to allotment, and the amount payable on application and allotment on each share; and in the case of a second or subsequent offer of shares the amount offered for subscription on each previous allotment made within the two preceding years, and the amount actually allotted, and the amount (if any) paid on the shares so allotted; and
- (e) the number and amount of shares and debentures which within the two preceding years have been issued, or agreed to be issued, as fully or partly paid up otherwise than in cash, and in the latter case the extent to which they are so paid up, and in either case the consideration for which those shares or debentures have been issued or agreed to be issued; and
- ^a[(ee) where any issue of shares or debentures is underwritten, the names of the underwriters, and the opinion of the directors that the resources of the underwriters are sufficient to discharge the underwriting obligations; and]
- (f) the names and addresses of the vendors of any property purchased or acquired by the company, or proposed so to be purchased or acquired, which is to be paid for wholly or partly out of the proceeds of the issue offered for subscrip-

SECTION 93—Note 1.

[1] Ordinarily a prospectus is not relevant in any matter touching the contract between shareholder and the company. It is not the contract but only matter which induces the contract. It may be relevant in an action for rescission based on misrepresentation or fraud, or in an action for deceit, but not in an action of contract. The contract proper is to be found in the application for allotment and in the articles of association. Where, however, the application for allotment of shares stipulated that the shares are subject to certain terms of the prospectus as these form part of the contract, it will be relevant to examine those terms of the prospectus. - ^a[(f)] where any property referred to in clause (j) has within the two years preceding the issue of the prospectus been transferred by sale, the amount paid by the purchaser at each such transfer so far as the information is available and, where any such property is a business, the profits accruing from such business during each of the three years immediately preceding the issue of the prospectus or during each year of the existence of the business if less than three years so far as the information is available. A balance sheet of the business concerned made up to a date not more than ninety days before the date of the issue of the prospectus shall be appended to the prospectus; and]

- (g) the amount (if any) paid or payable as purchase-money in each, shares or debentures, for any such property as aforesaid, specifying the amount (if any) payable for good will; and
- (h) the amount (if any) paid within the two preceding years or payable, as commission for subscribing or agreeing to subscribe, or procuring or agreeing to procure subscriptions, for any shares in, or debentures of, the company, ^b[or as discount in respect of shares issued, showing separately the amount, if any, so paid to the managing agents]: Provided that it shall not be necessary to state the commission payable to sub-underwriters; and
- (i) the amount or estimated amount of preliminary expenses; and
- ^c(k) the amount paid within the two preceding years or intended to be paid to any promoter, and the consideration for any such payment; and
- (l) the dates of, and parties to, every material contract ^a[including contracts relating to the acquisition of property to which clause (f) applies], and a reasonable time and place at which any material contract or a copy thereof may be inspected: Provided that this requirement shall not apply to a contract entered into in the ordinary course of the business carried on or intended to be carried on by the company, or to any contract ^a[except a contract appointing or fixing the remuneration of a managing director or managing agent)] entered into more than two years before the date of issue of the prospectus; and
- (m) the names and addresses of the auditors (if any) of the company; and
- (n) full particulars of the nature and extent of the interest (if any) of every director in the promotion of, or in the property proposed to be acquired by, the company, or, where the interest of such a director consists in being a partner in a firm, the nature and extent of the interest of the firm, with a statement of all sums paid or agreed to be paid to him or to the firm in cash or shares or otherwise by any person either to induce him to become, or to qualify him as, a director, or otherwise for services rendered by him or by the firm in connection with the promotion or formation of the company; and
- o) where the company is a company having shares of more than one class, the right of voting at meetings of the company conferred by, [and the rights in respect of capital and dividends attached to], the several classes of shares respectively; [and]
- ^a[(p)] where the articles of the company impose any restrictions upon the members of the company in respect of the right to attend, speak or vote at meetings of the company or of the right to transfer shares, or upon the directors of the company in respect of their powers of management, the nature and extent of those restrictions;] ^d[and]
- ^d[(q)] where any part of the sums required for the matters set out in sub-section (2) of section 101 is to be provided out of sources other than share capital, particulars of the amount to be so provided and the sources thereof.]

^a[(1A) Where the prospectus is issued by a company which has been carrying on business prior to the issue thereof, the prospectus shall set out the following reports in addition to the matters referred to in sub-section (1), namely:—

- (i) a report by the auditors of the company with respect to the profits of the company including its subsidiary companies, if any, so far as the information is available in each of the three financial years immediately preceding the issue of the prospectus and with respect to the rates of the dividends, if any, paid by the company on each class of shares in the company for each of the said three years giving particulars of each such class of shares on which such dividends have been paid and the source from which the dividends have been paid and particulars of the cases in which no dividends have been paid on any class of shares for any of those years, and if no accounts have been made up for any part of a period of three years ending on a date three months before the issue of the prospectus, containing a statement of that fact;
- (ii) if the proceeds or any part of the proceeds of the issue of the shares or debentures are or is to be applied directly or indirectly in the purchase of any business, a report made by an accountant or accountants holding the certificate referred to in section 144 who shall be named in the prospectus upon the profits of the business in respect of each of the three financial years immediately preceding the issue of the prospectus:

Provided that if, in the case of a company which has been carrying on business for less than three years, the accounts of the company have been made up only in respect of two years or any shorter period, this sub-section shall have effect as if references to two years or such shorter period were substituted for references to three years.]

^a [(1B) The statement referred to in clause (f) of sub-section (1) and the report referred to in sub-section (1A) with respect to the profits of a company or business shall show clearly the trading results and all charges and expenses incidental thereto excluding income or profits having no relation to the trading for the period covered and excluding also items of profit or income of a non-recurring nature but including amounts appropriated from profits to such purposes as payment of taxation or reserves.]

(2) Where any such prospectus as is mentioned in this section is published as a newspaper advertisement, it shall not be necessary in the advertisement to specify the contents of the memorandum, or the signatories thereto, and the number of shares subscribed for by them.

(3) This section shall not apply to a circular or notice inviting existing members or debenture-holders of a company to subscribe either for shares or for debentures of the company, whether with or without the right to renounce in favour of other persons.

(4) The requirements of this section as to the memorandum and the qualification, remuneration and interest of directors, the names, descriptions and addresses of directors or proposed directors, and of managers or proposed managers, and the amount or estimated amount of preliminary expenses, shall not apply in the case of a prospectus issued more than one year after the date at which the company is entitled to commence business:

[Provided that the said requirements, except the requirement as to the amount or estimated amount of preliminary expenses, shall apply to a prospectus filed in pursuance of section 154.]

(5) Nothing in this section shall limit or diminish any liability which any person may incur under the general law or this Act apart from this section.

Meaning of "vendor" in section 93.

94. For the purposes of section 93 every person shall be deemed to be a vendor who has entered into any contract, absolute or conditional, for the sale or purchase or for any option of purchase, of any property to be acquired by the company, in any case where—

- (a) the purchase-money is not fully paid at the date of issue of the prospectus ; or
- (b) the purchase-money is to be paid or satisfied wholly or in part out of the proceeds of the issue offered for subscription by the prospectus ; or
- (c) the contract depends for its validity or fulfilment on the result of that issue.

^a[98A. (1) Where a company allots or agrees to allot any shares in or debentures of the company with a view to all or any of those shares or debentures being offered for sale to the public, any document by which the offer for sale to the public is made shall for all purposes be deemed to be a prospectus issued by the company and all enactments and rules of law as to the contents of prospectuses and to liability in respect of statements in and omissions from prospectuses or otherwise relating to prospectuses shall apply and have effect accordingly as if the shares or debentures had been offered to the public for subscription and as if persons accepting the offer in respect of any shares or debentures were subscribers for those shares or debentures but without prejudice to the liability, if any, of the persons by whom the offer is made in respect of mis-statements contained in the document or otherwise in respect thereof.

(2) For the purposes of this Act it shall, unless the contrary is proved, be evidence that an allotment of or an agreement to allot shares or debentures was made with a view to the shares or debentures being offered for sale to the public, if it is shown—

(a) that an offer of the shares or debentures or of any of them for sale to the public was made within six months after the allotment or agreement to allot; or

(b) that at the date when the offer was made the whole of the consideration to be received by the company in respect of the shares or debentures had not been so received;

(3) Section 97 shall apply to the person or persons making the offer as though they were persons named in a prospectus as directors of a company, and the provisions of section 93 shall have effect as if it required a prospectus to state, in addition to the matters required by that section to be stated in a prospectus—

(a) the net amount of the consideration received or to be received by the company in respect of the shares or debentures to which the offer relates, and

(b) the place and time at which the contract under which the said shares or debentures have been or are to be allotted may be inspected.

(4) Where a person making an offer to which this section relates is a company or a firm it shall be sufficient if the document aforesaid is signed on behalf of the company or firm by all directors of the company or not less than half of the partners, as the case may be, and any such director or partner may sign by his agent authorised in writing.]

- (a) with respect to every misleading or untrue statement not purporting to be made on the authority of an expert or of a public official document or statement, that he had reasonable ground to believe and did up to the time of the allotment of the shares or debentures, as the case may be, believe that the statement fairly represented the facts or was true ;
- (b) with respect to every misleading or untrue statement purporting to be a statement by or contained in what purports to be a copy of or extract from a report or valuation of an expert, that it fairly represented the statement, or was a correct and fair copy of or extract from the report or valuation : Provided that the director, person named as director, promoter or person who authorised the issue of the prospectus shall be liable to pay compensation as aforesaid if it is proved that he had no reasonable ground to believe that the person making the statement, report or valuation was competent to make it; and
- (c) with respect to every misleading or untrue statement purporting to be a statement made by an official person or contained in what purports to be a copy of or extract from a public official document, that it was a correct and fair representation of the statement or copy of or extract from the document; or unless it is proved—

- (i) that having consented to become a director of the company he withdrew his consent before the issue of the prospectus, and that it was issued without his authority or consent; or
- (ii) that the prospectus was issued without his knowledge or consent, and that on becoming aware of its issue, he forthwith gave a reasonable public notice that it was issued without his knowledge or consent; or
- (iii) that, after the issue of the prospectus and before allotment thereunder, he, on becoming aware of any misleading or untrue statement therein, withdrew his consent thereto, and gave reasonable public notice of the withdrawal, and of the reason therefor.

(2) Where a company existing at the commencement of this Act has issued shares or debentures, and for the purpose of obtaining further capital by subscriptions for shares or debentures issues a prospectus, a director shall not be liable in respect of any statement therein unless he has authorised the issue of the prospectus, or has adopted or ratified it.

(3) Where the prospectus contains the name of a person as a director of the company, or as having agreed to become a director thereof, and he has not consented to become a director or has withdrawn his consent before the issue of the prospectus and has not authorised

SECTION 100—Note 1.

[1] By virtue of sub-section (5) of Section 93 a person who has incurred penalty under S. 100. is expressly debarred from saving himself from that penalty by anything occurring in S. 93 ; otherwise he can take advantage of his own wrong. (Vol 21) 1934 Mad 641 (642).

[2] Two of the directors mentioned in a prospectus retired before allotment of shares and the fact of retirement was not communicated to the allottee of shares.

Held that the allottee of the shares would be entitled to rescind the contract of allotment of shares and claim a refund of the moneys paid by him. (Vol 17) 1930 Mad 825 (826).

[3] A director of a company is not liable for fraud (such as issuing pamphlet, circulars and prospectus) committed by his co-directors or by any other agent of the company unless the knowledge of it is brought home either personally or tacitly to him. (1878) 10 Ch D 502 (513, 514).

or consented to the issue thereof, the directors of the company except any without whose knowledge or consent the prospectus was issued, and any other person who authorised the issue thereof, shall be liable to indemnify the person named as aforesaid against all damages costs and expenses to which he may be made liable by reason of his name having been inserted in the prospectus, or in defending himself against any suit or legal proceedings brought against him in respect thereof.

(4) Every person who, by reason of his being a director or named as a director, or as having agreed to become a director, or of his having authorised the issue of the prospectus, becomes liable to make any payment under this section, may recover contribution, as in cases of contract, from any other person who, if sued separately, would have been liable to make the same payment, unless the person who has become so liable was, and that other person was not, guilty of fraudulent misrepresentation.

(5) For the purposes of this section—

(a) the expression "promoter" means a promoter who was a party to the preparation of the prospectus, or the portion thereof containing the misleading or untrue statement, but does not include any person by reason of his acting in a professional capacity for persons engaged in procuring the formation of the company ;

(b) the expression "expert" includes engineer, valuer, accountant and any other person whose profession gives authority to a statement made by him.

Objects and Reasons.

"After full discussion we considered it distinctly advisable that the word 'misleading' should be retained in clause 101 of the Bill (now section 100 of the Act), and we have made slight verbal alterations to provide for this addition throughout the clause."—S. C. R., 1913.

ALLOTMENT.

101. ^a[(1) No allotment shall be made of any share capital of a company offered to the public for subscription unless the amount stated in the prospectus as the minimum amount which in the opinion of the directors must be raised by the issue of share capital in order to provide the sums or, if any part thereof is to be defrayed in any other manner, the balance of the sum required to be provided in respect of the matters specified in sub-section (2) has been subscribed, and the sum of at least five per cent thereof has been paid to or received in cash by the company.

(2) The matters for which provision for the raising of a minimum amount of share capital must be made by the directors are the following, namely :—

(a) the purchase price of any property purchased or to be purchased which is to be defrayed in whole or in part out of the proceeds of the issue ;

(b) any preliminary expenses payable by the company and any commission so payable to any person in consideration of his agreeing to subscribe for or of his procuring or agreeing to procure subscriptions for any shares in the company ;

(c) the repayment of any moneys borrowed by the company in respect of any of the foregoing matters, and

(d) working capital.

SECTION 101—Note 1.

[1] A company can allot to an applicant only unappropriated shares. Shares which are already appropriated to a person can be transferred only by that person and cannot be the subject-matter of allotment by the company. (Vol 24) 1937 Lah 812 (813, 814) (DB).

[2] It is not correct to say that there can be no concluded contract to allot shares until after allotment intact and communication of the allotment to the proposed share-holder. A valid executory contract for allotment of shares is constituted by offer and communicated acceptance before allotment is made. Where there is only an application for shares to a company and nothing further is done by the company except the allotment there is no conclusive contract until the allotment is communicated to the applicant. (Vol 17) 1930 PC 134 (136) (PC).

[4] Before a person is informed of the allotment of shares to him, he has a right to revoke his offer to purchase the shares and ask for the return of the money

(2A) The amount referred to in sub-section (1) as the amount stated in the prospectus shall be reckoned exclusively of any amount payable otherwise than in cash and is in this Act referred to as the minimum subscription.

(2B) All moneys received from applicants for shares shall be deposited and kept in a scheduled bank as defined in the Reserve Bank of India Act, 1934, until returned in accordance with the provisions of sub-section (4) or until the certificate to commence business is obtained under section 103.

(2C) In the event of any contravention of the provisions of sub-section (2B) every promoter, director or other person knowingly responsible for such contravention shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees.]

(3) The amount payable on application on each share shall not be less than five per cent of the nominal amount of the share.

(4) If the conditions aforesaid have not been complied with on the expiration of one hundred and ^b[eighty] days after the first issue of the prospectus, all money received from applicants for shares shall be forthwith repaid to them without interest, and, if any such money is not so repaid within one hundred and ^c[ninety] days after the issue of the prospectus, the directors of the company shall be jointly and severally liable to repay that money with interest at the rate of seven per cent. per annum from the expiration of the one hundred and ^d [ninetieth] day : Provided that a director shall not be liable if he proves that the loss of the money was not due to any misconduct or negligence on his part.

(5) Any condition requiring or binding any applicant for shares to waive compliance with any requirement of this section shall be void.

(6) This section, except sub-section (3) thereof, shall not apply to any allotment of shares subsequent to the first allotment of shares offered to the public for subscription.

(7) In the case of the first allotment of share capital payable in cash of a company which does not issue any invitation to the public to subscribe for its shares, no allotment shall be made unless the minimum subscription (that is to say)—

(a) the amount (if any) fixed by the memorandum or articles and named in the statement in lieu of prospectus as the minimum subscription upon which the directors may proceed to allotment ; or has been subscribed and an amount not less than five per cent of the nominal amount of each share payable in cash has been paid to and received by the company.

(b) if no amount is so fixed and named, the whole amount of the share capital other than that issued or agreed to be issued as fully or partly paid up otherwise than in cash ;

[5] An application for shares was made by the applicant conditional on an undertaking by the Bank that he would be appointed a permanent director of the local branch. The Bank had, however, allotted him shares regardless of this condition. The applicant accepted the position as share-holder by accepting dividends, filing suit to enforce it and by pledging the shares :

Restrictions on commencement of business. 103. (1) A company shall not commence any business or exercise any borrowing powers unless—

(a) shares held subject to the payment of the whole amount thereof in cash have been allotted to an amount not less in the whole than the minimum subscription ; and

(b) every director of the company has paid to the company on each of the shares taken or contracted to be taken by him, and for which he is liable to pay in cash, a proportion equal to the proportion payable on application and allotment on the shares offered for public subscription or, in the case of a company which does not issue a prospectus inviting the public to subscribe for its shares, on the shares payable in cash ; and

[10] Sub-s. (3) is applicable to all allotment of shares whether at the time of the floating of the company or any subsequent period. (Vol 23) 1936 Lah 790 (791) (DB).

[11] Provisions of Sub-s. (3) are mandatory—Consequently application for shares when not accompanied by five per cent of the nominal amount of such shares is not a valid offer and therefore does not entitle the company to demand the share money. (Vol 26) 1939 Nag 225 (225) : ILR (1941) Nag 567.

[12] S. 101 does not forbid the directors from allotting shares to applicants who neglect to pay the application money in terms of the prospectus once the first allotment has been regularly made, although it may be that a provision in a prospectus empowering them to do this would be an infringement of the Act. (Vol 27) 1940 Cal 164 (166) : ILR (1939) 2 Cal 512.

[13] Suit by a share-holder that allotment of shares to certain persons is illegal and that they cannot act as share-holders does not lie under section 42, Specific Relief Act. (Vol 19) 1932 Cal 714 (714) (DB).

SECTION 102—Note 1.

[1] An allotment of share made without an application and allotment money is illegal. Directors who make such allotment in wilful contravention of S. 101 are guilty of misfeasance and must compensate to the company. (Vol 21) 1934 All 855 (862) (DB).

SECTION 103—Note 1.

[1] Where the managing agents of the company borrow money, which is not within their power, on behalf of the company which could not then commence any business inasmuch as it had not got a certificate under section 103, the borrowing cannot be said to be a bona fide transaction and even if the money is utilised for the company the company cannot be saddled with the liabilities therein. (Vol 27) 1940 Oudh 202 (205) : 15 Luck 515 (DB).

- (c) there has been filed with the registrar a duly verified declaration by the secretary or one of the directors in the prescribed form, that the aforesaid conditions have been complied with; and
- (d) in the case of a company which does not issue a prospectus inviting the public to subscribe for its shares, there has been filed with the registrar a statement in lieu of prospectus.

(2) The registrar shall, on the filing of a duly verified declaration, in accordance with the provisions of this section certify that the company is entitled to commence business, and that certificate shall be conclusive evidence that the company is so entitled :

Provided that, in the case of a company which does not issue a prospectus inviting the public to subscribe for its shares, the registrar shall not give such a certificate unless a statement in lieu of prospectus has been filed with him.

(3) Any contract made by a company before the date at which it is entitled to commence business shall be provisional only, and shall not be binding on the company until that date, and on that date it shall become binding.

(4) Nothing in this section shall prevent the simultaneous offer for subscription or allotment of any shares and debentures or the receipt of any money payable on application for debentures.

(5) If any company commences business or exercises borrowing powers in contravention of this section, every person who is responsible for the contravention shall, without prejudice to any other liability, be liable to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees for every day during which the contravention continues.

(6) Nothing in this section shall apply to a private company, or to a company registered before the commencement of this Act which does not issue a prospectus inviting the public to subscribe for its shares or, in so far as its provisions relate to shares, to a company limited by guarantee and not having a share capital.

Return as to allotments.

104. (1) Whenever a company having a share capital makes any allotment of its shares, the company shall, within one month thereafter—

- (a) file with the registrar a return of the allotments, stating the number and nominal amount of the shares comprised in the allotment, the names, addresses and descriptions of the allottees, and the amount (if any) paid or due and payable on each share; and

[2] Ratification by Board of Directors of previous contract with vendors of business is not contract in writing constituting the title of the allottee within the meaning of S. 104 (b). (Vol 13) 1926 Mad 880 (880) : 27 Or L Jour 700.

[3] Arrangement that a registered company's purchased shares are not to be paid for in cash but are to be issued as fully paid up shares as part of an advance which the company has undertaken to make is illegal if not made in writing and filed with the registrar. (Vol 1) 1914 Lah 483 (486) (DB).

[4] There is nothing in S. 104 Companies Act which requires that a stamp duty payable on a conveyance should be levied on agreement for allotment of shares by a company in future. (Vol 19) 1932 All 291 (293) (FB).

[6] Where contract of which particulars are given under S. 104 is only an agreement to transfer property in the future, the particulars thereof cannot be treated as a conveyance. (Vol 21) 1934 Lah 530 (532) : 15 Lah 501 (SB).

[7] Allotment of shares in consideration of written agreement as regards transfer of business—Return of allotment in Form VI accompanied by agreement forming the consideration for allotment—Held the agreement was not a conveyance and the fact that it was a written one was immaterial and so it was not liable to stamp duty, as a conveyance. (Vol 24) 1937 Lah 533 (534) : 15 Lah 500 (SB).

[8] The Directors and Managers of a company must furnish the return of allotments of shares required by S. 104 of the Companies Act. Ignorance of

(b) in the case of shares allotted as fully or partly paid up otherwise than in cash, produce for the inspection and examination of the registrar a contract in writing constituting the title of the allottee to the allotment together with any contract of sale, or for services or other consideration in respect of which that allotment was made, such contracts being duly stamped, and file with the registrar copies verified in the prescribed manner of all such contracts and a return stating the number and nominal amount of shares so allotted, the extent to which they are to be treated as paid up, and the consideration for which they have been allotted.

(2) Where such a contract as above mentioned is not reduced to writing, the company shall, within one month after the allotment, file with the registrar the prescribed particulars of the contract stamped with the same stamp duty as would have been payable if the contract had been reduced to writing, and these particulars shall be deemed to be an instrument within the meaning of the Indian Stamp Act, 1899, and the registrar may, as a condition of filing the particulars, require that the duty payable thereon be adjudicated under section 31 of that Act.

^a[(2A) If the registrar is satisfied that in the circumstances of any particular case the period of one month specified in sub-sections (1) and (2) for compliance with the requirements of this section is inadequate, he may extend that period as he thinks fit, and, if he does so, the provisions of sub-sections (1) and (2) shall have effect in that particular case as if for the said period of one month the extended period allowed by the registrar were substituted.]

(3) If default is made in complying with the requirements of this section, every officer of the company who is knowingly a party to the default shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees for every day during which the default continues :

Provided that, in case of default in filing with the registrar ^b[within the time specified in sub-section (1) and (2)] any document required to be filed by this section, the company, or any person liable for the default, may apply to the Court for relief, and the Court, if satisfied that the omission to file the document was accidental or due to inadvertence or that on other grounds it is just and equitable to grant relief, may make an order extending the time for the filing of the document for such a period as the Court may think proper.

Objects and Reasons.

Sub-section (1) (b).—"It was very strongly represented to us that the requirement in sub-clause, (1) (b) of this clause, by which the contracts, therein referred to, have to be filed with the Registrar, was a cause of great practical inconvenience. We had some hesitation in departing from the English practice, but considered that in these circumstances we should be justified in allowing certified copies to be filed..."—S.C.R. 1913.

Sub-section (2-A).—Cases have occurred in which particulars relating to the allocation in the United Kingdom of shares of companies with share capital have not been received in India within one month from the date of allotment to enable them to be filed with the Registrar of Joint Stock Companies by the time required under sub-section (1) of this section. Such cases were likely to occur frequently during the period of war. In such circumstances it is unreasonable that companies should always apply to the High Courts for relief as provided in sub-section (3). Hence power is conferred on the Registrar to extend in exceptional cases the period within which the required return of share allotment can be filed.—See S. O. R., 1941, Gazette of India. 1941. [10] Registrar should file the documents referred in S. 104 even though they might have been presented after the expiry of time fixed for their presentation and the officer of the company presenting the documents should be informed that unless within certain time the applicant obtains an order from the Court extending the time for filing up, to the time when he actually did file, he will be liable to be prosecuted. conditionally, for any shares in the company, or procuring or agreeing to procure subscriptions, whether absolute or conditional, for any shares in the company, if the payment of the commission is authorised by the articles and the commission paid or agreed to be paid does not exceed the amount or rate so authorised and if the amount or rate per cent of the commission paid or agreed to be paid is—

(a) in the case of shares offered to the public for subscription, disclosed in the prospectus; or

(b) in the case of shares not offered to the public for subscription, disclosed in the statement in lieu of prospectus, or in a statement in the prescribed form signed in like manner as a statement in lieu of prospectus and filed with the registrar and, where a circular or notice, not being a prospectus inviting subscription for the shares is issued, also disclosed in that circular or notice.

(2) Save as aforesaid^a [and save as provided in section 105A], no company shall apply any of its shares or capital money either directly or indirectly in payment of any commission, discount or allowance, to any person in consideration of his subscribing or agreeing to subscribe, whether absolutely or conditionally, for any shares of the company, or procuring or agreeing to procure subscriptions, whether absolute or conditional, for any shares in the company, whether the shares or money be so applied by being added to the purchase-money of any property acquired by the company or to the contract price of any work to be executed for the company, or the money be paid out of the nominal purchase-money or contract price, or otherwise

(3) Nothing in this section shall affect the power of any company to pay such brokerage as it has heretofore been lawful for a company to pay, and a vendor to, promoter of, or other person who receives payment in money or shares from, a company shall have and shall be deemed always to have had power to apply any part of the money or shares so received in payment of any commission, the payment of which, if made directly by the company, would have been legal under this section.

Objects and Reasons.

"The main point which [was] pressed upon our notice was that we ought to make it quite clear that Section 106 (now section 105) refers to all classes of commission paid for under-writing shares whether paid from capital or from profits. We have examined the question to the best of our ability, and have come to the conclusion that there is nothing in the clause as it stands which prevents the payment of commission out of profits without the disclosure required by that section. We are not altogether satisfied that it is necessary to insert such a prohibition in the law. The matter was the subject of exhaustive investigation when the amendment of the Company Law was undertaken in England, and we naturally feel considerable hesitation in departing from the result that was then arrived at. Any alteration of the law is not unlikely to lead to litigation in the Courts here, and we are disinclined to disturb the course of English judicial decisions in connection with so intricate a matter."—S. Power to issue shares at a discount.

^a[105A. (1) Subject to the provisions of this section, it shall be lawful for a company to issue at a discount shares in the company of a class already issued :

Provided that—

- (a) the issue of the shares at a discount must be authorised by resolution passed in general meeting of the company and must be sanctioned by the Court ;
- (b) the resolution must specify the maximum rate of discount (not exceeding ten per cent in any case) at which shares are to be issued ;
- (c) not less than one year must at the date of issue have elapsed since the date on which the company was entitled to commence business ;
- (d) the shares to be issued at a discount must be issued within six months after the date on which the issue is sanctioned by the Court or within such extended time as the Court may allow.

(2) Every prospectus relating to the issue of the shares and every balance-sheet issued by the company subsequently to the issue of the shares must contain particulars of the discount allowed on the issue of the shares or of so much of that discount as has not been written off at the date of the issue of the document in question.

(3) If default is made in complying with sub-section (2), the company and every officer of the company who is in default shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees.)

Issue of redeemable preference shares.

^a[105B. (1) Subject to the provisions of this section, a company limited by shares may, if so authorised by its articles, issue preference shares which are, or at the option of the company are to be, liable to be redeemed :

Provided that—

- (a) no such shares shall be redeemed except out of profits of the company which would otherwise be available for dividend or out of the proceeds of a fresh issue of shares made for the purposes of the redemption or out of sale proceeds of any property of the company ;
- (b) no such shares shall be redeemed unless they are fully paid ;

SECTION 105 A—Note 1.

[1] Before the introduction of this section in 1936, the issue of shares at a discount was held to be illegal as contravening the provisions of this Act. (Vol 17) 1930 PC 151 (154) : 57 Ind App 152 : 54 Bom 437 (PC) (Subject to the provisions of this section the issue of such shares is, now, legal.

SECTION 105 B—Note 1.

[1] Where in the Articles of Association it was provided that the surplus assets were to be applied in the first place in repaying to the holder of preference shares, the amount paid up thereon and the residue belonged to the holder of the ordinary shares. Held that the arrears of preferential dividends could not be 'debts' and therefore to be paid out of the assets of the company before "surplus assets" were ascertained. (Vol 26, 1939 Cal 126 (128) : ILR (1938) 2 Cal 533.

[2] Where the dividends on the second preference shares are declared by the company 'subject to income-tax' it cannot be said that there is no declaration of dividend except after deduction of tax at the standard rate. The words 'subject to tax' mean no more than subject to tax properly deductible, and therefore in a case where no tax is properly deductible, the words have no effect on the amount of dividend declared. (Vol 27) 1940 Bom 97 (101) : ILR (1940) Bom 165 (FB).

[3] Section 54 A does not affect the right of a company to redeem any shares issued under this section; see section 54 A (4).

(c) where any such shares are redeemed otherwise than out of the proceeds of a fresh issue, there shall out of profits which would otherwise have been available for dividend be transferred to a reserve fund, to be called "the capital redemption reserve fund", a sum equal to the amount applied in redeeming the shares, and the provisions of this Act relating to the reduction of the share capital of a company shall, except as provided in this section, apply as if the capital redemption reserve fund were paid-up share capital of the company ;

(d) where any such shares are redeemed out of the proceeds of a fresh issue, the premium, if any, payable on redemption must have been provided for out of the profits of the company before the shares are redeemed.

(2) There shall be included in every balance-sheet of a company which has issued redeemable preference shares a statement specifying what part of the issued capital of the company consists of such shares and the date on or before which those shares are, or are to be, liable to be redeemed or, where no definite date is fixed for redemption, the period of notice to be given for redemption.

If a company fails to comply with the provisions of this sub-section, the company and every officer of the company who is in default shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one thousand rupees.

(3) Subject to the provisions of this section, the redemption of preference shares thereunder may be effected on such terms and in such manner as may be provided by the articles of the company.

(4) Where in pursuance of this section a company has redeemed or is about to redeem any preference shares, it shall have power to issue shares up to the nominal amount of the shares redeemed or to be redeemed as if those shares had never been issued, and accordingly the share capital of the company shall not for the purpose of calculating the fees payable under section 243 be deemed to be increased by the issue of shares in pursuance of this sub-section :

Provided that, where new shares are issued before the redemption of the old shares, the new shares shall not, so far as relates to stamp duty, be deemed to have been issued in pursuance of this sub-section unless the old shares are redeemed within one month after the issue of the new shares.

(5) Where new shares have been issued in pursuance of the last foregoing sub-section, the capital redemption reserve fund may, notwithstanding anything in this section, be applied by the company, up to an amount equal to the nominal amount of the shares so issued, in paying up unissued shares of the company to be issued to members of the company as fully paid bonus shares.]

PAYMENT OF INTEREST OUT OF CAPITAL.

107. Where any shares of a company are issued for the purpose of raising money to defray the expenses of the construction of any works or buildings or the provision of any plant which cannot be made profitable for a lengthened period, the company may pay interest on so much of that share capital as is for the time being paid up for the period and subject to the conditions and restrictions in this section mentioned, and may charge the same to capital as part of the cost of construction of the work or building, or the provision of plant :

Power of company to pay interest out of capital in certain cases.

Provided that—

- (1) no such payment shall be made unless the same is authorised by the articles or by special resolution ;
- (2) no such payment, whether authorised by the articles or by special resolution, shall be made without the previous sanction of the ^a[Central Government], which sanction shall be conclusive evidence for the purposes of this section that the shares of the company, in respect of which such sanction is given, have been issued for a purpose specified in this section ;
- (3) before sanctioning any such payment, the ^b[Central Government] may, at the expense of the company, appoint a person to inquire and report to ^cthe ^a[Central Government] as to the circumstances of the case, and may, before making the appointment, require the company to give security for the payment of the costs of the inquiry ;
- (4) the payment shall be made only for such period as may be determined by ^a[Central Government] ; and such period shall in no case extend beyond the close of the half-year next after the half-year during which the works or buildings have been actually completed or the plant provided ;
- (5) the rate of interest shall in no case exceed four per cent per annum or such lower rate as the ^c[Central Government], may, by notification in the ^d[Official Gazette], prescribe
- (6) the payment of the interest shall not operate as a reduction of the amount paid up on the shares in respect of which it is paid ;
- (7) the accounts of the company shall show the share capital on which, and the rate at which, interest has been paid out of capital during the period to which the accounts relate ;
- (5) nothing in this section shall affect any company to which the Indian Railway Companies Act, 1895, or the Indian Tramways Act, 1902, applies.

Objects and Reasons.

"It has been represented to us that clause 108 (now section 107) might place a company in a very difficult position as it may be necessary after the lapse of a considerable period of time to show that the shares of the company were issued for one of the purposes specified in the clause, and that this might be an almost impossible matter. We have, therefore, made the sanction of the Local Government (now Central Government) conclusive evidence on this point for the purposes of this clause'; [See Proviso (2)]—S.C.R., 1913

CERTIFICATE OF SHARES, ETC.

INFORMATION AS TO MORTGAGES, CHARGES, ETC.

Certain mortgages and charges to be void if not registered.

109. ^a[(1) Every mortgage or charge created after the commencement of this Act by a company and being either—

- (a) a mortgage or charge for the purpose of securing any issue of debentures; or
- (b) a mortgage or charge on uncalled share capital of the company; or
- (c) a mortgage or charge on any immoveable property wherever situate, or any interest therein; or
- (d) a mortgage or charge on any book debts of the company; or
- ^b[(e) a mortgage or a charge, not being a pledge on any moveable property of the company except stock-in-trade; or]

^c[(f)] a floating charge on the undertaking or property of the company; shall, so far as any security on the company's property or undertaking is thereby conferred, be void against the liquidator and any creditor of the company, unless the prescribed particulars of the mortgage or charge, together with the instrument (if any) by which the mortgage or charge is created or evidenced, or a copy thereof verified in the prescribed manner are filed with the registrar for registration in manner required by this Act within twenty-one days after the date of its creation, but without prejudice to any contract or obligation for repayment of the money thereby secured, and when a mortgage or charge becomes void under this section, the money secured thereby shall immediately become payable.
Provided that—

- (i) in the case of a mortgage or charge created out of British India, comprising solely property situate outside British India, twenty-one days after the date on which the instrument or copy could, in due course of post, and if despatched with due diligence, have been received in British India shall be substituted for twenty-one days after the date of the creation of the mortgage or charge as the time within which the particulars and instrument or copy are to be filed with the registrar; and

Section 109 (contd.)

2. Section 109 (1) (General).—[1] Section 109 applies to a mortgage or charge created by the Company by contract and not to a charge arising by operation of law. (Vol 14) 1927 Oudh 55 (59) : 2 Luck 299 (DB).

[2] A mortgage unregistered according to the section does not create a valid charge on the company's properties as against a creditor or liquidator. (Vol 17) 1930 PC 66 (75) : 57 Ind App 76 : 5 Luck 128 (PC) * (Vol 26) 1939 Sind 100 (106).

[3] A mortgage unregistered according to the section is valid as an admission of debt. (Vol 17) 1930 PC 66 (75) : 57 Ind App 76 : 5 Luck 128 (PC).

[4] Mortgage not registered cannot be repudiated by the Company itself while it is a going concern. (Vol 14) 1927 Rang 288 (288) : 5 Rang 535. (DB) (In re Monolithic Building Company, v. Tacom The Company (1916) 1 Ch 643. Dist).

[5] Where a Company which was empowered to borrow money not exceeding the unpaid subscribed capital issued debentures binding themselves and their successors and their real and personal estate for payment of sums advanced and also by a proviso that the debenture holders should be paid pari passu. Held that the debentures were a charge on the movable and immovable properties of the company at the time of winding up but did not include the uncalled moneys. (1880) 15 Ch D 465 (472).

[6] Between a prior unregistered mortgage and a subsequent registered mortgage, the subsequent mortgage prevails even where the subsequent mortgagee has an express notice of the prior mortgage at the time of the execution of instrument. (1915) 1 Ch 643 (662, 663).

3. Section 109 (1) (c).—[1] Particulars of a mortgage by deposit of title deeds must be filed with Registrar whether it is accompanied by a memorandum of deposit or not. (Vol 14) 1927 Bom 167 (169) (DB).

[2] In certain circumstances machinery might be 'immovable property' under the section if it is affixed to the soil. (Vol 25) 1938 All 574 (577) : ILR (1938) All 896.

[3] As to the effect of non-registration either under this Act or under Section 17, Registration Act, of an instrument executed by a company purporting to create a mortgage in favour of the plaintiff, see (Vol 17) 1930 PC 76 (78) (PC).

4. Section 109 (1) (d).—[1] Assignment of book-debt for securing existing debt constitutes a mortgage and if unregistered is inoperative against liquidator or creditors. (Vol 22) 1935 Cal 218 (222) : 62 Cal 1 (DB).

5. Section 109 (1) (e).—[1] Where a bank endorses to its creditors as security, promotes drawn in its favour by its debtors and delivers them to the creditor entitling him to realise the securities as and how he pleased, the transaction though it may amount to a mortgage also amounts to a pledge and does not, therefore, require registration. (Vol 30) 1943 Mad 73 (74) (DB).

6. Section 109 (1) (f).—[1] A floating security is not specific mortgage of the assets, with liberty to the mortgagor to dispose of them in the course of his business, but is a floating mortgage applying to every item comprised in the security, but not specifically affecting any item until some event occurs or some act by the mortgagee is done which causes it to crystallise into a fixed security. (Vol 14) 1927 Cal 682 (685) : 54 Cal 513 (DB) (Charge created on all property by borrower company—All property to be in possession and control of lender company—Borrower company not to alienate or, if alienated, undertaking to replace the same by another property of equal value—Lender company placed in

Objects and Reasons.

"Clause 110 (now section 109) and the following clauses were the subject of our careful consideration. We gave our best attention to the question whether the condition of India required any substantial modification of English law. Our attention was also drawn by the representatives of the Bengal Chamber of Commerce to the case of Ladenburg & Co. v Goodwin, Ferreira & Co. (1912) 3 K. B. D. 275. They represented to us that this recent judicial pronouncement might seriously impede the course of business in this country. We gave all possible weight to the opinions which were advanced in support of these contentions, but, on the whole, we came to the conclusion that the substantial protection afforded to creditors by these clauses was too important a matter to allow the arguments against them to prevail. We were, moreover, of the opinion that the importance of the decision in question had perhaps been exaggerated, and it was not likely to be so far-reaching in its effects as had been suggested. We have, therefore, retained with slight verbal amendments the clauses in question as they appeared in the Bill submitted for our consideration"—S.C.R., 1913.

Amendments made in 1936.—Prior to the amendment made in 1936 under the provisions as then existed, a charge or mortgage created over movable property of the company other than book-debts or the uncalled share capital was not required to be registered. The first amendment made in 1936 requires such charges or mortgages to be registered with certain qualifications. The second amendment is designed to affect transferees with notice as from the date of registration.—See S.O.R., 1936.

a[109A. (1) Where after the commencement of the Indian Companies (Amendment) Act, 1936, a company registered in British India acquires any property which on properties acquired is subject to a charge of any such kind as would, if it had been created by the company after the acquisition of the property, have been required to be registered under this Part, the company shall cause the prescribed particulars of the charge, together with a copy (certified in the prescribed manner to be a correct copy) of the instrument, if any, by which the charge was created or is evidenced, to be delivered to the registrar for registration possession—No floating charge is created) * (Vol 26) 1939 Sind 100 (103, 106) (Where the assets of a Corporation are of a fluctuating nature, changing from time to time in the ordinary course of business, and while taking loan creating charge on their assets no restraint of any kind whatever is placed on the conduct of the business of the Corporation, and the charge does not crystallise into a fixed security, the charge so created is a floating charge) * (Vol 13) 1926 Bom 427 (430) : 50 Bom 547 (DB).

[2] The principal tests as to whether a charge is a floating charge or not are : (1) Is it a charge upon all or a certain class of assets, present or future ? (2) Would the assets charged in the ordinary course of business be changed from time to time ? (3) Has the company power until such step is taken by the charges to carry on the business of the company in the ordinary way ? (Vol 29) 1942 All 119 (120) : ILR (1942) All 242 (FB) ((Vol 25) 1938 All 574 : ILR (1938) All 896 Affirmed.)

[3] An agreement between the parties that the amount paid to the company will be a second charge on the machinery and other goods of the company, creates a floating charge, i.e., a charge which would fasten on to the property that might exist when the time arrived for the charge to be enforced and would be void under this section for want of registration. (Vol 29) 1942 All 119 (120) : ILR (1942) All 242 (FB) * ((Vol 25) 1938 All 574 : ILR (1938) All 896 affirmed)

[4] A floating charge is a present charge though it does not finally attach upon any specific property until the happening of some event which puts an end to the right of the company to deal with the property in the course of business. (Vol 18) 1931 Cal 223 (231) : 58 Cal 136 (DB) (Reversed on another point in (Vol 18) 1931 PC 245 : 58 Ind App 323 : 59 Cal 377 (PC) * (Vol 21) 1934 All 161 (162) (It is the essence of a floating charge that it remains dormant until the undertaking charged ceases to be a going concern or until the person in whose favour the charge is created intervenes.)

[5] Where all present and future movables were pledged by director of a company but himself remained in possession as agent of the pledgee, held that the parties did not create a pledge of existing properties but that only a floating charge was created and it not being registered, was void against the liquidator. (Vol 13) 1926 Bom 28 (30) (DB).

[6] Debenture account with bank on security of block and machinery—Company winding up—Liquidator leasing out property and realising rent—Order of liquidation and crystallising of security—Bank's security held did not extend to rents realised from lease. (Vol 23) 1936 Oudh 338 (339) : 12 Luck 233 (DB).

[7] As to whether debentures creating a floating charge require registration under S. 17, Registration Act, 1908, see (Vol 18) 1931 PC 245 (247) : 58 Ind App 323 : 59 Cal 377 (PC).

[8] Nothing contained in the Transfer of Property Act affects any law for the time being in force relating to transfer of property to or by companies ; see Transfer of Property Act, 1932, section 5.

[9] For effect of a floating charge, see under S. 233.

7. Section 109 (1) Prov'so (iv).—[1] Provisio (iv) to S. 109 merely means that mortgage or charge granted by a Company is not to be deemed to be an interest in immovable property merely by reason that it comprises or takes effect over debentures held by the company and that such debentures constitute a charge on immovable property of the company. (Vol 18) 1931 Cal 223 (232) : 58 Cal 136 (DB).

8. Section 109 (2).—[1] Company—Debentures—Issue of debentures relating to immovable properties—Registration followed by proper certificate or registration—Subsequent alteration by Registrar of his own accord does not affect validity of debentures between parties to it. (Vol 17) 1930 Cal 536 : 57 Cal 323.

[2] As to whether the validity of the registration under this section is affected by an omission of certain particulars from the register, see (1924) 1 KB 431 (443, 444).

in manner required by this Act within twenty-one days after the date on which the acquisition is completed :

Provided that, if the property is situate and the charge was created outside British India, twenty-one days after the date on which the copy of the instrument could in due course of post, and if despatched with due diligence, have been received in British India shall be substituted for twenty-one days after the completion of the acquisition as the time within which the particulars and the copy of the instrument are to be delivered to the registrar.

(2) If default is made in complying with this section, the company and every officer of the company who is knowingly and wilfully in default shall be liable to a fine of five hundred rupees.]

requiring registration with the registrar under the foregoing provisions of this Act, then, unless the registration has been effected on the application of some other person, the company, and every officer of the company or other person who is knowingly a party to the default, shall on conviction be liable to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees for every day during which the default continues.

(2) Subject as aforesaid, if any company makes default in complying with any of the requirements of this Act as to the registration with the registrar of any mortgage or charge created by the company, the company, and every officer of the company, who knowingly and wilfully authorises or permits the default shall, without prejudice to any other liability, be liable on conviction to a fine not exceeding one thousand rupees.

(3) If any person knowingly and wilfully authorises or permits the delivery of any debenture or certificates of debenture stock requiring registration with the registrar under the foregoing provisions of this Act without a copy of the certificate of registration being endorsed upon it, he shall, without prejudice to any other liability, be liable on conviction to a fine not exceeding one thousand rupees.

Objects and Reasons.

Amendment made in 1936.—It had been doubted whether the provisions of section 123 apply to floating charges in view of the fact that such charges do not affect property until the charges are crystallized. The amendment made in 1936 makes the intention of the section clear.—S.O.R., 1936.

124. (1) The copies kept at the registered office of the company in pursuance of section 117 of instruments creating any mortgage or charge requiring registration under this Act with the registrar, and the register of mortgages kept in pursuance of section 123, shall be open at all reasonable times to the inspection of any creditor or member of the company without fee, and the register of mortgages shall also be open to the inspection of any other person on payment of such fee, not exceeding one rupee for each inspection, as the company may prescribe.

(2) If inspection of the said copies or register is refused, the company shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees and a further fine not exceeding twenty rupees for every day during which the refusal continues, and every officer of the company who knowingly authorises or permits the refusal shall incur the like penalty, and in addition to the above penalty, the Court may by order compel an immediate inspection of the copies or register.

[1882—S. 68; (1908) 8 Edw. VII, C. 69—S. 101; (1929) 19 and 20 Geo. V, C. 23—S. 89.]

125. (1) Every register of holders of debentures of a company shall, except when closed in accordance with the articles during such period or periods (not exceeding on the whole thirty days in any year) as may be specified in the articles, be open to the inspection of the registered holder of any such debentures, and of any holder of shares in the company, but subject to such reasonable restrictions as the company may in general meeting impose, so that at least two hours in each day are appointed for inspection, and every such holder may require a copy of the register or any part thereof on payment of six annas for every one hundred words or fractional part thereof required to be copied.

(2) A copy of any trust-deed for securing any issue of debentures shall be forwarded to every holder of any such debentures at his request on payment in the case of a printed trust-deed of the sum of one rupee or such less sum as may be prescribed by the company, or, where the trust-deed has not been printed, on payment of six annas for every one hundred words or fractional part thereof required to be copied.

(3) If inspection is refused, or a copy is refused or not forwarded, the company shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees, and to a further fine not exceeding twenty rupees for every day during which the refusal continues, and every officer of the company who knowingly authorises or permits the refusal shall incur the like penalty, and the Court may by order compel an immediate inspection of the register.

DEBENTURES AND FLOATING CHARGES

126. A condition contained in any debentures or in any deed for securing any debentures, whether issued or executed before or after the passing of this Act, shall not be invalid by reason only that thereby the debentures are made irredeemable or redeemable only on the happening of a contingency, however, remote, or on the expiration of a period however long.

Perpetual debentures. [(1908) 8 Edw. VII, C. 69—S. 103; (1929) 19 and 20 Geo. V, C. 23—S. 74].

127. (1) Where either before or after the commencement of this Act a company has redeemed any debentures previously issued, the company, unless the articles or the conditions of issue expressly otherwise provide, or unless the debentures have been redeemed in pursuance of any obligation on the company so to do (not being an obligation enforceable only by the person to whom the redeemed debentures were issued or his assigns), shall have power, and shall be deemed always to have had power, to keep the debentures alive for the purposes of re-issue, and where a company has purported to exercise such a power the company shall have power, and shall be deemed always to have had power, to re-issue the debentures either by re-issuing the same debentures or by issuing other debentures in their place, and upon such re-issue the person entitled to the debentures shall have, and shall be deemed always to have had, the same rights and priorities as if the debentures had not previously been issued.

(2) Where with the object of keeping debentures alive for the purpose of re-issue they have, either before or after the commencement of this Act, been transferred to a nominee of the company, a transfer from that nominee shall be deemed to be a re-issue for the purposes of this section.

(3) Where a company has, either before or after the commencement of this Act, deposited any of its debentures to secure advances from time to time on current account or otherwise, the debentures shall not be deemed to have been redeemed by reason only of the account of the company having ceased to be in debit whilst the debentures remained so deposited.

(4) The re-issue of a debenture or the issue of another debenture in its place under the power by this section given to, or deemed to have been possessed by, a company, whether the re-issue or issue was made before or after the commencement of this Act, shall be treated as the issue of a new debenture for the purposes of stamp duty, but it shall not be so treated for the purposes of any provision limiting the amount or number of debentures to be issued:

Provided that any person lending money on the security of a debenture re-issued under this section which appears to be duly stamped may give the debenture in evidence in any proceedings for enforcing his security without payment of the stamp duty or any penalty in respect thereof, unless he had notice or, but for his negligence, might have discovered, that the debenture was not duly stamped, but in any such case the company shall be liable to pay the proper stamp duty and penalty.

(5) Nothing in this section shall prejudice—

(a) the operation of any decree or order of a Court of competent jurisdiction pronounced or made before the twenty-fifth day of February, 1910, as between the parties to the proceedings in which the decree or order was made, and any appeal from any such decree or order shall be decided as if this Act had not been passed; or

(b) any power to issue debentures in the place of any debentures paid off or otherwise satisfied or extinguished, reserved to a company by its debentures or the securities for the same.

[(1908) 8 Edw. VII, C. 69—S. 104; (1929) 19 and 20 Geo. V, C. 23—S. 75 (1), (2), (4), (5).]

Specific performance of contract to subscribe for debentures.

128. A contract with a company to take up and pay for any debentures of the company may be enforced by a decree for specific performance.

Section 126 (contd.)

[2] To give a power to modify the terms on which debentures in a company are secured is not uncommon in practice. The power is usually conferred by the instrument constituting the debenture security upon the majority of the class of holders. It often enables them to modify by resolution properly passed, the security itself. The power must be exercised for benefiting the class as a whole and not individual members only. Subject to this the power may be unrestricted. (Vol 14) 1927 PC 62 (62, 63).

company secured by a floating charge, or possession is taken by or on behalf of those debenture-holders of any property comprised in or subject to the charge, then, if the company is not at the time in course of being wound up, the debts which in every winding up are under the provisions of Part V relating to preferential payments to be paid in priority to all other debts, shall be paid forthwith out of any assets coming to the hands of the receiver or other person taking possession as aforesaid in priority to any claim for principal or interest in respect of the debentures.

(2) The periods of time mentioned in the said provisions of Part V shall be reckoned from the date of the appointment of the receiver or of possession being taken as aforesaid, as the case may be.

(3) Any payments made under this section shall be recouped, as far as may be, out of the assets of the company available for payment of general creditors.

Books to be kept by company and penalty for not keeping proper books

130. (1) Every company shall cause to be kept proper books of account with respect to—

- (a) all sums of money received and expended by the company and the matters in respect of which the receipt and expenditure takes place ;
- (b) all sales and purchases of goods by the company,
- (c) the assets and liabilities of the company.

(2) The books of account shall be kept at the registered office of the company or at such other place as the directors think fit, and shall be open to inspection by the directors during business hours.

b(3) Where a company has a branch office, the company shall be deemed to have complied with the provisions of sub-section (1) and sub-section (2), if proper books of account relating to the transactions effected at the branch office are kept at the branch office and proper summarised returns, made up to dates at intervals of not more than two months, are sent by the branch office to the registered office of the company or other place referred to in sub-section (2)] b(4) In the case of a company managed by a managing agent the managing agent, or where the managing agent is a firm or company, the partner or director of such firm or company and in any other case the director or directors who have knowingly by their act or omission been the cause of any default by the company in complying with the requirements of this section, shall in respect of such offence be liable to a fine not exceeding one thousand rupees.]

Objects and Reasons.

"We consider it sufficient that inspection should be possible at any time during office hours, and have amended sub-section (2) accordingly. Having regard to Indian practice the directors of a company should, we think, be made liable to a penalty under this section only in those cases where the company is not run by a managing agent. We have accordingly provided that the managing agent, where there is one, shall be responsible for securing compliance with his section."—S.O.R., 1936.

[1] A company is under statutory duty to issue proper balance-sheet and the existence of disputes regarding amount due to company is no excuse. (Vol 20) 1933 Lah 301 (302).

[2] A balance-sheet must not be a mere inventory. It is supposed to be a pictorial representation of the trading position of the company easily appreciated not by ignorant people but by persons who are reasonably able to understand commercial expression and commercial conditions. (Vol 23) 1936 Cal 680 (683) : ILR (1937) 1 Cal 328 : 38 Cr L Jour 151 (DB).

[3] Registrar condoning delay in holding general meeting should also be deemed to have condoned delay in filing the balance-sheet before it. (Vol 28) 1941 Mad 504 (504) : 42 Cr L Jour 683.

[4] Persons who were never directors nor officers, nor even shareholders, when default occurred, are not liable in respect of offence under S. 131. (A director of the company who resigns office before the expiry of the period allowed by law for filing a balance-sheet cannot be fixed with liability under S. 74 of the Companies Act of 1882 (now S 131) for failure to file a balance sheet with the Registrar of Joint Stock Companies).

[5] Under Regulations framed by the Punjab Government under S. 220(b) of Act 1882 (now S. 248 (2)) only Registrar is authorised for instituting and conducting all prosecutions specially which are in connection with breach of rules relating to submission of balance-sheets and other periodical returns. So complaint under S. 74 of Act, 1882 (now S. 131) for wilful default in filing balance-sheet not brought by Registrar but by clerk of his office and countersigned by Public Prosecutor, is bad in law and proceedings of Magistrate based on such complaints are ultra vires and liable to be set aside on revision by High Court at any time during pendency of case. (1910) 11 Cr L Jour 577 (579) (Lah).

[6] A magistrate has jurisdiction to entertain a complaint against a director of a company for a failure to comply with the provisions of S. 74 of the Act of 1882 and (now S. 131) for misappropriation of money or falsification of accounts. But ordinarily a magistrate should be chary of proceeding on a complaint of this kind except after reference to the Registrar of the Joint Stock Companies or on the complaint of responsible persons. [2] The report referred to in sub-section (1) may be signed by the chairman of the directors on behalf on the directors if authorised in that behalf by the directors.

b(3) The profit and loss account shall include particulars showing the total of the amount paid whether as fees, percentages or otherwise to the managing agent, if any, and the directors respectively as remuneration for their services and, where a special resolution passed by the members of the company so requires, to the manager, and the total of the amount written off for depreciation. If any director of the company is by virtue of the nomination, whether direct or indirect, of the company, a director of any other company, any remuneration or other emoluments received by him for his own use, whether as a director of, or otherwise in connection with the management of, that other company, shall be shown in a note at the foot of the account or in a statement attached thereto].

SECTION 132—Note 1.

[1] Directors stand in fiduciary capacity with respect to capital under their control. The investing public should have confidence in the persons managing the concerns. Hence they cannot be allowed to publish false balance-sheets to conceal their own improper conduct. (Vol 23) 1936 Cal 680 (684, 686); 38 Cr. L Jour 151 : ILR (1937) 1 Cal 328 (DB).

[2] When balance-sheet does not disclose true state of affairs of a company, opinion of Auditor that it is properly drawn is of no value. (Vol 23) 1936 Cal 680 (685) : 38 Cr L Jour 151 : ILR (1937) 1 Cal 328 (DB).

[3] A loan and a deposit are quite different terms for one is an asset and the other a liability. Consolidating the two and presenting them as one item is a case of non-disclosure amounting to suppression of truth. (Vol 23) 1936 Cal 680 (684) : 38 Cr. L Jour 151 (DB) : ILR (1937) 1 Cal 328.

[4] The words 'assets and liabilities' must be taken in the same sense in both S. 130 and 132. (Vol 31) 1944 Bom 107 (114) : 45 Cr. L Jour 612 : ILR (1944) Bom 302 (FB).

[5] Balance-sheet should not be a mere inventory. It should be a pictorial representation of trading-position understandable to people in commercial line. (Vol 23) 1936 Cal 680 (683, 684) : 38 Cr. L Jour 151 : ILR (1937) 1 Cal 328 (DB).

[6] A debt, though there is little prospect of recovery, should be included under the head book debts. But the company can write off such debts and then they cease to be book-debts. (Vol 14) 1927 Bom 414 (417, 418) : 28 Cr. L Jour 568 (DB) (Fawcett, J. It is doubtful whether a secret reserve fund can be allowed. Even if it can be allowed, it should be revealed in the balance-sheet).

[7] All genuine book-debts whether they are considered good, doubtful or bad debts must be shown in entry against the item and the clear provisions of the form cannot be allowed to be whittled down by general considerations as to the object of a. balance-sheet. If any part of a secret reserve is availed of to meet bad and doubtful book-debts it must be revealed in the balance-sheet. (Vol 14) 1927 Bom 414 (417, 418) : 28 Cr L Jour 568 (DB).

Objects and Reasons.

Amendment made in 1943—Sub-section (1)—See the Objects and Reasons given under section 151.

Amendment made in 1936—Sub-section (3)—“We are of opinion that it is unnecessary that the profit and loss account should disclose the remuneration of a manager who is not a managing agent, but we think that the shareholders should have power by passing a special resolution to require this information to be included in the profit and loss account.”—S.C.R., 1936.

^a[132A. (1) Where a company, in this Act referred to as the holding company, holds shares, Balance-sheet to include particulars as to subsidiary companies.

either directly or through a nominee, in a subsidiary company or in two or more subsidiary companies there shall be annexed to the balance-sheet of the holding company the last audited balance sheet, profit and loss account and auditors' report of the subsidiary company or companies, and a statement signed by the persons by whom, in pursuance of section 193, the balance-sheet of the holding company is signed stating how the profits and losses of the subsidiary company, or, where there are two or more subsidiary companies, the aggregate profits and losses of those companies, have been dealt with in or for the purposes of the accounts of the holding company, and in particular how and to what extent—

(a) provision has been made for the losses of a subsidiary company either in the accounts of that company or of the holding company or of both, and

(b) losses of a subsidiary company have been taken into account by the directors of the holding company in arriving at the profits and losses of the company as disclosed in its accounts :

Provided that it shall not be necessary to specify in any such statement the actual amount of the profits or losses of any subsidiary company or the actual amount of any part of any such profits or losses which has been dealt with in any particular manner :

Provided further that for the purposes of this section an investment company, that is to say, a company whose principal business is the acquisition and holding of shares, stocks, debentures or other securities, shall not be deemed to be a holding company by reason only that part of its assets consists in 51 per cent. or more of the shares of another company.

(2) If, in the case of a subsidiary company, the auditors' report on the balance-sheet of the company does not state without qualification that the auditors have obtained all the information and explanations they have required and that the balance-sheet is properly drawn up so as to exhibit a true and correct view of the state of the company's affairs according to the best of their information and the explanations given to them and as shown by the books of the company, the statement, which is to be annexed as aforesaid to the balance-sheet of the holding company, shall contain particulars of the manner in which the report is qualified.

(3) For the purposes of this section the profits or losses of a subsidiary company mean the profits or losses shown in any accounts of the subsidiary company made up to a date within the period to which the accounts of the holding company relate, or, if there are no such accounts of the subsidiary company available at the time when the accounts of the holding company are made up, the profits or losses shown in the last previous accounts of the subsidiary company which became available within that period.

(4) If for any reason the directors of the holding company are unable to obtain such information as is necessary for the preparation of the statement aforesaid, the directors who sign the balance-sheet shall so report in writing and their report shall be annexed to the balance-sheet in lieu of the statement.

(5) The holding company may by a resolution authorise representatives named in the resolution to inspect the books of account kept in accordance with section 190 by any subsidiary company, and on such resolution being passed those books of account shall be open to inspection by those representatives at any time during business hours.

(6) The rights conferred by section 198 upon members of a company may be exercised in respect of any subsidiary company by members of the holding company as if they were members of that subsidiary company.

[a] Inserted by the Indian Companies (Amendment) Act, 1936 (22 [XXII] of 1936). S. 72. [15-1-1937]

Objects and Reasons.

"We consider that the balance-sheet and profit and loss account of subsidiary companies and the auditor's report should be circulated along with the accounts of the holding company. We also consider that members of the holding company should be empowered to inspect the accounts of subsidiary companies, and should have rights in respect of them to demand investigation. We have made provision to this effect in this clause

(i. e. section). We also consider that when the holding company is a public company subsidiary companies, even if private companies, should not enjoy exemption from the provisions of sections 83A, 86D, 87C, 87D, 91B, 91D, 144 (1) and 144 (5) (iii). We have provided accordingly by amendments dealing with these provisions."—S. C. R., 1936.

Authentication of balance-sheet.

133. (1) Save as provided by section (2) the balance-sheet ^a[and profit and loss account or income and expenditure account] shall—

- (i) in the case of a banking company, be signed by the manager ^a[or managing agent] (if any) and, where there are more than three directors of the company, by at least three of those directors and, where there are not more than three directors, by all the directors ;
- (ii) in the case of any other company, be signed by two directors or, when there are less than two directors, by the sole director and by the manager ^a[or managing agent] (if any) of the company.

(2) When the total number of directors of the company for the time being in British India is less than the number of directors whose signatures are required by sub-section (1), then the balance-sheet ^a[and profit and loss account or income and expenditure account] shall be signed by all the directors for the time being in British India, or, if there is only one director for the time being in British India, by such director, but in such a case there shall be subjoined to the balance-sheet ^a[and profit and loss account or income and expenditure account] a statement signed by such directors or director explaining the reason for non-compliance with the provisions of sub-section (1).

^b[(3) If any default is made in laying before the company or in issuing a balance-sheet and profit and loss account or income and expenditure account as required by section 131 or if any balance-sheet and profit and loss account or income and expenditure account is issued, circulated or published which does not comply with the requirements laid down by and under section 131, section 132, section 132A and this section, the company and every officer of the company who is knowingly and wilfully a party to the default shall be punishable with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees.]

(1) ^a[After the balance-sheet and profit and loss account ^b[or the income and expenditure account as the case may be] have been laid before the company at to be forwarded to the the general meeting ^c[three copies thereof] signed by the manager or secretary of the company shall be filed with the registrar at the same time as the copy of the annual list of members and summary prepared in accordance with the requirements of section 32.

(2) If the general meeting before which a balance-sheet is laid does not adopt the balance-sheet, a statement of that fact and of the reasons therefor shall be annexed to the balance-sheet and to the ^d[copies] thereof required to be filed with the registrar.

SECTION 133—Note 1.

[1] S. 133 (3) makes punishable the default in fulfilling the requirements of Ss. 131, 132 and 132 A only. There is no reference to R. 107 and therefore non-fulfilment of the requirement of R. 107 of Sch 1 Table A cannot constitute an offence under S. 133 (3) (Vol 31) 1944 Bom 107 (116) : ILR (1944) Bom 302 : 45 Cr L Jour 612 (FB).

[2] The fact that one of the members of a firm acting as Managing Agents of a company was punished in his individual capacity as a Director of the company is no ground for not punishing him in his capacity as a member of the managing firm. (Vol 3) 1916 Lah 199 (201) : 1916 Pun Re No. 18 Cr : 17 Cr L Jour 306.

SECTION 134—Note 1.

[1] Where the prize bonds issued to the Public by a private limited company were, in fact debentures, it was held that the company ceased to be a private one and became a public company and therefore, a conviction for failure to file copies of balance sheet with the Registrar under S 134 was proper. (Vol 33) 1946 Bom 18 (20) : ILR (1945) Bom 863 : 47 Cr L Jour 861.

[2] The offence under S. 134 (4) is complete if the officer of the company knew of the defaults and permitted them, and it is not necessary to prove that he wilfully authorised those defaults. (Vol 23) 1936 Cal 237 (235) : 37 Cr L Jour 552.

(3) This section shall not apply to a private company.

(4) If a company makes default in complying with the requirements of this section, the company and every officer of the company who knowingly and wilfully authorises or permits the default shall be liable to the like penalty as is provided by section 32 for a default in complying with the provisions of that section.

STATEMENT TO BE PUBLISHED BY BANKING AND CERTAIN OTHER COMPANIES

136. (1) Every company being a limited banking company or an insurance company or a Certain companies to deposit, provident or benefit society shall, before it commences business, publish statement in and also on the first Monday in February and the first Monday in August schedule. in every year during which it carries on business, make a statement in the form marked G in the Third Schedule, or as near thereto as circumstances will admit.

Section 134 (contd.)

[3] In answer to a charge under S. 134 (4) it is not open to a director of a joint stock company to plead that as no general meeting was called in the year and no balance-sheet was laid before the company at any such general meeting, it was impossible for him or his company to comply with the requirements of S. 134 (Vol 4) 1917 Cal 1 (1) : 45 Cal 486 : 18 Cr L Jour 787 (DB).

[4] Before conviction of an officer under Sub-section (4) for default in submitting the balance-sheet in a case where no general meeting was held, it must be shown with reference to the provisions of S. 76 that the officer was party to default in holding the general meeting (Vol 5) 1918 Cal 190 (191) : 18 Cr L Jour 325 (DB).

[5] The same persons cannot be charged in respect of the same years with offences punishable under Ss. 131 and 134, Companies Act because S. 134 clearly contemplates the sending of a copy of the balance-sheet only after it has been placed before the company at a general meeting under S. 131. Where in a case there is no such placing of the balance-sheet before the company at a general meeting, the offence under S. 134 cannot be committed. (Vol 24) 1937 Mad 341 (341) : 38 Cr L Jour 695.

[6] A charge under S. 134 (4) of non-filing of the balance-sheet is refuted if the balance-sheet was not due to be filed before the Registrar. It is immaterial whether the balance-sheet was prepared or not. (Vol 19) 1932 Mad 497 (498) : 33 Cr L Jour 589.

[7] An order directing the Directors individually to pay the fine imposed on the company is illegal. (Vol 11) 1924 Lah 489 (490) : 26 Cr L Jour 799.

[8] The Presidency Magistrates in Calcutta possess jurisdiction to try charges under S. 134 even where the company is situate outside Calcutta, as the office of the Registrar with whom the balance-sheet should be filed is in Calcutta. (Vol 4) 1917 Cal 1 (1) : 45 Cal 486 : 18 Cr L Jour 787 (DB).

[9] Where the conviction is not of the managing director but of the company an appeal is not properly instituted unless the appeal is by company through some authorised agent. (Vol 21) 1934 Cal 63 (63) : 35 Cr L Jour 492.

[10] The Chairman of Directors could not escape liability on the ground that he depended on the Managing Agents to do all that was necessary. He was bound to take all reasonable measures he could do to prevent default. (Vol 3) 1916 Lah 199 (200) : 17 Cr L Jour 306 : 1916 Pun Re Cr No. 18.

[11] As to the exemption from filing a balance-sheet with the registrar as required by sub-section (1) of this section where an insurer is a company incorporated under this Act, see section 17, Insurance Act, 1938; and as to supply by Mutual Insurance company to the members of documents furnished to the registrar under this section, see section 101 of that Act.

SECTION 136—Note 1.

[1] That the statements were not published in time on account of the view of the officers of the company held in good faith that a change in the financial year of the company would justify their action, is no defence (Vol 11) 1924 Bom 308 (309) : 48 Bom 305 : 25 Cr L Jour 1194 (DB).

(2) A copy of the statement a[together with a copy of the last audited balance-sheet laid before the members of the company] shall be displayed and, until the display of the next following statement, kept displayed in a conspicuous place in the registered office of the company, and in every branch office or place where the business of the company is carried on.

(3) Every member and every creditor of the company shall be entitled to a copy of the statement on payment of a sum not exceeding eight annas.

(4) If a company makes default in complying with the requirements of this section, it shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees for every day during which the default continues; and every officer of the company who knowingly and wilfully authorises or permits the default shall be liable to the like penalty.

(5) This section shall not apply to a life assurance company or provident insurance society to which the provisions of the b[Indian Life Assurance Companies Act, 1912, or of the bProvident Insurance Societies Act, 1912, as the case may be, as to the annual statements to be made by such company or society, apply with or without modifications, if the company or society complies with those provisions.

INVESTIGATION BY THE REGISTRAR.

137. (1) Where the registrar, on perusal of any document which a company is required to submit to him under the provisions of this Act, is of opinion that any information or explanation is necessary in order that such document may afford full particulars of the matter to which it purports to relate, he may, by a written order, call on the company submitting the document to furnish in writing such information or explanation within such time as he may specify in his order.

(2) On the receipt of an order under sub-section (1), it shall be the duty of all persons who are or have been officers of the company to furnish such information or explanation to the best of their power.

(3) If any such person refuses or neglects to furnish any such information or explanation, he shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees in respect of each offence a[, and the Court may on the application of the registrar and upon notice to the company make an order on the company for production of such documents as in its opinion may reasonably be required by the registrar for his investigation and allow the registrar inspection thereof on such terms and conditions as it thinks fit.]

(4) On receipt of such information or explanation the registrar may annex the same to the original document submitted to him; and any additional document so annexed by the registrar shall be subject to the like provisions as to inspection and the taking of copies as the original document is subject.

Section 136 (contd.)

in issuing a summons to such a person is incorrect. Sub-S. (4) of the S. 136 provides for a penalty against the company and there is nothing to prevent the issue of summons against the company itself. (Vol 31) 1944 Pat 210 (211): 46 Cr L Jour 168.

SECTION 137—Note 1.

[1] S. 137 (3) has no relation to a prosecution for an offence under S. 282. Registrar's complaint is necessary only where there is a failure to provide information required by him, for the Court to order production of documents. (Vol 29) 1942 Sind 9 (10): 43 Cr L Jour 304.

[2] No report by the registrar under sub-section (5) of this section—The Central Government may appoint inspectors to investigate the affairs of any company and to report thereon; see section 138 (iv).

[3] The subject-matter of s. 137 is an investigation rather than a prosecution. Sub-s. (6) is confined to cases in which there are allegations of fraud and many prosecutions under the Act would be entirely outside it. The intention of the section is to facilitate the investigation of the affairs of a company and it has no reference to actual proceedings in Court. (Vol 27) 1940 Cal 232 (234): ILR (1940) 1 Cal 575: 41 Cr L Jour 625 (DB).

[4] Private prosecutions are not barred by S. 137 (6). It is impossible to read into Sub-S. (6) of S. 137 any prohibition of private prosecution. (Vol 27) 1940 Cal 232 (233, 234): 2 L R (1940) 1 Cal 575: 41 Cr L Jour 625 (DB).

(5) If such information or explanation is not furnished within the specified time, or if after perusal of such information or explanation the registrar is of opinion that the document in question discloses an unsatisfactory state of affairs, or that it does not disclose a full and fair statement of the matters to which it purports to relate, the registrar shall report in writing the circumstances of the case to the [Central Government].

^a(6) If it is represented to the registrar in materials placed before him by any contributory or creditor that the business of a company is carried on in fraud of its creditors or in fraud of persons dealing with the company or for a fraudulent purpose, he may after giving the company an opportunity of being heard by written order call on the company for information or explanation on matters specified in the order within such time as he may specify in the order and the provisions of sub-sections (2), (3) and (5) of this section shall apply to such order. If upon investigation the registrar is satisfied that any representation on which he has taken action under this sub-section is frivolous or vexatious, he shall disclose the identity of the informant to the company.

(7) The provisions of this section shall apply mutatis mutandis to documents which a liquidator is required to file under this Act.]

Objects and Reasons.

"We have amended clause 133 (now section 137) so as to render it obligatory on past officers of the company to furnish information or explanation when called upon by the registrar, and we have made consequential alterations to give the same power to inspectors appointed under the Act."—S. C. R., 1913.

Amendments made in 1936.—"The first amendment provides for intervention by the Courts to secure production of documents for the information of the registrar: the second extends the powers of the registrar and makes the section applicable to documents required by a liquidator."—S. C. R., 1936.

"We have amended the provisions to be inserted section 137, by providing that action by the registrar shall be taken only after the company has been given an opportunity of explanation, and as a check on frivolous charges that the registrar shall disclose the identity of his informant if he finds the allegations made to be frivolous or vexatious."—S. INSPECTION AND AUDIT.

Investigation of affairs of company by inspectors. 138. The ^a[Central Government] may appoint one or more competent inspectors to investigate the affairs of any company and to report thereon in such manner as the ^a[Central Government] may direct—

- (i) in the case of a banking company having a share capital, on the application of members holding not less than one-fifth of the shares issued;
- (ii) in the case of any other company having a share capital, on the application of members holding not less than one-tenth of the shares issued;
- (iii) in the case of a company not having a share capital, on the application of not less than one-fifth in number of the persons on the company's register of members;
- (iv) in the case of any company, on a report by the registrar under section 137, sub-section (5).

a[141A.] (1) If from any report made under section 138 it appears to ^b [Central Gov. ernment] that any person has been guilty of any offence in relation to the company for which he is criminally liable, the ^b [Central Government] shall refer the matter to the Advocate-General of the Public Prosecutor.

SECTION 140—Note 1.

[1] Where the appointment of an inspector under S. 138 by the Provincial Government is invalid by reason of the provisions of para 8 (2), India and Burma (Transitory Provisions) Order 1937, conviction under S. 140 (3) for refusal to produce books and documents before such inspector cannot be sustained. (Vol 26) 1939 Mad 589 (589, 590) : 40 Cr L Jour 885.

[2] Nothing that could be done either by the Board of Trade, or the Inspector appointed by them in the matter of an enquiry can be ground for a writ of prohibition. (1897) 76 LT 887 (889) (CA).

[3] As to the application of this section to an investigation made in pursuance of section 33 of the Insurance Act, 1938, see section 34, Insurance Act, 1938.

SECTION 141—Note 1.

[1] Before the insertion of the proviso to Sub-S. (3) in 1936 it was held by the Lahore High Court that under the law as it then stood the Government was not entitled to preferential payment in respect of expenses of investigation although the investigation was directed by the Government for the good of the company. (Vol 18) 1931 Lah 351 (352) : 12 Lah 678 (DB).

SECTION 141-A—Note 1.

[1] The words 'of any offence in relation to the company for which he is criminally liable' in S. 141-A mean, not only criminally liable under the Act, but criminally liable under the Penal Code as well. (Vol 29) 1942 Sind 9 (10) : 43 Cr L Jour 304.

(2) If the officer to whom the matter is referred considers that the case is one in which a prosecution ought to be instituted, he shall cause proceedings to be instituted, and it shall be the duty of all officers and agents of the company, past and present (other than the accused in the proceedings), to give to him all assistance in connection with the prosecution which they are reasonably able to give.

(3) For the purposes of subsection (2), the expression "agents" in relation to a company shall be deemed to include the bankers and legal advisers of the company and any persons employed by the company as auditors, whether those persons are or are not officers of the company.

(4) Any director, manager or other officer of the company convicted as the result of a prosecution initiated under this section shall not without the leave of the Court be a director of or in any way whether directly or indirectly be concerned in or take part in the management of a company for a period of five years from the date of such conviction.]

Power of company to appoint inspectors.

142. (1) A company may by a special resolution appoint inspectors to investigate its affairs.

(2) Inspectors so appointed shall have the same powers and duties as inspectors appointed by the a[Central Government], except that, instead of reporting to the a[Central Government], they shall report in such manner and to such persons as the company in general meeting may direct.

(3) All persons who are or have been officers of the company shall incur the like penalties in case of refusal to produce any book or document required to be produced to inspectors so appointed, or to answer any question, as they would have incurred if the inspectors had been appointed by the a[Central Government].

Provided that, if after notice of the intention to nominate an auditor has been given to the company, an annual general meeting is called for a date fourteen days or less after the notice has been given, the requirements of this section as to time in respect of such a notice shall be deemed to have been satisfied, and the notice to be sent or given by the company may, instead of being sent or given within the time required by this section, be sent or given at the same time as the notice of the annual general meeting.

(7) The first auditors of the company may be appointed by the directors before the statutory meeting, and if so appointed shall hold office until the first annual general meeting, unless previously removed by a resolution of the members of the company in general meeting, in which case such members at that meeting may appoint auditors.

(5) The directors may fill any casual vacancy in the office of auditor, but while any such vacancy continues, the surviving or continuing auditor or auditors (if any) may act.

(9) The remuneration of the auditors of a company shall be fixed by the company in general meeting, except that the remuneration of any auditors appointed before the statutory meeting, or to fill any casual vacancy, may be fixed by the directors.

SECTION 151—Note 1.

[1] Prior to the amendment made in this section by Act, 30 of 1943, it was held by the Bombay High Court in (Vol 31) 1944 Bom 107 (113): ILR (1944) Bom 302 (FB) that the notification issued by the Central Government under this section and published in the Gazette of India dated 16—1—1937 directing alterations in Form F in Sch. III of the Act relieving banking companies from obligation to disclose bad and doubtful debts for which adequate provision had been made in their accounts to the satisfaction of the auditors was ultra vires as it amounted to introducing a new form and altering the provisions of section 132 which the Central Government had no power to do under section 151. In order to meet this objection section 151 has now been amended by Act 30 of 1943: See the objects and Reasons given under the section above.

[2] Per F.B. (Beaumont C. J. dissenting):

Where a Form in Sch. III of the Act is amended by the Central Government the publication of a notification merely stating that the Form shall be amended in the manner specified therein is substantial compliance with S. 151 (3). The notification need not give the altered Form. (Vol 31) 1944 Bom 107, (111, 113, 116): 45 Cr L Jour 612: ILR (1944) Bom 302 (FB).

OBJECTS AND REASONS.

Sub-section (3)—Amendment made in 1943.—“Following the recognised practice of banking companies in India and the United Kingdom, such companies were, by a notification issued in 1927 under section 151 of the Indian Companies Act 1913, relieved from the obligation to disclose in Form F in the third Schedule to the Act, those bad and doubtful debts for which adequate provision had been made in their accounts to the satisfaction of the auditors. When the Indian Companies (Amendment) Act, 1936, was brought into force in January, 1937, a similar notification was issued on the 16th January 1937. In a recent judgment [see (Vol 31) 1944 Bom 107 : ILR (1944) Bom 302 (FB)] the Bombay High Court has held that the notification of the 16th January, 1937, issued under section 151 of the Indian Companies Act, 1913, is ultra vires in so far as it seeks to distinguish banks from other companies. The amendments to the Act sought to be made . . . are designed to meet the objections pointed out by the Bombay High Court and to legalise long-standing practice followed by the banks.”—S.O.R. 1943, Gazette of India, 1943, Part V, page 230.

ARBITRATION AND COMPROMISE.

Power for companies to refer matters to arbitration.

152. (1) A company may by written agreement refer to arbitration in accordance with the a [X] Arbitration Act [1940] an existing or future difference between itself and any other company or person.

(2) Companies, parties to the arbitration, may delegate to the arbitrator power to settle any terms or to determine any matter capable of being lawfully settled or determined by the companies themselves, or by their directors or other managing body.

(3) The provisions of the a[* + *] Arbitration Act b[1940] c[‘ ‘ ‘] shall apply to all arbitrations between companies and persons in pursuance of this Act.

SECTION 152—Synopsis.

1. Applicability and scope.

2. Effect of amendment.

1. Applicability and scope.—[1] Section 152 empowers a Company to refer to arbitration an existing difference between itself and any other company or person. But a shareholder of a company has no such right against the company. (Vol 24) 1937 Mad 405 (406).

[2] Although a living company is allowed to refer matters in a difference to arbitration in a particular way an official liquidator may not be allowed to make a reference to private arbitration as he is not supposed to know the business of the company as much as the directors. (Vol 15) 1928 All 553 (553) 50 All 867.

[3] S. 152 applies to those cases only in which a joint stock company by written agreement refers to arbitration in accordance with the provisions of the Arbitration Act any dispute between itself and any other company or person. It does not apply to cases where the reference to arbitration is made by Court in a pending suit. (Vol 23) 1936 Lah 357 (258) (DB).

[4] A contract to refer arbitration any dispute which might arise between a company and an individual is not illegal on the ground that it is not under the seal of the company. (Vol 2) 1915 All 234 (236) : 37 All 278 (DB).

[5] Where a dispute was referred to arbitration but the parties had not agreed to do so in writing it was held that the decree was not a nullity and it was not open to the executing Court to go behind the decrec. (Vol 20) 1933 Lah 46 (46).

[6] The arbitration under S. 208C is for settling dispute between company in liquidation and one or more of its members while the arbitration contemplated by S. 152 (3) is between a company and either another company or an individual, a third party. (Vol 27) 1940 Cal 220 (222) : ILR (1940) 1 Cal 358.

2. Effect of amendment.—Before the enactment of the Arbitration Act, 1940, there was a conflict of decisions as to the applicability of the Arbitration Act, 1899, to references to arbitration by companies :

[i] One view was that the Arbitration Act, 1899 applied only if the subject matter of reference was situated in a Presidency Town or in an area to which the Act had been extended by notification by the Provincial Government. (Vol 18) 1931 Lah 555 (556). (Overruled in (Vol 20) 1933 Lah 44 : 14 Lah 248).

[ii] The second view was that the Act of 1899 applied irrespective of the locus of the property, which was the subject-matter of the reference. (Vol 31) 1944 Mad 308 (310) : ILR (1944) Mad 355 (FB). (Overruling (Vol 31) 1914 Mad 95) : (Vol 28) 1941 Cal 127 (128) : ILR (1940) 2 Cal 237 * (Vol 27) 1940 Cal 220 (222) : ILR (1940) 1 Cal 558 * (Vol 25) 1938 Pesh 54 (56, 57) * (Vol 22) 1935 Sind 228 (231) : 37 Cr L Jour 175 * (Vol 21) 1934 Pesh 107 (108) * (Vol 20) 1933 Lah 44 (45) : 14 Lah 248. (Overruling (Vol 18) 1931 Lah 555) (Vol 20) 1933 Pat 49 (50) * (Vol 16) 1929 Lah 246 (246).

[iii] The third view was that this section was an enabling section and the company had an option to refer either under the Arbitration Act, 1899, or under Schedule II, Civil PC. (Vol 23) 1936 Lah 721 (725) : 17 Lah 722 (FB) * (Vol 27) 1940 Lah 97 (98) * (Vol 25) 1933 Lah 827 (828).

This conflict has now been set at rest by the Arbitration Act, 1940, which repeals the arbitration Act, 1899, and Schedule II of the Civil Procedure Code. The Act of 1940 extends to the whole of British India and thus applies to all references to arbitration by the companies, without reference to the situation of the subject-matter of arbitration. The award can now be filed in any Court having jurisdiction to decide the question forming the subject-matter of the reference if the same had been the subject-matter of a suit.

153. (1) Where a compromise or arrangement is proposed between a company and its creditors or any class of them, or between the company and its members or any class of them the Court may, on the application in a summary way of the company or of any creditor or member of the company or, in the case of a company being wound up, of the liquidator, order a meeting of the creditors, or class of creditors or of the members of the company or class of members, as the case may be, to be called, held and conducted in such manner as the Court directs.

(2) If a majority in number representing three-fourths in value of the creditors or class of creditors, or members or class of members, as the case may be, present either in person or by proxy at the meeting, agree to any compromise or arrangement, the compromise or arrangement shall, if sanctioned by the Court, be binding on all the creditors or the class of creditors, or on all the members or class of members, as the case may be, and also on the company, or, in the case of a company in the course of being wound up, on the liquidator and contributories of the company.

^a[(3) An order made under sub-section (2) shall have no effect until a certified copy of the order has been filed with the registrar, and a copy of every such order shall be annexed to every copy of the memorandum of the company issued after the order has been made, or in the case of a company not having a memorandum, of every copy so issued of the instrument constituting or defining the constitution of the company.]

(4) If a company makes default in complying with sub-section (3) the company and every officer of the company who is knowingly and wilfully in default shall be liable to a fine not exceeding ten rupees for each copy in respect of which default is made.

(5) The Court may, at any time after an application has been made to it under this section, stay the commencement or continuation of any suit or proceeding against a company on such terms as it thinks fit and proper until the application is finally disposed of.]

^b(6) In this section the expression "company" means any company liable to be wound up under this Act and the expression "arrangement" includes a re-organization of the share capital of the company by the consolidation of shares of different classes or by the division of shares into shares of different classes or by both those methods, and for the purposes of this section unsecured creditors who may have filed suits or obtained decrees shall be deemed to be of the same class as other unsecured creditors.]

^c(7) An appeal shall lie from any order made by the Court exercising original jurisdiction under this section to the authority authorised to hear appeals from the decisions of the Court.]

1. Appeal.—[1] An order of the Court sanctioning a scheme of reconstruction of an insurance company by creation of a new insurance company involving the transfer of money deposited by the dissolved company under S. 7, Insurance Act and the reduction of contracts of insurance, is an order under S. 153 read with S. 153 (A) and is appealable under S. 153 (7). (Vol. 29) 1942 Cal 578 (580) : ILR (1942) 2 Cal 85.
- [2] Order of Court rejecting proxy forms used at a Statutory meeting of the creditors under S. 153 and directing another meeting of the creditors to be held is a judgment within cl. 13 Letters Patent (Rangoon) and is appealable. (Vol 19) 1932 Rang 96 (96, 97): 10 Rang 189 (DB).

2. Applicability and scope.—[1] Under S. 153 (1) a certain discretion is vested in Court but the scope of that discretion is limited. A Court should not decline to order meeting of creditors unless the proposals are illegal and their circulation would cause waste of time and expenditure. (Vol 26) 1933 Mad 318 (331).

[2] Failure of a scheme of re-usucitation of a company is not by itself sufficient to justify a winding-up order being made. Section 153 makes provision not merely for scheme for the "reusucitation" or 'reorganisation' of companies, but it also provides for 'Scheme of agreement,' which provides an alternative mode of liquidation which the law allows the statutory majority of creditors to substitute for winding up, whether voluntary or under the Court. (Vol 22) 1935 Lah 779 (785) (SB).

[3] A scheme under S. 153 provides an alternative mode for winding up. It is a provision to avert a winding up and therefore a provision with respect to the winding up within S. 271. (Vol 26) 1939 Mad 318 (330, 331).

[4] The machinery provided by S. 153, is available where there is and where there is not a winding up in progress. S. 213, on the other hand, is applicable only in view of a winding up or in the course of a winding up. (Vol 24) 1937 Bom 423 (427, 428).

[5] A scheme prepared by a company for the transfer of its undertaking to a new concern formed by the amalgamation of several companies carrying on like business, and for the reorganisation of rights of and distribution of assets among the different classes of share-holders, in the event of the company being wound up after the amalgamation can be sanctioned by the Court under S. 153, even if the scheme may involve winding up, and acts which will be ultra vires the company. But this rule is subject to the limitation that if the Companies Act contains express provisions enabling the doing in a particular way, the provisions of the enabling section and not those of S. 153 must be followed. (Vol 24) 1937 Bom 423 (428).

3. Assent of share-holders or creditors—[1] Company ordered to be wound up—Creditor proposing scheme to advance money on mortgage or by sale—Meeting of share-holders accepting scheme to advance 10 lakhs on mortgage—Claims of creditors exceeding the amount—Court adjourning matter to enable creditor to increase offer—Offer increased by Rs. 62,000—Court approving scheme—Scheme as approved held not to have been assented to by share-holders. (Vol 16) 1929 P O 356 (258) (PC).

[2] It is not obligatory on company or Court to serve notice of creditors' meeting on every creditor. Absence of any individual creditor because a notice was not served upon him does not invalidate a decision arrived at the meeting of the creditors and the company and sanctioned by the Court. If majority required by S. 153 (2) is present the decision becomes binding on every creditor or member and the Company. (Vol 24) 1937 Lah 442 (443).

4. Civil P. C., O. 21, R. 2—Scheme of adjustment—[1] A scheme framed by majority of creditors of bank and sanctioned by the Court and made binding on the opposing decree-holder depositor who is in the minority, does not amount to adjustment to the satisfaction of the opposing depositor decree-holder within the meaning of O. 21, R. 2 Civil PC (Vol 24) 1937 Cal 211 (212): ILR (1937) 1 Cal 781.

5. Civil P. C., S. 47.—[1] Where a scheme framed by the majority of creditors of the bank in terms inconsistent with the consent decree obtained by one creditor against the bank is sanctioned by the Court an objection that the scheme supersedes consent decree can be taken under S. 47 Civil PC in proceedings in execution of the consent decree. (Vol 24) 1937 Cal 211 (212): ILR (1937) 1 Cal 781.

[2] Where a scheme sanctioned by the Court under S. 153 is set up against the execution of a decree the executing Court can consider only whether the execution is affected by the scheme and whether the order sanctioning the scheme was passed with jurisdiction. Subject to this it cannot go behind the sanctioned scheme.

Whereunder the preliminary order of the High Court under S. 153 a meeting of the creditors who had obtained decrees as well those who had not was to be convened for considering a scheme and such meeting was held and the scheme accepted at the meeting was sanctioned by the High Court it was held that the non-service of the notice of meeting on the judgment creditors seeking to execute his decree and the fact that no separate meeting of the two classes of creditors was held did not affect the jurisdiction of the High Court when it made the order under S. 153 sanctioning the scheme. This defect ought to have been pointed out to the High Court when the matter of sanction came before it or thereafter and could not be gone into by the executing Court. (Vol 24) 1937 Cal 507 (509) (DB).

6. "Compromise or arrangement."—Meaning of.—[1] The word 'arrangement' in S. 153 means something analogous in some sense to a compromise and there must be both give and take. (Vol 21) 1934 Sind 54 (56): 28 Sind LR 213.

[2] The mere fact that year after year the company, by appropriate means, as laid down in the memorandum various the rights of different classes of shares cannot be tantamount to a compromise or arrangement between the company and its members or to a variation of the conditions in the memorandum of association. (Vol 22) 1935 All 310 (319): 57 All 810.

7. Class.—[1] The word "class" in S. 153 (1) has not been defined in the Act. It must be confined to those persons whose rights are not so dissimilar as to make it impossible for them to consult together with a view to their common interest. If different state of facts exist among different creditors which may differently affect their minds and their judgment they must be divided into different classes. (Vol 29) 1942 Cal 578 (582): ILR (1942) 2 Cal 85.

[2] Under S. 153, the scheme of composition is applicable to all creditors including those who have already obtained decrees. It is not necessary to convene a separate meeting of the decree-holder creditors in order to make the scheme binding on them. (Vol 29) 1942 Cal 442 (443).

[3] Holders of shares partly paid with the uncalled balance paid in advance of calls and carrying interest are a different class to holders of fully-paid shares. (1910) 2 Ch 477 (480).

[4] Prior to the amendment of S. 153 (6) by Act of 1936 there was a difference of opinion on the question whether an unsecured creditor who had obtained a decree belonged to the same class as one who had not obtained a decree. In view of the amendment which has set at rest the question the following decisions which held that unsecured creditors who had already obtained decrees formed a distinct class from those who had not obtained decrees are no longer good law. (1935) 39 Cal WN 690 (691) * (Vol 25) 1938 Cal 337 (340) : ILR (1938) 2 Cal 30 * (Vol 24) 1937 Cal 169 (172) (Vol 23) 1936 Cal 402 (403) * (Vol 23) 1936 Cal 162 (163, 164) * (Vol 22) 1935 Cal 398 (399) (Vol 22) 1935 Cal 117 (118).

[5] The Amending Act XXII of 1936, purports to explain the meaning of "creditors of the same class" in S. 153 and as such relates back to the time when the prior Act was passed. (Vol 29) 1942 Cal 442 (443).

[6] In view of the amendment of S. 153 (6) by Act of 1936 the following cases which were decided before the amendment and which held that unsecured creditors who had already obtained decrees were within the same class as unsecured creditors who had not obtained decrees are still good law :—(Vol 24) 1937 Cal 401 (404) * (Vol 24) 1937 Cal 124 (126) : ILR (1937) 1 Cal 368 * (Vol 22) 1935 Cal 777 (778) * (Vol 24) 1937 Lah 442 (444).

[7] Section 153 enables the majority of a class of creditors to bind the minority; it exercises a most formidable compulsion upon dissentient, or would-be dissentient creditors; and it therefore should be construed with care, so as not to place in the hands of some of the creditors the means and opportunity of forcing dissentients to do that which it is unreasonable to require them to do, or of making a mere jest of the interests of the minority. But the body of persons who have made deposits on the same terms and similar agreements may be regarded as constituting such a class of creditors as the Legislature had in mind when it enacted S. 153. Where by a very large majority both in the number of persons and in the amount of capital voting, the depositors have accepted a scheme, the objection of the solitary objector can be overruled. (Vol 21) 1934 Sind 54 (56, 57) : 28 SLR 213.

[8] Where the directors are authorised to manage the business and to exercise all powers, a proposal under S. 153 by the board of directors in the company's name is valid and proper. (Vol 21) 1934 Sind 54 (56, 57) : 28 Sind LR 213.

8. Court meetings.—[1] Though "Court meetings" are subject to the direction of the Court where no express direction is given. The articles of the company must be looked to so far as they are applicable. (Vol 15) 1928 Bom 80 (86).

9. Creditors—Meaning of.—[1] Debenture-holders are creditors. (1890) 44 Ch D 402 (409).

[2] The word "creditors" includes every person having any pecuniary claim against the company whether actual or contingent. (1895) Ch 267 (276).

10. Foreign Companies.—[1] Since a foreign company is liable to be wound up as an unregistered company within the meaning of S. 271 the expression "Company" which means a company liable to be wound up under the Act would include a foreign company. Similarly the expression "Court" in case of an unregistered company including a foreign company would mean the Court in which the said Company is liable to be wound up. Therefore in case of a foreign company having its central office in British India, the High Court in whose jurisdiction such office is situated can entertain an application under S. 153 at the instance of a creditor or a member of such foreign company. (Vol 26) 1939 Mad 318 (321, 322).

[2] Bank incorporated in Travancore having central office at Madras—Order for winding up passed by Travancore Court—Proceedings for winding up pending in Madras High Court—Application under S. 153 held could be entertained by Madras High Court—Assuming Madras to be principal domicile of bank scheme held could be initiated and got provisionally sanctioned in Madras High Court—Madras High Court held could call meeting of all creditors within and without British India or at least of all British Indian creditors and get scheme approved by majority. (Vol 26) 1939 Mad 318 (324, 325, 326, 327).

[3] S. 153 confers jurisdiction on Courts to deal with a scheme, but how the scheme, when sanctioned, can be rendered effective and operative on the company as a whole does not affect the jurisdiction of the Court to deal with it. (Vol 26) 1939 Mad 318 (322).

[4] When once an application for winding up a foreign company is made in British Indian Courts, the expression "Court" in S. 153 must mean the Court in which the Company is being wound up and therefore such Court will have jurisdiction to entertain an application made by a member or creditor of such company under S. 153 even before an order for winding up is passed by such Court. In such a case the right to apply under S. 153 is not restricted only to a liquidator. (Vol 26) 1939 Mad 318 (322, 323).

11. Procedure.—[1] A petition under S. 153 was presented by the directors of a company to refer a scheme they had prepared to the share-holders and creditors for their consideration—On the date of hearing of the petition an application by creditors for compulsory winding up was made to the Court. The directors contended that it should not be considered until the scheme was placed before the creditors and share-holders.

Held that the application was to be considered at the earliest moment and also that even if an order for winding up was passed it will not interfere with a proper scheme being considered. (Vol 26) 1939 Mad 53 (59).

12. Proxy.—[1] The executors or administrators of a deceased member or the trustees in bankruptcy of a bankrupt member may exercise the voting rights of the deceased or bankrupt member. But where there are special provisions in the articles of a company which prevent an executor from exercising the voting rights of deceased share-holder such provisions of the articles must apply to voting at meetings and any vote given by an executor on behalf of a deceased member must be disallowed. The case of a liquidator or receiver cannot be put on a different basis. (Vol 15) 1928 Bom 80 (86, 87).

[2] In a meeting held under S. 153 written acceptance of arrangement by those share-holders and creditors who are not present either in person or by proxy, cannot be taken into account to make up majority in number representing three-fourths of share-holders and creditors. (Vol 4) 1917 Oudh 58 (59).

[3] Under S. 153 the Court is entitled to settle the terms of the instrument of proxy to be used at the meeting of the creditors in any form it thinks fit. Therefore any rule of the High Court which purports to fetter or restrict the jurisdiction of a Court in that behalf is inconsistent with S. 153 and pro tanto inoperative and ultra vires. (Vol 19) 1932 Rang 154 (156) : 10 Rang 488 (DB).

[4] Scrutineers appointed to help chairman whose decision under order of Court is to be final as to admissibility of any proxy at the statutory meeting of creditors under S. 153 have no locus standi to file petition for directions as to validity of certain proxies used at the meeting. (Vol 19) 1932 Rang 96 (97) : 10 Rang 189.

13. Sanction—Effect of.—[1] The words in S. 153 (2) give the scheme when sanctioned by the Court statutory operation. Such a scheme is not an adjustment or compromise within the meaning of O. 23, R. 3, Civil P. C. (Vol 24) 1937 Cal 381 (382).

[2] S. 153 provides in clear language that when a compromise between the company and its unsecured creditors including decree-holders has been sanctioned by Court such compromise shall be binding on the creditors. Hence the Court has power to stay the execution of a decree started by one of the decree-holder creditors questioning the compromise and issue injunction to restrain him from proceeding further with such proceedings. The injunction would remain so long as the scheme is in operation. (Vol 23) 1936 Cal 662 (663).

[3] A scheme of composition sanctioned by the Court applies to all the creditors of the company including judgment-creditors. Where therefore during the execution of a decree against the company a scheme of composition is filed under S. 153 the execution of the decree cannot proceed. The fact that the decree sought to be executed was passed long before the scheme of composition makes no difference. (Vol 23) 1936 Cal 282 (285).

[4] A scheme of arrangement sanctioned by the Court under S. 153, has the force of a judicial pronouncement and the executing Court cannot go behind it. (Vol 25) 1938 Cal 337 (340, 341) : ILR (1938) 2 Cal 30.

[5] A creditor is bound by an arrangement between the company and its creditors made under S. 153. The omission of the Company to raise a plea to this effect at the original trial is not fatal as to bar its being raised, in execution proceedings. (Vol 21) 1934 Lah 515 (515).

14. Scheme—Sanction of—Powers and duties of Court.—[1] A mere agreement on the part of the members or share-holders is not enough for the acceptance of a scheme. It is ultimately for the Court either to sanction it or not to sanction it. (Vol 17) 1930 All 330 (332) (DB).

[2] In sanctioning a scheme under S. 153 the first thing that the Court has to see is whether the provisions of the Statute have been complied with. Secondly, whether the persons present at the meetings have acted bona fide and done nothing injurious to the interest of the classes whom they represented. The Court has further to see whether the arrangement is fair and reasonable as regards the interests of all concerned. The Court has a wide discretion in the matter; but it will reject the scheme only where it is shown that there was something wrong (Vol 20) 1933 Lah 51 (52, 53) * (Vol 24) 1937 Bom 423 (430, 431) * (Vol 15) 1928 Bom 80 (90) * (Vol 29) 1942 Cal 578 (582) : ILR (1942) 2 Cal 85 * (Vol 22) 1935 Cal 777 (778) * (Vol 19) 1932 Rang 154 (158, 159) : 10 Rang 438 (DB) * (Vol 21) 1934 Sind 54 (55, 56) : 28 Sind LR 213.

[3] It is not the function of the Court to substitute its own scheme for the scheme presented to it for sanction and if the Court is of opinion that unless some radical amendment is effected or the scheme is fundamentally altered it ought not to be sanctioned it is the duty of the Court to reject the scheme. (Vol 19) 1932 Rang 154 (158) : 10 Rang 438 (DB).

[4] Under S. 153 the Court does not simply register the resolution come to by the creditors or the shareholders as the case may be. But if the creditors are acting on sufficient information and with time to consider what they are about, and they are acting honestly they are much better judges of what is to their commercial advantage than the Court can be. (Vol 21) 1934 Sind 54 (57) : 28 Sind LR 213.

[5] The Court is not bound to accept the scheme, because it is approved by the majority of share-holders and creditors. That will of course carry weight but there may be more important considerations. (Vol 27) 1940 Mad 621 (622).

[6] Per Cunliffe J.—The Court should always prefer a living scheme to a compulsory liquidation without any hope of payment in full. (Vol 19) 1932 Rang 154 (162) : 10 Rang 438 (DB).

[7] The Court will not sanction a scheme which will have the effect of enabling a bank which is to all intents and purposes insolvent to continue carrying on business and attract new deposits which will go the way of the former deposits. It will not sanction schemes of composition and arrangement intended to keep afloat sinking banking companies of which the assets consist of moneys lent out on mortgage, simple bonds and promissory notes, decrees of Court and immovable properties but no cash. (1936) 63 Cal 99 (101).

[8] Court can sanction only bona fide and workable scheme. (Vol 3) 1916 Mad 1218 (1219) (DB).

[9] Scheme of reconstitution amounting to voluntary liquidation cannot be accepted and liquidation must be made officially. (Vol 17) 1930 Lah 777 (780) (DB).

[10] Any scheme which is put forward before the general body of creditors must be based upon correct information and data but that does not mean that the application for sanction should be rejected if the information is not accurate and complete. The Court can call for a report to get a fair idea of the affairs of the company and on that state of information the scheme as proposed or with amendments can be circulated along with the report. (Vol 26) 1939 Mad 318 (323).

[11] Before sanctioning the scheme the Court may impose certain conditions upon the Company for making some provision for the dissentients. The Court, however, does not necessarily make any provision in favour of dissentients, if it is satisfied that the scheme is reasonable and fair and in the interest of the general body of share holders. In any case under modern practice, such a provision is not a sine qua non to sanctioning the scheme if it is reasonable. (Vol 24) 1937 Bom 423 (431).

[12] Court need not issue notice before ordering a meeting of the class of creditors with whom it was proposed to make an arrangement. Where the Chairman certifies to Court that notice of the application and of the meeting has been sent to and acknowledged by all depositors, there is sufficient compliance with the law and the arrangement cannot be impugned on the ground that the meeting was not duly called. (Vol 21) 1934 Sind 54 (56) : 28 Sind LR 213.

[13] In considering a scheme only the wishes of creditors and contributories have to be consulted, and not the wishes of any person who may have propounded a scheme. (Vol 19) 1932 Bom 78 (79) : 56 Bom 16 (DB).

[14] The onus of showing that any scheme is unreasonable is on the objectors. (Vol 19) 1932 Rang 154 (162) : 10 Rang 438 (DB).

[15] Where one Judge of the Court has sanctioned a scheme another Judge exercising equal jurisdiction of a compromise or arrangement proposed between a company and any such persons as are mentioned in that section, and it is shown to the Court that the compromise or arrangement has been proposed for the purposes of or in connection with a scheme for the reconstruction of any company or companies or the amalgamation of any two or more companies, and that under the scheme the whole or any part of the undertaking or the property of any company concerned in the scheme (in this section referred to as a 'transferor company') is to be transferred to another company (in this section referred to as 'the transferee company'), the Court may, either by the order sanctioning the compromise or arrangement or by any subsequent order, make provision for all or any of the following matters:—

- (a) the transfer to the transferee company of the whole or any part of the undertaking and the property of or liabilities of any transferor company;
- (b) the allotting or appropriation by the transferee company of any shares, debentures, policies, or other like interests in that company which under the compromise or arrangement are to be allotted or appropriated by that company to or for any person;
- (c) the continuation by or against the transferee company of any legal proceedings pending by or against any transferor company;
- (d) the dissolution, without winding up, of any transferor company;
- (e) the provision to be made for any persons who, within such time and in such manner as the Court directs, dissent from the compromise or arrangement;
- (f) such incidental, consequential and supplemental matters as are necessary to secure that the reconstruction or amalgamation shall be fully and effectively carried out.

cannot declare, that the order sanctioning the scheme is to the extent that it affects a particular person a nullity. (Vol. 24) 1937 Cal 401 (404).

[16] Non-service of notice of meeting held in pursuance of the order of the High Court under S. 153 does not affect the jurisdiction of the High Court when it makes an order under S. 153 sanctioning the scheme. The defect should be brought to the notice of Court sanctioning the scheme at the time when the matter of sanction comes up or thereafter. (Vol. 24) 1937 Cal 507 (509).

[17] Scheme by company for transfer of its undertaking to new company formed by amalgamation of several companies and for reorganisation of rights of and distribution of assets among different classes of share-holders can be sanctioned by Court even if it involves winding up and ultra vires acts. (Vol. 24) 1937 Bom 423 (428).

15. Scheme Sanctioned—Date of its operation.—

[1] A scheme sanctioned by the Court takes effect from the date of the meeting of the creditors in which it was arrived at and not from the date of sanction. (Vol. 6) 1919 P.C. 9 (10): 46 Ind App. 135: 41 All 566: 22 Oudh Cas 106 (PC) *(Vol. 4) 1917 Lah 386 (387, 388) (DB).

[2] The agreement becomes binding from the date when it is arrived at, subject to subsequent sanction by the Court. The agreement takes effect from the date when it is made and not from the date of sanction (Vol. 6) 1919 P.C. 9 (10): 46 Ind App. 135: 41 All 566: 22 Oudh Cas 106 (PC) *(738) ILR (1938) 1 Cal 121 (126, 128) (DB) *(Vol. 3) 1916 Oudh 276 (277): 180 Oudh Cas 275 (DB).

16. Surety—Liability of, if affected by scheme.—[1] A managing agent of a company passed a writing in favour of the creditor of the company by which he stood guarantee for the debt due by the company to the creditor. Ultimately, a petition was presented to wind up the company and meetings of creditors and share-holders of the company were held to consider a scheme of reconstruction which was suggested. Under the scheme every creditor except preferential creditors was to receive half the sum in cash and other half in the shape of preference shares: Held that the fact that the creditor received from the company half the amount in cash and received also preference shares for the other half did not discharge the surety. (Vol. 27) 1940 Bom 247 (248): ILR (1940) Bom 387 (DB).

17. Variation of scheme.—[1] Under S. 153 the Court may either sanction or refuse to sanction a scheme approved by the Company and its creditors or its members. It has no power to modify or alter the scheme unless the company and its creditors or members have had an opportunity of reconsidering the scheme again along with such suggested modifications and have agreed thereto. (Vol. 24) 1937 Cal 124 (126): ILR (1937) 1 Cal 368 *(Vol. 24) 1937 Cal 401 (405) *(Vol. 24) 1937 Cal 667 (668, 669) *(Vol. 21) 1934 Cal 816 (817, 818): 61 Cal 918 (DB).

[2] A scheme upon confirmation by Court is binding upon the creditors, the share-holders and the company. Its terms can only be varied by order of Court after the variation had been approved at meetings or the creditors and share-holders and it is not possible for the company or its directors or share-holders whether by resolution or ratification or otherwise to alter the scheme. No variation or departure from that scheme can be validated by mere acquiescence of the share-holders or the creditors. (Vol. 25) 1938 PC 284 (288, 289): ILR (1939) Lah 1: ILR (1939) Kar PC 16 (PC).

(2) Where an order under this section provides for the transfer of property or liabilities, that property shall, by virtue of the order, be transferred to and vest in, and those liabilities shall, by virtue of the order, be transferred to and become the liabilities of, the transferee company, and in the case of any property, if the order so directs, freed from any charge which is by virtue of the compromise or arrangement to cease to have effect.

(3) Where an order is made under this section, every company in relation to which the order is made shall cause a certified copy thereof to be delivered to the registrar for registration within fourteen days after the completion of the order, and if default is made in complying with this sub-section, the company and every officer of the company who is knowingly and wilfully in default shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees.

(4) In this section the expression "property" includes property, rights and powers of every description, and the expression "liabilities" includes duties.

(5) Notwithstanding the provisions of [sub-section (6)] of section 153, the expression "company" in this section does not include any company other than a company within the meaning of this Act.]

Objects and Reasons.

"In sub-section (3) of new Section 153-A we have extended the time allowed for delivery of a copy of an order made under the section to the registrar, and have substituted the day of completion of the order for the day of the making of the order as that from which the time will run."—S. a[153B. (1) Where a scheme or contract involving the transfer of shares or any class of shares in a company (in this section referred to as "the transferor company" to another company, whether a company within the meaning of this Act or not (in this section referred to as the "transferee company"), has within four months after the making of the offer in that behalf by the transferee company been approved by the holders of not less than three-fourths in value of the shares affected, the transferee company may, at any time within two months after the expiration of the said four months, give notice in the prescribed manner to any dissenting shareholder that it desires to acquire his shares, and where such a notice is given the transferee company shall, unless on an application made by the dissenting shareholder within one month from the date on which the

SECTION 153-B—Note 1

[1] What S. 153-B does is to provide that where a contract or scheme for acquisition by one company of shares in another company has been accepted by the statutory majority of shareholders in the latter company, the transferee company can acquire compulsorily the shares of the minority unless the Court orders otherwise. S. 153-B does not confer any right on the Court to consider the merits of the contract so far as concerns the majority of shareholders who have accepted it. In their case the matter is complete. As regards the minority the section is based on the view that prima facie the minority are acting unreasonably in refusing to come into line with the majority and ought to be forced into line unless the Court orders otherwise. The Court must consider whether the attitude of the minority is reasonable. The burden is on the dissentients to adduce reasons for thinking that the majority of shareholders were wrong. (Vol. 30) 1943 Bom 325 (326) : ILR (1943) Bom 581 (DB).

[2] In a petition under S. 153-B costs should follow the event in the normal course. (Vol. 30) 1943 Bom 325 (332) : ILR (1943) Bom 581 (DB).

[3] The Court under S. 153-B can direct that the transferee company is not to exercise the powers of compulsory purchase given by the sections over the shares of the dissenting : but the Court has no power to direct the transferee Company to pay the dissenting members something which they have not offered. (Vol. 30) 1943 Bom 325 (327) : ILR (1943) Bom 581 (DB).

[4] Per Kania, J.—The Court's jurisdiction to intervene under S. 153-B is not limited to cases of misrepresentation and fraud. (Vol. 30) 1943 Bom 325 (330) : ILR (1943) Bom 581 (DB).

[5] The Court ought not to limit the class of cases in which the Court should take action under S. 153-B and refuse to accept the opinion of the majority of shareholders. The Court would be justified in not accepting the opinion of the majority of shareholders where their view is based on misrepresentation or there has been some unfair dealing or the majority of shareholders have some interest conflicting with that of the minority. (Vol. 30) 1943 Bom 325 (326) : ILR (1943) Bom 581 (DB).

[6] Where the Court starts with the presumption that the majority of shareholders were right it is no good allowing counsel for dissenting shareholders to indulge in detailed criticisms of the valuation on which the offer was based or accepted where all the facts on which those criticisms are founded were before the company when the majority of shareholders accepted the offer. (Vol. 30) 1943 Bom 325 (326) : ILR (1943) Bom 581 (DB).

notice was given the Court thinks fit to order otherwise, be entitled and bound to acquire those shares on the terms on which under the scheme or contract the shares of the approving shareholders are to be transferred to the transferee company :

Provided that, where any such scheme or contract has been so approved at any time before the commencement of the Indian Companies (Amendment) Act, 1936, the Court may by order, on an application made to it by the transferee company within two months after the commencement of that Act, authorise notice to be given under this section at any time within fourteen days after the making of the order, and this section shall apply accordingly, except that the terms on which the shares of the dissenting shareholder are to be acquired shall be such terms as the Court may by the order direct instead of the terms provided by the scheme or contract.

(2) Where a notice has been given by the transferee company under this section and the Court has not, on an application made by the dissenting shareholder, ordered to the contrary, the transferee company shall, on the expiration of one month from the date on which the notice has been given, or, if an application to the Court by the dissenting shareholder is then pending, after that application has been disposed of, transmit a copy of the notice to the transferor company and pay or transfer to the transferor company the amount or other consideration representing the price payable by the transferee company for the shares which by virtue of this section that company is entitled to acquire, and the transferor company shall thereupon register the transferee company as the holder of those shares.

(3) Any sums received by the transferor company under this section shall be paid into a separate bank account, and any such sums and any other consideration so received shall be held by that company on trust for the several persons entitled to the shares in respect of which the said sums or other consideration were respectively received.

(4) In this section the expression 'dissenting shareholder' includes a shareholder who has not assented to the scheme or contract and any shareholder who has failed or refused to transfer his shares to the transferee company in accordance with the scheme or contract.]

[b] The Act came into force on the 15th January, 1937.

CONVERSION OF PRIVATE COMPANY INTO PUBLIC COMPANY.

^a[154 (1) If a company, being a private company, alters its articles in such manner that they no longer include the provisions which, under the provisions or clause (13) of sub-section (1) of section 2, are required to be included in the articles of a company in order to constitute it a private company, the company, shall, as on the date of the alteration, cease to be private company and shall, within a period of fourteen days after the said date, file with the registrar a prospectus or a statement in lieu of prospectus in the form and containing the particulars set out in the form marked II in the Second Schedule.

Section 153B (contd.)

[7] Where the minority attacks the decision of the majority to accept an offer for purchase of their shares on the ground that it was not fair and reasonable the burden of proof on them is not discharged by establishing that a wrong basis was accepted for valuation. That conclusion could not be arrived at merely by proving the adoption of the wrong basis in respect of a particular item but by a further proof that by adopting that wrong basis in respect of that particular item the valuation was materially low so as to affect the reasonableness of the offer. In valuing concerns where the assets are worth over two crores of rupees a difference in value of a few thousands or even a lakh or two on one item can hardly justify a Court in interfering because another expert might urge that on another item there was an over-valuation. (Vol. 30) 1943 Bom 325 (331) : ILR (1943) Bom 581 (DB).

SECTION 154—Note 1.

[1] The purpose of S. 154 is to ensure that when a company has been converted from a private company to a public company certain information must be sent to the Registrar of Joint Stock Companies and if such is not done certain penalties would follow. (Vol 30) 1943 Pat 278 (279) : 22 Pat 204 (DB).

[2] A public company can be converted into a private company by suitable amendments made to the Articles of Association of the company. S. 154 is no bar. It is not necessary to wind up the company and reconstitute it. Nor is it necessary to send the information which S. 154 requires to be sent to the Registrar. (Vol 30) 1943 Pat 278 (279, 280) : 22 Pat 204 (DB).

[3] Amendments to the Articles of Association converting a public into a private company do not require the confirmation of the High Court. (Vol 30) 1943 Pat 278 (279) : 22 Pat 204 (DB).

(2) If default is made in complying with sub-section (1) of this section, the company and every officer of the company who is knowingly and wilfully in default shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees.

(3) Where the articles of a company include the provisions aforesaid but default is made in complying with any of those provisions, the company shall cease to be entitled to the privileges and exemptions conferred on private companies under the provisions contained in this Act, and thereupon the provisions of this Act shall apply to the company as if it were not a private company:

Provided that the Court, on being satisfied that the failure to comply with the conditions was accidental or due to inadvertence or to some other sufficient cause, or that on other grounds it is just and equitable to grant relief, may, on the application of the company or any other person interested and on such terms and conditions as seen to the Court just and expedient, order that the company be relieved from such consequences as aforesaid.]

PART V.

WINDING UP.

PRELIMINARY.

Mode of winding up. 155. (1) The winding up of a company may be either—

- (i) by the Court ; or
- (ii) voluntary ; or
- (iii) subject to the supervision of the Court.

(2) The provisions of this Act with respect to winding up apply, unless the contrary appears, to the winding up a company in any of these modes.

[(1908) 8 Edw. VII, C. 69—S. 122; (1929) 19 and 20 Geo. V. C. 23—S. 156].

CONTRIBUTORIES.

156. (1) In the event of a company being wound up, every present and past member shall be liable to contribute to the assets of the company to an amount sufficient for payment of its debts and liabilities and the costs, charges and expenses of the winding up, and for the adjustment of the rights of the contributories among themselves, with the qualifications following (that is to say) :—

- [i] a past member shall not be liable to contribute if he has ceased to be a member for one year or upwards before the commencement of the winding up ;

SECTION 155—Note 1.

[1] As to the meaning of the word 'company see' sections 2 (1) (2), 2 (1) (7), 251, 253 and 270.

[2] A company may be wound up either (i) by the Court (see section 162) or (ii) voluntary (see section 203); or (iii) subject to the supervision of the Court (see section 221).

[3] Registrar may strike defunct company off the register ; See section 247.

1. Applicability and scope.—[1] S. 156 proceeds on the assumption that the contributories are all innocent parties and that they must contribute equally towards the loss sustained by the company for no fault of theirs, subject however to certain equities which are contained in the exceptions to that section. Hence, whatever may be the effect of a plea of fraud

- (ii) a past member shall not be liable to contribute in respect of any debt, or liability of the company contracted after he ceased to be a member ;
- (iii) a past member shall not be liable to contribute unless it appears to the Court that the existing members are unable to satisfy the contributions required to be made by them in pursuance of this Act ;
- (iv) in the case of a company limited by share, no contribution shall be required from any member exceeding the amount (if any) unpaid on the shares in respect to which he is liable as a present or past member ;
- (v) in the case of a company limited by guarantee, no contribution shall be required from any member exceeding the amount undertaken to be contributed by him to the assets of the company in the event of its being wound up ;
- (vi) nothing in this Act shall invalidate any provision contained in any policy of insurance or other contract whereby the liability of individual members on the policy or contract is restricted, or whereby the funds of the company are alone made liable in respect of the policy or contract ;
- (vii) a sum due to any member of a company in his character of a member, by way of dividends, profits or otherwise, shall not be deemed to be a debt of the company payable to that member in a case of competition between himself and any other creditor not a member of the company ; but any such sum may be taken into account for the purpose of the final adjustment of the rights of the contributories among themselves.

(2) In the winding up of a company limited by guarantee which has a share capital, every member of the company shall be liable, in addition to the amount undertaken to be contributed by him to the assets of the company in the event of its being wound up, to contribute to the extent of any sums unpaid on any shares held by him.

[1882—S. 61; (1908) S Edw. VII C. 69—S 123 (1); (1929) 19 and 20 Geo. V. C. 23—S. 157 (1).]

or misrepresentation as against managing agents, it does not affect the liability of contributories in a winding up of the Company. (Vol 21) 1934 Sind 39 (43, 44).

[2] The new liability to contribute under S. 156 arises for the first time upon the winding up and is unaffected by the fact that previous calls have been made by the Company and have become barred by limitation. (Vol 23) 1941 Cal 143 (143, 144) : ILR (1940) 2 Cal 175 * (Vol 28) 1941 Mad 565 (565, 566, 577) : ILR (1941) Mad 538 (DB) * (Vol 22) 1935 Lah 335 (336) : 16 Lah 1055 (DB) * (Vol 21) 1934 Lah 1015 (1015, 1016) * (1908) 81 Mad 66 (67) (DB).

[See however (Vol 23) 1936 Lah 226 (227)].

[3] It is no answer to a claim in winding up that there had been an arrangement made by the directors which could be set up as excluding the statutory liability which attaches upon the winding up. (Vol 19) 1932 Cal 691 (693) : 59 Cal 1099 (DB).

[4] Person transferring share remains liable until transferee's name is entered into the register. (Vol 23) 1936 Bom 24 (27) : 60 Bom 297.

[5] Non-observance of the requisite formalities for transfer of shares is a fatal defect—Such a transfer does not absolve the transferor from his liability as a contributory, particularly when he is himself one of the directors of the company. (Vol 2) 1915 Lah 320 (321).

[6] Contributories are liable to pay up to the balance of share-money uncalled, when Court is satisfied that call is necessary to discharge liabilities of the company. Until such order is made the share-holder is not liable to pay anything. The call then becomes a claim on the contributory. (Vol 17) 1930 All 617 (618).

[7] A person who subsequently died, was, at the commencement of the winding up and had for over three years entered on the register of share-holders as the result of a contract. The liability of a member under S. 156 in respect of the shares is absolute and flows from the fact of his being on the register in respect of those shares. The original contract may supply the reason for his name having been placed on the register, but after the winding his liability arises ex lege and not ex contract. (Vol 19) 1932 PC 240 (243) : 54 All 827 : 60 Ind App 1 (PC).

[8] The liquidators of a company obtained an order against a contributory and proceeded to execute it by attaching certain shares. But in the execution proceedings it was found that the son of the contributory was registered as the holder of those shares and was in actual possession of them. Thereupon the liquidators sought to prove that the transfer by the contributory in favour of his son was a fraudulent one. It was held that the proper course for the liquidators to follow was to proceed by way of a regular suit under C. P. C. O. 21 R. 63 if they had reason to believe that the transfer by the contributory was for any reason, ineffective, inoperative and void as against the creditors in the winding up. (Vol 33) 1946 Mad 174 (175) (Vol 7) 1920 Mad 748 : 43 Mad 760 (FB) (Disting.).

2. "Assets of the company".—[1] The unpaid or uncalled capital upon issued shares forms part of the capital or assets of the company. The fact that it has not been called before the winding up but remains unpaid until the Liquidator has exercised his powers under S. 156 does not exclude it from the assets to capital of the company. Hence, where under the articles of a Company the preference share-holders are entitled in winding up to return of capital in priority to other share holders the unpaid portion of the shares held by the ordinary share-holders can be called up to meet

157. In the winding up of a limited company any director whether past or present, whose liability of directors liability is, in pursuance of this Act, unlimited, shall, in addition to his whose liability is unlimited liability (if any) to contribute as an ordinary member, be liable to make a further contribution as if he were at the commencement of the winding up a member of an unlimited company :

Provided that—

- (i) a past director shall not be liable to make such further contribution if he has ceased to hold office for a year or upwards before the commencement of the winding up ;
- (ii) a past director shall not be liable to make such further contribution in respect of any debt or liability of the company contracted after he ceased to hold office ; the amount required to repay the preference shareholders. Such payment of course is subject to the discharge of all debts and charges ranking prior to the preference shares. (Vol 28) 1941 Mad 806 (807, 808).

Section 156 (contd.)

3. Interest.—The liability created by S. 156 is new and no provision is made for interest therein. It may be that when a court makes a payment order under that section it could direct future interest on the amount fixed in the payment order until realization ; but it cannot include interest prior to that time. (Vol 23) 1936 Lah 739 (741) (DB).

4. Member, Liability of.—[1] Signatories to memorandum are deemed to become members and they can be placed on the list of contributories though no shares are allotted to them. (Vol 25) 1938 Sind 187 (188, 189) : 32 Sind LR 167 (DB).

[2] Once a member is upon the list of contributories unless he shows he is wrongly placed, he is liable to contribute to the assets for payment of debts and winding up expenses. (Vol 3) 1916 All 317 (318) : 38 All 347 (DB).

[3] A person signing Memorandum of Association on the understanding that he would be given certain number of shares as fully paid-up in consideration of assets transferred to the company, is not liable as contributory even if the contract to give such paid-up shares is subsequently cancelled. (Vol 13) 1926 All 524 (527) (DB) : 48 All 503.
